A meeting of the session and board of managers was called at the conclusion of the service, "as the resignation of the pastor leaves his pulpit vacant, and so far as we can go at present, the Presbytery wishes the vacancy to be filled as satisfactorily, and expeditiously, as possible.

AT CENTREVILLE

BAILIEBORO, June 15.—Rev. G. Craw of the Springville Presbyterian Church conducted the morning service in the Presbyterian Church at Centreville on Sunday morning. The pastor chose for his text the 9th verse of the 9th Psalm.—"For all days are passed away in Thy wrath: we spend our years as a tale that is told.

In discussing the anti-union question he stated that the people of the Presbyterian congregation did not consider their church by any means perfect, but in the past the Presbyterian Church has led the people of this old world to live a little more noble, a little more just, a little more pure; and a little more Christian life, and she must still keep on writing that same story that she has written in the past. We acknowledge, stated the pastor, that in the past we have not done all that we might have done towards reaching perfection, but by the grace of God we must carry on, and every man; women or child who stand true to God shall surely gain "eternal life;" so let us endeavour with all of our ability to make our Church stronger and more progressive.

The Centreville Presbyterian church is among the churches that voted anti-union last January, and as yet the members of the Centreville church are without a pastor. Rev. A. H. McConnachie having resigned his church on account of his being a church union worker.

ST. ANDREW'S, CAMPBELLFORD

CAMPBELLFORD, June 15. — One chapter of church history was closed and another opened in Campbellford yesterday when the official names of the two congregations affected by the Union movement were used for the first time, and when the inaugural of each was marked by special discourses. The preacher in each church was from the West. St. Andrew's pulpit is vacant and in the United Church, owing to the absence of the pastor and associate pastor, the services were taken by Rev. James Hodges of Minneford, Manitoba.

The formal inaugural services in the United Church will be held next Sunday when former Methodists and Union-Presbyterians will join in the Holy Communion and these special services will be continued on Sunday, one week later. Social gatherings, to give the two elements in the congregation a chance to become acquainted, will be held on week nights in the interval.

Rev. F. B. Roxborough, of Edmonton, who preached in St. Andrew's, has grown gray in the service of the Presbyterian Church, with which he remains. His sermon in the morning when he referred to recent changes, was marked by a broadminded Christian charity and was remarkably free from the bitterness that has pervaded some of the sermons heard during the heat of the Union controversy. Mr. Roxborough believes that there is a place in the world for all denominations, that each has its its functions to perform just as all the parts of the body are required to constitute a complete human organism.

A Message of Hope'

J. A. Anderson, who with Mrs. William Hume and William Clark, represented the St. Andrew's congregation at the general assembly in Toronto, brought to the people a message of hope. He said that the Presbyterians began the new era in their history with renewed confidence now that the controversy that has been in progress for the past 25 years is finally settled.

Mr. Anderson also announced that Rev. James Grier of Montreal had accepted the call to St. Andrew's, that he would preach the anniversary sermons next Sunday and that he would be inducted into the pastorate on Friday, June 26 [illegible] three p.m.

[illegible] meeting of the congregation was held when on motion of William Cock and Dr. G. A. Hay, it was decided to have the session and manager send a communication to the Montreal Presbytery dealing with the call to Mr. Grier, instead of sending a deputation to press the matter of the transfer personally.

Room For All Churches'

"Ye are the body of Christ," was the text chosen by Mr. Roxborough for his morning discourse. When Christ was on earth he was endowed with a body, but that is gone. He still has a body on earth, however, and that is the Church. That body is made up of different denominations just as the human body is constituted of different parts. There must be a place for all, for the Salvation Army with their tamborines and drum, for the Anglican with their love of fine forms, for the conservative and the progressive in thought for the United Church and for the Church that believes in the Confession of Faith and its traditions. The Church is one body, but it consists of many members. As to the Presbyterian, with its reserved type of members, what it aims at is a real spiritual unity.

West Watched Ontario'

For 25 years, the preacher said, the West had watched Ontario's attitude on the Union question and during the recent taking of the vote had received with joy the reports showing that the majority were standing by the Presbyterian Church. In the western provinces 50 per cent of the people are non-Anglo-Saxons and many of the scattered churches were union to begin with. This explained why so many of the country churches in the West went into the union.

Different in Cities'

In the cities and large towns the situation was different. Of the thirteen Presbyterian Churches in Edmonton six had voted to remain out of the union. In Calgary five out of twelve has been retained by the Presbyterians, although the total vote showed a majority of the people opposed to union. In the larger towns throughout the province of Alberta the Churches remain Presbyterian.

Church of His Childhood.

Mr. Roxborough said that it filled him with happiness to note that the church of his childhood—Norwood—of which his father, the late W. E. Roxborough, had been an elder for 40 years, had remained out of the union.

When Mr. Roxborough desired to enter college to study for the ministry, one of the committee who examined him as to his fitness for that office was Rev. D. A. Thomson, of Hastings, who for over 20 years was clerk of the Peterboro' Presbytery. Mr. Roxborough, was happy to note that that Presbytery and Knox College, in which he received his theological training, were still non-union.

BELLEVILLE VICTORIOUS IN A THRILLING EXTRA-INNING GAME FULL OF EXCITING MOMENTS

Score See-Sawed in First Four Innings, Then Remained Tied Till Tenth.

TWO EXPELLED

(By F. D. C.)

When Herb Wolfe neglected to slide into third base on a close play in the tenth inning of Saturday's Belleville-Peterboro Central Ontario League clash at Riverside Park which the invaders won 4 to 3, he not only tossed away a glorious chance for a home victory but he started a squabble that wound up with his own exile and that of Frank Whitehouse from the game and a police-protected trip over town for Umpire Geo. Sullivan.

It was a hectic finish to a real snappy argument.

With the score even at 3-3 from the fourth inning on, Belleville finally broke the deadlock by batting a run over in their half of the tenth.

Wolfe, first up for the Petes, in their end of the extra frame, clouted a clean single to left. Bob Ross followed it with a single that bounded over second base and rolled out to centre field and Wolfe tore over second and dashed for third. Wicky Ross made a perfect throw from centre, the ball coming to Weir on the hop and as Wolfe came into the base standing up Umpire Sullivan who had run down to third called him out.

It was a close play—but it need not have been had Wolfe "hit the dirt."

A stormy scene followed.

Wofe's protest was so strong that he was ordered out of the game and Whitehouse, the next batter, was also ejected for the potency of his remarks to Umpire Sullivan.

Ash went to bat in place of the banished pitcher but popped weakly to Blakely on the first ball pitched to him.

Harrison's good bid for a hit was nicely fielded by Meagher, who threw into the dirt but Mills came up with the ball and the game was over.

Trouble Threatened.

The fans swarmed around Sullivan and trouble threatened for a few moments buts the police had the situation speedily in hand and the arbitrator was escorted from the field without any violence cropping up.

To get back to the ball game it was about the peppiest of the season.

Goyer, the Belleville right-hander struck out but one batter and Whitehouse whiffed only three, putting a lot of work up to the fielders and they made a great job of it with Rose and Holyman for the Petes and Meagher of Belleville especially prominent. The Petes keystone pair split twenty chances between them, Rose having the two feature plays of the day, a jumping one-handed catch of a drive by Harry Mills and a running gloved-hand stop of a hard hit ball from Goyer.

Frank Whitehouse did the gunning for the Petes, and with his curve ball refusing to break, was hit harder than usual, Belleville collecting thirteen hits His teammates great defensive work behind him, however, held the southpaw up in fine style and runs were not easy to collect.

Gilly Goyer, brother of the more celebrated Freddy of that ilk, whom the Petes beat 6 to 2 in Belleville on Victoria Day pitched steady ball for the railroaders all the way, using a curve to good advantage and refusing to weaken when hits might have meant runs. He was given splendid support and from now on Belleville will be a menace to the rest of the Central Ontario crews.

Enemy Score First.

An unusual lapse on the part of Max Swanston gave the invaders a [illegible] Weir sock[illegible] hot single between third and [illegible] to open hostilities. W. Ross sacrificed him to second and Peeney Mills lined to centre for a single. Wolfe made a nice throw home and Weir stopped at third. Swanston, however, expected Whitehouse to intercept the toss for a play at second on Mills and when the pitcher left the throw come through he was taken off his guard and the ball rolled to the stand, Weir scoring and Mills going to second. Harry Mills cut a liner toward right but Rose went up in the air to pull the ball down with his gloved hand and tossed to Holyman for a double play. It was a circus grab.

The Petes went out in order. Legon bunted to Goyer and was thrown out. Rose hit sharply to right but Casey gathered in the drive, and Meagher tossed out Swanston.

Petes In Front.

The Petes took the lead in their half. After Wolfe had lofted to Blakely, Ross slammed a single off Boyer's glove. Whitehouse singled over first, sending Ross to third. The pitcher then stole second. Harrison bounced a single off Blakely's shins, scoring Ross. On a double steal Whitehouse was safe at the plate when Mills dropped Meagher's return throw. Harrison reaching third on the play. Holyman rolled to Goyer, Harrison being held at third. McPherson drew a pass and stole second but Legon's roller was fielded nicely by Blakely.

To open the third Casey lifted one to Rose. Goyer cut a fast one toward right but Rose made a beautiful one handed stop and tossed out his man. Holyman disposed of Weir on a grass cutter to short.

The homesters increased their lead. Rose was out on a long foul fly, nicely taken by Casey. Swanston grounded to Harry Mills. Wolfe beat out a rap to Meagher and went to second on a balk. Ross was safe on Meagher's fumble, Wolfe going to third. On a double steal Wolfe scored and Ross reached second. Whitehouse flied to Ross.

Tied Up Again.

The Railroaders knotted the count by some timely hitting in the fourth. Ross led off by bouncing a single off Holyman's chest. On a hit and run play, perfectly worked, Ross reached third when W. Mills hit along the ground into right and the batter took second on the throw to third. Harry Mills exploded a single into right to score the pair. Hagerman forced Mills, McPherson to Rose. Meagher singled through the box but was forced by Blakely, Rose to Holyman, and Casey flied out to Wolfe.

The Petes died in order, Harrison being thrown out by Goyer and Holyman by Meagher while McPherson lifted one to the second baseman.

The invaders wasted two good hits in the fifth. After Goyer had hoisted to Holyman, Weir singled between shoft and third and Ross followed with a single through short Holyman then went back and gathered in Peeney Mills' high fly and made this third put out of the frame by grabbing one from Harry Mills' bat.

For the Petes Legon walked and went to second on a passed ball. Rose fouled out to Harry Mills and Legon scampered over to third after the catch. Swanston, however, popped to Harry Mills and Wolfe was called out on strikes.

Hagerman rolled to McPherson in the sixth, Meagher gave Legon an easy fly and Blakely popped to Holyman.

Ross was thrown out by Hagerman in the Petes' half but Whitehouse got a life when Weir's throw pulled Mills off first and Harrison was passed. Holyman and McPherson both expired harmlessly on flies to Ross.

After Holyman had thrown out Casey in the seventh Goyer singled to right, to be forced at second on Weir's fast skipper to Holyman. Ross singled to right but Wolfe came in fast and engulfed W. Will's fly to centre.

The Petes did not do much. Legon bunted a fly to Weir. Rose singled to right, Swanston, however, flied to Ross and Wolfe hit one to Meagher.

A Bid For Victory.

Just as the Petes went to bat word was received that Oshawa had beaten Kingston, and with a chance of getting on even terms with the leaders the local athletes made a big bid for victory. Ross started them on the right path with a single to left. Johnston ran for him and went to second on Whitehouse's sacrifice. Harrison flied out to Hagerman. Helson, batting for Holyman, singled between short and third, Johnston stopping at third while Helson took second on the throw to the plate. McPherson flied to Hagerman and a big chance was gone.

Both went out in order in the ninth. Blakely was tossed out by McPherson, Casey fanned and Goyer rolled to Rose.

The Winning Run.

In the overtime frame Weir opened with the only extra base hit of the day, a double to deep left. Ross fanned, Swanston dropping the third [illegible] Weir, caught half way between bases but threw to first, retiring Ross. W. Mills singled past Rose, the ball hopping badly and Weir scored. Harry Mills flied to Ross. Hagerman singled past short to be forced by Meagher on a roller to Helson.

The big doings in the Petes half have already been described.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER THORON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans

As a golfer you have one consolation: What ever it is that is holding you in the duffer class of players, the chances are you can find it among these Ten Faults Most Common to Golfers, as I have observed them in experiences during 25 years of teaching golf. These Ten Most Common Faults, each of which I will discuss in order in succeeding articles, are: 1—Forcing the head to lift. 2—Lack of control of the club. 3—Forcing the club with muscular effort beyond its natural swing pace. 4—Rushing at turn from back swing. 5—Gazing at the ball with hypnotic stare instead of actually seeing it. 6—Gripping tightly with one hand, loosely with the other. 7—Pulling across ball. 8—Too rapid back swing. 9—Hanging too long over ball before making swing. 10—Too much experimenting.

PARIS GOES MOTORING.

SPORT GOSSIP AND COMMENT.

Saturday's defeat will have done the Petes a good turn if it has taught the players the wisdom of sliding into a base on any play that threatens to be close, and the folly of talking one's self out of action.

* * * * * * * * *

The demonstration against Umpire Geo. Sullivan on Saturday was uncalled for. Sullivan gave a very close decision against the Petes at a critical moment in the game, it is true, but it must be remembered that he was on top of the play and in a much better position to see it than the fans. And again it should not be forgotten that the whole trouble would have been averted if Wolfe had "hit the dirt." The Kingston official may call them wrong sometimes, but he is a "square-shooter," and after Saturday's exhibition no one will call him a "homer." It takes nerve to give a decision like that when the home team's chances for victory hinge on the verdict.

* * * * * * * * *

For the first time since he joined the Petes three years ago Al. Heckman was not in uniform Saturday. The right-hander was in Toronto having his lame arm "ironed out" by a "bone-setter," and it is hoped that his pitching wing will soon respond to treatment.

* * * * * * * * *

"The Four Horsemen"—in other words, the top of Belleville's batting order—won the game for the Railroaders Saturday. Weir, Ross and the Mills brothers scored all the enemy's runs, and had ten of their thirteen hits. Bob Ross, with three safe hits in four times up, was the Petes' leading batter.

* * * * * * * * *

Belleville's win here and Oshawa's defeat of Kingston Saturday materially tightened up the league race. The defeat of the two leaders makes the struggle much more interesting, and with Belleville hooking up with Kingston twice this week and Peterboro playing two games with Oshawa the fur will fly. The standing is as follows:

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Kingston	5	2	.714
Peterboro	4	3	.571
Oshawa	3	4	.429
Belleville	2	5	.286

* * * * * * * * *

Games this week:
Wednesday—Kingston at Belleville; Peterboro at Oshawa.
Friday—Belleville at Kingston.
Saturday—Oshawa at Peterboro.

* * * * * * * * *

Ray Rose's performance at second base was a feature Saturday, especially his plays on Harry Mills and Goyer. Tommy Holyman also handled ten chances in great style.

* * * * * * * * *

The Belleville crew did not look in the lest like tail-enders. Their hitting was as powerful as ever, they were strong defensively and Goyer gave a cool exhibition of heaving. Up to last week the Railroaders had not been getting much pitching, but Jeffrey and Goyer have now turned in winning cards, and Walter Gerow's men have won two small score games in a row after losing five games in which they batted in thirty-nine runs. With seventeen games left to play and the four teams strung out a game apart, the Quinte crew have plenty of time to get up into the play-off series. And if they fail to do that they are going to make plenty of trouble for everybody.

* * * * * * * * *

Oshawa will make their first appearance of the season here on Saturday, and in all probability Heckman and Dainty will hook up on the mound. It should be one of the most interesting games of the season, as second place or possibly first may depend upon the result of Saturday's clash. The two teams meet Wednesday in Oshawa, the Petes' second trip of the season to the Motor City.

* * * * * * * * *

Fans should not fail to remember the benefit game tomorrow night — Tuesday—on behalf of Bill Duggan, injured Examiner player. Tickets are going fast and a big crowd will see the Petes and Mercantile League all-stars in action. The game is called for 5.45 o'clock sharp.

* * * * * * * * *

Hap Harrison hit safely the first time up Saturday, making the seventh consecutive game in which the Petes' first sacker has come through with at least one hit.

* * * * * * * * *

Like the policeman of whom Gilbert wrote, "An umpire's life is not a happy one." George Sullivan got in very wrong because of his decision on Wolfe at third in the tenth frame, and early in the game Belleville kicked strenuously when Whitehouse's rap down the first base line was called fair. The Railroaders claimed the drive was foul and that the decision cost them a couple of runs.

* * * * * * * * *

Wicky Ross, Belleville's quiet-spoken centre fielder, is one of the best ball players in the Central loop. He merely contributed three hits and a sacrifice Saturday, made four flies look easy and saved the game for his team by his fast, accurate throw to third in the tenth. Ross is deservedly popular round the circuit because he confines himself to playing ball and leaves the talking to somebody else.

* * * * * * * * *

Peterboro's infield handled thirty-seven chances in Saturday's game without a skip, which, if you should want to know, is mighty nice defensive work.

LEAGUE LEADERS LOSE IN OSHAWA

Homesters Beat Ponies 9-8 in Thrilling Ten-Inning Struggle.

GARRISON FINISH

OSHAWA, June 15.—(Special).—Kingston Ponies, leaders of the Central Ontario Baseball League went down to defeat in a ten innings hectic struggle at Alexandra Park here on Saturday afternoon by a socre of 9-8. With the score seven all at the end of the ninth, Kingston shoved one over in the tenth, but "Teddy" Sannders an ex-Kingston boy who had been sent in to hit for Dineen, the elongated first sacker, in the eight was Oshawa's first man up in the tenth and he warned Manager Reeves before leaving the bench that he was either going to break a bat or the old ball game and on the second pitched ball he met it fair and it sailed far over Cherry's head in centre field and was good for three bases. W. Fair, the next man up, got to first base when Quinn dropped the third strike and was late throwing to first. Fair went down on the first pitched ball. Then Alger who has been procured from the Mets of the Oshawa Church League came through with a single to score Saunders and "Duke" Dainty drove out a high one to Cherry in centre field who made his first miss of a fly ball in two seasons, and Fair crossed over with the winning run. The line ups were:

BURNBRAE LEADS IN SEYMOUR LEAGUE

BURNBRAE, June 15.—Thursday evening was a big night in the Seymour Township League. Burnbrae journeyed to Hoard's and defeated the boys there by the score of 23 to 6 in seven innings. Haig was the star for the Hoards, getting a homer with one on in the first inning, as well as two other healthy wallops. He played a good game at first and took a turn in the box in the last inning, holding the Burnbrae hitters scoreless. Oscar Rannie at short, provided several fielding features. Shillinglaw also got a homer for Burnbrae. Hay in his first game behind the bat caught a splendid game. Rannie pitched good ball for five innings, only two extra base hits being recorded, both by Haig. Hume showed some of his old time suff in the box in the last two innings. In spite of rough grounds the Burnbrae infield had several force plays at second base.

The game at the Fair Grounds between Rylstone and English Line was very exciting, the former coming from behind to win the two final innings. Spencer broke up the game with a smashing triple in the sixth with the bases loaded. Heath pitched good ball for Rylstone and was accorded good support. Daniels was master of the situation until the sixth when his infield began to [illegible] A large crowd attended and the cheering would have done credit to a world series game.

KEENE GIRLS WIN TWO BALL GAMES

KEENE, Ont., June 15. — The Keene Girls' Softball team is still undefeated this year. On Friday evening, they won a double header.

The first game was between Hiawatha and Keene, Keene winning by 27 to 4. Florence Wedlock was the heavy hitter for Keene, getting four home runs in five time at bat. Both teams played good ball in the field, but Hiawatha was weak at bat, while Keene hit to all corners of the lot. The lineup:—

Hiawatha—M. Cowie, H. Cowie, L. Paudash, G. Gowie, L. Cowie, Y. Crowe, F. Howard, V. Crowe, Mrs. Mancross, M. Northey.

Keene.—F. McCarthy, V. McNevan, F. Welock, I. Nelson, B. McCarthy, D. Gainor, H. Nelson, M. Comrie, A. Chapman, W. Nelson.

Score by innings:

WARSAW WON IN CUP TIE GAME

First Game for Taylor Cup Resulted in Win for Dummer Village.

GOOD FOOTBALL

The first game in connection with this competition was played on the King Edward Park on Saturday afternoon when the Masseys entertained the Warsaw team and a very pleasant and exciting game ended in a win for the Warsaw team by 2 goals to 1.

The Warsaw team was minus the crack goal keeper and his place was taken by one of the local school boys, who made an excellent substitute and was only beaten by a penalty. He gave a great display.

The Game.

The villagers won the toss and Harold Darling was away on the left and tested McDonald with a nice cross that Hodson got under way, and made a nice pass to Dorsett, whose final effort went over the bar. The villagers came again and from a nice run and centre by [illegible] Payne, McDonald was beaten by Hilliard Darling. From the centre kick Hodgson was soon away and sent to Harrigan, whose shot young Darling caught and threw out, F. Bell was away and sent to R. Payne. Wag Hotson just relieved and sent out to Driver who made tracks for the villagers' goal; his centre was met by Hodgson who sent just wide of the post. The Masseys came again. Harrigan, who played an excellent game, was nicely placed. He was however brought down in the forbidden area, and a penalty was awarded. Harrigan took the kick and sent out of the reach of young Darling. From the centre kick Brown became very prominent and was unlucky in not scoring. Half time arrived with the score standing 1-1.

Second Half.

Upon resuming the villagers went [illegible] with a dandy which brought the goal keeper to his knees. The game was now very fast, each team doing its best to gain the lead. Wag Hotson and his partner, Lindsey were in great form and kept sending the sphere up the field to their forwards with great judgment. Harold Darling receiving a nice pass from Thompson raced away and sent in a beautiful centre which Milford Payne met and beat McDonald with the best goal of the game. This put new life in the Masseys and Hodgson who led his forwards with good judgment sent out to Dorset who in turn gave to Brown, whose shot was well saved by Darling. The villagers were now forcing the game and were playing well together. They could not however add to their score as the defence of the Masseys was very safe. Time was fast approaching. Hodgson and Harrigan made a great effort to get on even terms but luck was against them.

Time was called and the villagers left the field winners of a well contested game by 2 goals to 1.

The Teams.

Warsaw: Goal R. Darling; backs, H. Darling, W. Darling; halves, F. Bell, E. Payne, Morgan; forwards, R. Payne, M. Payne, H. Darling, I. Thompson, Harold Darling.

Referee: S. Calladine.

"JAGS" OBTAIN NEEDED POINTS FROM QUAKERS

Quick Scoring in Early Stages—The Quakers Fell Away.

SCORE 5 TO 3

Richmond Got Three Goals —Quakers Re-organized Team a Failure.

The Thistle defeated the Quaker Oats in a league game at Nicholls Oval on Saturday afternoon before a fair attendance by the score of five goals to two. In the opening stage of the 90 minutes, extra good football was witnessed but the losers re-organized team fell away near the end and the winners were the dominating factor.

Play Described

From the kick-off the Thistle made tracks for the Quakers' citadel when Curtis stopped a point blank shot but he failed a few minutes later, when Richmond evaded the whole defense and while on the run, let drive with his left foot a rocket ball into the net. No sooner was the ball centred again when Willshaw travelled down the wing. Anderson intercepted quickly and returned up-field to his forward. Two of them dribbled close into the full-backs, who held them in check but Dawson caught the rebound with a 20 yard drive that gave Curtis no chance to save.

Evened Up the Score

The Quakers retaliated in a desperate fashion around their opponent's dangerous area. This brought out clever defensive taetics until Willshaw gained the verdict over Anderson, who injured himself in the attack but the Quakers forwards carried the sphere through the Thistle goal from Gardner's waiting foot. They went right back again on the left wing, Wellshaw shooting from the wing, lobbed the ball in below the bar out of Brown's reach, to even up the score again. Encouraged by their success the Quakers initiated an attasck led by T. Williams when heb roke through the Thistles' defense. The inside was within a few yards of his desired spot but Gardner immediately intercepted the ball when in an offside position and losing a valuable opportunity. Both teams were giving a nice exhibition of football but the loser's half backs were at sea many times when the attacking forwards beat them, then drew out the defense, which left Curtis the target. This was proven when Laughlin, on a solo run, travelled into the corner. Two opponents tackled him, but he waded his way through until he wakened up Curtis with a rising shot The goalkeeepr punted clear. S. Maker and Richmond tackled, for the latter to gain possession and finish with a left foot tally. It was very noticeable at this period that the Quakers half-backs were a spent force. They could not stop the elusive combination of the inside men and swinging centres that were put across by the wing men, thereby giving the centre an easy afternoon's play. Richmond was in his element ,as he replied with neat passes to the wing men. Just before half time, Willshaw caused the Thistle to look alive when within a few yards of goal, he missed the cross bar by a few inches. Half time: Thistle 3; Quakers 2.

Half Time

The teams turned around after the customary rest but it seemed to give new vigour to the successful as they manipulated dangerous moves against a wavering defense that did not meet the attack but allowed the ball to stay too long in their territory, instead of making clearance right away. No doubt, this was brought about by Hutton who was the master mind in all the raids.

Hutton's Clever Football

Spasmodic raids by the Quakers rarely got past Wade at centre half. At any time they did so the full backs filled the gap. The half-backs kept in close touch with the insidemen. Hutton, in particular, was in a mood to add the artistic touch to the tricky feet that never was awanting at the critical moment. It was a well planned movement by him that left Richmond in front of the goal to add the fourth counted. Two minutes later "Hughie" beat two men, then he was hemmed in between players until the back-heeled ball was shot out to Dawson who landed it inside the upright for the fifth goal.

Changed the Attack

Captain Scott went upon to the attack and sent Harry Curtis into his position. This move did not improve the team in any shape, truth to tell, he is not a forward. Willshaw, Williams and Gardner made many good attempts to increase their score but the half-backs never allowed them any latitude with the ball. It was a swinging-ball game, intertwined with nice combination, that left Browell the outstanding adept in crossing at the exact moment to his teammates and he never failed to have a shot at Curtis when it came his way. This style of play up-set the losers in every department except in the Maker brothers position — they were minus their long punting. As time rolled on it was evident that Quakers would not make another count which left the Thistle winners by 5 goals to 2.

Quakers — Curtis, goal; 'S. Maker and A. Maker, full backs; Honour, Scott and Hepburn, half backs; Cross, H. Cuartis, Gardener Williams and Willshaw, forwards.

Referee—Mr. Rickard.

BANKERS WON THIRD STRAIGHT

Defeated Victorias 5-2 in a Mercantile League Game Saturday.

SPARKLING PLAYS

Saturday's hectic encounter between Peterboro and Belleville was followed by a Mercantile League game which provided plenty of excitement for the participants and the few spectators who remained to witness the struggle of their favorite teams. The game finally wound up with the Bankers winners over the Lock Wo... Victorias by the score of 6-3, after seven fast innings.

Jeff Hardi.. and Casey Masterson were the rival hurlers. Masterson was favored with better support than his rival, his helpers contributing only two errors to the Lock Works seven. Masterson was touched for 3 hits while Hardill yielded half a dozen.

Baird and Hardill were the heavy hitters of the game, each making two safe blows although Mike Clancy's hoist to the score board for a triple was the only extra base hit. Ash, at first base for the winners, provided the fielding sensations of the game with two sparkling catches of fly balls.

RESULT OF RACE IS NOW CHANGED

Milton, Announced as Winner, Was Third, According to Revised Standing.

DE PAOLO WON.

ALTOONA, Pa., June 15 (Canadian Press).—Following a protest entered by Frank Elliott over the award of the 250-mile speedway classic here Saturday to Tommy Milton, officials of the contest board of the American Automobile Association yesterday checked up the official tape of the race, with the result that the entire standing as given out Saturday was changed.

Under Saturday's revision Peter De Paolo, who won the Indianapolis race on Memorial Day, and who was reported Saturday to have finished second,is declared the winner, with Elliott in second place and Milton, third. It was discovered that in the close finish of the race that the scorers had become mixed and had failed to give Elliott credit for a lap he made. The time remains unchanged.

ROYALS TO CLASH WITH RAYBESTOS

Good Game Promised For Wednesday Night at Exhibition Grounds.

One of the best games of the season in the East Peterboro League is scheduled for Wednesday night at the Exhibition Grounds, when the Royals and Raybestos teams will clash at 6 o'clock. Both teams will be at full strength for this important battle, and the fixture should be full of interest at every stage. The city section of the E. P. League is playing good ball, and Wednesday night's engagement looms up as one of the liveliest of the schedule.

In Peterboro Churches

one?" Mr. Richardson gave an illustration. In Wallaceburg, he said, there are three streams which join right in the town.

The water from those three goes on, forming one larger and more powerful stream, now large enough to be called the Sydenham river. He also told of companies, manufacturing goods of a similar nature, which joined under one head and continued to make all the products of all the factories.

ST. ANDREW'S

There was a large attendance yester- [illegible] and communion of the United Church of Canada in St. Andrew's. The minister, the Rev. J. W. Gordon, M.A., B.D., made a reference to the latest phase in Church History in his opening prayer in which he gave expression to the kindly feeling that still exists between those members of St. Andrew's who had followed the church into the new body and those who had thrown in their lot with the non-unionists.

Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park sang, "There Is A Green Hill Far Away."

The minister read as the lesson part of Roman 5—beginning "Therefore being justified by faith we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ." The communion meditation he said was based on the entire Bible, the Old and New Testament together. Presbyterianism has emphasized through the ages not what men have done but what God has done. Presbyterianism emphasized the outpouring of the love of God. Methodism had laid stress on the necessity of the response of man, not forgetting of course the outpouring of the love of God.

God is the initiator of our faith. Christianity is not the gathering of the moral forces of a man or of a world. It is the release of these forces by the love of God. There are two sides, the Divine and the human. Without the Divine, there could have been no human side. The initiative begins with God.

It is true we hold on to God with trembling hands but that is not the whole truth. What makes the matter great is that God holds on to us. This is the heart and soul of Calvinism.

There is an impression around, it may be in your hearts that Christianity is good advice. It is more. It is good news coming to man telling him the love of God has done for him what his own hands could never do. This is God's supreme work.

It is instructive and interesting to know that all business people keep books. Sometimes we wonder why the mistakes should be against us. But God keeps no books. He keeps no books when we come to Him basing our claim on Jesus' work or the Cross—"Bold shall I stand before Him on that great day." The great thing is not that we know God but that He knows us. When Cromwell lay dying he turned on his bed and murmured. "I would be the most miserable man in Christendom were it not that I know God"—then correcting himself said—"no, that God knows me."

Mr. Gordon invited all of the congregation who were conscious of being sinners to come to the communion. "It's for sinners."

At the close of the service the Lord's Supper was observed.

AT LAKEFIELD.

LAKEFIELD, June 15.—Yesterday marked the first Sunday of Church Union in Lakefield with the ci-devant Methodist and Presbyterian Churches both opened as Union Churches, the non-concurring Presbyterian, as yet not fully organized, worshipping elsewhere.

In the West Side Church (formerly Presbyterian), which was the centre of interest since the conclusion of the voting four months ago, the service with its Psalm sung at the opening was in no way different to that formerly in use.

The pastor, Rev. P. L. Jull, preached a stirring sermon from the text, "And when the day of Pentecost was come they were all with one accord in one place, and they were all filled with the Holy Ghost as the spirit gave their utterances."

Pentecost cannot be explained, described or reproduced and it is an experience which cannot be overlooked. The feast of Pentecost, which is fifty days after Easter, was one which brought the largest number of outsiders into Jerusalem. In that upper room, neither decorated nor consecrated for the great occasion there awaited the coming of God a group of devout Christians and to them came the Holy Spirit and they were filled and inspired with it. You can't put as much in a thimble as in a pail and men and women are not all equally able to absorb the same but as we grow in Christian life we also grow in grace. Fire and wind are used as symbols of God and the Spirit came as the wind or breath of God and the tongues of fire thrilled them to greater intensity of life in the new era which had come and which gave them courage to face the hardships and persecutions which awaited them.

Pentecostal Experience:

On Wednesday last the speaker was privileged to attend the inaugural service of the United Church, held in the Arena, Toronto, and that was a Pentecostal experience which one could not adequately describe but which was an end and a beginning; three streams which had flowed side by side had drawn nearer together and were blended in one mighty river flowing on to the accomplishment of greater things. One stream has divided but is still going forward as the Church of the World must go forward for the advancement of the whole world.

In Wednesday's great gathering God was very near and while perhaps some went to see and to hear, the vast majority, with faces lifted up to God, went in loyalty of purpose, in faith and hope and consecration. Some said it was a funeral; but it was a wedding of the followers of Milton, Knox, Calvin and Wesley, and as in married life there are difficulties and sorrows as well as joys which draw nearer together the wedded pair as years go on. So will it be with the great United Church which will be bound closer, and has, we pray and believe, years of service in the days to come. The inspiration of those 8,000 voices raised in united prayer and praise was soul stirring.

Making History.

Dr. Main, who bore greetings from the Church of Scotland, said, in part: "It is given to some to teach history and to others to learn history but to you is given the opportunity of making history."

It was a mountain top experience which the speaker regarded as even higher and greater than his ordination to God's ministry eleven years ago, as in that great throng he stood and with bowed head dedicated his life afresh to God's service. He was inspired to work with greater zeal to lead all with one accord and in one place, and all filled with the spirit of the Holy Ghost.

AT MARMORA.

MARMORA, June 15.—At Marmora three years ago the Presbyterian Church closed and the congregation united with the Methodists in the Methodist Church. During this time the local union proved very successful, an excellent preclude to the greater union consummated on June 10th.

Owing to a Masonic service, no special service of a union character was held in Marmora on Sunday evening.

At the Springbrook appointment, on Sunday afternoon, a service celebrating union was held. Rev. D. R. Clare, B.D., the pastor, preached on Exodus 6-5, "The ground whereon thou standest is Holy ground," he said, "we start afresh in our Church life." In Toronto, at the birth of the union the messages were intense. The aged Presbyterian moderator said, the continuing Presbyterian Church is inside the union; a continuing Presbyterian Church outside. We are standing on Holy ground. The United Church will make the powers of evil tremble, because it is founded on prayer. It will ustify its union.

As Moses was called to lead Israel out of Egypt, so the United Church is called to lead Canada out of narrow sectarianism and uncharitable hypocrisy. The United Church fights for unity in essentials and liberty in non-essentials. All true Christians ought to work together for Christ's Kingdom. The United Church is not only great in Canada but through its missionary endeavors, the sun will ever set on its activities.

At the close of the address, at a reception service, six new members joined the United Church.

AT HASTINGS.

HASTINGS, June 15.—The United Church of Canada in Hastings held its first service on Sunday morning. The suggested order of service was used for the celebration of the consummation of Church Union in local congregations throughout Canada. The first hymn used was, "All People That on Earth do Dwell," by the Scottish psalter; the second, "O For a Thousand Tongues to Sing," by Chas. Wesley, and the third, "O God of Bethel by Whose Hand," by a Congregationalist, Dr. Philip Doddrig. Dr. Solomon Cleaver, M.A., D.D., of Toronto, addressed the large congregation that was present.

In opening, the speaker gave a brief outline of how union commenced twenty three years ago. The general conference of which Dr. Cleaver was a member, met in Grace Church, Winnipeg. The Presbyterian delegates to the conference threw down the challenge to the Methodists to quit their talking and put into practice the union of the churches which had been under discussion so long. The Methodists accepted the challenge by appointing a union committee to meet with similar committees of the other denominations. This was followed some months afterwards by the assembling of the committees of the Presbyterian, Methodist, and Congregational Churches in the Metropolitan Church, Toronto, where it met annually for four successive years, and completed the basis of union on which the church voted and which was finally consummated in the present United Church.

In both the sermons the speaker presented vividly what unity would mean, the morning subject being God's challenge to the new church, in the evening, the call of the desert to the new church. Hastings still retains its anti-union Presbyterian Church as the members voted unanimously against union.

AT HAVELOCK.

HAVELOCK, June 15.—On Sunday [illegible] service of the United Church, to celebrate the consummation of union, was held in what was formerly the Methodist Church.

The programme prepared by the joint committee on church union was used for the occasion.

Following the New Testament lesson the consecration of the various denominations to the new church was given in the words used in the Arena service in Toronto on Wednesday.

It was recommended on the programme that the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper be administered in connection with this service, but on account of the Havelock Church having formally entered into the union on the first Sunday in May this iten was taken up at hat time. The sermon by the pastor Rev. E. O. Seymour, was based on John 14-31, "Arise, et us go forth." The theme centres around the closing address of Jesus to his disciples. He related to them the things which were to come, namely, his trial and death, but they scarcely understood him. These closing hours were filled with mingled feelings of regret and sorrow that there should be any separation and that their group should be broken, because of the past strong feelings of friendship and noble sacrifices for one another. They had left all to follow Jesus, friends, homes and occupations. They had also left behind Jewish prejudices, over Messiahship, over the right of the Sabbath over the neighborhood and over sacred traditions of the past. Jesus broke with the Pharisees on the idea of neighborhood, the idea of Messiahship and the idea of the Sabbath. The Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath.

Parallels Present.

This was a distinct parallel to the present situation. Meetings of conferences, assemblies, unions, valedictory addresses have been given and in all strong emotions were felt by the thought that they were meeting for the last time. Nevertheless there is left behind first the narrowness of a limited body constricted to a set of views, doctrines of faith and formal creeds; second—there is left behind opportunities for disgruntled members to turn from one church to another; third—there is left behind divisions of the work, missionary social, religious and educational, each pushing its own, regardless of the other; four—there is left behind denominational rivalry, which has shackled the church for generations.

The call of Jesus is to arise and go forth, put principles into practice, theories into action and works.

AT WARKWORTH'

WARKWORTH, June 15.—At Warkworth the United Church of Canada held a service on Sunday.

An address on the life of John Wesley was ably given by Mrs. Adam Smith, and Mr. John Dick gave an interesting address on the life of John Knox. Several other addresses on features of interest were given, including an address by the pastor, Rev. F. A. Kemp. He said: "We have worshipped together for over four months, but we are meeting today for the first time as one people, the United Church of Canada. At the beginning, the Zion Church was a United Church. They were one had all things in common, because a State Legislature had made them one. That is as true today with us, as with them at that time. We may be inclined to put the emphasis on June 10, and the Act of Parliament, but we must recognize that in the union of our church we cannot legislate men and women into Union at all. The Union is banding of heart and soul into one great aim or it is nothing at all. God has given to us a great real Union of heart and soul in fellowship with one great task before us. We must necessarily get a larger vision and expand our interests in world matters. In the United Church our vision is broader. The Methodist field of missions included. Home mission, Indian work, China and Japan. The Presbyterian's missions were on a somewhat smaller scale, but the United Church will operate missions in Trinidad and Korea, and other places, which gives to us a bigger field of vision.

It was pointed out that one could be blinded to the greatest opportunity of the age by small local differences, and denominational prejudices. It was clearly stated that more power and efficiency are needed through the country today. In our age there are places where people have never had a resident minister. Children are growing up in a state of pagan isolation, with no idea of what a church is, or religion. A resident minister may be stationed to meet this situation. Only the United Church could do this.

Following the address, the members were organized and pictures of the former pastor and honored members were presented. The church was beautifully decorated.

AT BRIGHTON.

BRIGHTON, June 15.—Church Union was fittingly celebrated in Brighton on Sunday when the two ocal churches entering the United Church of Canada held Union services.

The service in the morning was held in St. Andrew's (formerly Presbyterian) Church, and in the evening in Trinity (formerly Methodist) Church.

In the morning the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was dispensed to about 400 communicants.

Rev. A. K. McLeod, B.A., who is completing his thirty-ninth year as minister of St. Andrew's, expressed unqualified delight that Church Union had been consummated. He said he had looked forward to the day for many years and had sometimes feared he would not live to see it.

Rev. J. S. I. Wilson, B.A., B.D. minister of Trinity Church, prefaced a brief communion address by commenting on its unique character of the present occasion. Never before had three communions of different origin, traditions and constructive doctrines been blended into one organic whole under one name. It was worthy of note, however, that none of the negotiating churches had lost their identity as they were still affiliated with the world-wide denomination to which they had formerly belonged, and while all experienced regret in losing the honored name they had borne, still they were ever thinking more of the contribution they were privileged to make to the new movement rather than anything they might have to give up. The name was gone but the soul still went marching on.

A large congregation again assembled in Trinity Church in the evening when Rev. Mr. McLeod preached the sermon. A large union choir, under the direction of Mr. J. W. Williamson, furnished a fine programme of music.

AT BAILIEBORO.

BAILIEBORO, June 15.—On Sunday evening Rev. R. M. Patterson preached an expellent welcoming sermon to the congregation of the Bailieboro United Church, which was formerly a Methodist Church. The pastor gave a hearty invitation that any members from any other church would be made welcome to come and join the new United Church.

"We do not want members from other churches to join this church just simply to increase and strengthen the membership of our church," stated the pastor. This church now belongs just as much to the members of either the past Congregational Church or to the past Presbyterian Church. Our aim is to try to save souls and establish a place in the kingdom of heaven for everyone, and by coming to this church to worship we hope and pray that everyone may be led to love their Maker and Master. Let us forget from now on that we are Methodists, but let us consider ourselves as members of the great United Church of Canada, and try in every way possible to strengthen the Christianity in our churches and become one large family worshipping the one Almighty Father in heaven. The service was carried out along the same lines as the great inaugural service was carried out in the Arena in Toronto on Wednesday last.

AT TWEED.

TWEED, June 15.—The Rev. Wm. Johnston, a retired pastor, had charge of the services in the former Methodist Church yesterday, while the Rev. L. S. Wight is attending the general conference of the United Church of Canada.

Mr. Johnston gave a very hearty welcome to all who wished to make this their church home.

Mr. Johnston entered the ministry in 1868, and at that time there were five different Methodist denominations, and in 1874 two of these denominations united. Then in 1884 the Methodist Episcopal Primitive Bible Christians joined the union and from that time to the present only one Methodist Church has existed. Then in 1875 different Presbyterian bodies united, and in 1902 the Methodist general conference met in Winnipeg. Delegations from the Presbyterian Churches and the Congregational Churches came to the conference to convey fraternal greetings, and told of the similarity of Methodist and Presbyterian Churches and suggested a better thing by uniting.

The Presbyterian, Congregational, Anglican and Baptists appointed committees to meet and consider whether a union could be effected of these churches. The Anglicans and Baptists found difficulties and withdrew. The Methodist and Presbyterian congregations continued negotiations from time to time during the twenty-three years to past the result which was the basis upon which union could be built. This was the first Sunday of existence of the United Church of Canada.

Mr. Johnston took his text from John 14, 12th verse, "Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on md the works that I do shall he do also; an, greater works than these shall he do because I go unto my Father."

He told how Christ had placed responsibility of Christian work upon his disciples, and their followers with the promise that a greater work was before them than had been accomplished by Him during his public ministry and the reason for this was He went to the Father and embraced in that explanation was the work He did in making atonement. The forsaking by his disciples, the betrayal by Judas, the trial before Pilot, the Crucifixion upon the Cross, the Death, Resurrection and Ascension all were necessary in going to the Father and as a result the Holy Spirit was given to aid the Disciples given the work.

When Jesus was crucified the number of disciples were one hundred and twenty. At the time of the Resurrection five hundred visited Him at Galilee.

After His Ascension the Holy Spirit came. Peter preached to the Jews when three thousand were converted under one sermon. Later Christians numbered five thousand, and so the apostles preached the gospel and success attended their efforts until the whole land filled with their doctrine.

AT STIRLING

STIRLING, June 15.—A large congregation greeted the minister, Rev. C. W. Barrett at the inaugural service in the Methodist church here to celebrate the Consummation of Church Union. His text was taken from Colossians chapter 3, verse 15—"And the peace of God rule in your hearts to the which also ye are called in one body, and be ye thankful."

The sermon was divided into two headings "Unity and Peace," Mr. Barrett said in part. Let us understand the conditions under which St. Paul urged peace written by a man in prison, expecting a violent death at any moment, persecuted and at a time when religious controversy was engaged in, and yet this exhortation comes from such a man. "Let the peace of God rule in your hearts. Unity has a great meaning. "I and My Father are One." Unity from things that are dissimilar as in two grains of sand; each is always separate, or a flock of sheep, each is separate or forms an aggregation, but in the body, as a suit, all parts are necessary. If an arm or a leg is gone something is lacking to the body as a unit. All through the years contributions are being made, contributions of changing idess. Martyrdom was the test of Christianity long ago, now it is brotherhood. Each Uniting Church will make its contribution to make the United Church more efficient. Unity produces peace from things that are unlike, as a peace between countries that are unlike but at peace. Life keeps the body a unit, when the life is gone the body decays. No one wants the peace of stagnation or death, and it is such when the life is gone. Ecclesiastical dicipline will never make a unit. "Let the God of Peace rule," and means a manifestation of power. A show of passion always betrays weakness, to control one's self in times of great sorrow or under fire is a sign of strength.

Psalm 118 was read as the first lesson and Col. 3 as the second lesson.

The Rev. Mr. Barrett extended the broadest and warmest welcome to those going into Union from the sister Church.

St. Andrew's.

At the service in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in the morning, Rev. R. Simpson was the preacher and a good congregation was present. The minister read Nehemiah 2 and 1 Cor. 12, his text was from 1 Cor. chapter 13, verse 13.

The minister basing his remarks on the practising of charity at this particular time, he said that each denomination or sect had to thank each of the others for some good they had received from theirs. The Anglicans had taught the others stability and dignity. Methodism had shown their evangelical zeal. The Baptists, their strict adherence to the sacraments of Baptism and the Lord's Supper. The Congregationalists, liberty and the Presbyterians, the Sovereignty of God; and the preacher advised the people to be charitable in their thoughts and actions towards those who differed with them at this time.

May McAvoy and Malcolm MacGregor Are Featured in Latest Paramount Picture.

Does the young man marry the heiress?

What has the queer woman novelist got to do with the murder?

Here's a story that has been pronounced by those who have seen the production the most baffling mystery-drama in years. It's a William de Mille production featuring May McAvoy, Malcolm MacGregor, Ricardo Cortez, Robert Edeson, George Fawcett and Ethel Wales. Clara Beranger wrote both the original story and screen play.

"The Bedroom Window" is an unusually entertaining production, lightened with bright comedy touches throughout its entire length. The story has to do with the identification of a murderer—and who is there that doesn't love a good detective story? Here's a chance to do a little sleuthing of your own, and it's a sure bet that you'll have picked the wrong man as the guilty one when the real culprit is exposed on the screen.

EPIC OF BALTO AND KASSON MAY BE LAST OF ITS KIND IN HISTORY.

Picturization of the Educational Special, "Balto's Race to Nome," to be seen at the Royal Theatre to-day, is declared by motion picture producers to be one of the greatest triumphs of showmanship in the history of the screen, for the actual filming of the picture which will immortalize the Siberian dog and the husky "musher" who saved the Alaskan town from the tragic results of a diphtheria epidemic began within eleven days after the completion of the dash across the snow-covered wastes of the Far North.

When preparations were first made for the filming of the picture it was not known whether the carrying of the life-giving serum into Nome would be successfully accomplished.

But when Gunnar Kasson and Balto dragged weary feet into Nome at 5.30 o'clock on the never to be forgotten morning of February 2, Kasson was greeted with a cablegram asking him to return at once to the nearest port where he and his dogs might ship to Seattle to repeat their trip in the snows of Ranier.

"Mushers" are men of quick decisions. Kasson slept until 4 o'clock in the afternoon—the first sleep in forty-eight hours—and started back to Nenana. Ten days later he was trying to evade reception committees in Seattle which sought to do the two heroes—man and dog—the hopor that was their due.

"A record of this exploit, viewed by our children a quarter of a century from to-day, when good roads, plenty of automobiles and possibly an equally general use of the aeroplane will have made the wilds of the North submit to the needs of man, should go far to make men respect those who have made the world more livable, and brought the frontiers of civilization to our very firesides."

AT THE CAPITOL

APPEALING STORY OF TWO SISTERS

"Sackcloth and Scarlet" Due at the Capitol Today.

"Sackcloth and Scarlet," Henry King's first American-made picture in two years —an unusually human and appealing story of two sisters, adapted from the novel by George Gibbs, comes to the Capitol Theatre today. Alice Terry is featured in the cast which includes, among other big names, Dorothy Sebastian Orville Caldwell, Otto Matiesen, Kathleen Kirkham and John Miljan.

Three locations, the far West, New York and France, play prominent roles in the unfolding of this Paramount picture.

The story starts in a fashionable mountain resort in California with Polly Freeman (Dorothy Sebastian), a wealthy, wilful, spoiled 19-year-old New York girl, carrying on a dangerous flirtation with Stephen Edwards, played by Orville Caldwell, one of the guides, a handsome, manly young fellow, but unaware that the girl is only playing at love. Polly is happy until Edwards asks her to marry him, when she takes French leave and returns to New York, where she and her sister Joan (Miss Terry) maintain a beautiful home. They are orphans.

The director is claimed to have painted a beautiful and convincing picture of sacrifice—with Alice Terry giving all, even her good name, and Dorothy Sebastian taking all.

Polly runs away to Paris and marries a dancer. Joan is ostracized and held guilty for the sins committed by Polly. Finally Joan goes to Washington, where she meets and falls in love with Edwards, who has worked hard, succeeded and been sent to Congress. He proposes and breaks down Joan's scruples regarding what she says is a barrier by saying his past life, too, is under a shadow and that their love is strong enough to overcome any past mistakes.

A few days before the wedding, Polly who has discovered her husband, re appears. Jealous of her sister, despite the sacrifices the latter has made for her, she determines to claim the now successful Edwards.

The many big dramatic situations in the earlier portions of the story reach a tense and unusual climax.

AT THE REGENT

"PROUD FLESH" IS BEST KING VIDOR PICTURE TO DATE.

Eleanor Boardman, Pat O'Malley and Harrison Ford Head Great Cast.

A daring production, clothed in comedy and satire is "Proud Flesh," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production directed by King Vidor, which opened to-day at the Regent Theatre for an engagement of three days.

The novel of the same name from the pen of Lawrence Rising was one of the year's "best sellers," and the screen version of it bids fair to surpass the sensation created by King Vidor's last picture, "Wife of the Centaur."

The plot of the story has for its theme a young girl of culture and pride who heeds the call of the primeval urge. Born amid the ruins of the great San Francisco holocaust, Fernanda is taken to Spain where she is reared in every luxury.

Returns Home a Snob.

Her continental education results in a disdain for Americans and their mannerisms, and she returns to her native land arrogant and snobbish.

She meets Patrick O'Malley, a young, go-getting Irish-American who has built up a large plumbing company and doesn't hesitate to put on a pair of overalls if necessary. Don Jaime, a suave, likeable member of the Spanish nobility, follows Fernanda to America and a struggle then ensues between Don Jaime and O'Malley for the girl.

Barcelona Led Opening But Lost Point and Half

TORONTO, June 15 (Canadian Press).—Barcelona led the opening session of the Toronto stock exchange this morning, dealings in thi security which was inclined to be reactionary amounting to more than 1,400 shares, opening steady at 24 it weakened to 21 3-4, but recovered to 22 5-8 at the close, a net loss of 1 1-2 points. Atlantic Sugar and Smelters were other leaders.

Better Weather Swings Wheat Market Downward

CHICAGO, June 15.— (Canadian Press.)—Reports of more favorable weather over the domestic wheat belt tended to give a downward swing to wheat values here today and the market broke sharply during the early dealings. There was some scattered selling on the initial declines which found support lacking and the drop was easily attained. Opening quotations were ranged from 7-8 to 2 3-8c. lower, with July 157 1-4 to 158 and Sept. 152 3-4 to 154, were followed by an additional drop, July touching 156 and September 151 3-4.

Bearish Factors Force Break In July Wheat

WINNIPEG, June 15.—(Canadian Press.)—The combination of bearish factors forced a drastic break in the price of July wheat shortly before the close of the market here to-day. July delivery declined steadily to a low point of $1.65 3-4, a recession of 6 1-2 cents from the close on Saturday.

October also underwent a sharp downturn, dropping 3 7-8c. at $1.36 1-8. The absence of export buying, lower Liverpool cables and reports of excellent crop conditions throughout Western Canada were the principal factors in the downward movement.

Mining Trading Active: As 121,245 Shares Move

TORONTO, June 15. (Canadian Press).—Trading on the Standard Mining Exchange was active to-day with transactions amounting to 121,245 shares. Argonaut opened steady, advancing 1¼ points to 28, while Keora was also steady at 10½. Kirkland Lake, opening at Saturday's closing figure, advanced one point to 37½. Tough Oakes was one point higher at the opening and advanced steadily to 34½, while Keeley made an advance of two points to 185. Mining Corporation opened two points higher, maintained its strength and closed at 283, a total of five points higher than the close of Saturday. Victory Silver advanced one point to 27.

summation of the union of the Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational churches was marked by special services in the First United Church, Division street, Cobourg, where the services were largely attended. The order of service used in the morning was that arranged for the United Church of Canada. The service was in charge of the ministers, Rev. R. F. Stillman and Rev. W. A. Bremner.

The Music.

The hymns used were, "All People that on Earth do Dwell," from the Scotch Psalter, sung to the tune of Old Hundreth; Charles Wesley's well known contribution to the hymnology of the church, "O for a Thousand Tongues to Sing," a hymn from the Latin, "Come, Holy Ghost our Souls Inspire," pointing to the great union of all Christian peoples, and linking the newly organized United Church, with the Church Universal; and Philip Dodderidge's "O God of Bethel by whose Hand," one of the favorite hymns of the Congregational church. A large choir led the service of praise and sang the anthems. While the elements were being passed the choir sang "Break Thou the Bread of Life, Oh Lord to me."

Rev. W. A. Bremner.

Mr. Bremner, the former pastor of St. Andrew's church, which is now a continuing Presbyterian Church, said all realized what a memorable day this is for the Church of Jesus Christ here, and in other lands. One of the fine things about the great union services in Toronto was the presence of so many from other lands, who rejoiced with the United Church here over the consummation effected, and said, the Unionists in Canada were pioneers in a grand cause. He hoped that other lands would follow. He hoped the union of the three churches would mean not so much strength in numbers or in finances but that the church would be strong spiritually, so that it may be a great instrument in God's hands to advance his truth. In the General Council of the United Church when it met in Toronto, cooperation was a strong feature: a spirit to give and take, a desire to get the other fellow's view point, in order to have the very best for the new church. There are two things I wish to say of us here, said Mr. Bremner, if we wish to advance the kingdom. Rely upon the power of the Spirit of God; seek His mind: His Guidance, His will; recognize the responsibility of each as individuals for doing his or her best; let us approach united in this altitude, and in the spirit of brother love. If hard things have to be said let others say them: if unkind things have to be done, let others do them. Let us keep ourselves right.

Rev. R. F. Stillman's Message.

Mr. Stillman said he had looked forward through all his ministry to this day. He spent twenty years in the west where conservation of the forces in Christian effort was a necessity. He rejoiced that union had been accomplished. It was a time of spiritual quickening and should lead to greater enthusiasm for the kingdom of God. He referred to the churches' overlapping in missionary work and the business viewpoint on these things. He felt that the church was entering upon a new day of greater things. Thirty years ago, said Mr. Stillman, a Methodist minister put his hand on me, and said "I think you had better enter the ministry." It was his great joy to-day to receive into the United Church in Cobourg a son of that man. During the two years he had been in Cobourg there had not been a sacramental service when some had not come in. He rejoiced over these fruits of his ministry.

The Reception Service.

Following Mr. Stillman's address three groups were received into the church: four who received the rite of baptism; three who joined by letter, and six by confession of faith.

Former Congregational.

This church, formerly Congregational, of which Rev. Adam Hamilton, M.A., is the pastor, entered the Union without taking a vote. In the evening service Mr. Hamilton took as his theme "Shoes for New Roads" and preached a characteristically excellent sermon. Mr. Hamilton a few days ago made the public utterance that the Christian teaching of this church will not be affected by the union amalgamation, but will stand as in the past for a broad interpretation of Christ and his Gospel.

AT MILLBROOK

MILLBROOK, Jun 15.—A large congregation, practically filling the ground floor of the auditorium of what was formerly the Methodist Church, gathered for the inaugural service of the United Church on Sunday 11 a.m.

A reception committee, representing each of the uniting congregations, Dr. A. Jemison, H. W. Johnston, W. C. Hetherington, and G. E. Burnham, warmly welcomed the incoming worshippers. Printed programmes with the order of service for the two inaugural Sundays, June 14 and 21, were given out by the ushers, Jas. Larmer and Ernest Burnham.

Rev. F. H. Howard, pastor of the United Church; Rev. G. S. Gervan, former pastor of Grace Presbyterian Church, and Rev. Jos. Wilks had charge of the service, the latter leading in the opening prayer.

As the large body of worshippers rose in response to the pastor's "Call to Worship," and the volume of praise, "Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord God Almighty," rose in unison, none could fail to experience the thrill of the wonderful achievement now actually brought into being after more than twenty years of prayer, vision and effort.

The choir selection, "O, Praise the Lord," was particularly appropriate, Mrs. G. W. Sayles taking the solo, Mr. W. H. Coombe and Mrs. Sayles the duet, and Miss May Byam's voice being added for the trio.

Standing with bowed heads, the congregation responded to the "Words of Dedication," the pastor leading in the solemn covenant, the reply each time being "We form this congregation of the United Church."

Rev. Mr. Gervan preached from the text Ephesians 5, 25-27: "Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ also loved the Church and gave Himself for it; that He might present it to Himself, a glorious church, not having spot, or wrinkle, or any such thing; but that it should be holy, and without blemish."

Earlier in the service Mr. Gervan read the list of Unionists from the Presbyterian congregation who are joining the United Church either at Millbrook, Cavan, or Bailieboro, according to convenience of residence. About fifty names were given, representing twenty or more families, and others are still to be enrolled.

"The Glorious Church," was Mr. Gervan's there, its vital composition being emphasized. "We fall into the sin of thinking of the building as the church, when it is but the visible sign of the invisible, glorious Church of Christ, mere bricks and mortar, the service an empty form, unless the life of the Spirit is manifested."

"The United Church is a step forward, an evidence that we are drawing closer together, and beginning to understand our Bibles better, fulfilling the expectation of the Master, "That they all may be one."

"The church is great as the members become humble. The forces of evil tremble as they see the army presenting a united front in the effort to bring people into loving obedience to the will of God, patience, sympathy, kindness, lack of criticism and a pure and simple faith are necessary in our relationship toward those who differ from us on the Union question. Nevertheless, we 'see in terms of bigness,' and victory is assured."

AT MOUNT PLEASANT.

CAVAN, June 15.—The Methodist and Presbyterian congregations of Mount Pleasant have united and now form one congregation of the United Church of Canada.

Two weeks ago, before going to Conference, the Rev. R. T. Richards conducted the first Union service there. Just now they are using the Presbyterian Church, but probably when cold weather comes, will worship in the Methodist Church, as it has better shed accommodation.

AT CAVAN.

CAVAN, June 15.—The inaugural service of the Cavan branch of the United Church of Canada was a beautiful and impressive service. The pastor, Rev. R. L. Richards, conducted the opening part of the service.

Mr. Richards said that for the first time we were worshipping as a united church. No longer were we Methodists; all the traditions of that sect were left behind and our faces are turned to the future. As we pass from Methodist to the United church the names of members of that church are automatically transferred to the United church. He also had the following list of names who were transferring their names from other churches to become members of the United church in Cavan: Mrs. David Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Hunter, Miss Frances Hunter, Miss Gwendoline Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Pritchard, Miss Elinor and Mr. Leslie Pritchard from Millbrook Presbyterian church; Mrs. D. J. White and Mrs. Rowen, formerly members of Bethany Presbyterian church and Mrs. J. G. Matchett's name transferred from Beach avenue Methodist church, Toronto.

In the name of God he extended a welcome to all. He said that he had the privilege of attending the great inaugural service held in Toronto on Wednesday, when the United church was born. It was said that it was one of the greatest religious services ever held in Canada and that this was the most significant religious movement since the Reformation.

Momentous Occasion.

Mr. Ferris in opening his sermon said we had been making history this week. It was a most momentous occasion when those who for some time have been one in spirit, now united and were prepared to go forward to work for the coming of Christ's kingdom.

Mr. Ferris had been a minister of the Presbyterian church. He chose for his text John 12:32, "And I, if I be lifted up, will draw all men unto me." This is the motive of Christianity that men may be drawn to Christ. A great impulse of love must stir our hearts. The secret of the attraction of Jesus was the way in which he drew men by the power of His personality. He found his disciples by ones and twos and they in turn brought others. They gathered about Him, lived His life, and endured hardness. At one time they told Him, "Lord to whom can we go. Thou only has the secret of eternal life? To the new church comes the challenge to do to-day, the work of the text. to lift up Christ before men that he may draw men unto Himself. In furthering this, one of the most important factors is "Religious Education." Educate the youth of to-day, who will be the men and women of to-morrow. "The world moves forward on the feet of little children." Deal with our youth and help them to prepare for the task of our age.

A task before the united church is to help to make Canada as a whole, Christian, to help build a new order in which the principles of Jesus Christ will apply. The task will not be easy. We need to give up material things and gain treasure in heaven. We must work for things beyond our own shore. The United church must be a missionary church. Send missionaries to teach Christ's principles. Realize world brotherhood.

AT NORWOOD.

The inaugural service to mark the beginning of worship and work in the Norwood branch of the United Church of Canada was held on Sunday, and was attended by a large congregation.

Rev. T. M. Wesley, associate pastor, read the names of those who were joining by certificate from St. Andrew's Church. It was noticed that the combined ages of the first five named had was about 425 or 430 years. Eleven joined on profession of faith, and a few by certificate from other Presbyterian congregations.

Ninety-Two New Names.

Ninety-two names were thus added to the roll. The new members were addressed by the Rev. W. P. Rogers and welcomed by him, after which they were asked to stand. Then the former Methodist members were invited to do the same, thus uniting the two divisions.

Rev. W. P. Roger took for his subject "The Problem of Immigration," and used as a basis for his remarks the verse, "Come thou with us and we will do thee good, for the Lord hath spoken good concerning Israel." He spoke of some of the former men who had caught the vision of a broader field and a broader outlook, mentioning in his remarks such men as Martin Luther, John Knox, John Wesley, William Booth of the Salvation Army, and others. He said that the new Church had the independence of the Congregational, the loyalty of the Presbyterian and the Evangelistic spirit of the Methodist

A solo was rendered by Miss B. E. Pearce, entitled "My Heart Ever Faithful."

The evening service was taken by the Rev. T. M. Wesley, who took for his text, "Ye have not passed this way heretofore."

AT MADOC.

MADOC, June 15. — At the first united service held in the Methodist church the order of service for the United Church of Canada inaugural services was followed.

After the reading of the New Testament lesson the names of the Presbyterians who voted for union were presented. Rev. Mr. Foster, pastor of the Methodist church, then spoke a few words of welcome to Rev. Mr. McCormack, former minister of St. Peter's Presbyterian church, and to the new members. He brought greetings to them from the Board of the Methodist church and expressed the hope that all who had been members of the Board in the Presbyterian church, would feel free to join the Board of the United Church, and that all who had been Sunday school workers or had held office in any of the church societies would identify themselves with the Sunday school and continue to hold office in the new church.

Mr. Foster referred to the meetings held in Toronto during the last week and felt that anyone who had heard the inspiring messages of the speakers there would realize that joining the union was the only right thing to do. All were striving for one object, the attainment of the joys of the hereafter: there was only one God, only one Minister, who is Jesus Christ, our Lord, and all should follow the doctrines of Jesus Christ.

Rev. Mr. McCormack replied to Rev. Mr. Foster's welcome, and said he also wished to thank the little band who with him had joined the United Church of Canada. He felt that in the years to come they would see the fruits of their work, would realize that they had followed the right course and that their sacrifice had not been in vain.

The sermon was preached by the Rev. Mr. McCormack. He spoke briefly on the message of St. Paul to the Corinthians contained in the first chapter of first Corinthians. He referred to the great services held in Toronto during the past week and the greetings which were brought from all over the world to the United Church. So it was in the time of Paul. In those days the only real religion was the Jewish religion and they could not see why the Gentiles should be Christians. Paul had come with a message from Christ to the little church at Corinth. They asked him from whom they came, and He said, I come with a message from the Church of God, which is the living church. While speaking to them they said to him: "We follow Apollos," but Paul said: "Ye shall not follow any one. Ye shall follow the continuing church, which is the Church of God.

The speaker then went on to explain that people should live above the petty inheritance which enabled them to say they were followers of John Knox or follovers of Charles Wesley. They should be followers of Jesus Christ—the church's one foundation. He felt that the people had seen a vision and that this new United Church is really the continuing church—the Church of God—as Paul said. People should have one faith, one Lord and one baptism.

Much had been said about the great sacrifice the Presbyterians had made but the sacrifice was not all on one side. The Methodist loved their church and they too had given up and made sacrifices. If people would forget wealth, ancestors, what their church had meant to them in the past and turn toward the future and what the church would continue to mean to them they would realize that this great change would be for the betterment of the world. He believed the message of Paul was really being carried out and that there should be one church throughout the world.

The speaker closed with a quotation from that famous and beautiful hymn—

"The Church's one foundation,
Is Jesus Christ our Lord."

In the evening Mr. Foster gave a report of the morning service that took place in the Arena in Toronto last week, and Mr. McCormack dealt with the afternoon and evening services.

AT CAMPBELLFORD

CAMPBELLFORD, June 15.—Rev. James Hodges of Manitoba, preaching at the United Church, yesterday chose as his text the words found in Matt. 28, verses 19-20—"Go ye therefore and teach all nations baptizing them in the Name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost; and lo I am with you always, even unto the end of the world."

This thought declared the speaker, was closest to the heart of Christ and what has the United Church to give the world that is really worth while? This great union of Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational Churches has meant sacrifice for all of us. We have civilization, which is form of education, culture, etc., to give them. The Chinese had a form of civilization, knowledge of mathematics, astronomy before Abraham's time. The world needs more than material civilization, unless the heart and thought is changed, civilization is a failure.

We can give the church—but what church shall we give? It is a great wrong for us to fasten on India or China denominational differences or to perpetuate any "ism." The educated Chinese say there shall be only one church in China—the Christian Church. Similarly in India the Hindoo who penetrates to the root of things says there must be only one church in India. Is it worth while to spend $4,000,000 to perpetuate the isms that divided you and me? Do our lives exemplify the life of the Saviour? The life teachings and love of Jesus Christ are the only things on which the Union Church has committed itself. The Union Church must give to the world a true conception of God. We have a Gospel that reveals God the Father, a God of compassion, love and light. It is ours to pass on this true conception and spirit of universal brotherhood. The great task of the church is to teach the world the value of human life, the nature and power of sin and true conception of immortality.

The days when the church was making greatest progress were when the church was united. They were altogether in one place, they continued in accord and prayer. But theological dissension came and Paul's heart was broken as he spoke to Corinthian churchWho is Paul or who Apollis—Is Christ divided. The day is come when Christian people will be inspired and will be meeting together in one accord.

We are living in momentous times declared the speaker. What a task, what a vision is committed to us! Angles might envy us to carry the message of comradeship, salvation and immortality. Do we believe all power is His?

Large congregations were assembled and all entered heartily into the spirit of the service on Sunday at the Union church, at the inaugural services conducted by Rev. Mr. Hodges.

AT OMEMEE

OMEMEE, June 15.—Sunday, June 14th, will go down in history as a red letter day, among many in Omemee. Rev. E. W. Rowland, the pastor of the United Church, was present assisted by Rev. J. A. Black, the retiring pastor of the former Presbyterian Church, while Rev. Cecil Best, a former school boy in Omemee, now of Selkirk, Manitoba delivered the address at the morning service. A Union choir rendered a pretty and very appropriate carol entitled "O Church of God United." Out of five Elders in the retiring church, four have entered the United Church, along with many of the workers.

By way of introduction, Mr. Best, read Moffat's translation of the 13th chapter of 1st Cor.—Many are the thoughts that dash through our minds as we join in this inaugural service. In this great hour it is impossible for words to reject unheartedly, unsoully in this movement which has spread, not only across our land but across the world said Mr. Best. We are in a great sea, having great experiences, passing through tremendous times, passing through such as time as has not been since the days when Luther nailed his thesis on the door of the church at Wittenberg, but he was glad to be one who has joined in the movement. Taking his text from the words of the Bible—"And now abideth Faith, Hope, Love, these three, but the greatest of these is Love," the speaker said "as we enter into the spirit of union probably the easiest thing to do was to preach a sermon. Our greatest contributions to the United Church are those we may each put into this movement. We are joined together as a three-leafed clover or as the panes of glass of the window to let into us some light and assist us this morning to bring our contributions.

Let us each bring our Christian virtues which we possess into the United Church, using the words of the text, Faith Hope and Love, remember that the greatest of these virtues is Love. The first virtue, that of Faith was given in an illustration showing the faith of God which He has in us. Have faith in God. We are face to face with industrial problems, international problems, social and political problems and now the ecclesiastical. Let us not forget as we enter that God Almighty is watching. He has gone on before and it will be easier for us to overcome our problems. It is not what we do for Christ that counts, but what Christ can do through us. If we have faith in God, He can work through us because we walk with Him.

World Needs Hope.

The second virtue is Hope. The world needs hope and so does the Christian Church need Hope. We must hope and pray that this new Church will help us in the conditions we are existing in to-day and make it a Church that will go out and help us with our battles. Nothing but the love of Jesus and the hope of Salvation should keep us in touch with the Invisible, the Unseen; and our souls should grow in accordance with our minds and bodies and so help us to keep in touch with the Unseen.

There are three kinds of Love, spoken of in the new Testament. (1) The Love of God to us that is the Love we know. (2) The Love of us toward God that is the Love we feel. Here in is love, not that we love God but that he loveth us. (3) The Love to one another—that is the love we act. Love one another for Love is of God. In this new Church, the final test of our success is the supremacy of love, apart from love, we can do nothing.

The speaker said he had great Hope and great Faith in the new Church. The foundation must be of love, the love we know, feel and act in relation to God and the hand that paints the rainbow, made the flowers, the ocean, etc., can take this Church through love to the great triumphant Church above.

WEDDING.

DEATH.

CAMERON.—Eliza Wells Cameron, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Andrew McFarlane, 509 Homewood Avenue, on Monday, June 15.

The funeral will be private, Tuesday, June 16, at 2.30 o'clock.

IN MEMORIAM.

FERGUSSON. —In loving memory of our dear mother, who died June 14th, 1915:

Time may pass from year to year,
And friends from day to day,
But never will the one we love
From memory fade away.

Friends may think we have forgotten her
When at times they see us smile,
But they little know the heartache
That the smile hides all the while.

CHINESE DISRUPTION THREATENS TO ENGULF GREAT POWERS WHILE GOVERNMENTS ANXIOUS TO PREVENT A CONFLAGRATION IN THE EAST

One of Grave Dangers Is That Japan May Singly Take Drastic Steps—Nations Cannot Maintain Their Present Negative Attitude Indefintely, Say Authorities.

BRITAIN RELUCTANT TO USE FORCE.

British Engineer Shot Dead and His Companion Wounded By Sniping Chinese Ambush—Negotiations For Settlement Deadlocked—Britain Cannot Give Up Firm Stand.

LONDON, June 16 (Special Cable by United Press).—Not the problems of European security but the grave situation developing in China forms for the moment the chief concern of the British Government. The growing anti-British feeling only accentuated the anxiety in both official and commercial quarters.

The opinion expressed in the political world today is that the Great Powers cannot long maintain what is merely a negative policy. Despite the outward show of unity of the Powers in the face of common danger to foreigners and foreign interests in China, there is the suspicion in some quarters that underneath some of the old jealousies and conflicting interests militate against the formation of a more active policy.

Fear Japan May Act.

In left wing Labor quarters the view is freely expressed that one of the greatest concerns of a majority of the Powers is that Japan may decide singly to take drastic steps. It is clear from their activities that certain elements of organized British Labor are seeking to lead world wide agitation for a hands-off policy in China.

The Independent Labor Party staged scores of meetings throughout the country during the week, and protested against the continued hold of the foreign powers on China. The action of the left wing leaders of the General Council of the Trade Union Congress in sending a cable to the Chinese Workers' Committee applauding their fight against international capitalism is considered a move which might have the most dangerous consequences in view of the growing chaos in China.

The belief is expressed in the political world, that the Powers must without delay convoke a round table party in which not only the Peking Government, but representatives of a dozen or more of the provinces must take part. Sir John Jordan, regarded as the greatest living British authority on Far Eastern affairs and who was one of the chief British delegates to the Washington Conference, declares, in a letter to The Times, that such a parley must be held, although he forsees great difficulties in reconciling all of the conflicting interests and claims.

Britisher Shot.

LONDON, June 16 (Canadian Press).—Telegraphing from Shanghai, the correspondent of The Daily Mail says that lawless persons among the anti-foreign element have started a campaign of sniping foreign motor cars. A British engineer named W. W. Mackenzie was shot dead and his companion, Miss Mary Duncan was wounded, on Monday night by ambushed Chinese while motoring along the great western road outside the settlement.

Three bullets hit Mr. Mackenzie and two Miss Duncan. The woman took the steering wheel of the car and drove into the settlement, where she collapsed and was taken to hospital.

Government Anxious.

LONDON, June 16 (Canadian Press).—Premier Baldwin told the House of Commons yesterday afternoon that the British Government is "watching the situation in China most anxiously," and the cabinet is known to take a grave view of condition there.

The Government is reluctant to advocate armed intervention, and it is understood here the United States is opposed to such action. On the other hand, Japan, according to British information, favors more drastic action than has been taken so far, although it is said she will do nothing except in consultation and with the consent of the other Powers.

Deadlock Reached.

LONDON, June 16 (Canadian Press).—A despatch to The Daily Telegraph from Shanghai says negotiations for settlement of the Shanghai incident apparently are deadlocked owing to conflicting national policies. It is asserted that the British policy is one of utmost firmness and compromise.

The correspondent says British concerns in Shanghai support a firm stand by Great Britain, believing a settlement of the issue involving surrender would result in menace to British [illegible] property throughout the country.

"It is [illegible]ated," says the correspondent, "that all China is supporting the strikers. There is no lack of funds, as Chinese commercial associations are sending money liberally to support the movement, which daily is growing in strength.

The attitude of the missionaries and Chinese Christians is very significant, beng in favor of the students and strikers and urging a settlement on the basis of the minimum demands of the Chinese."

SHANGHAI, June 16. Canadian Press. — The British Consul General here to-day vigorously protested to the civil governor and also to the foreign commissioner, because of the killing of William W. MacKenzie, a British subject, last night. MacKenzie was shot by Chinese agitators.

"One foreign life for every Chinese life taken in Shanghai," was the slogan adopted by the Chinese in posters distributed to-day after the killing of MacKenzie.

Prince Prefers Farming To Big Game Shooting

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, June 16. — (Canadian Press Cable via Reuters).—With regard to a report that the Prince of Wales has entertained the idea of returning to South Africa for big game shooting the general impression here is that His Royal Highness is not particularly interested in big game and this seems to be borne out by his recent cancellation of a projected visit to a game reserve.

The Prince, however, throughout his tour in South Africa has shown the deepest possible interest in farming, and South African farmers who have spoken to him think it quite possible that he may buy a farm and encourage horsebreeding and the raising of sheep and dairy cattle in this country.

Privy Council Deals With Breach Of Promise Action

LONDON, June 16.—(Canadian Press Cable).—The judicial committee of the privy council for the first time in its history yesterday concerned itself with a breach of promise action restoring judgment, awarding £2,600 to the widow of an English barrister after the High Court of India had reversed the finding of a lower court. The plaintiff, who was a German by birth, was interned during the war and during the internment the defendant married.

The committee found that there had been no recision of the contract to marry and, while the defendant was unable now to fulfil the contract, he must make amends to the plaintiff.

UNIFY HYMNALS.

Effort Will Be Made in Future to Adopt Uniform Praise.

TORONTO, June 16. (Canadian Press).—The General Council of the United Church began to-day to tackle in nearnest some of the problems that confront it, several of the sessional committees being ready to report. One of these was the Committee on Titles, and the Presbyterians in the Council made strong efforts to retain the term 'Moderator' for the conference and presbyteries, before the recommendations of the committee which suggested the title 'Moderator' only for the General Council, were finally adopted.

The report of the Committee on Church Worship recommended that all congregations of the United Church should continue to use the forms of service to which they have been accustomed, but that the Church should look forward to uniform books of united praise for public worship, Sunday schools and young people's societies.

A resolution moved by Judge S. A. Chesley that Cadet trainning in the schools of the Dominion should be abolished as being contrary to the spirit of Christ was referred, without discussion, to the Committee on Church Life and Work.

WOMAN DETAINED AT BORDER WHILE HER HUSBAND IS DYING

Mrs. Mabel Mott Kept in an Iron Cage—Claims Incivility.

AT DETROIT.

DETROIT, Mich., June 16—Details of a hurried trip from Toronto in answer to a summons from her husband's deathbed, and of uncivil treatment at the hands of the United States immigration inspector, were given yesterday by Mrs. Mabel Mott, 28.

Mrs. Mott charged that because she was detained at the Immigration Office for more than three hours after her arrival in Detroit, she was prevented by death from a last visit with her husband, George Mott. He died at the Receiving Hospital half an hour before she was released from custody of immigration officials.

Mrs. Mott says that although she exhibited telegrams from the Receiving Hospital officials that her husband was dangerously ill, and asked Inspector Charles McCloskey for a rapid examination that she might rush to her husband's bedside, she was denied the privilege and forced to wait until after eleven other passengers who arrived on the same train had been questioned and dismissed. She arrived in Detroit at 2 pm., and did not arrive at the hospital until 5.10.

Inspector Joseph Webb, acting head of the station at the foot of Windsor Avenue, during the absence of Inspector in Chief A. M. Doig, and while Mrs. Mott was being detained, said that McCloskey reported to him that Mrs. Mott made claims of American citizenship, and that he doubted whether the telegrams she showed him on the train as it crossed from Windsor and again in the immigration office, were genuine. Webb, however, after questioning Mrs. Mott, permitted her to enter the United States on parole.

Mrs. Mott denied she made any claim of citizenship.

"I told him my husband was a citizen of the United States and that he had always told me I was, too, though when he explained a new law had been enacted, I made no further reference to the matter," Mrs. Mott said.

A New Official.

"McCloskey is a new member of the immigration service and has been stationed on border work only since the first of the year," Chief Inspector A. M. Doig said, "and it a more experienced officer had been on the train Mrs. Mott probably would not have met such a long delay. An inspector who has been more accustomed to meeting the public would probably have been able to tell that Mrs. Mott's telegrams were genuine. The use of telegrams by aliens in gaining entrance to the United States is an old trick"

SHERMAN AND MERSON GUILTY OF DEFRAUDING CREDITORS; GIVEN SUSPENDED SENTENCE

Merson Left Wife and Children Without Home and Food.

WARNING GIVEN

His Honor Judge Huycke Gives Two Cattle Dealers Advice.

A verdict of guilty was returned yesterday by the jury at the conclusion of the trial of Reuben Sherman and Nathan Merson, charged with defrauding creditors by disposing of property. The jury added a recommendation to mercy in favour of Merson.

Both were allowed to go on suspended sentence

At 10.30 yesterday morning Crown Attorney Hatton resumed his examination of Sherman who identified the exhibit which showed the statement of his affair in the bankruptcy proceedings, showing liabilities at $3,798 and assets at $1.84.

Answering Mr. Huycke he explained the debt of $1,707 as being the $1,650 borrowed on May 1 and due with 7 per cent interest for six months, on November 1.

Merson On Stand.

Merson, who next took the witness stand, stated he had been in business for himself, buying poultry and cattle, until he was employed by Sherman. He worked on salary and commission until he entered into partnership with Sherman. They thought if they bought some cattle and hired a pasture they would be able to develop a good business in Peterboro, but was unable to get it as he had no security. He had never before been sued, had never been in trouble and had only once before been in court —as a witness for Sherman. He had eight children, none of them working, the eldest being 13 years old. He thought that if Charard and Spegil seized the cattle they would not be able to pay Charard and Spegil in full they would get nothing for themselves and would not be able to pay anything to the farmers. When the money was given to Charard and Spegil witness went back to the farmers and said, "You know me, I have dealt with you and I want to deal again. I cannot pay you the money just now and I want you to take this note." He was in touch with Sherman, who said he was doing all he could to get the money. He was called up by the Chief of Police, who told him of the complaint lodged against him. He told the Chief he would go to Montreal. He did so and found Sherman, who said he was doing his best to raise the money but had not yet succeeded. Vituess said he then went to work in order to earn money, until he was arrested. He has sold his house and a motor truck in order to get some money. How was he going to support his family if he was not convicted, he did not know, but he was a strong man and thought he could get work somewhere. He used to go about with a Ford truck buying junk. He had no idea whatever of defrauding the farmers with whom he had done business.

In answer to Crown Attorney Hatton he said he had handed the cheques to the farmers but he did not write them out. Who wrote them? Anybody handy. "Was the same person handy all the time?" queried counsel. Most of them seem to be in the same handwriting.

Witness could not remember anyone who had written the cheques. When he worked for Sherman he usually received about $5 a day. He could not remember much of what took place at the interview with Charard and Spegil He was so excited he did not know what he was doing. He could not remember exactly what Charard and Spegil said except that they were howling for their money. He did not tell Charad and Spegil he had to November 6 to pay the money. He had left his wife and children without a home and without bread in an effort to pay the farmers their money. He took nothing out of the firm beyong the $25 per week for the support of his family.

Addresses to Jury.

Mr. Wearing said he wanted to point out that while present charge was technically different from the previous charge, on which they had been acquitted—that of conspiracy to defraud—in its essentials it was the same The crux of the whole case was, Did these men sell those cattle with the intention of defrauding their creditors—the farmers? The fact that they could not pay the farmers was not in itself a criminal offence. He submitted that Sherman's evidence gave every indication of honesty. Sherman made no attemtp to evade the Crown Attorney's question. Where he was not sure, he asked the question to be repeated. Sherman's replies gave no evidence of ability, of education, they showed a desire to give out the true facts As for Merson the fact that he had sold his all was an indication that all the time his intentions were honest. If these men had had guilty intention they would not have passed up the opportunities of getting more cattle. Why, they could have had another two loads of cattle had they wished. How could the jury believe that Merson had a criminal intention when he had all his family and possession in the town? How was he going to make a get away when he had a wife, eight children and a house right here in Peterboro?

Another important point was their previous record. Merson had never been brought up in court before, except as a witness. Did the jury observe how Sherman's face colored as he said he had once been in court before over a transaction in which he had disputed the value of a cow? If these men were crooks they would have indulged in some trickery long before this in their many years of business, singly and separately, with farmers.

The fact that they dated the cheques in the way they did was an evidence of good rather than evil intent. They did not want their credit bad at the bank by the appearance of a number of cheques that could not be cashed. If these men intended to defraud the farmers, they would have to quit cattle buying in this district. If they went out of business they could well afford to be indifferent to their credit at the bank If the jury thought there was something hard to explain, they ought to realize that in view of the previous good record of accused there was at least an element of reasonable doubt. If that doubt existed it was their duty to give accused the benefit of the doubt.

Good Record.

W. F. Huycke laid special emphasis on the previous good record

SPAIN TO HELP FRENCH SETTLE UNRULY TRIBES

PREVENT ARMING.

General Daugan to be Maintained in Command of Troops.

PARIS, June 16. — Canadian Press —The Franco-Spanish cooperation against Abd-El-Krim's tribesmen in Morocco, has begun, Premier Painleev told the correspondents after today's cabinet meeting.

He said two French warships were patrolling the Moroccan coast and that a "provisional accord has been reached between Spain and France for the warships of both countries to keep a sharp lookout along the Morocean seaboard to prevent contraband arms reaching the tribesmen."

M. Painleve said that General Daugan would be maintained in command of all the French troops in the field in Morocco, and that the government did not intend to send General Weygand to take charge of the Moroccan campaign.

He said there are now sufficeitn French forces in Morocco to permit replacing those that have been in the front lines for several weeks. These troops will now be brought to the rear for a rest.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY NEAR END OF WORK

Re-affirms Its Appointment of Organizers in Four Provinces.

TORONTO, June 16. (Canadian Press).—The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church this morning reaffirmed its appointments of organizers in the Provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan, British Columbia and Quebec, and asked the Mission Committee to name them. The recommendation that each presbytery have a committee on evangelism was also approved. It is expected that the Assembly will conclude its work to-night.

BEER BUSINESS HARD TO ENTER

Nickle Tells Hopeful Ones to Go Easy in Preparations.

NO EXPLOITATION.

TORONTO, June 16.—Many premises throughout the Province which have either not seen service for some time past or else have been in other service, are now being appraised by their proprietors with a view to becoming 4.4 beer dispensaries. Extensive renovations, embellishments and alterations are, accordingly, being entered upon, and the policy is becoming so widespread that it has come to the notice of the Attorney-General, who yesterday formally advised a check upon the optimism of such promoters. Hon. Mr. Nickle recalled the frequent statements of both himself and Premier Ferguson to the effect that in the issuing of licenses preference would be given to restaurants and other places already established.

Stating that his attention had been drawn to the large amounts which were being spent by some property owners with a view to making their properties into restaurant or store premises, Hon. Mr. Nickle said: "On more than one occasion the Prime Minister and I have emphasized that established businesses would have preference when licenses were being issued. It would be well for those who are engaging upon these alterations and expenditure of money to give careful consideration to this fact, otherwise they may have reason to regret what they are doing."

Twenty Lives Lost In Train Wreck To-day

HACKETTSTOWN, N. J., June 16. (Canadian Press). — Twenty-five persons are now known to have lost their lives in the wreck of the Lackawanna special train at Rockport, Sag., to-day. Fifty-two injured are in hospitals.

The first reports placed the number of dead at 12.

WESTERN GROUP READY TO WAR ON RATE ISSUE

Forces Consolidating For Sharp Fight That Opens To-day.

FORKE FIRST.

Progresisve Leader Fires the First Shot—No Union in Group.

OTTAWA, June 16 — Western Canada is in armed camp here in preparation for the fight in the House of Commons on the Government's freight rate policy as announced more than a week ago in an Order-in-Council. The three Prairie Province Governments are represented by two Attorneys-General—Hon. J. E. Brownlee of Alberta and Hon. R. W. Craig of Manitoba—and Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of Public Works and Highways of Saskatchewan. During yesterday they were in conference with Federal Progressive members to determine a course of action, but up to a late hour last night they were unable to decide on what grounds to oppose the Government measure.

Forke Will Speak First

Robert Forke, Leader of the Progressives, it is understood, will be the first speaker for the Western group when the discussion opens. As a decision on what common ground the fight will be directed has so far been impossible, no amendment from the Progressives is expected today. As a matter of fact, there is considerable difference of opinion in that party. The Ontario members are not deeply impressed with the necessity of preserving the Crowsnest Pass agreement as a whole and see no reason why the West should not be satisfied with the Government's guarantee of the eastbound rates on grain and flour. Also, some of the Western Progressives are a little fearful that if a fight is put up, the result may be that they will lose even the eastbound grain and flour rates.

Liberals Are Solid

As for the Liberals, they will stand solidly behind the Government and will oppose any move to give further concessions to the West. The Conservatives are likely to bring an amendment to abolish the Crow Agreement entirely and leave the Dominon Railway Board unfettered by any agreement in carrying out the instructions of the Government to investigate the whole rate situation in Western Canada, and endeavor to get something approaching an equalization and the removal of discrimination. In any case, this promises to be the real fight of the session and may serve to prolong the deliberations of Parliament to a considerable extent.

MORE MEN NEEDED IN RIFFIAN WAR

Painleve Recommends New Forces and May Ask More Money.

PARIS, June 16 (United Press).—Premier Painleve, home from the front lines in the Franco-Riffian war in Morocco, announced today that he intended to ask authority to send more troops to the battle ground. These would replace men tired by the grind of operations since France began trying to oust Abd el Krim from the French zone. He announced further that two torpedo boats were now on the Riffian coast to suppress gun running. Painleve indicated that it might be necessary to ask the Chamber of Deputies for more funds for the campaign, which he wants to reduce to the shortest possible duration.

MURDOCK TRIES TO MAKE PEACE IN STRIKE AREA

Minister of Labor Arrives at Sydney To-day to Investigate.

MORE LOOTING.

Fire Attacks the Machinery House at One Mine—Stores Entered.

GLACE BAY, N. S., June 16. — Canadian Press. — John W. McLeod, president of the United Mine Workers of Nova Scotia along with District Secretary Alexander McKay, are in Sydney to-day, conferring with Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, who arrived this morning from Ottawa.

The head of the Labor Department is here to investigate the situation, and if possible to bring the British Empire Steel Corporation officials and officers of the Union together for the purpose of negotiating a settlement of the present tie-up of the mining industry.

Further additions to the troops now quartered at the base camp in the steel plant yards at Sydney were made this morning when a 16-car train bringing between [illegible] and 300 infantry from Toronto and London, Ont., arrived at 6 o'clock.

Boilers Fired.

For the first time in several weeks smoke is pouring from the stacks at No. 2 colliery to-day. This morning the boilers were fired and by this afternoon steam will be up. No 2 colliery plant will generate enough power to operate the mines in the Glace Bay area and vicinity. The plant is being put into operation for the purpose of running the pumps at the different collieries, some of which are almost ruined by the water.

Looting Continues.

SYDNEY, N. S., June 16. — Canadian Press. — Looting at Stores and fires at two of the colliery towns were reported from New Aberdeen, Reserve, Bras D'Or and Florence, starting shortly after two o'clock this morning, after the officials had settled down to what they believed was to be a quiet night.

At New Waterford, the bank-head screen of the "Hub" colliery, was destroyed by fire, and at Reserve fire destroyed the house of two former employees of the Steel corporation, together with the outbuildings, and two old buildings used at one time as a powder magazine and a carpenter shop respectively

At Bras D'Or and at Florence retail stores of private individuals were broken into and some goods taken.

'Y' CAMP GIVES GOOD HOLIDAY

TRAINING GIVEN

Prominently displayed on the fence beside the Y.M.C.A. Building is a sign in lurid colors, calling attention to the Boys' Camp being promoted by the "Y" from June 29 to July 11 at the Camp Rotary site on Clear Lake. Inquiry brings to light many fine points concerning this camp that should commend it to every live boy "just finished exams." Good plain food and lots of it completes the menu. The boys sleep in a fine building separate from the dining hall, which is cool and airy.

This camp, promoted by the 'Y,' is a community enterprise, run purely on a cost basis, and it is open to every boy in the city, whether he belongs to the boys' division or not.

Fred. McNeely, boys' work secretary, will be in charge of the camp, and with him will be associated three senior leaders and three junior leaders. These boy leaders take their work seriously, and have been studying in the leaders' training class to fit themselves more perfectly for this responsible position.

New Training Course.

A new training course has been drawn up which will be conducted at the camp. It is classified under three headings: "The Lure of Camping," "Purpose of Camping," and "Health, Hygiene and Aquatics." A study will be also given the boy campers of the underlying principles of group government, embracing "the restraining power of freedom," the "law of expectancy," and "democratic control."

The main thing that concerns the growing boy is dinner time, and the "Y" camp certainly looks after this end of the programme. The menu for each day in camp is carefully planned, giving a change of diet and all the wholesome food necessary for the growing boy, who gathers an "aching void" along with a boat trip or ball game just as he does a healthful tan. A qualified cook is in charge of the kitchen.

My European Excursions
By Edwin Robert Fabre

THE ISLAND HAUNT OF ARTISTS.

There is only one island in the Mediterranean that deserves this name and that is the microcosm of beauty and romance off the extreme end of the Sorrentine Peninsula—the isle of Capri. So much has been written about it in every European language that words fail. Like its wine, everything about it is "heady," stirring the senses and anesthetic to the reasoning faculties. The isle is a real rock dropped from Paradise. Almost the whole island is rugged rock, undermined with sea caverns like the famous blue grotto, and about its streets lovers of beauty, artists and writers since the days of the Emperor Tiberius, have strolled viewing the grim majesty of Vesuvius in the distance and the sapphire of the seas lapping the shores below.

FRANKFURT OLD AND NEW.

Few cities with the trend of modern progress driving them so hard can have preserved so completely the ancient streets and buildings of their old beginnings as Frankfurt. London and Paris proudly show corners of antiquity here and there; Frankfurt has kept almost intact the 14th century dwelling-houses, guild houses, chapels, and cloisters much as they clustered round the fretted spire of its Cathedral when the vanity of this world was as insistent as the reality of the next.

A citizen of Frankfurt with whom I walked through the ancient quarter after we had spent an amusing hour watching the "pit" of the share market, observed that the old city was really a corpse—"like a saintly relic enshrined in an exquisite reliquary." I think he flattered modern Frankfurt just a little and was rather unjust to the old. The Frankfurt police will tell one a very different tale—to them the old part of the city is very much alive, especially at night.

Round the Cathedral whole blocks of ancient buildings have been swept away. Many who knew the Frankfurt of 20 years ago will remember in particular this dark and rather noisome area. But the perfect square of the "Romemberg" with its complete encirclement of gabled houses, has been kept intact and from it radiate whole series of streets upon which the hand of the house-breaker has not yet descended.

HAD BOILS ALL OVER HIM

There is only one way to get rid of boils and that is by going right to the seat of the trouble—the blood—as the bad blood must be made pure before the boils will disappear.

BURDOCK

cleanses the system and removes all the foul matter from the blood in a way that few medicines will do.

Mrs. Chas. Rankin, Bulyea, Sask., writes:—"A few years ago my husband had a terrible time with boils. On one arm he had 16 between his elbow and wrist; five on the back of his neck, and several more on different parts of his body. He tried everything he could think of, but got no relief until he took Burdock Blood Bitters, and to his surprise it completely relieved him of his boils in a very short time."

B.B.B. has been on the market for the past 46 years; be sure you get it when you ask for it; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

WESTERN TOURS THIS SUMMER REMARKABLY LOW IN COST.

"We have travelled through the most glorious scenery it has ever been my privilege to witness," were the words used by the Duke of Devonshire while Governor-General of Canada, in expressing his admiration for the scenery of the Pacific Coast. The opinion he formed of our magnificent west is confirmed by the many people who tour this wonderful country every year.

If you are planning a tour of the Canadian Rockies and the Pacific Coast this summer, you can't do better than take one of the low cost trips arranged by the Canadian National Railways.

These tours start from Toronto, with stop-overs at all interesting points en route. At Jasper National Park—where the famous Triangle Tour commences—is the largest park and the largest sanctuary of wild life in the world—4,400 square miles of mountains, rivers, lakes, glaciers, canyons and waterfalls of almost overwhelming beauty.

Leaving Jasper, you pass Mount Robson, the highest peak in the Canadian Rockies; then comes the quaint Indian village of Kitwanga, with its grotesque Totem poles and Indian relics. At Prince Rupert you may choose an interesting side trip to Alaska, or you may board the steamer for the three-day trip through the famous Scenic Seas of the Pacific Coast to Vancouver, Victoria, Portland and Seattle. Returning, the train follows the beautiful winding Fraser and Thompson Rivers with their brilliant colored cliffs of red, gray and yellow, returning again to Jasper National Park—and in due time, to Toronto.

The outstanding beauty and completeness of these tours should appeal to every one. These low summer tourist fares will be in effect to October 31st. Complete information, pamphlets and reservations may be secured from any Canadian National Railways Agent.

ACROSS CANADA AND BACK.

The wonder trip of the coming summer will be conducted by Dean Laird of MacDonald College, to Victoria, B.C., and back.

Inspired by the success of the trip to Victoria last year on the occasion of the Teachers Federation meeting at that point, and filled with patriotic motives for everyone to see their own country, the Dean has arranged for a special train of standard sleeping cars to leave Toronto on July 20, visiting Port Arthur, Fort William, Winnipeg, Regina, Moose Jaw, Calgary, Banff, Lake Louise, Vancouver thence steamer to Victoria.

Returning, the trip will be via the Okanagan Valley, Nelson, the Kootenay Lakes, Windermere Bungalow camps from which place the party will be motored to Banff, 104 miles over the newly completed Banff-Windermere Highway, the most charming and awe-inspiring trip it is possible to conceive, with stops at Radium Hot Springs, Vermilion River, and Storm Mountain Bungalow Camps—another day at Banff, then Edmonton, Saskatoon, Devil's Gap Bungalow Camp, near Kenora on the Lake Of The Woods, steamer from Fort William to Port McNicholl, thence rail to Toronto, where the trip will terminate on August 10.

Everything is included at the price of $325.00 from Toronto; transportation, sleeping cars, accomtation in hotels and bungalow camps, meals in diners, hotels, and on steamers, sightseeing tours at points visited, and all gratuities.

All will be welcome.

Fares from other points than Toronto will be named and descriptive illustrated booklet sent on applicato Dean Laird, Macdonald College, lege, P.Q., Que.

In Other Words—The Streets Are Oiled!

MADOC, June 16.—At the present time it is very necessary to "Watch your step" in Madoc, for the main streets have turned into black rivers of tar and oil. However, though it causes some discomfort at first, owing to its strong odor and tendency to stick, everyone is very glad to have the dust settled at last.

TWELVE KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK

EARLY TO-DAY.

EASTON, Pa., June 16. (Canadian Press).—At least twelve persons were killed and thirty others injured early to-day when a Delaware-Lackawanna and Western train from the West for Hoboken, N.J., was wrecked at Rockport, near Hacketts Town, N.J. Many of the injured were brought to Easton Hospital, suffering from severe scalds from escaping steam. It was said a number are in a serious condition. The accident occurred during a severe electrical storm. Seven of the ten cars of the train left the tracks. Both engineer and fireman were killed. The 185 passengers on the train were to have sailed to-day from Hoboken for European countries.

ANOTHER BEER LICENSE.

Soft Drink Establishment at Campbellford Takes Up Sale.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 16. — Thomas McAvoy, who has conducted a soft drink establishment on Front Street some years past, on Monday received a permit to sell the new beer, and is altering his premises to conform with the regulations. He will be open for business on Wednesday.

Probably in the hope that the 4.4 beverage will acquire strength as it ages, and so be more in demand, four other dealers in town have applications tendered for permits. Two are at present operating restaurants, one is a hotelkeeper, and the fourth conducts an ice cream business on the west side.

Helps Crank Car—Smells Liquor—Arrests Drivers

CAMPBELLFORD, June 16—Two young men vainly striving to crank a car which had become stalled on the streets of Campbellford, called for assistance upon a pedestrian who, unluckily for them, happened to be the new night constable, A. V. Light, who has not yet donned a uniform. The officer found that both men showed symptoms that justified the belief that they had been indulging in something stronger than new beer and both were taken into custody on a charge of being intoxicated while running an auto. The men, who gave their residence as Madoc, were brought before Magistrate Payne who remanded them until Friday. When the defendants reached home they telephoned asking what their fines would be and it is expected that the case will be settled out of court.

Town Audit Cost $8,000; Found Only $65 Missing

BROCKVILLE, June 16. — (Canadian Press).—The result of the Provincial audit made known to the Town Council last night in a report from the auditors is an almost complete vindication of the municipal officials concerned and shows that during the five years of operation under investigation there was a discrepancy of only $65.

The audit applied for by 35 ratepayers who signed a petition to the Provincial Government, lasted for seven months, and will cost the town about $8,000.

BANDIT SHOT TORONTO MAN

NO LOOT.

TORONTO, June 16. (Canadian Press).—William Bell, aged 27 gasoline station attendant, is in Western Hospital, suffering from a bullet wound in the stomach as the result of being shot by a desperado last night. Bell's condition is serious. On his arrival at hospital, doctors operated upon Bell and extracted the bullet. The man who did the shooting, and a confederate who drove the auto, escaped. No money was taken from the station, as the manager, W. A. Dallimore, had removed the day's receipts a few minutes before the holdup occurred. Percy Armstrong, Pacific Avenue, who tends the station with Bell, was shot at several times, but escaped injury. The car used was stolen earlier in the evening. It was recovered later abandoned in the western part of the city.

OBITUARY.

ARTHUR PEARCE.

MARMORA, June 16.—The funeral took place in Vaucouver on June 4th of Arthur Pearce, brother of William Pearce of Deloro. Deceased left this district about twenty years ago after having occupied the position of master mechanic of the Canadian Goldfields for 8 years. He was born in Redruth, Cornwall England, seventy-three years ago. For 40 years he was a member of the Masonic Order.

ALEXANDER BRUNTON.

CAMPBELFORD, June 16. — The funeral of Alexander Brunton, who died on Saturday, was held Monday afternoon from his late residence on the 10th concession of East Seymour to the cemetery of Zion church at Petherick's Corners. Rev. C. D. Daniel, of Seymour Circuit, conducted the services in the church in which the deceased had for all his long lifetime been a worshipper.

The late Mr. Brunton was born on the farm on which he died 82 years and three months ago and had lived there all his life with the exception of two years spent in the United States and a short time during which he resided on another farm in the neighborhood. He was married 56 years ago to Miss Elizabeth Ann Petherick, who survives him. Death was due to the infirmities of old age.

Besides his widow, the late Mr. Brunton is survived by three daughters and two sons. The daughters, all of whom are married, are: Mrs. W. F. Dunk of Chicago, Mrs. William Simpson, who resides on the 9th concession, East Seymour and Mrs. Gilbert Wright, of Stanwood. The sons are Thomas D., on the homestead, and Alfred, of Seymour West.

Mrs. Dunk came all the way from Chicago, reaching her old home before the death of her father, but he was too far gone to recognize her.

The pallbearers, all nephews of the deceased, were: Ernest Brunton, Daniel Petherick of Stanwood, Alex Leeson of Havelock, William Ford, Garnet Grills and Frank John of Menie.

SHERMAN AND MERSON GUILTY

of accused. He pointed out that former deals showed also the issue of cheques bearing the marginal annotations of which so much had been made. He admitted that these additions had the effect of converting the cheques into bills of exchange but cheques in any case were bills of exchange, the only distinction being that they were payable on demand. Counsel contended that in view of all the circumstances of the case the issue of cheques bearing the words complained of was really of negligible importance. If the accused had intent to defraud that intent must have existed at the time of the purchase of the cattle. He recounted the circumstances of the case, right from the shipment of the cattle to the meeting with Spegil and Charard in the market at Montreal. He admitted that the method they had followed was foolish, but the fact that accused were stupid men and poor business men was no reason for conviction as being guilty of fraudulent prefrence of creditors. Whether the giving of the cheques to Spegil and Charard was a device to defraud the farmers was a question for the jury to decide. The case, however, was practically a rehash of the case in which the accused were charged with conspiracy. He thought that the action of Charard and Spegil was high-handed. They, however, were not on trial. There was no evidence given to show that Charard and Spegil and Sherman and Merson all got together and settled their accounts by the use of the farmer's money. He submitted that the Crown had not shown that Sherman and Merson, with intent to defraud, had removed, concealed or disposed of the property. Both were ignorant men. They may have expected that Charard and Spegil would have given them an extension on the notes. This was not done and accused found themselves in a difficult position. It was for the jury to decide whether their subsequent actions indicated an intention to defraud.

Might Be Worse.

Crown Attorney Hatton stated that each of the farmers might have laid separate information against accused. Had this been done the charges would have had to be considered separately and the jury would have been kept in Court for a much longer period. However, the separate complaints had been merged together, thus shortening the time taken up in consideration of the charges. He asked the jury to remember that not one farmer knew the words, payable on November 3, were on the cheques. He maintained that the fact of their being given out at dusk was a good ground for the belief that the intention was that the farmer should not notice the words on the cheques. Merson was asking them to believe that he had not known that the cheques, which had been made out in favor of Spegil and Charard, were being brought up to Peterboro to be marked out of the proceeds of the sale. Yet the evidence of the bank was that the one transaction immediately followed the other. Had Merson been the honest man he claimed to be, he would at once have objected to the taking of the money due to the farmers in payment of another debt. The fact remained that they had defrauded the farmers in Peterboro. They now come orward with the statement that they had no intention of doing so. Whether they had or not was for the jury to decide. Much stress had been laid on the fact that some money had been advanced to make partial restitution. That fact had no bearing whatever. What the jury had to consider was; Had there been an attempt to defraud.

Was there not something strange in the fact that the cattle were all rounded up and shipped to Montreal just as the notes to Spegil and Charad fell due? Much had been said about the cheques issued to farmers on October 9, marked payable October 11. Sherman, in his evidence had stated that on this occasion he had drawn the farmers' attention to the words and had given an explanation. No explanation was given on November 1 and no mention was made to the farmer of the entry of the words on the cheque.

Summing Up.

His Honor addressing the jury said:

"We've come now to the end of a very long story. You have heard the evidence. You have been selected because you are believed to be men of probity and intelligence. You must not allow any sympathy or any prejudice to enter into your judgement. You may have sympathy with the unfortunate men at the bar. You may have some sympathy with the farmers, who have lost their money. You must allow neither to sway your judgment. The charge is very short and simple. The charge is that these men on or about November 1 disposed of three car loads of cattle in such a way as to defraud their creditors."

"No objection has been taken formally to the indictment by any of the learned counsel representing the prisoners. But the difficulty arose after that. You might find they did not dispose of the cattle in such a way as to defraud, but that they defrauded in disposing of the proceeds of the sale."

His Honor reviewed the salient features of the transaction leading to the losses on the part of the farmers. To the farmers it made little difference whether there had been fraud or not. Thy had lost their money, at least half of it, probably more. The settlement or restitution had nothing whatever to do with the charge. All this had been done since. The charge remained wholly unaffected by what had happened since.

His Honor pointed out that while it was illegal to make a preference in creditors, such an act was not necessarily a crime. A preferred creditor, he said, might be made to return a portion of what he had received from a creditor.

The sole question for the jury to decide was, "Did the accused, when they bought and disposed of the cattle, intend to defraud the farmers? If the jury believed the story as told by accused, that no thought of scheme but a combination of circumstances, led up to the failure of prisoners to pay, then they must bring in a verdict of not guilty. If they believed that there was a preconceived scheme then a verdict of guilty must be returned. If the whole thing was a mistake, an error of judgement, then it was not a crime. It was not a decent thing to do, not a fair thing to do, but it was not a crime.

His Honor said both men were indicted together. There was no reason why they should not share a common fate. They had a right in a British Court of Justice to say to the Crown, on the charge, "Prove it or let me go free." If the jury thought the Crown had not proved the charge then they must let these men go free. If the jury were satisfied there was a scheme from the beginning they must find the prisoners guilty. If there existed any doubt of the guilt of accused, in the minds of the jury, the prisoners were entitled to an unanimous verdict of acquittal. His Honor concluded by telling the jury they could take the documents pertaining to the case into the room with them.

Jury Out Two Hours.

The jury retired at 2.55 to consider the verdict. At 4.35 they returned with the verdict of "guilty", with a recommendation of mercy to Merson.

His Honor asked if the prisoners had anything to say why judgment should not be pronounced.

Mr. Wearing appealed for suspended sentence for Merson, on the ground of his endeavors to make restitution and for the sake of his young family.

Mr. Huycke made a similar appeal for Sherman, who he said had nine children, only one of whom was able to work.

Returning, His Honor, in addressing the prisoners, said he had listened with great interest to the evidence. He had taken it upon himself to confer with the learned officer of the Crown and the defending counsel. His Honor had grave doubts as to the legality of the verdict that had just been delivered, but in view of what he was about to do that doubt was immaterial.

"Both of you have been ably defended. Everything that could be said in your favor has been said. Mr. Hatton has put everything against you as strongly as he could. That is his duty. He has not been vindictive. He has been more than fair. He has been generous."

His Honor thought both were to blame. They had been careless, both here and in Montreal. They should not have given way to the importunity of their creditors at Montreal. They should have sold the cattle and divided the proceeds pro rata among all the creditors. It was evident for some of the owners in evidence that they had in some cases paid more than the cattle were worth. They had been reckless in buying and the farmers had taken advantage of that recklessness. He was taking into consideration the fact that both had done all they were able to do. He was convinced they had given all they could, had mortgaged their present and future. He did not think they did this merely because they had been brought to trial.

Neither had money. Both had serious responsibilities. Punishment for this offence was usually a fine, but what was the use of fining? A fine would go to the public coffers instead of to the farmers. He doubted the validity of the verdict but that was neither here nor there in view of the attitude he was going to take up. They had been reckless and careless, had played ducks and drakes with money not their own. He did not see why the jury should make a recommendation in favor of Merson. There had not been a tittle of evidence varying one from the other. There was no reason to treat one differently from the other. He asked them to remember the farmers had not been paid in full and urged them if they ever found themselves able, to make full restitution. They had to thank Mr. Hatton, who was agreeable to the adoption of the suggestion of suspended sentence advanced by their counsel. His Honor stated he was moved to take this course largely for the sake of their children. If he sent them to prison the care of Merson's children would fall on the City of Peterboro; the care of Sherman's family would fall on the City of Montreal. They must remember that this decision did not mean that they were free of all this charge. At any time the Crown saw fit, Mr. Hatton or some other officer of the Crown could bring them up again and press for sentence. He did not think this would be done if they behaved themselves, but it would stand against them as long as they lived. But if they behaved themselves, if they were honest, industrious, were good to their wives and children, they would not be brought up again.

In allowing both to go on suspended sentence, His Honor said he trusted this would be a lesson. He doubted their fraudulent intention. He had no doubt of their carelessness with other people's money. But if in the future they showed themselves good husbands and fathers, hard working and honest citizens, they might be able to live this thing down.

NOT A SPORTING SPIRIT.

Prompt intervention by the city police prevented the spectacle of one man, a baseball umpire, being attacked and beaten by a mob at the conclusion of Saturday's game at the James Stevenson Park.

It is fortunate that the officers were alive to the situation, for their action doubtless saved Peterboro from gaining a black-eye in the world of sport.

Of all the silly things that could be done by a crowd there are few that are quite so needlessly foolish as trying to inflict personal violence upon an official in charge of any particular pastime who happens to make a ruling adverse to the home team's chances.

Nothing could be gained by it; and much could be lost.

It is disquieting to find such a spirit rampant in a Peterboro crowd, indicating as it does that we are getting a long distance away from the British standard of fair play and of sportsmanlike acceptance of the rulings of officials.

THE MILITIA SITUATION.

The fact that it has been necessary to call upon the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery for service in connection with the Nova Scotia strike situation should cause some of those Progressive members of Parliament who objected to the modest appropriations made by the Government for militia training to do a little quiet thinking.

Without beating about the bush, Canada's permanent army is so sparse in numbers that even by employing all branches of the service the force is scarcely large enough for the duty to which it is being assigned at present—and there is little left in reserve for any other emergency.

If the militia had to be counted upon it is doubtful whether, except in the case of a few units in the larger centres, the battalions would be fit either numerically or from the viewpoint of training.

The plain truth is that the militia has been starved almost to the point of death—and the Progressives would like to finish the job.

Officers of various units have had to dip into their own purses to keep even a skeleton organization going, and the result is that should an emergency eventuate the situation so far as the militia is concerned would be serious.

Even for protection against such a situation as has developed in Cape Breton Canada's militia should be at least encouraged to be ready when wanted.

TOO MANY ACCIDENTS.

Despite the best efforts of safety organizations, it is a matter of official record that the number of accidents, both traffic and industrial, is on the increase.

According to figures received by the Examiner from the Industrial Accident Prevention Association, there were last month 4,623 accidents reported to the Workmen's Compensation Board and these included 35 fatalities.

In the same month the Workmen's Compensation Board awarded a total of $450,283.00 in benefits, the figure including $76,516.00 for medical aid.

The accidents reported for May of this year show an increase over April, both as fatal and non-fatal cases.

The association, in calling attention to this fact, points out that the increase in fatal accidents from 28 in April to 35 in May is worthy of particular comment as it serves as a reminder that death cases are averaging about 400 per annum.

These figures are in themselves appalling and undoubtedly call for more care, not only on the part of the employers of labour, but on the part of the workers themselves.

Half a million dollars a month is a high price to pay for accidents—without taking into account the most serious side of the situation, the suffering of those who are injured and the sorrow of those who are bereaved.

THE FISHING SEASON.

The fishing season began in this part of the world this morning.

Of course, there has been fishing of a sort since May 1st when the pickerel season opened, but the real angler who doesn't like a "set-up" and wants his captive to do a little fighting never thinks of catching pickerel as fishing.

It is just about as exciting as opening a can of sardines.

But today starts something different.

There is always the chance for the trawler to hook a twenty-pound maskinonge that will give him all the thrills he wants associated with his fishing, while the man who prefers still fishing will find that a three-pound bass will fight like a street gamin before finally yielding.

And after all, fishing is not just catching fish. It is going after them with all that is entailed in that which counts.

It is the paddle down winding river or over an island-studded lake, the delicious whiff of pine-laden ozone, the lap-lap of waves against the boat, the caress of the wind on one's cheek, the smell of wood smoke from the camp-fire kindled for the shore dinner, the aroma of frying bacon, the communion of kindred spirits around the picnic table—these are the things about fishing that really matter.

Anyway, the season is officially opened, and to all good fellows who played the game and waited until today to wet their lines the Examiner wishes a summer's sport.

THE RESULT OF DRIFTING.

Troops from London, Toronto and other cities have been rushed to the scene of the rioting that has been going on for several days at Sydney mines and other centres where the British Empire Steel Corporation stores and property has been burned or looted.

Duty of this kind is not generally entered upon with much zest by a soldier; he cannot bring himself to regard it in the same light as being called upon to protect his land against invasion. He is apt to look upon this present disturbance as one where affairs between employer and employee had got out of hand, and it becomes his duty to see that property is not wrecked or human life endangered. That is the reason why troops were called from London.

The Advertiser has referred several times to the situation in the east, and the happenings of the last few days are the culmination of a policy of drifting. There are certain portions of the despatches telling of the events that show the presence of a feeling that is deplorable. In the wrecking of the company's stores, not only did the men participate, but they were joined by the women and even the children. That means that in the minds of the children of that district there has been planted a feeling of definite hatred against those who operate the coal mines. A labor dispute, a strike or a lockout that concerns adults on both sides, is bad enough, but one that grows and spreads until it has engendered feelings of hatred in the mind of the next generation is infinitely worse. It means that when they come to the age when they shall go to the mines they will have been schooled to loathe the men for whom they work and despise the system under which they operate. In a very real sense it is projecting the present controversy far into the future.

The tragic part of the circumstance is that affairs should have been allowed to take their own course over a rough, but well-known path that leads always from bad to worse to worst. There have been conferences and hard words, threats and counter-threats, and yet there has never been a strong, determined effort to straighten out conditions. As in every other strike, it was known from the very first day that evertually there would have to be a settlement that would be acceptable to both sides, yet there has not appeared a well-defined movement from those who should give leadership in such matters to say in a very plain way, "Gentlemen, this way of doing business is wrong, it is dangerous. It is bad business for both sides and for Nova Scotia and the whole Dominion."

The onus for such leadership rests primarily with the Government of Nova Scotia, and it should count on the active, eager support of the Labor Department at Ottawa. The Province receives a royalty on the coal mines because it is Provincial property. It will be more difficult to take action now because coroners' juries are busy deliberating on the reasons why men are dead, and police courts are engaged trying to tell definitely why others are hurt, and why property has been looted and stores burned. When distrust has taken on the form of hatred, and where violence has come in to elbow common sense out of the picture, negotiations looking for a settlement are more difficult. This fact does not present a reason why a do-nothing policy should be followed. Far from it—it presents far more urgent causes why action that is overdue and long deferred to the point of being tragic, should be taken.

The militia cannot settle the strike; it was not sent there for that purpose, and it is not its function. The Government of Nova Scotia promised a full and fearless investigation of the situation, and it should proceed with it, regardless of whether either side to the controversy is willing or unwilling to have it undertaken. A Government has very wide powers in dealing with such matters, and it should not hesitate to make use of them. The situation is so bad that action can no longer be delayed.—London Advertiser.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT

It may have been only a coincidence, but the attendance at the band concert Friday night under perfect weather conditions was not half as large as at a Sunday concert on a cool afternoon earlier in the season.

One philosophical citizen who looks ahead a little bit says: "Councils may come and Councils may go, but the river goes on forever."

Sweltering statesmen at Ottawa must now regret that they wasted so much time in useless talk early in the session.—Hamilton Herald.

A contemporary wants to know whether the gasoline tax keeps out more people than the 4.4 beer brings in. It is an interesting point.

One way to enjoy the warm weather is to gloat over the suffering of the members of Parliament who talked so often and so long during the winter that they have to stay at Ottawa and sizzle during the hot wave.

If baseball excitement continues to increase it may become necessary to declare a closed season for umpires.

Just at this time of the year you dodge the fellow who wants to tell you about the long drive he made at the twelfth hole and run right into the chap with the story of the big one that got away "Just as I got him to the side of the boat."

PEOPLE IN FAVOR OF CONSOLIDATION

School Sections Near Apsley Have Reached Agreement on Question.

APSLEY, June 16. — An enthusiastic meeting was held in the school house of S. S. 2 Burleigh on Tuesday evening, when the resolution approving the agreement for consolidation was unanimously passed, after addresses had been given by Revs. Spence and Ogden fully explaining the scheme. W. Lean was chairman of the meeting. Four sections, two in Chandos and two in Burleigh and Anstruther, have now voted favourably on the question, and the agreement will be sent to the Department of Education for consideration.

The school house at Owenbrook was crowded to the doors on Friday evening, when a moving picture show and school concert proved the attraction. The following numbers were ably presented, under the direction of the teacher, Miss Prout, between the pictures: Chorus by the school; recitations, Ettie Winters and Morris Woodbeck; dialogue, 'Scat,' Hilda Woodbeck and Kenneth Maceffi flag drill by ten boys and girls; recitations, Jack Rosebush and Audrey Carey; dialogue, "One on the Agent," James Walke and Edna Woodbeck.

U.F.Y.P.O. CLUB

Presentation to Departing Members and Social Evening Spent.

BAILIEBORO, June 16.—The South Monaghan U.F.Y.P.O. club held its monthly meeting on Friday evening. In the absence of the president, the chair was taken by the vice-president, F. Barnard.

After the regular routine of business was transacted, a programme and shadow social was induled in. The programme was as follows: Group singing; Reading by Edith Deyell; Piano Solo, Gwen Hutchison; Sing song; Reading, Miss L. Stutt; Stump Speech, Ronald Deyell; Piano Duet, Misses Evylen and Grace Johnston.

The club members also presented the ex-secretary, Miss C. McConnachie, with an ivory handled umbrella, and Arthur McConnachie with a gold knife. The presentations were made by Miss Rose Kidd and Willace Hall, while the following address was read by Miss Margaret Greer

Dear Connie and Arthur:

We, the members of the U.F.-Y.P.O. Club, have gathered together tonight for one more social evening before you leave our midst. We feel our club is losing two valued members. Many of us have known you since you came here, two little Scottish children, to us you have ever been favorites. Others have met you more recently and to them you have become valued friends.

Connie, your sunny face and jolly laugh will be greatly missed in this community, and in this hall particularly. In our club you were always ready and willing. We will remember you as one who gave of her best, as a debater in order to bring honor to Centreville young club.

Arthur, you have been a prime favorite. We shall miss your quiet presence, and your true Scottish, silent appreciation of the humorous.

We ask you to accept these gifts as a token of remembrance of the social times we have spent together at Centreville.

Although you will be greatly missed we are looking at the bright side. You are not going a great distance from us, and we trust that you will often visit the old club rooms at Centreville, where you will always find a hearty welcome.

Greatest success and happiness is the heartfelt wish of the Centreville U.F.Y.P.O. club.

At the conclusion of this programme, Mr. H. Campbell acted as auctioneer and auctioned off the shadows, which sold all the way from 25 cents to $1.

After the lunch was eaten a couple of hours' dancing was indulged in. Music was provided by Miss Viola White.

The meeting then adjourned until July 17.

A THOUGHT.

Supposin' fish don't bite at first,
What are you goin' to do?
Throw down your pole, chuck out your bait
And say your fishin's through?

You bet you ain't; you're goin' to fish
An' fish, an' fish, an' wait
Until you've ketched a bucketful
Or used up all your bait.

Suppose success don't come at first,
What are you goin' to do?
Throw up the sponge and kick yourself
And growl, and fret and stew?

You bet you ain't, you're goin' to fish
And bait, and bait ag'in,
Until success will bite your hook,
For grit is sure to win.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

No less than 1,646 cattle were left unsold over the weekend at the Union Stock Yards. To-day's receipts dropped somewhat and were 174 cars, 2,407 cattle and 493 billed through, 414 calves, 2,678 hogs and 372 sheep and lambs. Rogers & Maybee had 40 export cattle on hand this morning. They will want around 1,500 for four boats this week and will probably buy up all to-day's shipping stock, as there is not an over-supply of these. Kennedy & Co. are also buying a small number for export.

There was a fair recovery from last week's slump, but prices did not get back to where they were two weeks ago. One load of choice export steers was sold by Shields & Co. at $8.40 a cwt., but the bulk did not average $8 a cwt. and some coarse steers sold at $7 to $7.25 a cwt. Export heifers were steady at $7 to $7.40 and bulls were firm at $5.25 and one extra good made $5.75 a cwt. The exporters have bought upwards of 500 head this morning.

Fresh handyweight butchers' cattles were well taken, the choice bringing $7.50 to $7.90 and good butchers $7.25 to $7.40 a cwt. One load of good medium butchers sold at $7 a cwt. Butchers' cows were quite steady. Tops were $6.50, but the bulk of good cows sold at $5.75 to $6 a cwt. There was not a great deal doing in stockers, but the recent rains are expected to make more demand and some Western loads were sold today at steady prices. To-day's buying promises to clean up a good proportion of the 4,000 cattle on sale.

Calves were inclined to make some recovery from last week's decline and good calves were up 50 cents a cwt. to $8.50. Medium and common calves were not as strong and the common sold at 4 1-2 cents a pound.

Spring lambs were firm with choice cuts selling at 16 1-2 and 17 cents. Medium quality lambs were 12 to 13 cents a pound. Sheep were steady with tops at 6 1-2 cents.

Some buyers are paying $12 a cwt. f.o.b. for hogs, but the price is not general. The market has a firm undertone and the U.S. markets are stronger.

EGG MARKETS

OTTAWA, June 16 (Canadian Press).—Receipts are falling off almost daily and the quality is becoming poorer, many eggs showing signs of heat. The best grades are firmer. Offers of Prairie Province eggs are on the basis extras 30 3-4, firsts 29 3-4, seconds 25 3-4, in export cases f.o.b. Manitoba points. Ontario country shippers report paying extras 29, firsts 27, seconds 22, making sales extras 33, firsts 31, second 25, f.o.b. in export cases.

Toronto — Jobbing, extras 37, firsts 34, seconds 30.

Montreal — Jobbing, extras 36, firsts 34, seconds 30.

British Columbia—Delivered, extras 34, firsts 32.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, June 16 (Canadian Press).—Extreme dullness marked the export trade in grain on the Montreal market yesterday, there being few firm bids from English importers for supplies of any line. The market for oats was weaker in sympathy with Winnipeg and prices were reduced 3 cents per bushel.

The market for baled hay was without any new feature to note, prices being about steady with a small volume of business passing in good No. 2 timothy hay at $14, No. 3 timothy hay at $11 to $12, and clover mixed hay at $10.50 to $11 per ton, f.o.b. cars here.

The feature of the egg trade of late has been the improved demand from English importers for both Canadian and United States storage eggs, and it is reported that sales of some fair sized lots have been made for fall shipment.

The receipts of butter in Montreal yesterday were 3,679 packages, as compared with 1,512 for the same day last week and 1,825 for the corresponding day a year ago. The exports of butter last week were 2,190 packages, which makes a total for the season to date of 2,590 packages, and shows an increase of 2,390 packages, as compared with the same period for 1924.

The receipts of cheese were 10,141 boxes, as against 7,064 for the same day last week, and 5,685 for the corresponding day a year ago. The exports of cheese from here last week showed an increase of 30,963 boxes, as compared with the previous week, and an increase of 25,081 with the same week last year, while the total shipments for the season to date have been 7,803 boxes larger than a year ago. A fair volume of business was done today and the undertone to the market was strong.

BUTTER AUCTION

MONTRTAL, June 16 (Canadian Press).—At the Quebec Agricultural Co-operative Society auction sale of creamery butter held here yesterday there were 3,100 packages offered, of which 900 packages of No. 1 pasteurized creamery sold at 35 7-8 cents per lb, 900 packages of No. 1 pasteurized creamery sold at 35 7-8 cents per lb, 900 packages No. 1A pasteurized creamery at 35 7-8 cents per lb, 900 packages No. 1 creamery at 34 7-8 cents per lb, and 400 packages No. 2 creamery at 33 7-8 cents per lb., which prices show an advance of 1 3-8 cents per lb. as compared with a week ago, and 1 5-8 to 1 7-8 cents per lb with a year ago.

BELLEVILLE CHEESE.

LADIES' AID MET

Arrangements Were Made for Holding a Strawberry Social.

NORHAM, June 16.—The Bethany Ladies Aid met at the home of Mrs. Walter, Ames, Codrington, on Thursday afternoon, June 11. Arrangements were completed for a strawberry sdcial to be held on the church lawn on Thursday evening, June 25. It was also decided that each member should donate a dollar and by investing it should strive to see how much that dollar could be made to earn in six months. Anyone making her dollar earn at least two dollars or more for the church in that time, would be permitted to retain the original dollar.

A dainty lunch provided by Mrs. Robert Ryckman, Mrs. Samuel McCall and Mrs. Hugh McCall was served at the close. The next meeting of the Aid is to be held at the home of Mrs. Benjamin Dusenbury.

UNITED COUNTIES COUNCIL.

(By a Staff Reporter.)

COBOURG, June 15.—The general county rate for the united counties of Northumberland and Durham this year will be eight mills, the same as it has been for the two preceding years, but the taxpayers of Northumberland will, in addition, pay a special levy of 1-1-8 mills. The reason for this is that there are more streams and consequently more bridges to maintain in this county than in the one like destiny of which is linked up with it. This excess cost of bridges has been piling up for the past five years until it has reached the grand total of $16,983, and it is to wipe out this indebtedness that the special levy is made The 1-1-8 mills will be charged on the equalized assessment of each municipality in Northumberland and Campbellford's share of the cash—will be $899. Seymour Township will pay $1,819. Campbellford's county tax, aside from their special levy will be $6,390.24 or about six mills on the equalized assessment.

Some School Figures'

The attendance of county pupils at several of the high schools in the two counties is falling off due to the increase in the number of continuation schools. Campbellford's county grant this year is nearly $3,000 more than it was in 1924, but the increase is due to the fact that the counties pay a pro rata share on 80 per cent. of the cash of the new building. As stated the other day the cost per capita of educating the students in the Campbellford High School is $95 a year but this represents the liability of the counties' council. The actual cost per pupil to the town ratepayers is $119 a year.

The report of the school committee as submitted by Deputy Reeve Nelson of Percy as chairman, and which provided for a total increase in the various grants of over $10,000 was adapted with amendment or debate.

Caring For The Poor'

At the morning session of the counties' council Friday, Reeve Baker of Darlington (chairman) submitted the report on the House of Refuge. The sum of $18,000 was asked for to mainatin that institution for the current year and that amount was allowed. There are at present 73 inmates, 38 men, 32 women and three children. Nearly every municipality in the two counties have its representation among those who are being cared for.

Reduced Assessment.

On motion of Deputy Reeve Wight of Darlington the equalized assessment of that tonship was reduced by $10-000. This increases the exemption from taxation of the 200 acres of land which the Ontario Government purchased as a location for an industrial school. Darlington has still the highest equalization in the township, the total after the reduction being $2,740,000, but South Monaghan has the highest acreage assessment, the rate in that township on farm lands being $42.30.

The Aldreville Road

About one and one quarter miles of the county provincial road in Alnwick township passes through the Indian Reservation and the county has been obliged to keep up this section without help from the Government or from the Indians, who pay no taxes.

Reeve Mouncey of Alnwick objected to this arangement and set up the claim that the Ontario and Federal Governments should bear the cost on a 50-50 basis. Road Superintendent Green informed the counc that such an arrangement is likely to be made and that there in future no charge on local taxpayers.

County Property Report.

Reeve W. F E iott of Murray, chairman of the county property committee, submitted a report recommending the purchase of three typewriters for various county offices. The coal for the public buildings has been purchased, the hard coal at $14.55 and the soft at $7.55 a ton, delivered.

The ventilation of the county court room of which so much has been heard for several years, has finally been arranged at nominal cost. When the building was repaired some time ago the ventilating pipes were built over and rendered useless, but these have now been restored.

The Question of Auditors.

The finance committee spent some time Friday discussing the question of a change in the system of appointing auditors fo the municipa accounts. At present two new men were appointed every year at a salary of $75 a year and it requires some time to become accustomed to the work. There was a feeling among the members of the committee that more expert service should be secured for this work. Finally Reeve Holman of Clarke, chairman of the finance committee and Deputy Revee McGuire of Cobourg were selected as the special committee to ascertain on what terms expert accountants could be secured, this committee is to report at the December session.

No Debenture Issue.

The finance committee rejected the recommendation of the special committee the members of which reported in favor of issuing debentures to meet the counties yearly payments on the county provincial highway. This liability will be settled year by year as formerly.

Chairman Holman submitted a long report from the finance committee containing the usual recommendation of the payment of accounts, the main points being referred to above. The Cobourg horse show will be given the usual yearly grant of $200.

Urban Highways.

Road Superintendent Green explained the new Act which applies to those streets in towns and villages that form connecting links in the county provincial system.

In the past these towns and villages for the upkeep of these streets have received from the counties a sum equal to the amount paid into the county provincial road fund less 10 per cent. This allotment gave rise to a dispute between the urban and rural councillors last year, when the latter combined to reduce these grants by nearly 50 per cent.

The amended Act takes this matter from the councils and provided that the Government should pay 50 per cent. of the cost of a 20 foot roadway in towns and 75 per cent. in villages.

Mr. Greer recommended that no paving be undertaken in the urban centres for the present as the new law has not yet taken effect and there is no money available for grants.

Hastings Paving Postponed.

The proposed paving of some of the streets in the village of Hastings has accordingly been postponed. Reeve Hess says that he will bring this matter up at the December session so that the village can secure the ground next year.

The council spent the afternoon and closing session pressing the various by-laws giving effect to the recommendations of the various committees. Reeve Davidson of Campbellford is chairman of the committee on legislation and by-laws.

Russell Scott to Hang on July 17—No Appeal Heard.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., June 15. (Canadian Press). — The Illinois Supreme Court to-day refused again to hear the appeal of Russell Scott, formerly of Toronto, sentenced to hang on July 17, for the murder of a Chicago drug clerk. The action came on motion of his attorneys, filed Saturday, to set aside the previous order which denied Scott's application for a writ of error.

DISCUSS ESTIMATES.

Supplementary Estimates Will Be Introduced This Week Under Consideration.

ORGANIZERS FOR PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IN WEST

Some for Quebec and Maritimes Also to Get Church On Its Feet.

NO HIGH TITLES

Moderator's Bill Passed, Forbidding Use of Such Titles as "Right Reverend."

TORONTO, June 16. (Canadian Press).—The Presbyterian Assembly yesterday afternoon passed motions to appoint organizers for the Church in British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces. It was felt that these organizers would not be required any longer than a year to get the Church on its feet and the minorities properly looked after. Dr. Robert Johnston, Calgary, said that in the past the western mission work had been left too much with easterners, who knew nothing about it.

The Moderator Dr. Scott, got his motion that the people constitute the Presbyterian Church and there be no use of the titles Right Reverend and Most Reverend, used in describing Moderators, through although there was determined opposition and registered dissent. Rev. Mr. Newall of Sherbrooke described the resolution as "democracy run riot." He felt that the Moderator was entitled to titles that assured him his proper position among the highest on state and ceremonial occasions. Dr. S. Banks Nelson said the motion was not worthy of its author. Dr. Scott said he was after a greater ideal than getting a cheap seat at a banquet or a front place in a political procession. The titles had been borrowed from other churches, and he felt it time they were dropped.

Dr. A. D. Grant presented the report of the Educational Committee, which recommended that theological education be carried on at Knox and Montreal Presbyterian Colleges; that the board for Knox to be appointed by the Assembly be instructed to make arrangements for the education of students this year; that the Moderator be appointed acting principal of Knox for the ensuing year until permanent arrangements are made; that the colleges be instructed to make provision for the systematic instruction in the history and standards of the Presbyterian Church. Dr. Scott said he understood that the acting principalship of Knox was a kind of dummy job.

The Assembly decided to meet in Montreal next year on the first Wednesday in June. The matter of Church publications was settled by the Assembly agreeing that the paper be the Presbyterian Record, which was to be issued twice monthly instead of once if the board desired. There will be no other paper published by the Assembly.

Rev. Dr. J. A. MacGillivray of Guelph and Rev. J. G. Potter of Montreal were appointed delegates to the great world conference of Presbyterians meeting this year in Cardiff, Wales.

Sculptor Talks All Day For Removal Of Statue

LONDON, June 16.—(Canadian Press).—A curious scene was enacted in Hyde Park yesterday; it had to do with the agitation against the memorial executed by Jacob Epstein, the sculptor, to W. H. Hudson, the famous naturalist and writer who died in London in August 1922. Premier Baldwin unveiled this memorial on May 10 last, and it has been the subject of bitter criticism on the ground that it was lacking in artistic merit.

With the object of concentrating the attention of the public and parliament on the demand of the memorial, a sculptor named Hague undertook to deliver a twelve hours' continuous oration denouncing the panel. Hague appeared before the memorial at 8 o'clock in the morning with a supply of sandwiches and began his oration to an audience of stragglers, which only grew to any extent towards evening.

The speech was continuous except for interruptions for the consumption of sandwiches and altercations with by-standers who asserted that the orator was a nuisance. The police treated the affair as a joke and declined to interfere, and Hague, who attempted no oratorical flights, was allowed to complete hisself-imposed task, despite the almost overpowering heat of the sun.

You know, it is next to impossible to locate a bird's nest in a field of hay, or long grass. The birds know too many tricks to fool us by. So that was why the young farmer who did not want to run down the meadowlarks with his hay-cutting machine, went and obtained a rope and brought another man to help him drag the field.

After they had discovered the places where the nests were hidden in the grass, and had put up the wooden stakes, the farmer started his team of horses and cut the hay. Of course, the birds raised a terrible row, but he went around the wooden stakes and did not harm the birds. So the whole field was cleared of hay, clean as a board, all but the two places where the meadowlark nests were. It looked for all the world like an ocean with two islands in it. The young farmer was very pleased, for he loved the birds.

However, he had just called his wife out to the yard, to look at the little island-like spots, when the cat was seen making its way across the field. It had noticed the birds going in and out of the places and it just took that young farmer about one second to jump the fence and go madly after the cat. The cat made off, but the farmer's wife soon had it locked up in a small coop generally used for little chickens, and there the cat had to live, until the first of July.

The whole farm got so interested in the meadowlarks that a square of wire netting six feet high was placed around each nest site, made secure with strong corner stakes and about six feet square, so no animals could get near the birds. And they grew up and flew in safety.

The meadowlark has a sweet, plaintive call, not very long though. It flies with a fluttering wing motion and glides on the wing, showing a rather short tail with white on the outer tail feathers. It is a dull color on back and has a golden yellow breast with a black bib or breast plate.

PROHIBIT IMPORTING LIQUOR EXCEPT BY THE GOVERNMENTS

Provinces Which Have Government Control May Stop Private Import.

STOP EXPORT

Liquor Houses in British Columbia Could Not Buy Supplies.

OTTAWA, June 16. (Canadian Press).—A resolution which provides for the prohibition of private importation of liquor into provinces which now have Government control, was passed in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon, and a bill based on it given first reading.

When the resolution was moved, T. L. Church (Conservative, North Toronto) declared that he did not believe in prohibitory legislation, and he thought that the people of Ontario did not, either. He asked who had requested the legislation.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, replied that the bill would not apply to Ontario at all. The whole object of it was to give effect to the views of those provinces to which it was applicable.

General J. A. Clark (Conservative, Burrard) asked what the views of British Columbia were on this proposed legislation and what its effect would be on that province.

Mr. Lapointe replied that both the Prime Minister and Attorney-General of British Columbia had strongly urged the enactment of this legislation. The effect would be to prohibit importation into British Columbia except when liquor was purchased by the Government or a board of commissioners named by the Government of that province. Certain exceptions would allow of the import of liquor for blending purposes, and the passing of liquor through the province in bond.

General Clark asked if this legislation would put the export liquor houses in British Columbia out of business.

"I think it will," replied Mr. Lapointe. The prohibition of importation would apply to every individual and organization other than the Government. It was provided that the Act would not go into effect until the province passed an Order-in-Council requesting the Government to make it effective.

LABOR OPPOSES ACTION IN CHINA BY FOREIGNERS

Claim Outbreak in a Result of "Sweated" Labor in Cotton Mills.

PROTECT LIFE

Approaching Conference Expected to Secure Remedy for Political Unrest.

LONDON June 16. (Canadian Press).—The determined agitation on the part of the extreme left section of the Labor party to oppose any international action in China on the ground that the troubles in that country were the outcome of "sweated" labor conditions in British and Japanese cotton mills was extended to Parliament yesterday, when the Government was severely heckled by George Lansbury and other Laborites, who oppose the employment of British arms for the suppression of what they contend is a justifiable labor revolt.

Their argument is that while foreign capitalists are permitted to exploit sweated labor and child labor in China, the depression in the cotton trade of Lancashire will continue.

In reply to this heckling, A. M. Samuel, Parliamentary Secretary of the Overseas Trade Department, confessed that there was some justification for the bad labor conditions in the cotton mills in China, but he contended that the British Government, so far as it has jurisdiction, had done its best to secure improved conditions in the foreign settlement in Shanghai.

The British community at Shanghai had tried its utmost in April to get a by-law enacted remedying the long hours and the conditions of child labor, and such reforms were advocated by the municipal authorities, but there was not a sufficient vote to pass the measure.

The reform law was to have been introduced again in June, and, Mr. Samuel believed, would have been passed but for the present disorders.

After the secretary's statement, there were further observations from Ramsay MacDonald, the Labor leader, who suggested that it was the Government's business not only to protect life, but to secure a remedy for the serious political problems of China.

The Prime Minister, Mr. Baldwin, made a brief statement to the effect that the Government had strong hopes that present investigations on the spot and the approaching conference to formulate an arrangement on international tariff would do much towards the consolidation of the Chinese Government.

GOLD STANDARD IN MORE STATES

Argentine is Latest to Retore Currency to Gold Basis.

FOLLOW BRITAIN

The return of Great Britain to the gold standard is being reflected in Argentine where much British capital is invested. According to advices received by the Bankers Trust Company of New York from its British Information Service, it was announced that the export of gold from Argentina would be permitted from June 10. The present currency policy of Argentine is regulated under a law passed in 1899, known as the Conversion Law. At that time neardly 300 million pesos of paper money were in circulation, and the conversion law authorized the issue of fresh paper notes for gold coin, in the proportion of one paper peso for 44c gold. Prior to the enactment of this law, paper currency had fluctuated considerably, but the beneficial results of the law were such that from 1899 until 1914 there was no material fluctuation in the value of the peso.

Although Argentina has both a gold and paper currency, no actual gold coins are in circulation. From the passing of the n ew law paper was only issued against a deposit of gold, and gold was obtainable from the conversion office by a deposit of paper. A special import tax was enacted and kept in force for some years, which helped to accumulate gold and by 1914 about $26,000,000 in gold were deposited in the conversion office, sufficient to redeem about 72 per cent of the paper money then in circulation. At the outbreak of the war the Argentine government temporarily suspended the operations of the conversion law, and the conversion office ceased to give gold in exchange for paper, but in order to assist the trade of the country the principal legations abroad were authorized to receive gold and issue paper notes against the same. Gold continued to accumulate and during the three years ,to the end of 1922, the total amount in the conversion office and the National Bank, as well as in the legations abroad, aggregated $480,-000,000, or equivalent to 80 per cent of the paper in circulation. Many efforts have been made to induce the government to return to the pre-war practice but the government has failed to do so, being seriously afraid that the re-opening of the conversion office would result in a drain of its gold stock. At the end of 1924 the gold held amounted to $451,000,000, sufficient to cover 77.8 per cent of the paper in circulation.

Healthy Children

WHAT a joy there is in the laughter of children. How quickly that laughter dies when constipation—that great enemy of healthy bodies—coats the tongue and dulls the appetite of your boy or girl.

Mothers often fail to recognise in the bad breath, the coated tongue and fretfulness, the danger of disease that lurks like a shadow ready to throw its black mantle over the loved one.

DR. CALDWELL'S LAXATIVE SYRUP PEPSIN relieves the cause—constipation—and should be in every home. You will be astonished how quickly this great family remedy will put laughter back in the eyes of your child.

It is a safe, mild laxative especially suitable for children, pleasant to take, with no cramping after effects. It contains no narcotics or mercurials.

TROOPS FROM UPPER CANADA FIND EVERYTHING QUIET WHEN THEY REACH MINING PROPERTY

MORE CONSTABLES

SYDNEY, N. S., June 16. (Canadian Press).—With the moving into the colliery district of troops from Upper Canada, augmenting the force moved up from Halifax last week, Cape Breton, scene of mine strike disorders over the week-end, was quiet last night.

Troops are now established behind barbed wire in improvised shelters in the power station at New Aberdeen, and it is believed that an attempt to operate the plant for the maintenance of mines in the southern district will be made. At night a battery of searchlights sweeps the surrouading terrain. The disposition of the troops has been observed from a distance by scores of the striking miners of the British Empire Steel Corporation, but there were no hostile demonstrations yesterday.

Developments yesterday included the arrival in the Sydney mines district of a detachment of thirty mounted troopers and one hundred and fifty infantrymen, and the swearing in at Sydney Mines of one hundred and fifty miners as special constables.

Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, who will endeavor to mediate the differences existing between twelve thousand miners and the British Empire Steel Corporation over a wage scale, was expected to arrive in Sydney to-day.

Discussed In House.

OTTAWA, June 16. (Canadian Press).—In the House of Commons yesterday afternoon, Hon. E. M. MacDonald, Minister of National Defence, read the following telegrams from General Thacker, received shortly after midnight Sunday night: "Mayor, Sydney Mines, requests military protection to-night, Sunday. Feared mob will burn wholesale stores. Mayor of Sydney requested for military protection, feared strikers will loot city to-night, Sunday. Cannot give protection as no troops available. Urge that further reinforcements in view of widespread area affected of at least 500 additional to troops now on their way."

The Minister read a further telegram received from General Thacker 4.20 a.m. Sunday morning, reading as follows: Mayor of Sydney Mines requested military protection twice to-night, Sunday. Mob looting mutual grocery stores. Mob of 300 marching from Florence to join mob at Sydney Mines. State of terror rapidly developing in area. Small mob set fire to petrol stores outside Dominion No. 2. Officials extinguishing hindered by mob, which was dispersed by troops. G.O.S. and G.S.O. proceeded Cape Breton by troop train leaving Truro this afternoon, Sunday. Reported rioters are in possession of one machine gun but are without ammunition; also that men left Sydney for purpose of obtaining ammunition." The Minister added that within the last few days the troops had been ordered to the scene from St. John's Quebec, Toronto and London.

PRINCE ARTHUR TO FOLLOW BYNG

London Paper Names Prince as Possible Governor-General of Canada.

BYNG WON'T STAY

LONDON, June 16.—(Canadian Press Cable).—Last night's Star suggests that Prince Arthur of Connaught might suitably succeed Baron Byng of Vimy as Governor-General of Canada. It is felt here, however, that the suggestion is merely journalistic "tittle-tattle" and that it is improbable that any definite selection will be made for some time.

Prince Arthur is the eldest son of the Duke of Connaught and from 1920 to 1923 was Governor-General and commander-in-chief of the Union of South Africa.

Last Friday, Premier King, replying in the Canadian House of Commons to a question by Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Opposition, intimated that His Excellency Baron Byng regretted that he was unable to consider an extension of his term. Nothing short of exceptional public needs, His Excellency felt would compel him to remain longer than the regular term.

READ RAILWAY BILL FIRST TIME

Conservative Charges That Branch in Nova Scotia is Political.

TO WIN RIDING

OTTAWA, June 16.—(Canadian Press).—A bill to provide for the construction of a branch line from Sunnybrae to Guysborough, N.S., by the Canadian National Railway, receive first reading in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon. The mileage is 67, and the estimated expenditure is $3,500,000.

Hon. G. P. Graham said that last year and the year before the House had passed a bill providing for the construction of this line, but the work had not been proceeded with.

W. C. Good (Progressive-Brant) asked why the work had not gone on.

Mr. Graham replied that last year the bill had not passed the Senate.

R. R. Hanson (Conservative-York Sunbury) said the minister had neglected to mention one or two things in connection with this railway. The people of Nova Scotia were going to be asked to vote for a "Moribound Government." It was necessary, in order to win the constituency of Guysborough, that this bill passed. "When it is passed and the election is over, nothing more will be heard of the bill", Mr. Hanson declared.

Nothing like the wonderful vitalizing vitamines in Cod Liver Oil to help convalescing people to quickly get strong and well—everybody knows that.

But no body wants to take the ill-smelling, horrible tasting, stomach upsetting oil itself, so nowadays, up to date medical men are ordering a tablet of Cod Liver Oil and it surely has proved a blessing to thousands of people who have been sapped of their natural strength after a severe illness and especially after the Grippe or a stubborn cough or cold.

Ask Bond's Drug Store or any regular druggist for a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets. They cost but little, are sugar coated and as pleasant to take as candy.

Skinny men and women take them to speedily put on plenty of good healthy solid flesh and for this purpose they are so extremely good that thin men and women often take on 5 pounds or more in 30 days. As a matter of fact, your druggist will return your money if you don't take on 5 pounds in 30 days.

Be sure and ask for McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Live Oil Compound Tablets—60 tablets—60 cents.

Watch your tongue

The tongue is the mirror of the digestive tract and upon its surface is reflected the result of digestive disorders. Examine your tongue frequently and when you find it coated with "fur", or unnatural in appearance, heed Nature's signal.

Indigestion, biliousness, dyspepsia and constipation are responsible for most of the ills of mankind. Sleeplessness, headaches, nervousness and many ills follow in their train. Restore your digestion by using Beecham's Pills.

They clear the tongue, remove the bad taste, strengthen the stomach and bowels, activate the liver, promote the digestion and assimilation of food and make you feel strong and well.

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

MARMORA MASONS ATTENDED SERVICE

Bro. Rev. D. R. Clare Preached to Members in United Church.

MARMORA, June 16.—Marmora Lodge, No. 222 A.F. and A.M., held its annual church parade on Sunday, June 14, visiting Marmora United Church for the evening service. The lady members of the choir wore their new gowns for the first time, looking very imposing. The anthem chosen for the occasion was "The Radiant Morn," and was pleasingly rendered.

The Male Quartette, composed of Bros. J. F. Baker, W. L. Rigg, W. A. Sanderson, and A. V. Yates rendered very imprsesively "I'm But a Stranger Here." After welcoming the brethren, Bro. Rev. D. R. Clare delivered a very striking sermon on Heb. 8, 5, and 10, 1.

"We are told," he said, "that everything in the world is a shadow. The ancient temple built by master hands was built with the definite purpose that everything about it should remind the devout Jews of things eternal. "We never look aright on the things of this world until we regard them as being placed here for the purpose of teaching important truths. We are in a world of shadows of spiritual things. Coming events cast their shadows before. The thoughts in the mind of the great Creator have cast their shadows across this world. Jesus Christ going to Jerusalem had the premonition of the end which was before Him. Before this last war came upon us it was envisaged in the minds of a number of people. It has been the plan of the great Creator to use the minds of men to convey glimmerings of His accomplishments. The life and teaching of Jesus was the shadow of what God would bring us to. We are to bring ito bold relief the pattern which He left us. Good men and good women are to be shadows of things eternal manifested by universal brotherhood, kindness, and love."

Lawn Social.

The lawn social put on by the Springbrook Methodist Church on the Church grounds on Friday evening was a great success; gate receipts alone exceeding eighty-nine dollars. Over four hundred people paid for admission. The grounds were well laid out and the usual accommodations were good. Under the capable leadership of Mr. Bruce Sills, the Madoc orchestra furnished many delightful numbers. Mr. Archie Kincaid of Madoc proved as popular as ever with his story-telling and comic songs. Clever heads devised an excellent improvised ice cream parlor, which was very widely patronized. A first rate lunch was served without extra cost, so that all were agreed that an excellent evening was spent at a most reasonable price. This was the first such enterprise to be held this summer in the neighborhood.

Geologists say that hot springs do not come from deep within the earth, but from surface water which seeps through the rocks and is heated by steam from subterranean lava beds.

THE MAKING OF A UNITED CHURCH.

AT PONTYPOOL

PONTYPOOL, June 15.—The anniversary services of the Pontypool United Church were well attended. The services were in charge of Rev. Williams, B.A., missionary on furlough from the island of Formosa, Japan, assisted by the Ballyduff Presbyterian Choir. Mr. Williams, who was a missionary of the Presbyterian Church gave a very interesting talk in the afternoon service on Church Union, taking for his Scripture reading St. John 17: 1, 2, 6 17-23, the passage read at the inaugural service in Toronto. He pictured the wonderful emotion showed at this meeting of so many people, praying for one common end. His text was taken from the 21st chapter of Revelations, fifth verse "Behold I make all things new." He explained how some people had the opinion that God had wound the world up like a clock and it would eventually run down. Does it appear that way? Should our great-grandfathers' come back to earth, they would be astounded by your modern inventions, cars, radio sets, and would not believe their eyes. But, as the world has advanced so greatly in this way why should it not keep pace spiritually? He went on further to tell how, in the foreign field, they were undenominational and could not understand being preached brotherhood by a nation whose religious views were divided. That, he said, was the reason that 95% of the missionaries voted for union. He tried to convince his hearers of the wonderful advantages of being born in a Christian land and how thankful they should be that they could willingly work together. Union gives a larger field for service and unionists should increase their service accordingly. In his closing prayer he thanked God for giving the broader vision that brought about this new era in Christian History. He also prayed for help for those who had not yet seen it but were still carrying on a good work.

In the evening he told of his own missionary work. The music by the choir was very much enjoyed.

On Sunday, June 21st, there will be decoration service at 7.00 in the Pontypool cemetery.

AT KEENE.

KEENE, June 15. — A large congregation attended the first service of the United Church of Canada in the former Presbyterian Church here. Rev. John Archibald was the preacher and expressed the hope that the large congregations would continue.

Mr. Archibald said we are living in historic days and of the joining of the three churches, the like had never been witnessed since the days Luther nailed his thesis to the church door. It is one of the glories of a Christian people, and man's reach must exceed his grasp to succeed likewise. If the church ceases to grow it ceases to live. There is endless room for advance, he said. Paul was continually pressing towards the goal and we are doing the same, up towards the sun being our motto. Mr. Archibald said not to forget that when we fail someone is going to succeed and the coming generations are going to be our good second chance. We must value the principle of unity; union is strength; separation weakness. Mr. Archibald said that the three church had been a detriment to success and had not accomplished much, but the combination of Congregational, Methodist and Presbyterian could not help to advance straight to that goal we are all striving for. Congregationalism was made up of independent types of manhood. Cromwell was a Congregationalist and we need the help of such men as he, as there are battles to fight and victories to win in this pleasure loving age.

The Methodist church has given us a passion for evangelism. We have just been banging away at not any goal in particular.

Presbyterianism was founded on national liberty with the same respect for everybody, and it is now time to face the perils of the present day.

Most Significant.

Mr. Archibald said nobody can prophesy failure to a church made up of men and women of such calibre from the three united churches. It is the most significant thing since the reformation; 400 years ago it would have been celebrated by processions and sounding of trumpets and feasts.

On Wednesday last these three great churches united without a show of splendor, but to settle down and all work in unison for the one goal we are seeking.

The result of the vote on union at Keene was For 115; against 74.

Another Union Church.

The service in former Methodist church in the evening was also well attended.

Rev. Andrew McLauchlin gave an address on his experience at the Council of the New Church in Toronto last week. Mr. McLauchlin, who was the secretary of the last Bay of Quinte Conference held in Belleville ten days ago is convinced that the leadership of the Christion church was in the hands of the United Church of Canada.

Mr. McLauchlin also spoke on the New Outlook in Church Relationship —New Outlook of Unity rather than Opposition in Doctrine and in Missions.

While in Toronto Dr. Pigeon had showed him the gavel which was used at the new council; it had 11 different pieces of wood, indicating the number of countries, etc., in which the uniting churches now have missionaries.

China and Japan have laughed at us, saying we do not want your church history but we do want your Christ, and with these three great churches in unity there can be no failure.

Mr. McLauchlin also quoted Dr. E. E. Scott, who is the new Moderator of the Continuing Presbyterian church. Dr. Scott paid a high tribute to the statement of doctrine when it appeared first, years ago. "Its excellence," he wrote as editor of the Presbyterian Record, "must impress every thoughtful reader. There are few Presbyterians who can find any substantial difference between it and the Shorter Catechism or Confession of Faith."

AT OMEMEE

Rev. Harry Feir.

OMEMEE, June 16.—A large congregation attended the Union Church on Sunday evening when the resident pastors of the two congregations were assisted by the Rev. Harry Feir of British Columbia. Mr. Feir is an old Omemee boy and as Mr. Best the speaker at the morning service, was brought up a Presbyterian, he considered it a unique privilege that three Omemee boys had played a part in the services of Sunday in their home town as ministers.

Relating to the scene at the arena in Toronto on Wednesday morning where the seven or eight thousand were gathered, he commenced his address. "We feel ourselves engaged in a venture to work out with unity. Whq is it that we set out in such a course? It is a daring thing. Some of the old Scotchmen and Irishmen, in addressing the great convention said, 'We across the waters, have stood and looked on and thought it daring," but the movement has grown out of the mind of the great Master, and we are just answering out the call of Him. When he prayed, "I pray that they all may be one, as thou Father art in me and I in you." We are leading the world to accept the divine law of love, which is the absolute necessity of life moved by the deep pure motive of love breathed out into the life of man by the breath of Jesus Christ. God has set Himself to create a unity or harmony of this great physical universe. The enthronement of Jesus Christ in every department of human life that His son might be a great friend of mankind is pointed out to us. Do we like the unrest in some of our church meetings and circles at the present time? How easy it is for men of the same church to say nasty things. How we feel the love of Jesus Christ is being learned, but it is needed and men throughout the Christian churches are learning it. We do not want again a conference of separationists but a conference of unionists and it is only by the brotherhood of mankind. What a new day! Can it come? It will come! There is the note that must reign in our service and we must play our part to bring it about. The one big instruction is this, that if we have learned to live in love and harmony then the prayer "That we all may be one' will be fulfilled. The great Eternal thing is to learn to love and love in spite of everything.

Community Effort.

Without much fairness, it has been said that the movement started with a few ministers but not so. It began in a new community, of new land of ours. In the new community men and women gathered together to build new community life and new home life and in the new community life men felt they must be joined together in order to carry out the difficult task of farm organization and then they must get together for worship. So it is the mind of the Great Master speaking through the open mind and ready heart to undertake this new work. As each community grew larger they came to a time when they had to say, "Shall we divide as denominations such as Methodists, Presbyterians, Congregational, etc. Answer in most cases was "no." Mr. Feir had the honor of organizing several churches and today a group of congregations have grown until they form almost the 1,000 mark. At this point the church leaders began to feel the trend and were bound to say, if it was good for community, is it not right for church bodies. A new channel was opened up and a newer spirit showed itself. They were in keeping with the great Teacher. Men are forgetting their relations and are joining together to build from joint to joint so that there will be no falling down in this great venture. World-wide attention has been attracted by the union and as messages from Africa, New Zealand and many far away countries sent greetings to the big convention. They are admiring Canada for becoming brave enough to branch out and give them the lead. "Band yourselves together for peace and good will and earth will be in keeping with the call of the Great Commander.

In two or three ways we have felt the need of answering the call. For the sake of the church itself that we might learn to love. We find in passoing that quarrels have arisen in the church. Will the United Church do any better? Will they learn to love? The answer is driven in among us in the scene on Wednesday morning when the 7000 and more representative of church bodies joined in communion. As they took in their hands the symbols of bread and wine, there was the learning of love. As we face the endeavor to work in union as the Great God has called us, we answer the call for further purpose that we might be able to play our part in the saving of Christian Canada. We want to create a Canadian Christian home and the call came to the church to play the part of true patriotism in that respect. It has been doing that in a splendid Home Mission enterprise that the churches are carrying on but there has come a time that if they did the best they could it could not be done separately, so we are sinking our differences and preferences and with one united voice and effort set ourselves in one for Christ.

Then the cry comes from non-Christian lands to send a light—one great light in face of Jesus Christ. Hundreds of nations are crying out for the teachings of God and looking to the Christian world, but they cannot understand the division of sects. We are only answering the call of about 630 missionairies, who have answered the Masters' call. They have said "Bind yourselves together so that there shall be no sects. Failing to answer these calls would be sin and we are responding to the prayer of Jesus Christ "That we may all be one" and the Christian churches have set out to hasten the day when prayer shall be answered, "Thy will be done, as it is in Heaven."

RHEUMATIC PAINS GO SWOLLEN JOINTS VANISH

Rheuma—The One Safe and Quick-Acting Remedy for Rheumatism —Money Back if it Fails.

Thousands of sufferers have freed themselves from the bondage of rheumatism; rid themselves of the torturing pain; reduced the swollen joints; thrown away canes and crutches, and from helpless beings became able to work and be of use to themselves and their families.

Don't be sceptical about Rheuma. You will know in a few hours after beginning the treatment that the poisonous uric acid is leaving your system through the natural channels. You will feel better in a day; you will know you are going to be helped in less than a week.

Don't think because Rheuma is not expensive that it won't bring you back to health. There is no guess work about it. That's why McDermid & Jury and good druggists everywhere sell it with guarantee of money back if it does not give quick and blessed relief almost at once.

INSTITUTE MEETING HELD AT WOOLER

Delegate From Department Entertained Ladies of Village.

WOOLER, June 16.—On Thursday afternoon, the public meeting of the Women's Institute met in the basement of the Methodist Church, with the 1st Vice-President, Mrs. W. Crews, in the chair.

After the usual business, a piano solo was beautifully rendered by Mrs. Hedley Ireland. A solo by Mrs. W. Mitchel, and then the speaker, Mrs. Hope, from the Department, gave a very spicy address on Travel in China, followed by a musical reading entitled "Tommy Boy." Her next talk was on Drama followed by a monologue "Telegram," and an encore "Visiting the Sick Room."

Mrs. Hope, is of the nature of bringing cheer to the Institute members, encouraging them in their noble work for home and country.

Missionary Meeting.

On Friday evening the Sunday School rooms of the Methodist Church were filled, with those interested in missionary work. Mrs. Irwin Scott gave a very inspiring report of the branch meeting recently held in Oshawa. The music was furnished by: Clifford Rogers, a vocal number; Mr. and Mrs. Stewart of Carmen, violin and piano; Edward Curry and Harry Brown, cornets; Mrs. Bick, piano solo; an exercise given by four little girls, giving their dollies to the mission field. And address was read by Mrs. S. L. Terrill, as follows: "Last days and last things always have a tendency to sadness, and we would not be normal, if we did not feel a tinge of sadness in this last missionary social evening with Rev. and Mrs. Bick.

"Mrs. Bick has been closely connected with our missionary work, especially in the Mission Circle, teaching our young girls, the real Christian life and educating them to carry on the work. Now, our loss, is another's gain.

"And this being the time in the history of the church and missionary work, we are facing a new day. We must enter this new day with love in our hearts—Love, the greatest thing in the world, and the thing that lives the longest.

We, the members of the Wooler Missionary Auxiliary, would ask Mrs. Bick to accept this Life Membership certificate as an appreciation of your faithful service. We wish you health and happiness in your new field of work."

The next number was the Busy Bees' Sunday School Class standing in order and reading an address and presenting their teacher, Mrs. Bick, with a very handsome purse.

After refreshments were served the meeting adjourned.

Ball Game.

On Friday evening, the Mount Zion team came up and played Wooler team a game of softball, with a score of 19 to 5 in favor of Wooler.

REV. R. B. FERRIS VISITS CHILDREN

General Secretary Ontario Religious Council at Cavan on Sunday.

CAVAN, June 16. — On Sunday, Cavan Sunday school held its anniversary services. Rev. R. B. Ferris, B.A., General Secretary of the Ontario Religious Educational Council, Toronto, was the special minister for the day.

In the morning the service was especially for the children. Miss Tinney, the organist for the Sunday school, presided at the organ. The choir sang as a voluntary, "Jesus Lives," later in the service.

Mr. Ferris addressed himself to the children, reminding them that this is the season when seeds, trees and all plants are growing, directing their thoughts towards the proper way for children to grow, mentally and spiritually as well as physically.

Wherever life is there is growth and wherever there is growth there is also life. No two leaves, no two plants, or no two persons are alike. Each must live his or her own life, but must be careful to live the very best life that he or she can.

While yet boys and girls, is the time to choose what kind of life, and what kind of person each will be when grown up.

It was said about Jesus that He increased in wisdom and stature and in favour with God and man. He cohse the "highway" of life.

Extracts from the life of Abraham Lincoln were told to show how he used every opportunity to prepare himself to fill any position which God would wish him to fill. He worked so diligently and well that when the opportunity came, he was able to creditably fill the position of President of the United States. He used the word 'grow' to summarize his address for the children, and lay down four rules for growth in the proper direction. First, the letter G. stood for 'Guard health,' by means of sleep, fresh air and exercise. Paul tells us that our bodies are our temples, therefore we must keep them clean and pure as we would a church, and take nothing into them that would defile. Second, the letter R, 'Reach out after truth.' Learn about men, life and God. The Bible is an inexhaustible supply of strength and help, in it are stores of riches untold. Third the letter O, tells us to obey God. Listen to His voice, which speaks to children, through ther conscience, parents and teachers. Fourth, the letter W, tells us to work for others. Jesus served others and He wants the boys and girls to live, lives of service and grow into strong men and women.

Mr. Ferris said the grown people were responsible for helping the boys and girls to grow into Christian manhood and womanhood.

We want you to make this test

We want every weak, puny, fagged-out man and woman in America to make this test: buy one bottle of Tanlac at your druggist's, take it according to directions for one week and see how quickly you get started back to full strength and vigor.

We know what we are talking about. Tanlac has helped millions. In our files are more than 100,000 letters of praise from grateful users.

Don't confuse Tanlac with ordinary patent nostrums. It is Nature's own tonic and builder, compounded from roots, barks and herbs that we gather at great expense from the four corners of the earth.

Tanlac goes straight to the seat of your trouble; cleanses and purifies the blood stream; puts your digestion in proper shape. First thing you know you have an appetite like a starved child. You rest at night and your whole body begins to feel the stir of strength and energy.

Brought Health and Happiness

"Since the Civil War indigestion and stomach trouble have been the bane of my existence. Tanlac made my weak stomach sound and did away with all signs of indigestion. In fact it has brought me health, strength and happiness and I give it unqualified endorsement and praise."

Hon. A. P. Tarbox, 217 W. 23rd St., University Place, Neb.

The FLAPPER WIFE

by Beatrice Burto

THE STORY SO FAR:

GLORIA GORDON, beautiful Flapper marries DICK GREGORY, a struggling lawyer. Her idea of marriage is fun and fine clothes . . . . but no work or children.

She refuses pointblank to do her own housework, and hires a maid. But Dick has to let the maid go, because he can't afford to pay her wages. Gloria has swamped him with debts for her clothes and a new automobile.

She becomes infatuated with STANLEY WAYBURN, an actor. She lends him money, and finally, when he leaves town to go to New York, Gloria follows him. He spurns her, telling her he has just married a Russian actress. Then Gloria tries to land a job as a chorus girl and fails. Discouraged, she comes home to Dick.

He takes her back, but not as his wife. One night Gloria leaves him to work late at the office with SUSAN BRIGGS, his secretary. While Gloria is at home alone, the house is robbed. Dick doesn't get home until almost morning. Gloria wonders if he was with Miss Briggs all that time. But next morning she learns that he was at the house of DR. JOHN SEYMOUR, who had killed himself because of the love affair that existed between his wife MAY and JIM CARWE.

Gloria goes to Dick's office to tell him about the robbery, and to make one last attempt to win him again.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

"It has done you harm!" Gloria told her. "If it hadn't been for Dick, you'd probably have married long ago."

"Oh, no!" Miss Briggs cried. "You see, this was my first job. Mr. Gregory's been my whole life for years. I couldn't have thought of marrying . . ."

"That's just it," said Gloria. "If a girl happens to work for a young good-looking man, she's so likely to fall in love with him! She's the sort of a day-time wife to him, looking after his comfort, reminding him of his engagements, keeping his pencils sharpened . . . . Oh, I know! I used to be a stenographer, myself, you know."

"And were you in love with the man you worked for?"

"Heavens, no! You should have seen him! Old as Methuselah, and crosser than two sticks!" Gloria answered. "Well, I guess I'd better be going—tell Dick I stopped in to see him, will you?"

Miss Briggs nodded, dumbly. She looked as if she wanted to say something else. But before she could frame the words, Gloria was gone.

• • •

She sat quietly at her desk, when the sound of Gloria's high heels had died away down the corridor. All around her was a blankness hat left her brain naked to outward impressions . . . the loud ticking of a clock in Dick's private office, the clanging sound of the elevator outside the door.

"I shouldn't have told her," she thought at last. "How did I happen to tell her . . . of all people? I must be losing my mind."

She closed her desk, and went out of the office. She knew she couldn't face Dick that day.

But she faced the world with a high bravery. She smiled at the elevator boy, and told him it was a lovely day and she was going out to enjoy it—to play hookey for once. From sheer habit, she bought a paper.

. . . . She wondered if she would ever enjoy anything again. Her heart was breaking. And her pride was broken, too.

"I suppose I'll lose my job," she thought dully. "She's sure to tell Mr. Gregory. She'll make him discharge me, sure as death."

It was characteristic of Susan Briggs that she never thought of the man she loved except as "Mr. Gregory." She never had.

• • •

"There was a policeman at your house a while ago," she said, pleasantly.

"What crime have you been committing?"

She carried her mending basket in her hands. Gloria could see that she was primed for a nighborly chat.

But she didn't want to be neighborly with Mrs. Donberg. She was the type of woman for whom Gloria had no use . . . the home body who talked of nothing but marmalade, marketing, and moth-marbles.

"We had burglars last night," Gloria said, without a smile, "And I've been so excited all day that I haven't done a bit of housework. I've got to get busy now and do it before my husband comes home."

She went into the house, and closed the door behind her.

There was a musty smell in the rooms. The house needed a thorough airing, as well as a good cleaning.

Gloria threw the windows wide open and went upstairs. She took off her hat and went to work.

All the soiled linen came off the beds. She made them up fresh and smooth. She hung a neat row of towels in the bathroom, and scoured the tub.

She began to enjoy her job. It was rather fun to dash around from room to room banging the ashes from the tray on Dick's bedside table, slapping up the pillows on the window seat in the room where Dick had banished her.

Well, she wouldn't stay in banishment much longer, Gloria made up her mind.

She would show Dick that she really did mean to be a good wife to him . . . and he would take her back into his heart, again.

It was perfectly silly for them to live apart this way, under the same roof. And unnatural, besides.

"And if Dick ever brings up Stan Wayburn again, I'll accuse him of being in love with Miss Briggs," Gloria said to herself. "I'll tell him she would never have fallen for him if he hadn't made love to her, first. That'll shut him up, quick enough!"

The more she thought about Miss Briggs the more firmly Gloria decided to tell Dick he'd have to send her packing. To have a secretary around who was in love with Dick was just throwing temptation in his way. . . . Few men could resist a woman who was crazy about them. She appealed to their love of flattery.

And no man was deaf and blind to flattery . . . not even the level-headed Dick. Yes, he'd have to get rid of Miss Briggs. That was all there was to it. . .

• • •

Gloria ran downstairs. She heated the water in the kitchen tank and washed up the dishes in the sink. She scoured it out, and mopped the floor. It didn't look much better when she had finished than when she began . . . but it had the strong, pungent smell of a good cleaning, anyway. That was something. At least Dick could tell that she had been at work on it! He could see that she was trying her best to be a housekeeper.

That, if anything, ought to melt him!

At five o'clock Gloria ran upstairs and bathed.

At six she looked like anything but a woman who had spent the afternoon cleaning up a house.

She was herself again . . . a creature of beauty charged with elegance. Her hair was like molten copper. Her skin was sweet in its sheer cleanness. And all around her hung the old fragrance of mimosa flower that had always turned Dick's head.

She was Gloria at her loveliest . . . her most alluring.

When she heard Dick's key in the lock she ran downstairs to him, on winged feet.

"I was just going out to buy some things for our supper," she said to him with an adorable smile. "I've been so busy all day that I forgot to phone the grocer."

Her voice was as natural and sweet as if it had never uttered a cruel word. It implied that she and Dick were the best friends in the world.

"The stores are all closed at this time of night, and you know it," Dick said to her. "Don't stall. . . . What do you want to do? Go downtown and eat? Gosh, I'm getting tired of eating in restaurants, though! Try to have something cooked tomorrow night when I get home, will you?"

"You know I will," Gloria answered. "I'll even get supper here tonight if you'll drive me over to the delicatessen. . . . Let's get some ham and eggs and you can show me how to fry them. That'll be fun!"

"No," Dick said wearily. "I'm too tired to fuss around. I didn't have a wink of sleep last night. . . You heard about John Seymour, of course?"

Gloria nodded. The feeling of horror that she had every time she thought of Dr. John's suicide closed down over her liked black wings.

She waited for him to put his arms around her, to comfort her—as he would have done a few weeks ago. But he made no move toward her.

"I tried to get you on the phone last night when Lola Hough phoned me to go to Seymours', but Central said you didn't answer. I guess you were asleep," Dick said. "Come on, let's go."

"I was not asleep!" Gloria answered. "The telephone wires were cut. There was a burglar in this house last night while you were out! He was near enough to touch me. . . . I even saw him in the dining room!"

Dick stared at her, with his hand on the open door of the hall.

"What did he take?" he asked.

"All the forks and knives and spoons that your mother gave us for a wedding present," Gloria said. "But that's not the point. The terrible part of it was that I was frightened out of my wits, almost. . . . And I'll never stay in this house alone, again, so long as I live. See?"

Gloria followed Dick out to the garage.

"Rikky," she said, using the old nickname, "I'm sorry as the dickens that I didn't have dinner ready for you tonight. I can see that you're dead tired. How much sleep did you have last night?"

"Not a wink," Dick answered. "How could I sleep when my best friend had just killed himself because of his utterly worthless wife? I can't figure out why John cared so much for a good-for-nothing creature like May. . . . He should never have married her in the first place! That was his big mistake."

Gloria bit her lip. She wondered if Dick thought she was any better than May. Perhaps he was sorry that he had married her. . . .

Well, she wouldn't let him be sorry! She had turned over a new leaf.

"Where are we going?" she asked as the car turned in George Street.

"We're going to invite ourselves to Mothers' for a meal," Dick answered grimly. "I'm sick of restaurant food. I'm fed up on it."

LOOKING FORWARD

Keene United Church Has View of Prosperous Future.

KEENE, June 16.—At Keene in the Presbyterian United Church things are going along pleasantly. There has been no outstanding opposition. Many of those who voted against Union are still worshipping in the old Church. On Sunday morning owing to the resignation of three elders, other three were appointed to fill their places.

The choir and the Sunday School are going on as usual. The annual W.M.S. quilting was held on June 9, when sixty-eight turned out to assist, which is the largest attendance on record.

On the whole, the prospects of the United Church are good. It looks forward to confidence with its work and influence in the life of the community in the coming years.

At Westwood United Church, the other church to which Rev. John Archibald ministers, next Sunday marks a new stage in local church history, the Methodist congregation joins forces with the Presbyterians worshipping in what was formerly the Presbyterian Church.

Simple Way to Get Rid of Blackheap

There is one simple, safe, and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them. To do this, get two ounces of peroxine powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The peroxine powder and the water dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.

ADVANCES MADE AROUND MARMORA

Booster Club Park Progressing—Free to All for Picnics.

MARMORA, June 16.—Considerable progress has been made with the Booster Club Park at Crowe Lake. This park comprises seven acres purchased by the Club from Dr. W. G. Mackechnie. It is situated on the southern shore of the lake in the second concession of Marmora Township. A building to serve as a shelter and possibly for other excellent purposes later, is being erected with dimensions 14ft. by 20ft. Dave Simmons is the carpenter in charge. A verandah eight feet in length is being built on each side. Over thirty of the Club's supporters turned out to a bee on Wednesday afternoon as a result of which all stones have been cleared. With a well dug at a depth of twenty feet, this park, being free to all, will be the rendezvous of many a picnic party this summer.

New Approach

A new approach is being made to Marmora Cemetery whereby corteges will proceed along the northern side. The work has been commenced by the County Road gang under Mr. William McCoy and will be finished by a bee to be organised by the Cemetery Board.

INSTITUTE MEETING

Marmora Sunday School Workers Join in Exchanging Ideas.

MARMORA, June 16.—A Sunday School Institue was held in the Methodist church, Marmora, on Thursday evening. Representatives were there from the Union and St. Paul's churches, Marmora.

These institutes have been formed under the leadership of J. Baker, so the workers of the various Sunday Schools of the township may meet in groups and discuss with the officers of the Township Council of the Ontario Religious Educational Association, various methods of Sunday School work.

The officers of the Township executive who were present were:

Mr. Rutherford, Ryleston, president.

Mr. J. Baker, Bonar Law, secretary.

Mrs. A. Williams, Springbrook, superintendent of teacher training.

Mrs. T. J. Thompson, Springbrook, superintendent of home department.

Mr. Drakeup, Wellman's, superintendent of young people's work.

NAME LAYMEN FOR BUSINESS

FOR A YEAR.

TORONTO, June 16 (Canadian Press)—A radical departure in the conduct of church affairs was approved at last night's session of the Presbyterian General Assembly when a board of administration, composed entirely of laymen, was appointed for purposes of administration of the business and financial department of the church for the coming year.

The report read: "We recommend that a board of administration be composed of laymen, experienced in business and finance, whose duty it shall be to take oversight of all business and financial affairs of the church and that they be empowered to appoint the necessary officers to carry on the work of the board and to fix the salaries to be paid to such officers, this board to appoint an executive of fifteen members, which for the purpose of administration shall be chosen from a centre."

SAYS COMPANY HOUNDING HIM

Veteran Suicides and Wants Body Given to Mortgage Company.

IN SASKATCHEWAN.

SWIFT CURRENT, Sask., June 16. (Canadian Press).—Leaving a letter behind him stating that a certain mortgage company was hounding him to death and asking his wife to give his body to the mortgage company, Charles Fox, a veteran of the Imperial British Army, was found in the basement of his house with his throat cut yesterday. He died soon after.

CLAIM NO NEED OF GOVERNOR GENERAL

Labor Members Propose Abolition of Office To Save Money.

OTTAWA, June 16 (Canadian Press) — Abolition of the post of Governor General of Canada was recommended by J. S. Woodsworth, senior labor member of the House of Commons last night when the vote for the expenses of maintaining Rideau Hall came before the House. Both the labor members, Messrs. Woodsworth and Rev. William Irvine, of East Calgary averred that in the interests of democracy and economy the post of governor general might very well be dispensed with.

Such an executive officer as the chief justice of Canada, who is the present deputy of the governor general, should discharge the duties of the office, Mr. Woodsworth said, and save the expenses of the governor generalship proper. These expenses he estimated at $500,000 yearly. Hon. George P. Graham, who was leading the house, felt that Canada benefitted by the present system of the appointing of governors. The item carried without further discuession.

TOURISTS HERE.

United States Parties Come For Opening of the Fishing Season.

Several parties from the States, here for the fishing, which opens to-day, registered at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday. Among them were parties from Tampa, Florida, Cleveland, Ohio; Donora, Pennsylvania, and Columbus, Ohio. There are also other visitors from the States who have not yet registered.

The tourists' camp is now available for use.

An erroneous statement, based on last year's information, appeared recently in the Toronto Globe, where the camp was said to be an Inverlea Park. This year the camp is located at the Exhibition grounds.

WANTED MAN WAS IN JAIL

TO FACE CHARGE.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 16. (Canadian Press).—John Stanton, wanted for the murder of John Penny at his home here on the morning of December 19, 1922, has been discovered on a prison farm in Indiana, where, under the name of John Barber, he is serving a term of 90 days. Chief Constable Newton of Winnipeg has requested the United States authorities to hold the prisoner, who will be brought back to Canada to face the capital charge.

MISSIONARY WORK OF UNION CHURCH

TORONTO, June 16 (Canadian Press) — With a large map of the world outspread across one side of the Metropolitan church, and fifty missionaries in attendance, the General Council of the United Church last night turned its attention to the task that lay ahead of the new church in foreign fields. Several addresses were given by missionaries.

The missionaries were unanimous in their belief that the union just consummated would prove a great factor in missionary enterprise.

An important announcement was made by Hon. N. W. Rowell, K.C., speaking for the legal committee.

Counselling the members not to exercise the Council's powers too generously on many matters that presented themselves, Mr. Rowell said: "The Council should first of all take steps to organize subsidiary courts of the Church and leave the question of further regulations to be dealt with by the first general council to be convered under the basis of union. The decisions of this council are provisional only, and effective only until the first meeting of that council."

Mr. Rowell thought that the Presbyterians should meet not later than September this year, the conference not later than November or December and that the first general council should convene in May or June next year.

BIG SLAUGHTER OF YUNNANESE

Seven Hundred Die When Army Captures Canton —Many Tortured.

BRITISH INTERFERE.

NEW YORK, June 16. (Canadian Press).—A despatch to the Evening Post from Hong-Kong says that more than 700 Yunnanese were slaughtered at Canton by the victorious Cantonese army which captured that city on Saturday.

The Yunnanese were caught by mobs, beaten into insensibility, thrown into the harbor and held down by bamboo poles until they drowned, the despatch says. One Yunnanese officer was crucified to a telephone pole while the mob jeered and stoned him. The despatch added that just outside the French concession, the Yunnanese were driven from their hiding place, beaten and thrown into the creek, in sight of many foreigners, who dared not interfere in Chinese territory. The wholesale slaughter was finally halted by the intervention of British sailors, it was said.

m m ittee Recommends Consultation Between Premiers Of All Provinces.

OTTAWA, June 16. (Canadian Press). — The report of the special committee on old age pensions, tabled in the House of Commons this afternoon by Chairman W. G. Raymond, M.P., recommends "That the Government arrange with the Premiers of the different provinces for a conference to be held during the coming recess of Parliament, at which the old age pension system shall be given the fullest consideration with a view to securing co-operative action and that the report of said conference be laid on the table at the next session of Parliament for further consideration and action.

29 Witnesses Were Heard In Recent Prosecution

There were 29 witnesses for the prosecution in the Sherman-Merson trial, several of whom were twice on the winess stand. For the defence four witnesses were called, including the accused, who were each on the stand tweice giving evidence.

There were in all 52 exhibits.

On the first charge—conspiracy to defraud—the jury were three hours in coming to a decision. The accused were pronounced "Not Guilty" of obtaining by false pretences, after a few minutes' consultation among the jury, who had not withdrawn from the Court.

The verdict "Guilty" of defrauding creditors was brought in after a consideration lasting 1 hour and 40 minutes.

HER NERVES SO BAD SHE COULD NOT SLEEP

Mrs. Grace Kitchen, St. George, Ont., writes: "After having a severe attack of pneumonia I was left in a weak and run down condition. My nerves were so bad I could not sleep nights, and in the day time I had terrible fainting spells, caused by my heart being weak. Finally I got so bad I had to take to my bed for weeks at a time, but one day I read about so decided to try them.

After taking one box I felt a slight improvement. I have now taken five boxes, and have gained 35 pounds in weight. I am now more than able to do all my own housework as well as considerable outside work. I cannot recommend Milburn's H. & N. Pills too highly for those suffering as I did."

WOMEN'S PAGE

WHAT TO SERVE AT A WEDDING

Sample Menu and How to Prepare Dishes—Useful This Month.

BY SISTER MARY

The wedding breakfast is usually served at 12.30 o'clock, following the ceremony at "high-noon," but often, for convenience regarding trains, an earlier or later hour must be chosen.

The menu may be as simple as desired, containing only three courses but the service should be as formal and perfect as possible. A wedding breakfact is nothing more nor less than a formal luncheon as far as the menu is concerned, but the table decorations and the unusual radiance of silver, glassware, linen and china proclaim the affair to be of the greatest importance.

DAILY MENU

Dinner—Baked stuffed bluefish, scalloped potatoes, string beans, cucumber and lettuce salad, raspberry shortcake, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee.

A child four of five years of age should not be given stuffing of the fish, the cucumbers in the salad or the "cake" of the shortcake.

Tomato and Anchovy Canape
Chicken and Sweetbread Timbales. with Mushroom Sauce
Twice Baked Potatoes
Creamed Peas
Parker House Rolls
Jellied Cucumber Salad
Cheese Straws
Strawberry Parfait in Meringue Shells
Wedding Cake. Coffee
Salted Nuts. Colored Bon Bons

The salad course may be omitted. In this event radish "roses" and "extra fine" olives should be served with the second course.

If preferred a fruit cup can take the place of the canape, but the canape is not quite as ordinary as the cup.

Tomato and Anchovy Canape

Cut slightly stale bread in slices about ¼ inch thick. Cut in rounds the size of tomatoes to be used. Pare and chill tomatoes and cut in slices almost as thick as the bread. Toast bread quickly and lightly and spread lightly with butter. Spread with anchovy paste, cover with slice of tomato and sprinkle with enough grated cheese to cover the tomato completely. Add a dash of paprika and put under the broiler long enough to melt the cheese without browning it. Drop a tiny sprig of crisp parsley on each canape and serve at once on a lace paper doily on a small plate.

Chicken and Sweetbread Timbales.

Two cups minced uncooked chicken breast, 1 sweetbread, 4 eggs, 2 cups whipping cream, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper.

The chicken is not cooked, but the sweetbread is, of course, parboiled and blanched. They should both be minced very finely. Each egg is beaten separately before adding. Combine chicken and sweetbread and add 1 well beaten egg. Beat well and add the second beaten egg. Beat well and add each egg until all are used. Beat in salt and pepper and fold in cream whipped until firm. Turn into buttered timbale molds and place on several thicknesses of cloth in a pan containing about 1 inch of hot water. Cover with heavy buttered paper and bake twenty-five minutes in a moderately hot oven. Unmold and serve with mushroom sauce.

This recipe will make twelve timbales. Two cups of mushroom sauce will be needed.

The Bride's Cake.

When the number of guests at a wedding is too large to permit the use of tables a buffet service is most convenient.

Here again the menu may be simple or elaborate but the service must be perfect and without a "hitch." Although all the food is placed on the buffet at once, the dishes must be replenished and always kept inviting and attractive in appearance. If possible replace the first dishes with second fresh dishes and rearrange and replenish the first ones in the kitchen.

The following menu is what a caterer calls a "stock" manu and is suitable for any hour of the day or night and any sort of a function:

Chicken a la King (Chafing Dish)
Fruit Salad in Cheese Cases
Assorted Sandwiches
Salted Nuts Bon Bons
Molded Ices. Fancy Small Cakes
Coffee

The cheese cases are made exactly like cream puff cases except that the sugar is omitted and grated cheese, salt and pepper added.

CAPELET COATS

NEW YORK, June 16 (United Press. — Capelet coats, which have been obscured by the more popular flare hemmed models, are being worn in numbers by smartly gowned women.

Wherever well dressed women are assembled, at smart hotels, racetracks, country clubs, etc., one sees evidence of the capelet vogue. This proves that women of fashion are getting away from the too-popular models with flared and fur-trimmed hems.

On the Avenue one sees more navy blue capelet coats than one sees vivid color. Some of these have little elbow length capes, often in three-tiers, posed over a coat made on straight lines with long tight sleeves. Sometimes a bright red belt is worn just below the normal waistline. One navy model with double-breasted front opening was slightly fitted at the waistline with double inverted pleats in the rear. It resembled the coat of a West Point cadet, with it's little cape extending just to the elbows.

At the country clubs one sees cape-coats in brighter colors such as mustard. fushia or green. They are a refreshing change from the sports models made on plainer lines although their bright colors make them suitable for sports occasions. The separate short cape was a new note at the Belmont racetrack this week. One made of white tweed extended several inches below the hipline, being bordered in leopard fur. It was worn over a mannish suit of white tweed.

Evening wraps of chiffon or georgette are made in three-tier cape effects in lovely pastel shades.

Weddings

PAYNE—WEAVER.

On Friday, June 12th, at three o'clock, at George street Methodist parsonage, Rev. Harold Young performed the marriage ceremony of Miss Lila Mary Weaver to Mr. Maxwell Julian Payne, of the city. The bride looked pretty in a burnt orange satin dress with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. The bridesmiad, Miss Myrtle Robinson, cousin of the bride, wore a mauve dress with hat to match and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. The bridegroom was supported by Mr. Thos. Ball.

After the ceremony the young couple motored to the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Robt. Weaver, 255 George street, where a daint ysupper was served to a number of relatives. The table was prettily decorated with carnations and roses. After supper a dance was held for the young couple at Mrs. Daniel Lane's, sister of the bride, where a very enjoyable evening was spent.

Mr. and Mrs. Payne received many useful and beautiful presents, among them a handsome clock from the fellow workers of the C.P.C. Will reside on Brock street.

MUSICAL RECITAL

A piano recital by pupils of Miss Olive Johnston, A.T.C.M., assisted by Miss Ellen Eagleson and Mrs. L. Spriggs, vocalists, was held at the hall of the Conservatory of Music last evening, with a good attendance. An interesting programme was rendered by the pupils, who acquitted themselves creditably to themselves and their teacher. The songs of Mrs. Spriggs and Miss Eagleson and a violin selection by Donald Greene were heartily applauded. The programme was as follows:

"Narcissus," played by Lucille Milburn; "Meadow Fairies," by Marjorie Sproats; "Red Roses," by Max Comstock; "Blue Bird," by Marion Manning; "Snow Drop," by Beatrice Sawyer; "Mountain Grove," by Margaret Sproats; "Dormouse's Dream," by Arleigh Comstock; "The Man in the Moon," by May McWilliams; vocal solos, "I Dream That I Hear You Singing," and "The Road of Looking Forward," by Miss Ellen Eagleson; "Pipe and Bowl," by Mary Griffin; "Fairy Whispers," by Helen Starr; "L'Avalanche," by Audrey Heap; "In Rank and File," by Margaret Dainton; "Under the Eaves," by Helen Steer; "Troubadour's Song," by Berwyne Tilcock; "March of the Friars," by Zelda Graham; "Adventure," by Helen Rogers; "Serenade of the Violets," by Ernestine McDonald; "Hide and Seek," by Greta DeLong; "Waltz," by Winifred Bohn; "Gypsy Rondo," by Harold MacFarlane; "Heather Rose," by Graham Niven; vocal solos, "When the Swallows Homeward Fly," and "Where My Caravan Has Rested," by Leila Spriggs; "Curious Story," by Elizabeth Harrison; "Bluette Waltz," by Lionel Bailey; "On the Meadow," by Kenneth Jones; "Doll's Dream," by Grace Comstock; "Will o' the Wisp," by Margaret Whittaker; "Dream Pictures," by Clemena Long; "Sonatina" by Ivy Whittaker; "Dream Pictures," by Clemena Long; "Sonatina," by Ivy Tilcock; "Valsette," by Florence Record; "Les Myrtes," by Grace Cunningham; "Valse," by Harold MacFarlane; violin solo, by Donald Greene.

Cynthia Grey Says

THE QUEEN BECOMES A FLAPPER.

Feisal, the king of Mesopotamia had the shock of his royal life the other day.

His queen came to visit him in the city of Bagdad. And she had cast aside the garments of modesty that all nice, demure Orienta' women wear and had arrayed herself in the short skirts and choker beads of the modern flapper.

Now it so happened that Feisal, the king, had left his wife under the protection of her father in Mosul..... and he had told her to stay there while he was in Bagdad.

Moreover he had expected her to stay there. For in the Orient wives do not do as they please, but as they are told.....At least that is the supposition.

However the queen of Mesopotamia had plans of her own.

The minute her husband's kingly back was turned she summoned her English friend. Miss Gertrude Bell, and asked her to go shopping with her for some new clothes.

And by the time they had finished King Feisal's wife looked almost like anybody but the queen of Mesopotamia!

"Now, then," she asked, "I'm off to Bagdad!"

In Mesopotamia wives do not go to join their husbands when they are away on business trips as they sometimes do here. It simply isn't done there.

Probably the last time a queen went calling upon a king in those distant places of the earth was back in the times of Sheba and King Solomon.

But a mere trifle like that did not worry the queen of Mesopotamia for a second.

And when she faced her astounded mate in Bagdad she cheerfully explained that so long as Mesopotamian men have adopted western clothes and habits, there was no good reason why the women shouldn't..... To which of course there was no answer.

All of which reminds me that Zane Grey, the novelist, says that men have been making women obey them for 500,000 years.....and that women are at last rebelling.

It almost begins to look that way, doesn't it? In far-away Mesopotamia the women are walking out of the harems, and down in Patagonia they are doing the warring and the law making while the men stay at home to care for the babies.

It makes one pause to wonder in what state of mind the explorer MacMillan, will find the polar Eskimo women, when he returns to that frozen country of theirs this summer.

HOME TOWN RECIPE.

One and one-half pounds of loaf sugar is boiled with sufficient water to make it into a syrup to which is added about one ounce of tartari acid and the beaten white of an egg, also any sort of flavoring desired. This may be put up in sealers and used when required. About one tablespoonful to a glass of water is a good quantity for general use to which may be added one-eighth of a teaspoonful of baking soda, if effervescence is desired.

SCHOOL ASSOCIATION.

Regular Meeting of May Home and School Association.

The regular monthly meeting of the May Home and School Association, held last evening in the schoolhouse, took the form of an open, social gathering. The president, Mrs. E. Cookman, was in the chair.

The meeting was featured by an interesting address delivered by Rev. J. W. Gordon, who spoke on the Home and Child Training. The musical programme, in charge of Miss C. Barnes, included the following numbers: Pianoforte solos by the Misses Eunice Barnes, Marjorie McCormack, Phyllis Simmons, Linda Thompson; pianoforte duetts by the Misses Edna Millard and Elda Howden, Nettie and Margaret Pearson; readings by Miss Frances Simmons and Albert Watkins.

At the conclusion of the program, refreshments were served.

BABIES' CLINC HEARD REPORTS

IMPROVEMENT SEEN.

The regular quarterly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Well Babies' Clinic was held recently in the board room of the Chamber of Commerce, the president, Mrs. W. Galbraith, in the chair.

Interesting reports on the work of the Clinic were presented by Dr. Jessie Birnie, and the nurse, Miss M. Foote.

Dr. Birnie reported that the attendance of physicians had been most satisfactory during the quarter. In January, Dr. A. W. McPherson gave a lecture, Dr. J. H. Eastwood spoke in February, and in March, Miss Margaret Stevenson gave a talk on, and practical demonstration of, the making and applying of poultices and compresses.

Statistics of total of births during the first four month of the year showed the following comparisons: January, 1924, 29, January, 1925, 38; February, 1924, 36, 1925, 33; March, 1924, 41, 1925, 42; April, 1924, 33, 1925, 42. Total for the first four months of 1924 139; for 1925, 155.

A marked difference in appearance of babies brought to the Clinic is apparent since its inception. Mothers bringing children in former years often were careless about their little infants. Now the majority of the babies are suitably dressed and clean.

In the follow-up work carried on by the Clinic nurse, many conditions are encountered. Some of the babies are starved by wrong feeding, some are given too strong food, and at least one was rapidly dying of mal-nutrition when brought to the Clinic. A recommended change of diet caused a speedy improvement in its condition. One baby had a peculiar elastic brace for its back, which enfeebled its limbs to a great extent, others were brought in suffering from running ears that might have led finally to mastoid trouble, or from rupture or non-contagious skin diseases.

A motion was passed that Miss Marjorie Best, who has been acting as assistant secretary for a number of years past, should be appointed a member of the Board of Directors, and a resolution of sympathy was passed to Mrs James Kendry, who is ill, and flowers were ordered sent to her, as a slight token of regard and appreciation from the Board.

Miss Foote asked for, and was granted, a fortnight's leave on holiday, and Mrs. Wm. Lech kindly volunteered to take her place in the meantime.

The following ladies were appointed as a committee to look after placing the Clinic tent at the Fair Grounds in the fall: Mesdames A. Stevenson, G. Helson, J. Mills, W. Lech and Miss M. Best.

The work is growing and is of varied experiences.

The calls made were 203, with an attendance of 404, an average weekly of 19. The greatest attendance at a weekly Clinic was 32, with 10 new for the day.

The follow-up work has been varied on preparation of foods, supervision of sore mouths, intestinal lavage and some charites.

These charities do not immediately concern our work, but one finds in the day's journey such conditions, and a little practical sympathy has been my duty and privilege this winter in connection with the work. I might mention that the work of the nurse is not merely a social call, but largely propagandic with a good deal of teaching, tact and sympathy necessary.

It is pleasing to find on my daily visits and at the Tuesday sessions, mothers filled with a zeal for the welfare of their little families, by the questions of all sorts one is frequently asked.

We have had some personal acknowledgment of the mistakes mothers have made having delayed in coming to the Clinic, and as a result, have had some very distressing illness, they admitting an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

It is somewhat regrettable that the public are not more in touch with the advantages of our Clinic, which is the foundation for all public health work.

The Tuesday afternoon sessions are open to the public to see the progress we are making in this department of health, which is a work worth while.

M. Foote, W.B.C. Nurse.

NESTLETON WON

PONTYPOOL, June 16. — The league baseball game between Ponty pool and Nestleton was played at Nestleton on Friday evening, the decision being in favor of the latter, 16 to 5. Nestleton scored eight runs in the first inning, partly due to lost balls in the unmowed grass. Jackson, the catcher, hurt his thumb and the last six innings the catcher was P. Philips. This is the third League game played by Pontypool this year, Nestleton being now at the head of the League. The next League game will be at Blackstock Saturday evening, June 20, between Pontypool and Blackstock. The lineup:

Nestleton: H. Gordon p, S. Malcolm 1b, J. Philip 2b, H. Philip ss, P. Philip 3b, W. Jackson c, J. Wilson cf, A. Suggett lf, H. Porteous rf.

GAME CALLED OFF

Opening of Peterboro Midget League Was Interrupted by Rain.

The first game of the Peterboro Midget League, which was scheduled to be played at Central School grounds last night, was postponed on account of the heavy rainstorm which commenced during the second inning. The Bearcats and Eagles were the contending teams and the score was 1-1 at the time of postponement.

LACROSSE PRACTICE

Players Asked to Turn Out Tomorrow as Opening Game is Next Week.

All lacrosse players are requested to turn out to practice at Riverside Park Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock. This will be an important practice, as the first League game will be played at Norwood on June 24. It is hoped that enough players will turn out to make two teams.

SPORT GOSSIP AND COMMENT.

Oshawa, all het up by their tenth-inning victory over the Kingston Ponies last Saturday, will be doughty opponents for the Petes at the Motor City tomorrow, particularly as a win for Manager Reeves' gang would put them on even terms with the Petes. Manager Johnston's team lost two games last week, but hope to get back their winning way tomorrow. Oshawa will be here on Saturday, their first appearance of the year at Riverside Park, and no matter what the result of the mid-week fixture the Saturday clash will be full of tobasco.

Tomorrow night at the Exhibition Grounds the Royals and Raybestos teams clash in an East Peterboro League game. These outfits have rounded up a lot of good material and they promise an entertaining battle when they go into action against each other tomorrow night. The game was scheduled for this evening, but the teams very sportingly postponed it to leave a clear field for the Duggan benefit game.

C.O.B . League President Hasn't Heard From Police —Protected Umpires.

NO ACTION YET

OSHAWA, June 16. (Special). — President C. M. Anderson, of the Central Ontario Baseball League, on being asked yesterday if he had received the umpire's reports on the games at Oshawa and Peterboro on Saturday, when the police of both places were conspicuous in the ten-innings battles, replied, "I have nothing to give out as yet, having received no official word from the umpires." He added, "Mostly newspaper talk, but if action is necessary it will be forthcoming." President Anderson was leaving last night for Bewdley, on Rice Lake, in search of big fish, and will not return until Wednesday.

BETHANY TEAMS ARE VICTORIOUS

Seniors Defeated Mount Pleasant and Juniors Won From Millbrook.

BIG SCORES

BETHANY, June 16.—The Bethany senior team journeyed to Mount Pleasant on Friday, where a baseball game was played between Bethany and Mount Pleasant. The final score was: Mount Pleasant 6, Bethany 18.

Great excitement has been aroused in the village over the junior baseball team under the capable management of P. C. Brown. On Saturday evening the Millbrook Midgets met the Bethany Tigers. A very exciting game was played, the score being: Bethany Tigers 21, Millbrook Midgets 12.

The Bethany Juniors are proud of their record of not having lost one game this year, although they have met several teams.

Athletics Overcome Eleven-Run Lead Compiled by Cleveland.

UMPIRE HURT

PHILADELPHIA, June 16 (Canadian Press)—Staging one of the greatest rallies in the history of baseball and certainly the greatest ever seen in this city, Philadelphia overcame an eleven run lead in the eighth inning yesterday and by scoring 13 runs defeated Cleveland 17 to 15. Simmons "home" run in this session wound up the attack and drove in two base runners.

Umpire Owens was so seriously injured in the second inning of the game that he was removed to a hospital and Umpire Dineen took his place behind the bat. Owens was run into by second baseman Spurgeon of Cleveland. The latter scored. Score:

Cleveland ...042 242 1 0 0—15 24 0
Philadelphia 011 001 1 13 x—17 19 2

Boston 13; Chicago 5

BOSTON, June 16 (Canadian Press)—Both Chicago and Boston hit freely yesterday but Boston was more timely, thereby defeating the White Sox 13 to 5, in the first game of the series Boston fielders gave Ruffing good support in crucial stages. Flagstead and Boone hit home runs, the former with two men on base in the second inning. Score:

Chicago.. .. ..002 010 011— 5 12 2
Boston.. .. ..043 120 03x—13 15 1

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER THORON
Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans

Fault No. 1 — Lifting head—is unquestionably the commonest mistake among golfers. Even the pros get into this habit now and then. Lifting the head invariably is a fault that results from a fault. That is head isn't lifted but is forced upward. The inexperienced golfer swings at the ball with such effort makes such a lunge of it, that the effort alone causes his head to lift upward, since something must yield. The player should understand that as the arms are brought downward with great effort the tendency of the head is not to be forced downward with this effort—instead it jerks upward. The head should also be watched to prevent it from moving sideways during the swing, which causes swaying.

LOW COST FOUR-WEEK TOUR

Through Western Canada to the Pacific Coast, Yellowstone Park, Salt Lake City and Rocky Mountain National Park.

A never-to-be-forgotten four-week tour of Western Canada and the Pacific Coast with a trip through the United States on the return journey has been planned for Canadian teachers and their friends this summer, leaving Toronto by Canadian National Railways on July 9th.

The trip is simply crammed with scenic and historic wonders. A visit to Wainwright Park, Alberta, where the largest herd of Buffalo in the world is located. Two days are spent at Jasper National Park, in the heart of the Canadian Rockies, where the beauty of the mountain scenery is indescribable. From Jasper Park westward the party passes snow-capped Mount Robson, the highest peak in the Canadian Rockies, and stops at the Indian village of Kitwanga, with its wonderful historic totem poles. Then westward again, following the mystic Skeena River to Prince Rupert, the North Pacific terminal of the Canadian National Railways.

At Prince Rupert a palatial steamer is boarded for the 750 mile trip through the Sheltered Scenic Seas of the North Pacific to Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle. This is recognized as one of the finest sea trips in the world.

On the journey homeward a 72 mile motor drive will be taken from Portland, Oregon, over the famous scenic Columbia River Highway, and five days will be taken for a motor tour of Yellowstone National Park. Then follows a visit to Salt Lake City, Utah, with a three-day motor tour of Rocky Mountain National Park to Colorado. Enroute to Denver short stops will be made at Clear Creek Canyon, Idaho Springs, and Lookout Mountain—where Buffalo Bill is buried. Chicago is reached on August 6th, and Toronto, August 7th.

In spite of the magnitude of the tour, the fare is remarkably reasonable, and as the leaving date is July 9th, arrangements should be made at once. Reservations and illustrated booklets with full information regarding the trip can be secured from A. E. Bryson, 44 Silverthorn ave., Toronto, Martin Kerr, 4 Beulah Ave., Hamilton, or any Canadian National Railways Agent.

Thistle	3	2	1	0	10	5	6
Quakers	5	1	4	0	6	20	2

Two points for a win and one for a draw.

International Board made Shift.

The International Soccer Football Board at a meeting altered rule six, making it two players only who must be between the possessor of the ball and the goal posts instead of three for an offside.

Another alteration compels a player throwing in henceforth to stand with both feet on the ground outside the line facing the field of play.

The law referring to the corner kick was changed to make it impossible for a player taking a kick to touch the ball twice This does not take effect until next season in Canada.

A lively discussion took place over nonfulfillment of the league fixture last Friday evening between DeLaval versus Dummer, junior game. After a vote, an amendment "That DeLaval versus Dummer game be arranged at some future date and replayed was carried on 5 to 3 vote.

'Twas one year ago that the C. G. E. soccer team from the local plant went down to Cobourg to defeat the fast travelling eleven from the Toronto C.G.E. plant, for the White trophy, donated for competition by Mr. White of the C. G. E. executive so that they would be able to participate in the field sports held at Cobourg when the Toronto plant hold their excursion to that town next Saturday afternoon. The teams must be chosen from the respective business establishments so as to be able to play in this annual event. Last year's full backs—Crowe and Wasson—will be missing, so will also be the elusive left-winger, Alex. Burgess. At any rate the City C.G.E. executive are doing their utmost to put a reliable eleven on the field for the occasion. Best of luck, boys!

Soccer loses a very valuable member this week when A. Wilson, Woollens (late of Quaker Oats) returns to his native heath after a prolonged sojourn on this side of the Atlantic. Bon voyage!

The C. G. E. team against C.G.E. Toronto team at Cobourg, is as follows: Griffine, goal; F. Wade and J. Chambers, backs; Dawson, J. Wade and H. Mann, half backs; A. Mitchell, W. James, H. Richmond, T. Hutton and A. Williams, forwards. Reserves: Laidlaw and Westlake.

Quaker Oats and Masseys were not granted permission to play on Saturday because it would be unfair to the visiting teams in the Gordon Cup game, at Nicholls. Soccer fans note please.

Goal scorers in the Junior series are:

	Goals.
Abramson, DeLaval	6
James, C. P. C.	4
Evans, DeLaval	3
Downer, C.P.C	2
Sher Payne, Dummer	2
Fowler, DeLaval	1
Munroe, Warsaw	1
Foster, C. P. C.	2
Curtis, C. P. C.	1
Long, DeLaval	1
Hodgson, Masseys	1
McGraw, Masseys	1
R. Payne, Dummer	1
Thompson, Dummer	1
W. Bell, Warsaw	1
R. Darling, Warsaw	1
Bennet, DeLaval	1

Walker, Quaker Oats and Roberts, Canadian Woollens, were granted permission to revert back to Junior ranks as Massey players by the Senior executive board.

Taylor Cup.

O'Halloran, Masseys	1
Niel Payne, Warsaw	1
Ruf. Payne, Warsaw	1

The C.P.C. Junior team are requesting that the party who has the uniform they found on King Edward Park, please return to the manager.

C.P.C. will play the Masseys on Thursday evening at the King Edward Park, at 6.15 o'clock. Referee: Wm. Richard. Last year's champions need the points in this league game.

All entries and fees for the Peck Cup must be in by next Monday evening so a draw will take place.

Mr. James Ogden will be representative of the Quaker Oats in future, in place of Mr. David Ross who was manager of the Quakers this season. Last year David played many good games on the defence for the Thistles when they won the league championship and two cup.. He has left for Scotland.

The Masseys' team versus C.P.C. will be chosen from the following: MacDonald goal; Wag Hotson and Lindsay, backs; H. Walker, Dossett, G. Brown, R. Walker, A. Roberts, Hodgson, O'Halloran, Underwood, Westlake, Bromwell, Driver and Smith, Masseys versus C. P. C. Thursday evening at King Edward Park.

All Thistle players will practice to-night and Thursday evening at King Edward Park. Memb please note. Turn out, practice essential.

CARS CRASH ON OMEMEE STREET

Both Smashed, But No One Hurt—Missionary Meeting Held.

SOCIAL EVENING

OMEMEE, June 16.— On Thursday night the car owned and driven by Bill Morton and Penny McConnell crashed into each other in front of Dr. G. N. Earle's residence. Mr. McConnell was proceeding north on Sturgeon street, while Mr. Morton was turning the corner to enter Sturgeon street, and as neither driver blew the horn an unavoidable crash resulted. Both cars were badly damaged, but luckily the drivers escaped unhurt.

Missionary Meeting

On Thursday afternoon, the last Missionary meeting under the Methodist head was held in the Sunday School room of the United Church. There were about thirty ladies present, including several Unionists, who were warmly welcomed by the members of the Society.

The president, Mrs. E. W. Rowland, extended a welcome to the visiting ladies. The secretary's report was given by Mrs. E. Bradburn, followed by the treasurer's report by Mrs. T. C. Ivory, and a number of ladies paid their fees. On motion the delegates expenses to Oshawa were ordered to be paid.

The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. J. Widdis followed by prayer by Rev. E. W. Rowland.

Miss Lila Parsons contributed the devotional leaflet on "Unanswered Prayer", followed by a vocal solo by Miss Rita Kennedy entitled, "He Lifted Me."

The report of the branch meeting at Oshawa was then given by Mrs. Rowland, in such a manner that each lady felt she had not missed one session of the lengthy programme. Mrs. Rowland did not touch on some of the excellent papers given, as the time was limited, but at a future date purposes to give them in full at the regular meeting A hearty vote of thanks was unanimously tendered Mrs. Rowland for the excellent report, and the meeting was brought to a close after which a social half hour was enjoyed, Mrs P. Race and Mrs. W. J. Kennedy being the hostesses.

It was decided that, by invitation, the July meeting will be held at the home of [illegible], in the form of a picnic.

SULLIVAN TELLS OF TROUBLE HERE

OSHAWA, Ont., June 16. (Special) —This morning's mail brought the following report from Umpire Geo. Sullivan of Kingston on the Peterboro-Belleville game of Saturday afternoon last in Peterboro, and the same was communicated by long distance telephone to President C. M. Anderson, who is out of the city on a fishing trip to Rice Lake. The report is as follows:

Kingston, Ont., June 15, 1925.
To C. M. Anderson, Esq.,
President C.O.A.B.L.,
Oshawa, Ont.

Dear Sir: I beg to submit the following special report on the Peterboro-Belleville ball game on the 13th instant, at Peterboro:

"Pitcher Whitehouse of Peterboro used indecent and abusive language towards me after a decision I rendered at third base, and was put out of the game. Holyman grew insolent over the same decision. Wolfe, the player put out a third was suspended from the game for crabbing. The action of the above players was responsible for a number of spectators running on the field after the game and surrounding me. Had it not been for the police there might have been serious trouble. Could you withhold any judgment in the matter until I can interview you personally. I work in Oshawa Wednesday. Yours truly, George Sullivan, Umpire."

"P.S.—The language used by Pitcher Whitehouse was in a low tone, and not audible to the spectators."

POWER EXPORT.

Premier Says Government Will Allow Only Yearly Licenses.

OTTAWA, June 16. (Canadian Press).—Premier King definitely declared in the House last night that the Government intended to allow the export of Hydro-Electric power only on a yearly basis. "We shall grant licenses only for one year at time," said the Prime Minister, "and where electric energy is being exported under license for that period of time, all parties must understand that one of the purposes in making the reservation of limited time is that this country may at any moment, without giving cause for any right of action, or ill-feeling on the part of another country to which the energy is being exported, have the right to make use of its own electric energy as required."

GOLF

The following is the draw for the second round of the Stratton trophy, which must be played on or before June 22nd, medal play. In the event of a tie a second 18 hole must be played. Stymies not to be played.

GROVE SCHOOL WON CRICKET

Peterboro Club Suffered Defeat By 69 to 34 Runs.

SOME FEATURES.

The Peterboro Cricket Club entertained the Grove School team of Lakefield on Saturday afternoon, and while the local club suffered a severe defeat, everybody voted the affair a success.

The locals won the toss and elected to bat first, but with only one run on the board, Stuart was given out leg before wicket. The decision was very close and seemed to have an effect on the whole side. Every batsman appeared to be at home with the bowling, but a foolish stroke was his undoing, and the whole side was retired for 34 runs. The Lakefield team opened with Barnard and Loosemore, and the Peterboro score was passed with only five wickets down. Loosemore supplied the treat of the afternoon, carrying his bat through the entire innings for a well played 28, and although giving a couple of difficult chances, batted with conndence for nearly two hours.

The fielding feature was earned by Benton, who pulled off a shoe-string catch to retire Barnard.

During the game tea was served to the visitors, and the affair was helped along by the assistance of Mr. J. A. McKone, who loaned his tent, and Coleman Bros., who supplied the tableware. Score:

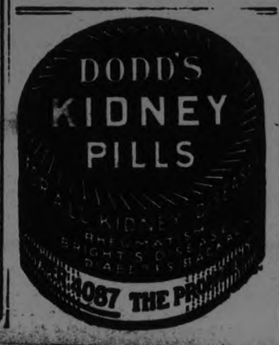
PARIS, June 16 (Canadian Press) —The Italian reply to the French note answering Germany's Western European security pact proposal was received today. Italy expressed sympathy with the general principles of proposed accord.



FINANCIAL NEWS.

Mining Trading Brisk; Tough Oakes Featured

TORONTO, June 16. — Canadian Press. — Trading on the Standard Mining Exchange was brisk to-day with transactions amounting to 111,019 shares. Tough Oakes featured with 19,100 shares selling a half higher at 35. Hattie preferred receded one point at 7 while common was steady at 1¼. Argonaut with an advance of 3-4 closed at 28 3-4; Cons. W. D. Lake was strong at 13 3-4, while McKinley Darragh advanced 1¼ points to 28. Mining Corporation opened steady and declined 5 points, closing at 278.

Winnipeg's Sharp Drop Partly Regained Later

WINNIPEG, June 16 (Canadian Press).—A sharp decline featured the first half hour of trading on the local wheat market this morning when July delivery recorded an overnight loss of 5 1-2 cents at $1.60 3-4. Shortly after the opening which was 1-4 to 1 3-4 cents down, heavy selling orders were in evidence, and the market lost ground quickly. October held relatively firm. Following the break, July started on the upward trend and at 10 o'clock had regained half of its early loss.

Chicago's Wheat Lower On Good Crop Reports

CHICAGO, June 16 (Canadian Press). — With European crop prospects reported as exceptionally good and the Canadian crop outlook fine, wheat prices here averaged lower today in early dealings. An overnight accumulation of selling orders led to weakness at the opening, and although on the declines the demand from commission houses broadened out and the market readily advanced, the gains failed to hold and fresh downturns ensued. Opening quotations, which ranged from 1 3-4 cents decline to 1-8 cent advance, July 151 1-2 to 152 1-2, and Sept 150 to 151, were followed by an advance to 154 1-4 for July and 152 1-8 for September, but then by a fall to about initial bottom figures.

Indications of more rain weakened the corn market. After opening at 1 1-2 cents lower to 1-8 cent up, September 109 1-4 to 109 3-4, the market scored fractional gains and then undewent a material downturn all around.

Oats were relatively firm. Starting unchanged to 3-4 cent off, Sept. 49 3-4 to 50 cents, the market later averaged a little higher than yesterday's finish.

Provisions were easy, influenced by weakness of corn.

Toronto Stocks Quieter While Prices Go Lower

TORONTO, June 16 (Canadian Press) — Toronto stock exchange was quieter this morning. Though the light trading was well scattered, prices showed a tendency to lower levels. British Empire Steel second preferred, Smelters and Barcelona were leaders. Smelters dropped during the session to 83 but recovered to 84¼, while Barcelona weakened a point at 22. Steel was firm at 8¼ A feature as Mackay common's advance of 1½ at 125½. Atlantic sugar eased off an eighth at 27. Banks were comparatively active but while Commerce advanced ½ to 203 Imperial weakened a point at 184½.

Higher Car Loadings Revive Rails' Activity

NEW YORK, June 16 (Canadian Press). — Moderate improvement continued throughout the forenoon trading in Wall Street. A rise in many stocks was predicated upon indications of reviving business colored by reports of current large earnings. Announcement that carloadings for the first week in June on almost a million cars were the largest so far this year stimulated the buying movement in rail shares, which centred principally in Chicago and North-Western, Great Northern and other granger stocks.

Speculative activities were transferred from oil issues to other groups but Barnsdall A showed independent strength, rising almost 3 points before noon. Sugar shares continued to respond to administration's decision not to alter the present sugar tariff. American Can, and U. S. Steel were the strongest of the pivotal industrials, while Havana Electric, extending its gain to 6 points, maintained its leadership of the public utilities. Call money renewed at 3 3-4 per cent.

Echoes From Toronto

(Contributed.)

Official Assembly report: Out of 3,751 worshipping units in the Presbyterian Church in Canada, less than 700 are non-concurrent; out of 1,128 self-sustaining congregations, only 325 are to date reported non-concurring. Of the total membership of the Church, less than 29 per cent. have disapproved of entrance into the United Church. Eighty per cent. of the Church's ministry and 95 per cent. of her foreign missionaries have agreed to serve in the United Church.

Rev. Dr. Ritchie: "Our fathers made history, but not that we should make an idolatry of it. This Church is rooted in history, but it is here also to make history. We venture forth with Christ, hazarding all on truth, as our fathers did, glorying in His Cross, which has in it the scene of all that is grandest in all history. The Holy Spirit was not stricken dumb at Nicaea, nor at Chalcedon, nor at Westminster. A static and dumb God would be no God at all."

Rev. Principal Mackinnon, D.D.: "To-day we stand on the threshold of a new epoch in our Canadian history. Hitherto our religious institutions have been largely borrowed from other lands. They reflect the peculiarities of these countries and bear the marks of their internal struggles. To-day the spirit of our Dominion has framed for itself a new ecclesiastical home, through which its young, energetic life will find more ready expression, retaining all that is most glorious in our common Christian heritage, but free, we trust, from those formalties and fetters that are the property of a bygone age."

Rev. Dr. Endicott: "A man needs a peculiar type of mind if he would say, 'God perpetuate existing divisions.' If it was right for John Knox to reorganize afresh the religious forces of Scotland for the sake of Scotland, it can't be wrong for us to reorganize the religious forces of our day for the sake of Canada. Rash, incapable leadership is an old charge. It was made against Moses, Caleb and Joshua, Gideon, Paul and Jesus."

Rev. William Eveleigh, D.D., of Cape Town, South Africa: "The crimson of the sunset clasps hands with the rose of the dawn of a new day. All hail, Canada leads the world in this great Christian enterprise. Lead on, lead on, and God give us grace to follow."

Rev. Dr. W. M. MacGregor, ex-Moderator of the United Free Church of Scotland: "This is the continuing Presbyterian church, just as it is the continuing and living and growing Methodist church. A church does not lose its identity, does not come to an end, by entering into fellowship with other churches. Its identity, its individuality lives on to just the degree that that identity and that individuality are worth preserving."

"I congratulate you upon the doctrinal statement in your basis of union. You have asserted the church's inalienable right to declare in each generation the living faith of the church of thta generation. To say that a church for all time must be bound to the same doctrinal form of centuries back is to deny the efficacy of the teaching of the Holy Spirit in Christian experience. Since the Westminster confession was framed, we have learned through many tasks what the bringing of the message of Christ to the world actually means. Shame upon us if we have not learned something beyond what our fathers knew." "This union has particularly appealed to me, because you have attained so many ideals of our own union." "No creed ever kept a church orthodox; it may easily lead a church to be hypocritical."

Rev. Dr. Ward, recently of London, England: "June 10th, 1925, is the greatest day in church history since Luther nailed his thesis on the church doors at Wittenberg. The influences of this hour will extend not only through the world, but also through the centuries."

Rev. Dr. Main, Church of Scotland: "Younger by far than the Church of Scotland, you have forged ahead of us. I pay unstinted tribute to your courage. Yours ought to be, I think, the most wonderful church in all Christendom."

Rev. Dr. Morrison, Chicago, Editor of the Christian Century: "This union is even more prophetic than historic. You are setting an example for all Christendom to watch, and God grant, to follow. I am convinced that you, in this United Church of Canada, are dealing with the destiny of Christendom."

Rev. Dr. Carter, Chairman National Council United States: "Nicaea was academic compared with this Toronto meeting on June 10th. When I go back home and hear the name of Canada again it will resound with a new thrill, for Canada has people with hearts set high on the task of bringing in the kingdom of God."

TO PAY PENALTY.

Messu and Dufault Refused Executive Clemency— To Hang on Friday.

OTTAWA, June 16. (Canadian Press).—Henry Messir and Hermengilde Dufault will pay the death penalty for the murder of Emile Pelletier of Sorel, Que., last November. The execution of the two condemned men will take place next Friday. The Cabinet, after reviewing the case, decided the law will be allowed to take its course. Pelletier, a butcher, was fatally beaten and robbed by the condemned men.

SENTENCE COMMUTED.

Jack Pirie, Convicted of Slaying Wife and Children.

OTTAWA, June 16. Canadian Press. — The sentence of death imposed on Jack Buchanan Pirie, of Ottawa, convicted of the murder of his wife and two children, was commuted this morning to life imprisonment by Governor-General-in-Council. Pirie was to have been hanged on Friday next.

FARMER KILLED.

George Smith Thrown Under Wheel When Team Bolted.

KERROBERT, Sask., June 16. — Canadian Press. — George Smith, 52, farmer, of Major, Sask., was killed yesterday when the team which he was driving got out of control, and he was thrown under a wheel.

THEATRES

"SACKCLOTH AND SCARLET."

Those patrons of the Capitol Theatre who enjoyed the fine music of the London Three last week will be glad to hear that they have stayed over for another three days, and may be heard at matinees and evening performances until Wednesday night. They are exceptionally fine musicians, each excelling in the art to which they are devoted, and the renewed and insistent applause which greets their offerings and the manner in which their audience recalls them again and again, are strong testimonials of their excellence. They have an entirely new program for this week. Richard Alexander's magnificent baritone is heard in that favorite of so many people, "The Floral Dance," in the lovely "Song of Love" from "Blossom Time," and in trio, with violin and piano accompaniment, in "I'm in Love With You;" Dorothy Alwynne, whose violin playing is extraordinary in its finish and the quality of its powerful singing tone, plays several enchanting selections to hearty applause, and Joan Duff, the pianist, demonstrates her skill with a bit of difficult music, full of fascinating trills and runs.

"Sackcloth and Scarlet" is the intriguing title of the feature picture, filmed from a novel by George Gibbs, and based on the love story of two sisters. Alice Terry, as appealing as ever in her delicate blond wig, with her statuesque beauty a contrast to the petulant fire of her sister, plays the leading role. It is a drama of human hearts and human sacrifice. Although self-abnegation like Joan Freeman's would be vastly irritating in real life, it makes a dramatic and interesting screen story. The whole plot centers about the sacrifice of one sister for another, first of her good name, then of her lover. That the story ends happily is very fortunate. But then they always do. The audience wouldn't like it if they didn't.

Filmed first in the natural beauty of the Sierras, the scene passes later to France, then to Washington. There is a luxurious background for the tale. Even the desert rancher finally becomes a Congressman and the wayward girl appears at the conclusion in fine apparel. Alice Terry dominates the picture at all times with her dignified, stately beauty and strong will.

The comedy is a clever collection of laughs, with a toy Pomeranian and a big lion as two of the principal characters.—Jeannette.

GIRL MUST CHOOSE NOBLE OR CAVEMAN

Heroine of "Proud Flesh" Wooed By Opposites in Men.

A girl's heart swaying between the choice of a man of culture and refinement and a caveman of the proletariat is the theme of "Proud Flesh," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, which is now playing at the Regent Theatre.

The picture was directed by King Vidor, whose last film was "Wife of the Centaur." Eleanor Boardman plays a somewhat different role as Fernanda, a sophisticated girl who is eventually carried away by the caveman tactics of Patrick O'Malley.

The character O'Malley is depicted by Pat O'Malley, and in this role he awakens in Fernanda desires which overcome the environment in which she has been reared.

Spanish to Irish.

She turns from Don Jaime, a suave Spaniard, played by Harrison Ford, to O'Malley. Don Jaime, although a man of her world, is unable to compete with O'Malley, whose mannerisms are indicative of the class he represents, when Fernanda's heart prompts her choice.

"BEDROOM WINDOW" GOOD ENTERTAINMENT AT ROYAL

Title—"The Bedroom Window."
Producer—William deMille.
Author-Scenarist—Clara Beranger.
Cameraman—L. Guy Wilky.

Featured—May McAvoy, Malcolm MacGregor, Ricardo Cortez, Robert Edeson, George Fawcett, Ethel Wales.

De Mille has done the unusual in "The Bedroom Window" in keeping audiences in the dark about the solution of the problem, involving two persons—the sister of the murdered man and the family lawyer. As the lawyer and novelist each succeed or fail in following the clues they pick up, the audience gradually begins to solve the mystery itself—that's what makes the picture so chuck full of entertainment.

"BALTOS RACE TO NOME" SHEER DRAMA OF MOST THRILLING KIND

That occasional glimpse of real life heroism that serves to bring a realization of the weakness of all make-believe heroics and to dwarf the imagination of the most talented fiction writer or dramatist is again before us with a vengeance.

Make-believe heroes, strutting in a make-believe atmosphere, braving make-believe dangers sometimes furnish drama and thrilling moments on the stage or screen, but no actor ever injected into his work the sheer drama and thrills that the producers have caught in "Baltos Race to Nome," the Education Pictures Special which is showing at the Royal Theatre.

There is nothing artificial or make believe about Kasson the driver, or Balto, the Siberian sledge dog, the two heroes of the great struggle with the elements to save Nome, Alaska, from the grip of a diphtheria epidemic. Man and dogs are fresh from the frozen North, and their heroic performance is still fresh in the minds of the nation. The picturization of their struggle, filmed on Mount Ranier, contains the highlights of the actual life and death race which thrilled a nation. Balto and Kasson are real heroes and the picture is a re-enactment of their heroic feat.

Every move of Gunnar Kasson and his dog Balto, unschooled as they are in the ways of the camera worker, is sheer drama—because it is true.

Two weeks ago James Sampson, Norwood, was fined $215 for a breach of the Ontario Temperance Act. Arising out of the same offence, he was yesterday brought up by the Inland Revenue officers on a charge of illicit distilling and another fine of $226.10 was imposed, with the option of six months' imprisonment. At first he decided to go to prison rather than pay, but eventually he made up his mind that his liberty for half a year was worth $226.10.

The illicit goods were discovered on May 16 by License Inspector Joseph Stewart. The still was not discovered, but samples of contents of one of several barrels were sent to Ottawa, following which a prosecution was ordered.

Mr. Stewart was at Norwood yesterday, having been subpoenaed by the Inland Revenue Officer.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

At the meeting of the Board of Health at 10 o'clock to-day the City Clerk announced the receipt of a grant of $500 from the Provincial Board of Health towards social work and combating of venereal disease.

On May 1 there were 4 cases of scarlet fever and 1 of measles. During the month of May 5 additional cases of scarlet fever were admitted. The returns for the month showed 6 city cases of scarlet fever and one case of measles. Out of city cases were 3 of scarlet fever. Five patients were discharged during the month and 5 patients remained in the hospital on June 1.

It was resolved to have a list drawn up of property owners in the city who have ignored the Board's recommendations as to installation of sanitary conveniences.

Around The City.

Fifteen settings of pheasants' eggs, 675 in all, have been distributed among the farmers in the neighborhood of Peterboro.

Only two shipments of bass and pickerel fry has as yet reached this district. One of these has been sent to Chemong Lake, and the other to Buckhorn Lake. Other shipments are expected to arrive in the near future.

JEKYLL AND HYDE IN FRENCH DOCTOR

Marseilles Police Accuse Bougrat of Murdering Friend —Other Crimes.

PARIS, June 16. — (Canadian Press). — Marseilles police believe they have caught in Dr. Bougrat, who is accused of murdering his friend, a bank messenger, Rumebe, one of the greatest criminals of modern time. They say Bougrat led a mysterious double life, and possessed a double personality.

Normally a polished, cultured gentleman, a respected member of social circles in which he moved and a knight of the Legion of Honor, he would suddenly become a degraded, unscrupulous ruffian, delighting in the company of the worst male and female characters, with whom he drank in low cabarets in the slums of the city.

The most sinister side of his personality, however, if police suspicions are confirmed, was his passion for scientific murder. A number of unexplained deaths may be laid at his door when investigations are completed.

BEAT THIS MEMORY.

BERLIN, June 16. — Germans believe that a member of the staff of the Prussian State Library has the finest memory in the world.

He has specialized in weather reports and from memory he can describe the weather of any day from 1881 up to the present time. His wonderful memory recently was tested by the Berlin Meteorological Society and he came through with flying colors.

Colonel Charratic of England once memorized the entire issue of a newspaper on a wager; a stoker memorized Haydn's "Dictionary of Dates" and Lord Randolph Churchill, also of England, was able to repeat a page of print after a single reading.

DARING.

It takes a daring man for this job. In the towering cliffs of Flamborough Head on the Yorkshire coast of England are the homes of countless sea birds whose eggs are much sought after. During the nesting season intrepid climbers descend the face of the cliff by means of ropes held by colleagues above. Clinging with hand and foot and sometimes swinging hundreds of feet above the water, they make their way over the various ledges collecting eggs which they place in bags attached to their belts. Picture shows Sam Long, one of the most expert of the climbers.

CARE FOR TEETH OF IMMIGRANTS

Dental Hygiene Council of Canada Decides on New Service.

ASK FOR GRANT.

TORONTO, June 16.—Dental service for newly arrived immigrants to Canada was decided upon yesterday at the annual meeting of the Canadian Dental Hygiene Council, held in the King Edward Hotel. It was announced that the Council had made a request for a grant of $10,000 from the Dominion Government to aid in carrying on its work on behalf of the public. This application is now receiving the attention of the Cabinet.

Dr. W. C. Trotter, chairman of the Executive, reported upon the work of the past year, and outlined plans for the future. In connection with the suggested dental service for immigrants, it was stated that many of the newly arrived come from countries where dental standards are not as high as in Canada, and, on reaching this country, they will be presented with literature on the care of the teeth, and dental service may also be provided for immigrant children.

Dr. Harry Thomson, field secretary, told of his trip across Canada. Many meetings were held, he said, and much educational work done. Dr. G. G. Nasmith was added to the executive representing the Red Cross.

Hon. S. C. Mewburn, K.C., M.P., Hamilton, was elected President; E. E. Reid, London Ont., Vice-President and Dr. E. A. Grant, Toronto, Secretary-Treasurer.

FAIRMOUNT W.M.S. HEARD SPEAKERS

Mrs. Moore, District Organizer, and Miss Nugent, Missionary, Addressed Ladies.

MILLBROOK, June 16—An interesting meeting of the Women's Missionary Auxiliary in connection with Fairmount Methodist Church (12th Line, Cavan), which now automatically becomes part of the United Church of Canada, was held in the Sunday School room on Friday afternoon, the President, Mrs. Richard Howden, being in the chair.

There was a most encouraging attendance, the occasion being a special one, Mrs. J. K. Moore, district organizer, and Miss Nugent, a missionary for thirty-five years in India, being present and delivering inspiring addresses.

Mrs. Hanbidge read the Scripture lesson, and Miss Marie McBain presided at the piano. The solo, "Abide with Me," contributed by Miss McBain during the programme, was listened to with much pleasure by the audience.

Mrs. Moore gave an encouraging report of W.M.S. work, not only in the Peterborough district, but throughout the Bay of Quinte Branch as well, emphasizing the fact that a deepened spirituality among the entire membership had been marked, fulfilling the hope of the leaders that union would be ushered in with decided evidences of a quickened spiritual life. The three words of the W.M.S. motto, "Pray, Study, Give," were never before given such attention, with increased emphasis on the element of supreme importance, prayer.

In the Peterborough district this year an increase of $517.00 was noted, the total amount raised being $4,552.00.

The making of Christian, Canadian citizens out of the Ukranian children was vividly pictured, Mrs. Lavelle, Dominion President of the W.M.S., having visited the Kolokreeka school during Miss Hawken's term as teacher, when a picnic was held on "Empire Day," and by precept and example the young foreigners were given a lesson in loyalty.

Four auxiliaries in this district—Trinity church and Mark street, Peterborough, Millbrook and Bensfort — have now adopted the group system, with a decided increase in membership and finances as a result. George street tried the "Tree system" last year and found it most helpful. Some auxiliaries and circles try the "travelling basket," a nicely-trimmed, and well-furnished basket, with a mitebox, note book, and pencil, among its contents. This goes from home to home and members purchase some article from its contents, put price of same in mite-box, and enter amount in note book.

Ninety-nine sisters, Mrs. Moore said, have passed away during the year just closed, the "In Memoriam" service at the annual convention being most impressive.

Miss Nugent, who arrived in Canada in January, made an address of an informal character, her physician having forbidden any public speaking until fall. She expects to return to India by February 1 of next year. A decided sympathy with union was expressed by the speaker who has experienced its benefits in West India where her labors have been for the past fourteen years.

Satharam, one hundred and fifty miles by motor road from Bombay, was the last charge where Miss Nugent served. Through her indefatigable efforts a hostel for girls, costing six thousand dollars, was built at this point, and another for boys has been added. Ninety pupils, fifty-six boys and thirty-four girls, are in one boarding-school, and many interesting, personal experiences in connection with her teaching, and manifold other duties, were related by the speaker.

"The more we enlarge our schools, the more the number of pupils seems to enlarge also," Miss Nugent remarked whimsically, as she told of difficulties of accommodation.

KIDDING THE NATIVE SONS.

California and her climate got well kidded when the Shriners convened in Los Angeles. There came a drenching rain one day, and the visiting nobles, attired in bathing suits and fezzes, paraded the main streets singing, "Where's Your Sunshine, California?"

Girls cannot play in native costume —it is too scanty—so play dresses school dresses, and Sunday frocks, are among the many items of which the speaker has the oversight, purchasing the material, cutting out the garments and instructing the native tailor in the mysteries of their making.

A native practice of oiling the hair to excess is punished by refusing such pupils a hair ribbon (sent out in bales received from the home land) and the privilege of wearing the Sunday dress to service.

The mission schools refuse to recognize caste, and this action is doing much to level the barriers imposed by this cruel system upon the people. Christians are regarded as "the same caste as the King," therefore are received everywhere without distinctions of birth.

The political unrest in India, and the influence of Ghandi, is felt in more or less marked degree, in the part of India where Miss Nugent had been, and much more so in Central India where her brother is a medical missionary, but as yet no serious uprising of the people has occurred.

The opportunity of gaining further information from Miss Nugent during the social hour when lunch was served, was taken full advantage of before the gathering finally dispersed.

RURAL CREDITS.

Hon. J. A. Robb Has Bill to Provide For Advances.

OTTAWA, June 16 (Canadian Press).—Hon. J. A. Robb, acting minister of finance, is bringing down a bill to provide for an advance of not more than $10,000,000 to the provinces for rural credits.

The bill will provide: That the Governor in Council may authorize advances to any or more of the provincial governments for the purpose of assisting agriculture by enabling the provinces to make long term loans to farmers; that such advances shall be secured by the issue and delivery to the Dominion of bonds of the provinces; that the aggregate advances to be made by the Dominion shall not exceed $10,000,000.

COKE PRODUCTION.

Government Aid To Be Granted Under New Legislation.

OTTAWA, June 16 (Canadian Press).—Government aid in the construction of works for the production of coke in Canada will be granted under legislation which will be introduced in the House of Commons by Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of Mines. The amount payable in respect of works conducted under the proposed legislation, it is provided, "shall be an annual sum not exceeding three per cent. of the cost of the work each year during a period not exceeding fifteen years from the time the Government has determined that the work has been completed." The cost on which the amount payable will be calculated shall be fixed by the Government on advice of an engineer appointed by the minister of mines.

phone to verify her story were denied until a few minutes before she was released, Mrs. Mott said.

"I showed them the telegrams and asked them to communicate with the hospital several times, but it was not until I had been held for several hours that they did so," she said.

After her arrival here Mrs. Mott was locked up in an iron cage in the outer office of the immigration station for more than an hour, and then taken to an office on the second floor, where she underwent an hour's questioning, she charged.

Inspector Webb, who finally questioned Mrs. Mott, telephoned the hospital to verify her story and then called a cab for her.

Dr. P. L. Prentiss, head of the immigration service in this district, would make no comment on the incident.

Mott, who was 42 years old, suddenly became ill last Thursday while standing in the Dime Bank building, and died Saturday at 5 p.m. of an acute attack of peritonitis.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

A CRYING SHAME

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Sir,—When it is considered that in hot weather dabbling in the water at Inverlea and Lake St. as at Toronto and every other place of sense in the world saves many a child and grown person from heat-fever and its terribly distressing accompaniments and often death; while the poor mothers can see their little one relieved of extreme distress I say it is a dirty shame the way the bathing question is being handled. Let poor, worn-out people and distressed kiddies have one hour of comfort even if they have no cars. It is a necessity to bathe in hot weather on Sunday and everybody not a selfish, self-important person knows it.

O.W.V.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir: Now that the new United Church is meeting for organization, and the old church as well, the differences between them are apparent.

1. The final decision about everything of both a general and a local nature, is in the hands of the Supreme Council of the new church, which has thus established a monarchy or supreme governing body in control of all congregations.

2. The old church leaves the final authority in matters concerning congregations with congregations as before.

3. As outlined by Rev. Dr. Chown in receiving candidates into the ministry recently the "substance" of the old faith will be carried forward into the new Church, but the forms and words will be changed. This makes what was definite before now a matter of choice or opinion. There will be no statement of creed.

4. The old church retains not only the old faith in "substance" but in the forms and words which the Bible gives it. There is no room for modernism or doubtful opinions in the old way but plenty in the new.

These are the chief differences between the new and the old churches, except of course the change in name and they are very important. The new way may allow a greater latitude of opinion but it cannot be said to specify any particular belief in anything definite. It is a sign not of intensified faith but of a growing vagueness. The new church nowhere specifies the Bible as the Word of God. The old church still retains that idea.

There may be all sorts of nice things said to the new church on its voyage or "great adventure," but it has cut itself entirely off as a matter of fact from all the old denominations. There must be a conflict between them on the great doctrinal verities before long. One or the other must give way—which will it be?

That there is a growing tendency to blend church and state is becoming plainer every day. Shall the church absorb the State?

VOL. LVI., No. 141 PETERBOROUGH, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 17, 1925 PRICE THREE CENTS

MAN DEMANDING RECOMPENSE FOR ALIENATION FROM WIFE IS FACED BY PRIOR SPOUSE

Dramatic Scene in Toronto Court at Unexpected Denouement.

JUDGE INDIGNANT.

TORONTO, June 17. — Canadian Press. — A dramatic scene was enacted in the Supreme Court of Ontario at the City Hall yesterday afternoon, before Mr. Justice Wright, when a man suing another for alienation of his wife's affections, saw a woman whom he had previously married and had not seen since 1916, appear in the court room.

The plaintiff was Herbert Ernest Keast, a farmer of Minesing Village, Simcoe County, and he had brought action for $40,000 damages against Peter Shaver, of Toronto.

On entering the witness box Keast under examination by his counsel, said that he had been married on May 29, 1924, and all had gone along happily until July 13th last, when the defendant had paid them a visit. Subsequently his wife left home, and was not located until January.

When plaintiff was put under cross examination he admitted he had previously been married in 1911 "You swore at a later date you were a widower?" he was asked and replied in the affirmative.

"Is that lady sitting there your first wife?"

Plaintiff looked in the direction indicated and after a momentary start of astonishment acknowledged that the lady actually was his first wife.

"Did you ever beat your first wife?" was the next question hurled at the witness, who denied the allegation, but admitted she had been taken away from her home by her father. He had never obtained a divorce.

"This case is simply ridiculous," interruped Mr. Justice Wright taking the case from the jury at this point. "The woman never was his wife, and he cannot collect damages for separation from one who never was his wife."

The case was dismissed without costs to the defendant.

ARREST OFFICER AFTER SHOOTNG

Police Chief Shot Young Man Who Refused to Halt.

AWAIT INQUEST.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 17. (Canadian Press).—As a sequel to the shooting of Campbell McRae, of Brandon, Man., on Saturday last, James White, Chief of the Souris Police, has been placed under arrest. He will be detained pending the outcome of the Coroner's inquest.

McRae, with three companions, according to police reports, quarreled with the proprietor of a restaurant in Souris over the payment of a meal check. Chief White was summoned and encountered the youths as they fled from the cafe. When they ignored his challenge to halt, he fired at them, McRae falling mortally wounded.

BIG HOUSE BOAT A FLOATING BAR

Seized Among Thousand Islands by Federal Revenue Officers.

LAVISHLY FITTED.

BROCKVILLE, June 17 (Canadian Press) — A large two decked house boat lavishly fitted and said to have been in use as a floating bar-room near Larue Island in the heart of the Thousand Islands, is under seizure in the local harbor as the result of a raid conducted by officers of the Provincial Police led by Inspector S. M. Hacock, of this place Upon the boat the officers seized brandy and strong beer as well as two small motor boats and a skiff. An elderly man whose name is said to be O'Brien and who is held to be the father of the owner of the craft, was arrested and is in jail here awaiting a hearing. Two of the provincial officers, Hacock and Clubbe, joined a party of tourists which set out from Alexandria Bay, on the United States side, for a ramble of the islands, and were served with liquor aboard the boat which contains six bedrooms, a dynamo, living room, kitchen, pantries and other equipment all lavishly furnished. The owner of the boat, Charles C. O'Brien, who is said to be a United States citizen, was arrested by the reevnue officers of that country last summer when his motor cruiser was intercepted a few miles above here while carrying a cargo of beer. At that time he was heavily fined and his craft confiscated.

Life-Saving Apparatus For Peterborough Lock

The Examiner learns today that G. N. Gordon, K.C.; M.P. has succeeded in having the government place life-saving appliances at the east side of Peterborough lock. This is the place where a fatal drowning accident occurred a few weeks ago, when James Herron fell into the water while fishing. The City Council asked Mr. Gordon's good offices in obtaining these appliances, and his request to Colonel A. E. Dubue, Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, brought prompt action

Here's a Golf Step You Can Waltz Or Fox Trot Coming Straight From The Salons Of Gay Paris

PARIS, June 17 (Special by United Prss).—The Parisian younger sets are dancing nothing but the latest which has breezed into all the exclusive ball rooms from the fairways of the links.

It's called the "Golf Step," and this is how it's done:

Hold your partner as in the Fox Trot, but the man's right arm and her left, with hands clutched, hang straight down; advance slowly, starting with the right foot, knees slightly bent, then the left foot. Then as the right again advances bring the arm to the rear as though commencing to swing with a golf club. Bring forward and slow swing, at the same time pivoting on the left heel advancing the right, then dip and bend backwards while completing the turn.

The dance is best to waltz music, but can be Fox Trotted, and should be slow and langorous.

HANDS OFF FLAG STRONG DEMAND

WANT UNION JACK.

TORONTO, June 17.—Veterans of the Great War, Daughters of the Empire, Members of the Legislature and the public generally packed the Veterans' Clubhouse, Isabella Street, last night, to protest against the proposal to create a new Canadian flag. Solemnly and emphatically the suggestion was declared to be unthinkable, and as far as the meeting was concerned there will be no change. As a patriotic gathering, with loyalty as the keynote, the affair was reminiscent of war-time meetings.

The returned men regarded any change in the Union Jack as an insult to their dead comrades' memory, said the chairman, E. Meade, and the crowd cheered lustily. The band added such airs as "Rule Britannia" "We'll Never Let the Old Flag Fall" and the National Anthem.

"The old flag was an inspiration to us all through the darkest days in France," said Comrade Geo. Moore, "and any proposal to change it will be resisted to the utmost."

Mysterious Proposal.

Hon. Joseph E. Thompson, Speaker of the Legislature, said nobody knew where the suggestion to change the flag came from. Apparently those behind the proposal were afraid to come from under cover, It was true the Union Jack was only an old piece of bunting, but thousands had died for it, and thousands more were ready to make the supreme sacrifice for it. Thousands of Canadian dead were buried in Flanders. They had fought for the old flag and to change it would mean a breach of faith with them.

Ald. Miller said the Union Jack was the flag of the Empire, and it symbolized all that the Empire stood for. A change in it would not be tolerated as far as they were concerned. Politicians had no right to interfere in such a serious matter as this. The flag had served for generations, and would serve for generations.

Strong Resolution Passed.

Ald Luxton proposed a resolution, seconded by Ald. Miller, that the meeting oppose any move to change the flag, and that the committee appointed by the Government to consider suggested changes should never have been made; its appointment was a gross insult.

The resolution was carried unanimously amid great enthusiasm.

Mrs. Arthur VanKoughnet thought that the very suggestion of any change in the Union Jack was nothing short of criminal. The flag stood for freedom, and thousands of Canadians had died fighting for freedom, and for the flag. They would not want a change, and certainly the living did not.

James McCausland, M.P.P., was of the opinion that there was some significance behind the proposal to change the flag. It looked like an effort to Americanize the Canadian people.

Mrs. Jackson, president of the Municipal Chapter I.O.D.E., said she belonged to an organization pledged to "one flag, one throne, one empire," so that there was no doubt where she stood with regard to the proposed flag change. As a mother whose son had laid down his life for the flag, she wished to raise her most emphatic protest against any change being made.

PEACE RETURNS TO MINE AREA

General Impression is That Destructive Part of Strike is Past.

MURDOCK THERE.

SYDNEY, N.S., June 17. (Canadian Press).—Chief interest in Cape Breton industrial situation centered to-day in the presence here of Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, and the possibilities of his efforts as conciliator between the British Empire Steel Corporation and its employees.

He held conversations to-day with representatives of the United Mine Workers and also with J. E. McLurg, vice-president of the Corporation. With a night of comparative quiet passed with the United Mine Workers' organization backing up the normal civil police by large numbers of their members sworn in as special constables, together with the presence of troops in the mining district. It was generally felt here to-day that the destructive part of the strike had been passed, except for damage to the mines from flooding.

BETTER TIMES FOR FARMERS SEEN BY WARDEN H. B. RYE

Peterboro County Council Opens June Sessions in Court House.

COSTS LESS

Margin of Difference Between Receipts and Payments is Smaller.

The County Council met yesterday in the Council Chamber at 3 o'clock. The following Reeves and Deputy-Reeves were present: F. J. Breckenbridge, Belmont and Methuen; J. A. Middleton, Smith; M. P. Coughlin, Douro; G. Simpson, Smith; R.T. Lillico, North Monaghan; M. E. Smithson, Otonabee; W. A. Anderson, Otonabee; E. Corkery, Ennismore; J. C. Strickland, Lakefield; J. Hawthorne, Dummer; W. T. Curtis, Havelock; H. B. Parker, Harvey; J. Clarke, Galway and Cavendish; N. Lean, Burleigh and Anstruther; J. Scott, Asphodel; R. Scott, Chandos and J. A. Robb, Norwood. The Warden; H. B. Rye, Reeve of North Monaghan was in the chair.

Warden's Address.

After the adoption of the minutes of the previous meeting the Warden addressed the Council.

He expressed his satisfaction in the hopeful outlook for the coming harvest and alluded to the fact that the operation expenses of the farmers had lessened somewhat of late and that the margin between the prices received by the farmer for his goods, and the costs of his purchases had materially diminished. He felt he must draw the attention of the Council to the Act of Parliament abolishing statute labor on the roads and suggested the combining with other councils with the object of making strong representations to Parliament in order to have the Act rescinded or amended. He wished to emphasize the condition of many of the culverts and bridges on the roads of the county, in many cases light structures of wood, which he suggested should be replaced by concrete erections. In conclusion he thanked the Council for the honor they had conferred on him by electing him as Warden and trusted they would be spared for many years to enjoy the friendships that had been made at these meetings of the Council.

The report of the Grand Jury to Judge Huycke, concerning the institutions to which are allotted public funds was read and received.

A communication from the Deputy Minister of Highway, relative to the condition of the County Highways was read and referred to the County Road Committee. A letter was read from the Canadian Good Roads Association, inviting the Council to send delegates to their coming conference to be held at Chateau Frontenac, Quebec City.

It was announced that the Ontario Bridge Co., Peterboro, had completed the work of repairing the bridge over the Otonabee at the boundary of Peterboro and Northumberland Counties.

A letter was read from the Peterboro Poultry Association, asking for a grant of $50. This was referred to the Finance Committee.

The Council adjourned at 4 o'clock.

ASK FISHERMEN TO SPARE BASS

Appeal Made By Department Following Late Spawning Season..

FOR SPORT'S SAKE.

TORONTO, June 17.—An appeal to anglers to spare the bass in Provincial waters for the next two weeks despite the fact that they are now legal game; was made yesterday at the Parliament Buildings in a statement issued by Hon. Charles McCrea. The reason advanced by the Minister of Game and Fisheries is that the bass spawning season is uniquely backward this year.

"Contrary to expectations and the habits of fish so far observed," Hon. Mr. McCrea said, "the year 1925 has shown the unique happening that up to Monday the black bass had not started spawning. It is noticed to-day that only now they are starting to spawn.

"The Department therefore requests," the statement concluded, "that bass fishermen for the next two weeks either defer their fishing or restrict their catch. This is only a request, but the appeal is made on behalf of the lovers of bass fishing in the province and of bass propogation."

COUNCIL WILL URGE BRIDGE AT CHEMONG

Decide to Visit Ottawa To Confer With Hon. G. P. Graham.

The Council went into Committee on Roads and Bridges with Mr. J. A. Middleton, reeve of Smith, in the chair.

Mr. Connor submitted a report on the proposed new South Squaw bridge, Harvey, recommending a pile foundation. It was decided to leave the matter in the hands of the Warden and the chairman of the committee.

Mr. Connor also read a short report recommending alterations at Newell's bridge, Asphodel. This matter was left to the chairman, the warden and Mr. Scott.

Mr. Connor suggested the building of a new concrete arch bridge to take the place of the present Depot bridge at Burleigh. This was left to the warden, the chairman and Messrs. Scott and Lean to decide.

Consideration of the question of closing the road during work at Douglas' Bridge, Dummer, was left to the warden, the chairman of the committee, and Mr. Hawthorne, reeve of Dummer.

To the chairman and warden in conjunction with the reeve of South Monaghan was assigned the duty of investigating the condition of Cunningham's bridge, North Monaghan.

On the motion of Mr. John Clarke, reeve of Galway and Cavendish the coucil authorized a grant of $20 to cover the expense of repairs at Sheean's bridge, in the township of Galway.

The council undertook the repair of Deyell's bridge, Otonabee.

About Chemong.

After yesterday's meeting the council informally decided to go as a deputation to the Parliament Buildings in order to inte view the Minister of Highways, Hon.C. P. Graham, and urge on him the necessity of a grant towards the building of a new bridge across Chemong Lake, from Smith to Ennismore. A telegram was despatched last night to G. N. Gordon, K.C., Deputy Speaker of the House of Commons, acquainting him of the Council's decision. The clerk read Mr. Gordon's reply to-day which intimated that some difficulty would be experienced in meeting Mr. Graham during the pressure of business in the closing days of the session. Several members expressed the view that it might be well to efer the visit of the council to Ottawa until Friday, June 26, when the Minister would be free from the necessity of attending debates in the House.

CONSULATE BURNED.

SHANGHAI, June 17 (Canadian Press).—Representatives of foreign legations sent from Peking and Chinese officials who have been carrying on negotiations with a view to settlement of the situation here, have reached a basis for discussion, an authorative statement announced.

There are prospects for an early adjustment of the difficulty and the calling off of the strike. The settlement authorities, it is reported, have agreed immediately the strike is called of, to arrange for the removal of the naval contingents, demobilize volunteer corps, indemnify the families of the Chinese killed during the rioting and constitute a special tribunal, with Chinese representation, to determine responsibility for the shootings.

Conditions demand the punishment of the Chinese chief of police for permitting anti-foreign propaganda on Chinese territory.

Cynthia Grey Says

QUESTIONS—ANSWERS

Dear Miss Grey: I am now 27. Being an orphan, I have had to make by own way since I was 16. I have of necessity learned to economize and do without some of the things I want, but which are not exactly necessary. For two years I have been engaged to a young man now 24, who is an only son and always had whatever he wanted. His father is paying his way through school. I am still working. Recently he tried to borrow some money from me, and I refused to lend it to him. We were to be married in June, and I was to work a while until he could get established. He says if I don't lend him the money our engagement is ended. I stiff refuse because I feel it is unmanly for him to want to make capital out of our engagement. What do you think of it all Do you think the inequality in our ages and training would hinder our happiness, if we succeeded in reaching an understanding in the present difficulty?—Uncertain.

Your attitude in the matter is exactly right, and it certainly is to this young man's discredit that he should threaten to end the engagement it you didn't lend him the money. Don't lend it to him under any circumstances. I would frankly tell him that he is putting the engagement on the commercial basis. His attitude indicates shallow love, and if he doesn't realize what a blunder he made, you will be better off by not marrying him. I don't think the difference in your ages has any bearing on the matter, but it is apparent that your early training has been far better than his.

GRIMY PICTURE MAY BE MASTER

Culminating Work of Raphael, Stolen, May be in Winnipeg.

WORTH $250,000

WINNIPEG, Man., June 17 (Canadian Press)—More than 400 years ago, Raphael, Italian art master supreme and founder of the world's greatest school of art, painted a portait, and died shortly after. It was the culminating work of the career of the great artist. Then it was stolen and police of the continent failed to trace it.

Twenty years ago Dr. C. N. Bell of Winnipeg discovered a begrimed and dusty picture hanging on a door of a pawnshop in Northwest London. He bought it for one pound and brought it to Winnipeg.

The portrait is that of a heavily bearded man, evidently a cardinal robed in ermine-trimmed cirmson. The robe is caught together at the neck with a golden emblem which appears to be a scared charm of some kind.

If the picture is the one M.' Pascoe believes it to be, it is of Giuano Medici, cardinal of the early 16th century and brother of Pope Leo X. The mystery portrait would be worth at least $250,000, Mr. Pascoe declares.

It is one of the famous trio painted toward the end of Raphael's career. The other two hang among Europe's most valued art treasures in Florence.

Art dealers of the old world have combed Europe for the past 400 years in an attempt to locate the missing treasure.

Various experts who have examined the portait duirng the twenty years it has been hanging in Winnipeg, have declared it was unquestionably an example of the Raphaelite school.

Art experts believe the picture in question was begun by Raphael and finished by a student, Mr. Pascoe asserted. Certain weaknesses of finish are displayed in Dr. Bell's picture, these Mr. Pascoo said led him to believe it was a product of Raphael's studios.

Since Dr. Bell's picture has been declared as the Medici portrait, it has been carefully photographed. These photos have been sent to Christies, world famous art dealers of London, England, for an opinion. It is possible that the original will be forwarded to New York or London for examination and valuation by art critics there.

Most Urgent Wants

There's a world of interest in the Want Ads. They reflect the urgent desires of various businesses, households and individuals.

The Wants tell what is most needed. If the cook has left, if a worker is needed in the office or factory, if an article of value is lost or found, if there is urgent necessity to sell a piece of property, secure tenants, roomers or boarders—all such conditions are expressed and met in the Want Columns.

The Wants are close to the heart interests of hte people. It is interesting to watch them carefully.

APPLE BLOOM TIME IN NORMANDY

Etretat in spring is one of the loveliest sights imaginable. The beauty of Japan in the cherry blossom season cannot surely surpass the Normandy landscape white with apple bloom. The Grand Val d'Etretat and the surrounding country seem as though covered with snow at this time of the year; and no better view of it can be got than from the golf links, on the cliffs, close to the famous Porte d'Aval.

Etretat is so easily reached nowadays that it is becoming almost an "all the year round" resort. In this respect, it has greatly changed since Alphonse Karr discovered, and Offenbach Le Poittetvin, Isabey and Maupassant adopted it. In their days, it was a formidable undertaking to reach Etretat. When Guy de Maupassant came about forty years ago to his villa "Le Guillette," he and his servant were met at the Ifs station by "a coupe and pair." "In this part of the world", said Maupassant, "the horses are all broken kneed, owing to the hilly roads, and perhaps to careless driving." In going downhill, the visitors had to brace themselves against the front of the crazy old rattletrap in order to remain in it. But today, a branch line links Etretat to the main railway between Paris and Havre.

protest regarding the Hankow rioting with another equally vigorous protest against the burning of the consulate at Kiu-Kang. This is apparently backed by Japanese representatives.

Italian Note.

PEKING, June 17 (Canadian Press).—Another note emphasizing the gravity of the situation caused by the recent disturbances in China and calling upon the Chinese government to takes measures, was sent to the Foreign Office today by the Italian ambassador. Signor Cerruti, representing also the other members of the foreign diplomatic corps.

The note said that at Chin-Kiang the agitation had become so intense that foreigners had been obliged to send their families to Shanghai.

CAMPBELLFORD OUT OF LEAGUE

Several Reasons Given For Leaving Northumberland Baseball Group.

NO MORE GAMES.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 17. — Campbellford has decided to drop out of the Northumberland Baseball League this season, so that the game scheduled to be played at Roseneath has been cancelled. Various reasons exist for arriving at this decision.

The club was organized under encouraging auspices before the opening of the season. Charles H. Davidson, who managed the team for the past two seasons, found it impossible to continue in that capacity owing to the demands of his private business. Archie J. Wood was to succeed him as manager, but before the season opened Mr. Wood was appointed to a lucrative position in Peterborough and removed to that city. The entire responsibility was then placed on Rev. C. D. Daniel, secretary of the team, who also holds that position in the Seymour Baseball League, and in the Softball League of Campbellford. That was too much of a burden even for a man of Mr. Daniel's tremendous energy and devotion to healthy sports to carry.

The softball game has become almost a craze here. Some of the best of the local men who played in the Northumberland League team the past two years are now the standbys in the softball organization. No man can play in both varieties of the game and do himself justice, and playing in the softball league demands less sacrifice in time than is called for by those who are required to take long trips to other towns as members of the hard ball league team.

Will Hume, Barney Eagleson and Lester Shillinglaw, former members of the Northumberland League team, all of whom reside in the Burnbrae district, are now playing with the Seymour League team from that place.

In view of all these circumstances it was impossible to get up a team of youngsters who in the time available would be able to make a creditable showing when pitted agains tthe veterans in the Northumberland league.

Another reason why local interest in league baseball has fallen off is that lacrosse is being revived in Campbellford and no sport has ever attained the popularity which lacrosse did here a few years ago.

Senator Griesbach enquired in respect to an amount of $19,956 shown by a statement filed, as an amount due to the G.W.V.A. by the D.V.A. Mr. McNeil stated that this sum was due for legislative activities.

The question of the sale of poppies was also taken up by Senator Griesbach, who pointed out that the administration expenses by the Dominion command for the years 1922, 1923, and 1924 had totalled $15,850.48 while the gross profit was $25,313.20 and the net profit $9,462.72. Witness explained that the administration expenses of $15,850.48 were based on a turnover for the three years of $105,679.56. Replying to further questions by General Griesbach, he stated that the administation expenses were based on 15 per cent. of the total sales, for the years in question, as the approximate cost of operation of the campaign and incidental work. Senator Laird intimated that he could not see how the cost of operation was actually arrived at.

Questioned further by Senator Belcourt, Mr McNeil stated that during the period under investigation, the G.W.V.A. has received $130,000 from the canteen fund, and advances of $20,000 from the disablement fund. During that time approximately $52,000 had been paid to the veterans. Senaor Belcourt enquired if it was fair to use this amount out of public monies for expenditure on the veterans for the purpose of securing more money from the Government; but Mr. McNeil disagreed that this had been done.

Captain Harry Colborne, Army and Navy Veterans, questioned Mr. McNeil, and stated that each returned soldier organization had performed its own adjustment bureau service work.

T. C. Lapp testified as to the value of property held by The Veteran. He was not prepared, he stated to Senator Griesbach, to give evidence as to the debts of the paper. Senator Griesbach considered that evidence as to the value of property held was useless, unless a statement of liabilities was given.

Col. N. F. Parkinson, deputy minister of the department of soldiers' civil re-establishment, made a statement before adjournment, that the departmental auditors in auditing the books of the G.W.V.A. had received no instructions from departmental officials other than those issued by the committee.

TAKES PARISH.

F. D. Douglas, of Lennoxville University, is in Charge of Kitley.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., June 17 (Canadian Press).—F. D. Douglas, graduate of Lennoxville University in theology, has taken charge of the Anglican parish of Kitley, with headquarters at Frankville.

NO CITIZENS AT PUBLIC MEETING

Seymour Council Waited Patiently For an Hour—Discuss Grant.

MEMORIAL QUESTION.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 17.—The members of the Seymour Township Council called a public meeting for last night to get an expression of opinion from the ratepayers of the township on the question of making a grant toward the soldiers' memorial which it is proposed to erect in Campbellford. The Council had met as a Court of Revision during the afternoon and every member remained in town for the evening meeting.

None but the councillors and Dr. G. A. Hay, the clerk, showed up for the meeting. Dr. Hay had been authorized to present the case on behalf of the I.O.D.E., prime movers in the effort to secure funds for a memorial, but in the absence of any ratepayers, no action was taken. The councillors waited patiently until nearly nine o'clock before adjourning.

In an informal discussion of the subject, it was stated that even the residents of Seymour who lost relatives in the war are in favor of the erection of a memorial building rather than a monument; a building that can be used by town and township alike, the same as the community hall in Warkworth.

POULLET WILL FORM CABINET

To Consist of Members of Three Parties and End Difficulties.

SINCE APRIL 5.

BRUSSELS, June 17 (Canadian Press).—Viscount Poullet, leader of the Catholic party, yesterday finally accepted a mission from King Albert to form a three-party cabinet, in an attemp to end Belgium's ministerial difficulties that have continued since the resignation of Premier Theunis' government on April 5. Poullet, who held the post of minister of interior under Theunis, formed a cabinet on June 11, but the following day it failed to obtain a vote of confidence.

The new ministry was composed of the Catholic, Socialist and Liberal parties, although the Liberals will not support the government officially.

Emile Vandervelde, the Socialist leader, who made the first attempt to reorganize the Government after M. Theunis' resignation, will take the portfolio of foreign affairs in the new cabinet.

WEDDING BELLS.

HARRINGTON—AYOTTE.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Martin's church, Ennismore, when Miss Marie Harrington, daughter of Edward Harrington, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. James Joseph Ayotte, son of Mr. William Ayotte, of Highland Grove. Rev. James F. McGuire, cousin of the bride, performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. J. V. McAuley, parish priest. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Daniel Crough, who also sang during the ceremony, assisted by Mrs. Daniel Crough, junior, and four young ladies of the High school. The bride was attired in a suit of navy, with green and sand hat and black satin shoes and sand stockings. The bridesmaid was Miss Rose Harrington, sister of the bride, who wore a dress of peacock blue silk canton crepe with hat to match. Mr. William Ayotte, of Highland Grove, brother of the groom, acted as best man.

After the ceremony the happy couple motored to the beautiful home of the bride's father, where a dainty repast was served to about eighty guests. The friends from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Willie McGuire of Lakehurst, Mr. and Mrs. John McGuire of Peterborough, Miss Loretta Ayotte, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Peters of Highland Grove, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Ayotte, Miss Minnie Ayotte of Young's Point, also Mr. Harry and Jack Ayotte of Young's Point; also Mrs. Thomas O'Rourke and son Henry of Peterborough.

Speeches were given by Rev. J. V. McAuley, Rev. J. McGuire, Messrs. Wm. Hamilton and Daniel Crough.

The day was spent in songs and dancing and other amusements. The music was rendered by Mr. Willie McGuire, uncle of the bride; Mrs. Daniel Crough, Mr. William Hickson, and Mr. Henry O'Rourke.

The bride was the recipient of many handsome and useful gifts including a cheque from her father. The groom's gift to the bride was a diamond wristlet; to the bridesmaid, a brooch set with pearls, and to the groomsman a set of gold cuff links. Mr. and Mrs. Ayotte will leave on Wednesday morning on the C.N.R. train for Highland Grove, where they will make their future home.

AN ADDED THRILL

"But," said the cautious screen star who was about to perform an apparently dangerous feat, "suppose the rope should break?"

"By George!" cried the director, "That's a good idea!" — American Legion Weekly.

16 PLANES IN FOREST PATROL

Manitoba Being Protected and Surveyed by Dominion Government.

MAPS MADE

WINNIPEG, Man., June 17. — (Canadian Press.)—When the last seaplane is shipped from Montreal by the end of June, there will be 16 planes engaged in forest patrol and photographic survey work in the northern portions of Manitoba. There are at present nine in the service, which is carried on by the dominion department of the interior.

The new machines are being specially built by the Vickers company, Montreal, and will be of the most up-to-date type. While the aircraft commissioned for service in Manitoba last year made flights from Eastern Canada, the planes now being constructed will be shipped west by train, after being put through a thorough test.

The Photographic survey which was started last year when Major Hobbs covered the Reindeer Lake country, will be continued, and the photographers are concentrating on territory east of Lake Winnipeg and on both sides of the Nelson river as far north as the Hudson Bay. Major Johnson is in charge of the work this summer.

He is a well known pilot and was a squadron commander in the Great War.

Maps which were made from photographs taken last year are described as remarkable and of inestimable value for commercial and industrial purposes, as well as from a topographical standpoint. They reveal much in the way of smaller lakes, rivers, woods, hills, which are not indicated at all on the ordinary maps of the territory covered.

MURRAY COUNCIL.

WOOLER, June 17.—Murray Township Council met pursuant to adjournment, with the members all present and Reeve W. F. Elliott presiding.

OBITUARY.

MRS. THOMAS FORSYTH

MILLBROOK, June 17—The late Mrs Thomas Forsyth, who passed away after an illness of some weeks' duration, on Friday, June 12, was born in Clarke township nearly seventy-eight years ago.

Her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Smith, were among the pioneer settlers of Clarke, the former coming from Ireland in the days when crossing the Atlantic meant taking the long, and frequently dangerous voyage by sailing vessel.

Deceased, whose maiden name was Mary Ann Smith, was the eldest of a family of twelve children, six sons and six daughters, all of whom, with the exception of one daughter, Martha, lived to years of manhood and womanhood. Two brothers, John and Thomas, are also deceased, the surviving members of the family being four brothers, Dr. William Smith, who has been for years a missionary in China; Andrew, of Saskatoon, Sask., James, of Belleville, and Frank, of Garden Hill; and four sisters, Mrs. W. H. Hoskin, Mrs J Kirke, Mrs Walter Little, of Saskatoon, Sask., and Mrs. W. McClung of Midland. It seems a fortunate circumstance that last summer the three sisters from the West paid a visit to Ontario spending some time with Mrs. Forsyth and her daughters here, during their stay in the East

After her marriage to the late Thomas Forsyth, deceased lived in Hope Township and was always regarded as a good neighbor, looking carefully to the welfare of her own ready helping hand to others as opportunity occurred. Here her five children, four of whom, Will of Freeport, Mrs. George Falls, of Port Hope, Mrs. G. F. Harrington, and Miss Ethel, of Millbrook, survive their mother, were born and brought up. A little daughter died when she had almost reached her fourth birthday. Miss Roma Roberts is the only grandchild.

Fifteen years ago Mr. Forsyth's death occurred in his seventy-third year, and some five years later, deceased, accompanied by her youngest daughter, Ethel, came to Millbrook to reside.

Though advancing in years, Mrs. Forsyth, who was a life-long Methodist, was faithful in attendance at public worship, Sunday school, and the mid-week service, as long as health permitted. Within two weeks of her death she had attended a Sunday evening service, failing strength gradually compelling her, during the past few months, to give up regular attendance at church more than once each week.

The funeral took place on Sunday, June 14th, at 4 p.m., a large number of friends and neighbors of former days, as well as those residing locally, gathering at her late home for the service which was in charge of her pastor, Rev. F. H. Howard.

In view of the fact that Mrs. Forsyth's love for flowers was well known, it seemed particularly fitting that many beautiful floral tributes should be laid upon her casket. Among these evidences of affection and respect, was a spray from the department of the T. Eaton Company with which Mrs. Harrington was formerly connected.

The pall-bearers were chosen from among former neighbors, and included: Messrs. Robert and Thomas Wood, George Fair, Arthur Henry, Robert Wright, and G. Thorne (Port Hope).

Interment took place beside her husband in Gardiner's Cemetery, a long line of well-filled cars following the remains to their last resting place.

Among those from outside points who attended the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. G. Falls and daughter, Miss Roma Roberts, of Port Hope; Mr. Jas. Smith, of Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. L. Greenaway, of Bowmanville; Mrs. Arthur Conover, of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Beatty, of Elizabethville; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Roberts, Mrs. Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. G. Thorne, Mr. and Mrs. C. Hoskin, of Port Hope.

OTONABEE COUNCIL.

The regular monthly meeting of the Otonabee Council was held in the Council Chambers, Keene, on June 15. All the members were present.

The Clerk was instructed to write the Highways Department that owing to the changes made in the county road system the Council is unable to fill out the maps sent by the department, at the present time.

The following accounts were ordered to be paid: Harry Fife, tractor, $75; Joseph Manley, wire fence $18 and cutting brush $2.50; M. O'Keefe, work, $11.25; James Foley, gravel, $1.65; Ed. O'Connor, grading and gravelling, $14.50; D. H. Moore, placarding $2, disinfecting $6, piling wood 25c.

EDUCATION COUNCIL ANNUAL MEETING

Rev. B. R. Ferris at Campbellford for the O.R.E.C. Gathering.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 17.—The annual convention of the Ontario Religious Education Council for Campbellford and Seymour Township was held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Tuesday, with a good attendance present, evincing the interest taken here in this great work. In the absence of the President, Mr. R. B. Nelson, Mr. G. A. Kingston, B.A., very ably presided at both afternoon and evening sessions. The secretary-treasurer, Mrs. N. H. Thompson, gave a most encouraging and excellent report for the year. The reports of the following departments were given as follows: Children's, Miss K. Gould; Girls', Miss L. Weston; Boys', Mr. G. A. Kingston; Home Dept., Mrs. G. A. Kingston; Missionary, Temperance, Teacher Training, Rev. E. O. Seymour.

Miss Emma Meiklejohn sang very sweetly, 'I think When I Read That Sweet Story of Old."

Rev. C. D. Daniels gave an interesting discussion of the chart, showing the total standing of each school, along the lines of teacher training, (2) organized classes, temperance instruction, missionary instructions, etc., as follows:

	P.C.
St. Andrew's (Town) Sunday School	.80
St. Andrew's, Burnbrae, Sunday School	.46
Trent River Sunday School	.35
Bethel (Seymour West) Sunday School	.40
Meyersburg Sunday School	.65
Zion (Seymour East) Sunday School	.75
Hoard's Sunday School	.71
Stanwood Sunday School	.66
Tabernacle (English Line) Sunday School	.75
Christ Church Sunday School	.73
Baptist Church Sunday School	.70
United Church (Mtehodist) Sunday School	.85

Rev. R. B. Ferris, general superintendent, O.R.E.C., then gave an helpful address on "Learning and Teaching." Teaching, declared the speaker, is the primary function of the Sunday School. The child has potentialities which if properly trained, he becomes a dynamic force for good. The first essential in effective teaching is to understand the pupil, his home life, etc. From 4 to 8 the child's emotions should be appealed to by pictures, stories, hymns, these three keys of learning. From 9 to 11 or 12 years the intellect must be appealed to; from 12 to 15 (teen age) will comes into force and the child should be taught transference of control from without to within. Interest is the secret of all good teaching. The teacher should be trained and must understand the truth and know what following Christ means.

Rev. G. C. Clarke rendered the solo, "Just For To-day" in his usual pleasing voice, which was much appreciated.

The Girl Guides of the United Church then rendered a two-part song "Song of the Summer Night" very beautifully, and for an encore "Taps."

Prayer was lead by Rev. E. D. Ford, and Benediction by Rev. G. C. Clarke.

Evening Session.

The devotional exercises were well conducted by the C.G.I.T., girls of the Baptist Church led by Miss Lily Weston.

Miss Verna Shore, in her usual sweet voice, sang "Teach Me to Pray." Other musical numbers were Solo, Miss E. Meiklejohn, 'Pass It On," and a chorus by the Union Church Choir under the able direction of Mr. George Lucy.

Rev. D. A. McKenzie of Burnbrae gave an excellent address on "Evangelism in the Sunday School." The speaker traced the Sunday School from its origin in 1789 by Robert Raikes, to its present strength of 3,000,000. Sunday School teachers should be Christians. They should be persevering; They should help the child to make decisions for Christ. The civilization and church of to-morrow depends on the formation of character in boyhood and girlhood of tday. The child shuld be taught that the main object of life is not to make money or indulge in selfish pleasures, but to live in harmony with life and teaching of Christ.

Rev. Mr. Ferris gave an excellent address on "The Bible in the Schools." The fact that at the O.E.A. Convention, held in Toronto last Easter, this important subject was much discussed, shows it to be a vital question. There is real need for more Bible teaching in schools, not only in Ontario, but the the Great West. In Saskatchewan there are over 800 school districts where there are no Sunday Schools or religious services. We must take advantage of the present regulation allowing clergymen half an hour each to instruct pupils in public schools. It is the churches' part, not the States, to teach religion. Methods of imparting religious instrucion in the Wiarton and London Public Schools was commended by the speaker.

It was decided to hold the next convention at Zion Church, and the officers elected for the next year are as follows:

President, William Forde; 1st Vice President, G. A. Kingston, B.A.; Secreary-Treasurer, Mrs. N. H. Thompson; Children's Dep., Miss K. Gould; Girls' Department, Miss L. Weston; Boys' Department, Rev. C. D. Daniels; Young People's Department, Rev. G. C. Clarke; Adult epartment, Mrs. R. S. Bell; Home Department, Mrs. G. A. Kingston; Missionary Department, Mrs. D. Stillman; Temperance Department, Mr. George Vanvolkenburg; Teacher Training, Mr. A Winters.

MOTOR TOURIST CAMPS.

Among the other problems occasioned by the popularity of the motor car as a convenient means of transportation is that of the necessity of making sure that the conditions in regard to motor tourist camps, such as have been established everywhere in Ontario, are thoroughly sanitary.

This question is now engaging the attention of Dr. Sutton, Medical Officer of Health for this district, and other medical health officers throughout the Province, and as a result of their investigation of the situation it is expected that standard regulations will be adopted by the Provincial Health Department.

It can readily be seen that with the number of tourists coming into the Province constantly increasing it is necessary to have some supervision over these camps for the protection not only of the people of Ontario but of the tourists themselves.

Doubtless the Provincial authorities will be insistent that the visitors are assured of a pure water supply and of proper sanitary arrangements, and that ,on the other hand, these privileges shall not be abused.

Rivers and lakes must be protected from pollution—in fact, there are a dozen different angles to the problem, all of which are receiving the attention of the authorities at present.

THE BEVERAGE TAX.

Of the two new taxes recently introduced by the Ontario Government the levy on gasoline is being accepted with much better grace than the tax on soft drinks, about which there is general complaint among the manufacturers of these beverages and among the retailers.

The tax may possibly work out with greater smoothness later on, but at present the system is anything but satisfactory.

Some manufacturers are absorbing the tax themselves, an arrangement that appeals to the retailer, but gets away from the intention of the Government that the consumer should pay.

Others refuse to absorb the tax, and the retailer is compelled to buy the tax stamps and see that one is affixed to every bottle sold, an inconvenient method that is causing complaint.

Again, in some centres, the levy has resulted in a variation of prices, some dealers selling the beverages that formerly retailed at 5c for 6c a bottle, while others have jumped the price to 10c.

As the tax amounts to 6c a case the dealer who uses it as an excuse for doubling the price of his commodity is getting away with a huge spread.

In general the tax is causing confusion and dissatisfaction, and might better be scrapped so far as "pop" is concerned.

MR. FORKE'S VISIT.

In view of the fact that a Federal election is considered as a not unlikely development before the end of the year, the visit to Peterboro this week of Mr. Robert Forke, M.P., the Progressive leader, who is to speak at the U. F. O. picnic at Jackson Park on Friday evening, is an event of unusual interest.

It is sometimes complained by the Progressives that their viewpoint is not understood because it has not been possible for their leaders to address urban audiences as frequently as they would like.

However that may be, the people of Peterboro are being given an opportunity of hearing the head of the Progressive organization, and as he is likely to review the political situation at some length and perhaps break in upon some new ground, his message should be of considerable interest to citizens generally regardless of their political affiliations.

It is the second visit of Mr. Forke to Peterboro, but the first occasion on which he has had the chance to speak to an audience of any size, and he will undoubtedly take advantage of the opportunity to expound the doctrine of the Progressive party at some length.

When the head of a Federal political party visits a community the Examiner believes that the electors, no matter what political hue may be their favourite colour, owe it to themselves to hear his arguments.

The day when people only wanted to hear one angle of any public question discussed and that from their own viewpoint is surely gone forever.

RUSHING TO FIRES.

Evidently the Ottawa Fire Department suffers from the same condition of affairs as often troubles Chief Gimblett's men, for we find an irate citizen suggesting via the Ottawa Journal that firemen be provided with shot-guns to kill off motorists who rush to fires.

The complainant declares that at a recent blaze in Ottawa he counted two hundred motor cars in the neighborhood a few minutes after the fire was well under way.

Of course, there always has been a fascination about a fire that draws people.

All of us have run for miles to the scene of a conflagration, and now that the motor car has made transportation such an easy matter the temptation to rush to a fire when the alarm is ringing and the sky is illumined by the leaping flames is greater than ever.

But it can readily be seen that a general yielding to this temptation means congestion in the vicinity of a fire, trouble for the firemen and always-present menace of an accident.

Motorists not only should assist the Fire Department by giving the apparatus a clear right-of-way while en route to a fire, but also by avoiding crowding into the streets in the neighborhood of the fire where their presence hampers the members of the department in their duties.

Harsh measures are not desirable, but it is quite possible that if there is not an improvement noticed along this line that the police magistrate may have a chance of hearing some explanations.

LEARN TO PLAY.

It has been the custom in these latter years to urge upon young and old alike the saving virtue of hard work, says the Hamilton Spectator in an editorial for young people. All the advice has been in the direction of increasing one's efficiency—nothing else appeared to matter. But there is a feeling now that the thing has been overdone. Doctors are warning us that the pressure of life is too severe; they are telling their patients to relax, to think less about their problems and more about their health. The "go-getter" is no longer quite the hero and the model that he was. It is realized that there is more in life than mere pushfulness, and that to concentrate efforts too exclusively on material prosperity is folly rather than wisdom. Of course, it is still necessary to work, and to work hard, in order to obtain those good things of life without which it is not possible to come to the full development and enjoyment of one's natural powers. But there must be a time also for play—for respite from work of any kind. "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." It is an old saying, but is just as true today as when it was first uttered.

The important thing is really and truly to play during playtime. For even games themselves in this systematic age are so organized and regulated that they involve a good deal of serious thought and often considerable anxiety and worry. Now worry is the very thing to be avoided above everything else. We play in order to get away from worry. We should let ourselves go, forget all our troubles and have a good time generally when we play. Otherwise the real benefit from playing is lost. It is pitiful to see the jealousy, the bad temper—everything which ought not to be there—engendered at some of the so-called friendly games between young people. That is not play, healthy relaxation—"sport"—it is just a vexation and an abuse of the term. All games properly played should be just as much a development of the character as of the body. The "good sport" is the boy or girl, or man or woman for that matter, who tries to win, indeed, but who takes defeat with a good grace. It is not the person who is for ever bragging about his own prowess and be-littling the skill of others. To "play the game" is to do one's best and to accept the result cheerfully, whatever it may be. To take play too seriously is to mistake its purpose. There should be times when every one should entirely unbend. The wisest of men find it necessary to discard their seriousness now and again. "It is sweet to play the fool on occasion," says Horace. Don't be ashamed to really play, therefore, even to "play the fool"—you will be all the fitter for work for so doing. The only bounds which need be observed are the bounds of decency and honor.

GETTING TOGETHER.

The conference to be held next month in Moncton, N. B., at which representatives from the three Maritime Provinces will endeavor to come to a common agreement on a line of policy which, while mutually beneficial to themselves, will serve the best interests of the Dominion as a whole, is regarded as somewhat unnecessary and practically foredoomed to failure in some quarters, says the Hamilton Spectator. The conference is to be non-political in character and aims to discover that middle course of conciliation and compromise which, in controversial matters, is most likely to bring about harmony and progress. Chief of these controversial subjects is, undoubtedly, the tariff. It is hoped that other conferences similar to that at Moncton will be held in other parts of the country, the various findings to be submitted to the consideration of a general conference which will take place at some central point—Winnipeg is suggested—after all the Provincial reports have come in, with the idea of formulating a national economic policy acceptable to the entire country. "We had supposed that the present tariff schedule aimed at this very thing," declares a leading Government organ. "It is attacked by high protectionists and by Western free traders because it is based on the principle of compromise. What are the improvements that will strengthen national unity?" Surely, the present economic position is not such that even the staunchest friend of the administration will claim perfection for it, however; it is obviously capable of vast improvement and suggestions are in order.

When people feel themselves aggrieved, it is natural for them to get together and talk over their troubles. The Maritime Provinces make no secret of the fact that they are dissatisfied, and it is to their credit that they are determined to deal with their problems on broad national lines. If, later on, east and west and centre meet together in friendly discussion, with the set purpose of reaching a satisfactory solution of their difficulties, it would seem that nothing but good could result. What the West thinks of the Moncton conference and of the broader scheme which, it is hoped, will evolve from it, may be gathered from the remarks of the Calgary Herald, which commends the Maritimes for the thorough way they are going about their tasks, "with broader than purely local vision." In the same spirit, it is urged, Canada as a whole should undertake an unprejudiced examination of the national problems. "Each section of the Dominion cannot have all that it would like to have. One has to give as well as take in a Dominion so large and with interests so distinct," proceeds the Western newspaper. "f the national interest is to be served and not the purely Provincial interest, or selfish industrial interest, all these problems will have to be examined with something of the spirit of compromise that was displayed at the time of Confederation, when, as Sir John A. Macdonald said, 'an ardent desire was displayed to approach the subject honestly, and to attempt to work out some solution which might relieve Canada from the evils under which she then labored.'"

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The strawberry crop in Western Ontario is said to be a failure, which means a lot of people are going to go short on strawberry shortcake.

One hundred and twenty-five thousand Saskatchewan people have petitioned for the completion of the Hudson Bay Railway. Sounds big, but a petition the other way would command a lot of Eastern names.

A THOUGHT.

So many people mistake the true meaning of happiness. So many feel that happiness can be bought and paid for.

I. Pleasure has a price, enjoyment a place, but happiness is the spirit of sentiment that binds human hearts together.

When we graciously give happiness to others, happiness generously comes back to us. Keep your happiness to yourself and it will sour. It is by giving happiness to others that we hold happiness in our own hearts. Happiness is one thing that we cannot hoard.

When health is present, where actual necessities are not needed or unreasonable desires not nourished, any person has an oportunity to be happy, if he will only practice the plan of trying to make others happy.

Robinson Crusoe could not be happy even with the wealth of that wonderful island. Fate had given him beautiful flowers, wonderful scenes, but no companions, and, of course, Crusoe was a miserable man. He could share no happiness with others.

II. The ambition to acquire great power or accumulate much money; an effort to experience unbounded indulgence of any one appetite or desire, may bring satisfaction or pleasure, but this is not true happiness.

ence to "recent slanders on the Presbyterians," but the Assembly dropped the words. The book of praise was referred to the Commission of Assembly for safeguarding Presbyterian interests. It was stated that in all western union churches the Methodist book of praise was being introduced.

Rev. Dr. Robert Johnston of Calgary moved that the Presbyterian Church expresses the desire to work in harmony with all other Christian churches, particularly the United Church.

The Moderator thought this should wait a while. The Assembly thought the same and the motion did not go to a vote. Rev. S. Banks Nelson said there had been no sympathy expressed from the Union Church, and it wasn't time to meet yet. Dr. Johnston thought the Presbyterian Church should be big enough to take the initiative.

The Assembly also passed a motion of thanks to the Anglicans, Baptists and other communions for their kind assistance in giving building accommodation to so many Presbyterian minorities.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, June 17. — While there are still plenty of cattle in the market and plenty to come, the overload from the recent hot spell is gradually working down. There was a slightly better feeling in the trade to-day and the fresh light choice butcher stuff was freely taken at prices steady with yesterday's market. Stale cattle still drag badly but with moderate fresh receipts for the balance of the week and cooler weather a fair clean up will be effected. Choice light butchers steady from $6.75 to $7.35. Rough heavy, stale cattle from $5.50 to $6.

Choice fat butcher cows $4.75 to $5.75.

Calves firmer at $8 to $9, tops.

Hogs firm at $11.75 f.o.b., a few going at $12.

Export cattle steady, but trade quieter to-day, a few loads going at from $7.50 to $8.25. Quota required for this week's shipments is probably

EGG MARKETS.

OTTAWA, June 17. Canadian Press. — The reports of storage stocks in Canada and the United States on June 1st does not seem to have made any impression upon the market. Prices continue very steady and inclined to advance for the higher grades. A sale is reported of a car of Ontario firsts at 33c delivered Toronto in export cases.

Toronto firm and unchanged.

Montreal dealers paying delivered, extras 34, firsts 32, seconds 27, jobbing extras 37, firsts 35, seconds 30.

Winnipeg jobbing extras 30, firsts 29, seconds 26.

Edmonton: Jobbing extras 37; firsts 32, seconds 27.

STERLING EXCHANGE.

Sterling demand, $4.85 5-8.

Sterling cables, $4.86.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, June 17. — There was some demand from foreign buyers for Canadian grain here yesterday and on the further decline in prices at Winnipeg exporters in a few cases were in a position to work a few odd loads of Manitoba spring wheat, oats and barley to the United Kingdom and the continent, but the general volume of business on the whole was small. The only business of importance in the domestic cash grain market was a sale of 50,000 bushels No. 1 feed oats at a C.I.F. price Montreal. The car lot trade was dull and the tone weak, prices declining 1½ to 2 1-2c per bushel.

A stronger feeling prevailed in the local egg situation and wholesale prices for some grades were advanced 1c per dozen. The demand was steady for small lots and a fair amount of business was done. There continues to be a steady enquiry from foreign buyers for supplies of cold storage eggs for fall shipment, and the opinion of some in the trade is that a larger volume of business in this direction has been done than expected. The receipts were 3,37- cases as against 2741 for the same day last week, and 7026 for the corresponding day a year ago.

The receipts of butter yesterday were 4769 packages, as against 1946 for the same day last week. A fair amount of business continues to be done for both local and export account and the market was moderately active with no important change in prices to note. In a wholesale jobbing way the market was steady and prices were advanced 1c per lb., with a steady demand for small lots to meet actual wants and sales of finest creamery were made at 36c per lb. in solid packages and at 37c per lb in 1 lb. blocks.

The receipts of cheese yesterday were 18,074 boxes as compared with 15,517 for the same day last week and 14,754 for the corresponding day a year ago. A slightly easier feeling prevailed in the market and sellers in some cases showed a disposition to shade prices which according to some in the trade indicated that the edge was off the demand from foreign buyers, and that business was quieter. Storage western cheese was quoted at 19 3-4c per lb.

Beans were quoted at 2.65 per bushel.

CHEESE BOARDS.

WOODSTOCK, June 17. — Canadian Press. — The offerings of cheese on the board were 1840 boxes for which 18½c per lb. was bid, but no sales were made.

AUTOMOBILE FERRY CAN'T MATERIALIZE

C.N.R. Officials Informed Cost Would be Prohibitive —Local Question.

The Examiner learns that Major G. A. Bell, Deputy Minister of Railways and Canals, and a Director of the Canadian National Railways, considers the car ferry project at Rochester impossible to carry out as at present proposed. He states that the C.N.R. have been advised that the cost of converting the ferries plying between Rochester and Cobourg to auto-carrying vessels, as well as other expenses on the United States side, would make the change prohibitive.

It is said that these ferries, being equipped for carrying railway cars only, make it practically impossible to change their form without substantially rebuilding them.

The City Council, Peterborough Branch of the O.M.L. and other organizations have been active in endeavouring to secure the transportation of automobiles at this point, and G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P. has recently pushed the case in Ottawa.

GARDEN PARTY WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

Weather Was Threatening, But Attendance and Entertainment Were Good.

CAVAN, June 17. — The garden party at Cavan on Monday evening, in spite of threatening weather, was a success.

There was a baseball game between the Bethany Public School team and Cavan, resulting in a score of eleven-ten in favor of Bethany.

Supper was served in the basement of the Community Hall.

The auditorium of the hall was well filled for the programme, which was given by the Baraca Class of Murray Street Baptist Church, Peterboro.

The programme, which was nicely carried out, was much enjoyed.

Miss Hannah Henpeck and Miss Ima Pumpkin, characters in the mock trial, were much admired, for their costumes, beauty and deportment.

The heat was so excessive that it made it hard for those taking part in the programme, but it was given with so much courtesy and good cheer that every person enjoyed and appreciated it.

Miscellaneous Shower.

Mrs. Robert McCamus, Ida, entertained recently in honor of Miss Luella Staples, whose marriage will take place this month.

Eighteen ladies were invited. In the centre of a large tea table was what appeared to be a large wedding cake, the bottom story of which of which concealed a drawer. In this drawer was a number of articles forming a miscellaneous shower for Miss Staples, who was taken completely by surprise. The esteem in which she is held was shown by the beautiful gifts which she received.

DOURO REUNION OPEN NEXT WEEK

Big Sports Days—Wonderful Exhibits—Splendid Programme Provided.

STARTS TUESDAY

Douro's re-union and centennial celebration opens on June 23 for a three day run of retrospect, re-union, and recreation. There will be a big programme every day, arranged by committees under P. G. Towns, who is to be credited with the greater part of the work of organization.

On Tuesday next there will be addresses at 10 o'clock, first by the President of the re-union, then by old boys and girls who have come back to celebrate. From one o'clock on the day is given over to sports of all kinds.

On Wednesday the sports start at 10 a.m., and at 2 p.m. G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P.; G. A. Brethen, M.P.; Colonel Johnston, M.P.P., and other speakers will be heard, followed by more sports.

On Thursday, the entire day is given over to sports.

Peterborough is taking a prominent part in the celebration, since so many of its best citizens were born within Douro's fertile borders. And to those who attend probably the most interesting feature of the while affair will be, not the sports but the exhibits of implements wherewith their fathers cleared the farms whereon they were raised and tilled the soil that supplied their needs. There are prizes galore offered for every conceivable point of superiority shown by the largest families, the longest distance travelled, and so on. There will be old-time dancing; a concert every night, fireworks, and meals cooked by ladies who have had the knack of the old days passed down to them.

Europe has used gas since 1810.

LOOK FURTHER INTO DISPOSAL OF CANTEEN MONEY

Dominion Secretary G.W.V.A. Was Questioned By Members of Committee.

TOLD OF WORK.

OTTAWA, June 17 (Canadian Press).—Further enquiry by the special committee of the Senate into an accounting of monies received by the Great War Veterans' Association from the canteen and disable-funds, and proceeds from the sale of poppies, was continued yesterday afternoon. C. Grant McNeil, Dominion secretary, G.W.V.A., and T. C. Lapp, managing editor of The Veteran, testified. Adjournment was then made until this morning, when it was expected that the taking of evidence in the enquiry would be completed.

Mr. McNeil, in reply to Capt. J. T. Shaw, M.P., counsel for the G.W.V.A., gave evidence in respect to the activities of the association in Canada, and the cases handled through the adjustment bureau at Ottawa. The adjustment service bureau at Ottawa, he stated, had handled approximately 150,000 claims. This bureau had never been under the control of the Dominion Veterans' Alliance.

Questioned by the chairman, Senator Belcourt, witness stated that the association had had a disagree-

DENY REPORT OF INCREASED RATE

Minister of Railways Corrects Story About Cattle Shipping to U. K.

RAISE WITHDRAWN.

OTTAWA, June 17 (Canadian Press)—The report that the conference of steamship lines had raised the rate on cattle from Canada to the United Kingdom above $20 to $25 a head was corrected by Hon. George P. Graham, Minister of Railways, in the House of Commons yesterday. The matter was brought up by Harry Leader (Progressive, Portage La Prairie), who read a newspaper item containing the report and asked whether the government was aware of this increase and whether they were taking steps in protest.

"A telegram as received Monday by the Minister of Agriculture," replied Mr. Graham, "saying that only one line had increased its rate on cattle and that tht increase had immediately been withdrawn. On reading the item a day or two ago," he added, "I wired the President of the Canadian National Railays, under whose jurisdiction the Canadian Government Merchant Marine operates, that the rate on cattle must not exceed the rate in force in May."

MORE BUILDING IN CANADA IN MAY

Slight Increase in Permits Over April and Over May of Last Year.

OTTAWA, June 17.— (Canadian Press.)—There was a slight increase in the value of the building permits issued in 60 cities during May as compared with April, 1925, and the total was also higher than in the same month of last year, which is the more significant comparison, says the Bureau of Statistics.

The building authorized was valued at $15,296,080 during the month under review; this was $253,561 or 1.7 per cent. higher than the April, 1925, aggregate of $15,042,519, and $674,980 or 4.6 per cent. above the total for May, 1924, of $14,621,100.

FLOOD SPOILED LARGE PORTION DISTRICT CROPS

White and Birch River Districts Are Being Uncovered as Waters Recede.

BOY MISSING.

Five Year Old Lad Has Been Missing Since Last Week —Believed Drowned.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 17 (Canadian Press)—Seventy-five per cent of the crops in the White and Birch River districts were completely ruined by the floods of last week, according to a report submitted by C. S. Prodan to the provincial government yesterday. Mr. Prodan had charge of relief operations in the inundated area.

More than three hundred acres were flooded, causing considerable property damage and loss of stock. White Mr. Prodan indicated that floods were an annual occurence in these districts, the situation last week was the worst experienced in the history of the settlement. Many of the families, who are entirely dependent upon their crops for livelihood, have been reduced to destitution. Twenty-seven families now are being cared for by the Provincial Government Relief Bureau.

Failure to locate fiveyear-old Tony Skawionyk, of Reynolds, Man., has led to the belief that he was drowned during the height of last week's floods. During the past two days the waters have been rapidly receding and the Whitemouth River is again nearing its normal level.

CATERPILLARS HOLD UP FREIGHT TRAIN

Half Cars Had to be Left Before Engine Broke Through.

REGINA, Sask., June 17.—(Canadian Press).—Myriads of tent caterpillars swarming across the Canadian Pacific railway track near Lemberg, Sask., halted traffic temporarily, when the drive-wheel of a freight train failed to function on the greasy rails. The trains made several futile attempts to plow through the mass, but without success. Efforts to brush the caterpillars from the tracks with brooms were also abandoned as fruitless, when the creepers numbering millions continued to swarm across the rails.

The train which consisted of a locomotive and fifty empty box cars finally succeeded in backing up to Lemberg and discharged half the cars. Then tearing down the track at high speed, the train was able to skid along the track and continue its journey.

Reports from the train crew state that practically all the trees in the district have been denuded of foliage and that the whole country presents a forlorn and blighted appearance.

MARK HISTORIC WESTERN SITES

First Mounted Police Post, Old Forts and Mackenzie Rock.

TO BE PRESERVED

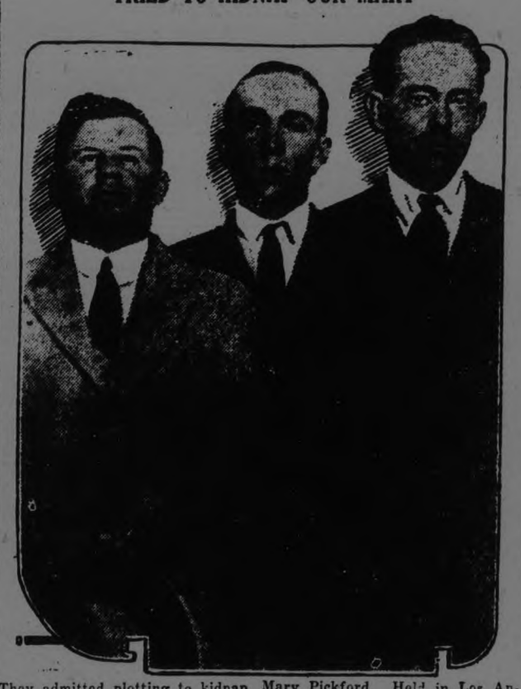
WINNIPEG, June 17 (Canadian Press).—Sites of historical importance throughout Western Canada are being appropriately marked for the benefit of posterity, according to Judge Howay of New Westminster, B.C., Western representative of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada.

Fort Walsh, the first Mounted Police post, he said, was being marked and a tablet had been placed at Fort Livingstone, where Lieut.-Governor Laird was sworn in and the first territorial council met in 1876. Tablets were now in position at Battleford, Batoche and Cutknife, commemorating events connected with the Riel Rebellion. Judge Howay also intimated that the Riel Rebellion sites at Duck Lake and Fish Creek and the spot where one of the treaties was signed by which the Government acquired the right to Indian lands were also to be called to the attention of posterity by permanent memorials.

In Manitoba the sites to be marked included Fort Rouge, Fort Douglas and Fort Gibraltar. In Alberta there were Fort Macleod, the first Mounted Police post in the territory; Jasper House, founded about 1793, and Frog Lake, the scene of the massacre in 1885. At Gleichen or Blackfoot Crossing, a tablet will be placed to indicate the spot where the Blackfeet signed the treaty.

In British Columbia, the exact rock on which Mackenzie recorded the successful terminatfon of the first crossing of this continent from the Atlantic to the Pacific has been identified, and Mackenzie's original inscription will be reproduced on it. Nootka Sound, where Captain Cook landed in 1778; Langley, where Simpson built a Hudson's Bay fort in 1827 to recapture the fur trade, and Prosper Point, Vancouver Harbor, where the Beaver, the first steamer to ply in the Pacific Ocean, was wrecked, all will be designated by tablets or memorials.

TRIED TO KIDNAP OUR MARY



They admitted plotting to kidnap Mary Pickford. Held in Los Angeles jail, Claude A. Holcomb, Adrian A. "Billy" Woods and C. Z. Stevens say they would have demanded $200,000 ransom. If they had succeeded, they add, they would next have kidnapped Pola Negri, Jackie Coogan and the two grandchildren of E. L. Doheny, oil king.

STARTING WORK OF MAINTENANCE IN MINES AGAIN

Power Houses Are Being Manned Under Protection of Armed Soldiers.

QUIET DAY.

Interest Centres on Efforts of Hon. James Murdock to Learn Facts.

SYDNEY, N.S., June 17. (Canadian Press).—Maintenance work was being resumed yesterday in several of the collieries of the British Empire Steel Corporation, which have been idle since the strike of the United Mine Workers of America, District 26, last March, and which have not been pumped or ventilated for nearly two weeks, owing to the activities of picketing strikers. Under the protection of armed members of various branches of the Canadian permanent army, the colliery fires were being stoked and arrangements made to operate one of the big power houses at Glace Bay to generate enough energy to operate the electrical pumps in the collieries in that area.

The day passed without event so far as disorders were concerned, and the centre of interest in Cape Breton was Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor in the Canadian Government, who arrived in Sydney yesterday morning and immediately set about acquainting himself with the situation and arranging interviews with the heads of the disputing parties. No official statement had been given out early last evening as to any conclusions reached by the Minister of Labor.

There were rumors afloat yesterday that a party of the Royal Canadian Dragoons stationed at Sydney Mines had been stoned, and that one trooper had been hit, but police and other officials did not confirm the report. Last night the Cape Breton colliery area was experiencing a drenching and prolonged downpour of rain and with the troopers and police in evidence at every point where disorders might be anticipated, the outlook for a quiet night was good.

HANG TWO MEN FRIDAY MORNING

Instructions Given to Take all Precautions Necessary For Execution.

HANGMAN HIRED.

MONTREAL, June 17. (Canadian Press).—Instructions to take all precautions necessary for the execution of Henri Messier and Hermenegilde Dufault, who will be hanged Friday morning at Sorel for the murder of Emile Pelletier, have been received from the Attorney-General by Chief Lorrain of the Provincial Police.

Hangman Ellis has been engaged for the execution.

It was reported yesterday that the two condemned men seemed to be resigned to their fate. Dufault continued to profess his innocence.

The sister of Henri Messier arrived in Montreal Monday to make further representations to the Canadian Prisoners' Welfare Association for the purpose of enlisting their aid in a last minute attempt to save her brother from the scaffold.

WHAT IS MAN?

BURNBRAE, June 17.—Rev. D. A. McKenzie spoke on Sunday from the text, "What is Man?" He stressed the mental and spiritual needs of man as being of infinitely more importance than his physical requirements. He made an especial plea for clean minds, free from all thought of deceit or untruthfulness.

NEXT MEETING OF ASSEMBLY WILL BE IN MONTREAL

Work of Church Has Just Begun, Said Moderator in Address.

VOTES OF THANKS.

Various Men and Organizations Thanked—No Message For United Church.

TORONTO, June 17. (Canadian Press).—The Presbyterian Assembly concluded its work yesterday afternoon and adjourned until next June, to meet in Montreal. Rev. Dr. Ephriam Scott, the Moderator, said just before adjournment, that although the Assembly had concluded its work the work of the Church was just beginning. He said that he had missed only a couple of Assemblies in the last 50 years, but that he had never seen one where there was more enthusiasm than at this one.

Appointments took up most of the afternoon. Dr. A. S. Grant of Toronto, was appointed secretary of the Mission Committee. In moving the appointment, Rev. Dr. S. Banks Nelson of Hamilton paid a tribute to the work of Dr. Grant, both in the old Church as the man who had built up "without the sound of a hammer" the continuing Church. "You can't beat him for efficiency and he will have plenty of asssistance," said Dr. Nelson. Dr. Grant upon his acceptance of the office was given a rousing reception. "I would be more a coward if I did not accept, and all that I can say is that I am among you as one who serves," he said.

The following missionaries were appointed for the synods for organization work: Maritime Province, Rev. F. G. MacKintosh; Montreal, Rev. A. S. Reid; Saskatchewan, Rev. W. A. Cameron; Alberta, Dr. M. White. The organizer for British Columbia will be appointed later.

The Assembly went on record in the temperance question by passing the same resolution as was passed by the Assembly last year. This resolution expressed confidence in prohibition as the proper policy for Canada. A resolution of thanks to Prof. J. G. Machan of Princeton University for getting pulpit supply for the Maritime Provinces was passed. An advisory committee to the Church representatives on the Federal Commission was also appointed. A motion of thanks to Rev. J. W. McNamara, who has been organizer for the continuing Church was passed. T. McMillan, Toronto, said that much of the success was due to the efforts of Mr. McNamara.

There was also a vote of thanks to Rev. A. J. MacGillivray of Guelph, who has been acting as head of the Home Mission Committee. The next Assembly, it was decided, shall consist of one in three ministers and one in three elders.

Rev. Norman McEachren of Toronto, in moving the temperance resolution, prefaced it with a refer-

MORE PIG IRON IN PAST MONTH

DOWN FOR YEAR.

OTTAWA, June 17. Canadian Press. — During the month of May the production of pig iron in Canada was, according to the bureau of Statistics, 63,204 long tons. This output exceeded the 60,065 tons of April by 5 per cent, and with the exception of the 63,932 tons of March this year was the greatest tonnage recorded since May, 1924.

During the month under review no foundry or malleable iron was produced, the entire output consisting of basic pig iron made for the further use of the reporting firms.

For the five months ending May the cumulative production was 245,000 tons as compared with 370,142 tons in the same period last year.

The year's output to date has consisted of 213,791 tons basic iron, 18,621 tons foundry iron and 12,597 tons of malleable iron.

AVIATORS WAIT CALM WEATHER

Icy Winds Have Halted Seaplanes Which Will Search For Amundsen.

MOORED IN BAY.

ADVENT BAY, Spitzbergen, June 17. (Canadian Press). — Icy blasts from the east Spitzbergen glaciers yesterday tossed the two seaplanes of the Norwegian Govenment's expedition which is to search for the Amundsen North Pole explorers, as they lay moored to their buoys in the bay here. There has been no flying done since Sunday afternoon, when the aviators took a few spins.

There is talk among the fliers of making a dash over the inland glaciers from Advent Bay straight for King's Bay, about 30 miles to the north. The trial spins supposedly revealed the possibility of such a flight.

Swam Five Miles To Save Companions From Sharks

LAHANA, Island of Maura, Hawaii, June 17.—(Canadian Press).—When a Sampan overturned in the swift current of Molokai Island Sunday night, fifteen of the occupants of the craft clung to it while their extremities dangled in the dark infested waters.

Eugene Dauvauchellen 40, made a daring swim of five miles to Moloaki Island, ran overland for several miles, organized a relief party, cruised to the rescue and saved ten of his companions. The shark-torn bodies of two members of the party, one a woman, were recovered. Five persons were drowned in the current. The survivors were in the water for ten hours

FRENCH TROOPS STILL KEEPING ENEMY IN CHECK

Riffians Are Being Pushed Back in Some Sectors of Front.

SPANISH ATTACKED.

Forts and Convoys Are Being Fired on by Enemy Tribesmen.

FEZ, Morocco, June 17.—(Canadian Press).—The French official communication issued yesterday dealing with the operations between the French forces and the rebel tribesmen, says:

"The French troops operating on the Ouezzan sector for the past few days have kept the enemy everywhere in check, assuring entire security on that part of the front and pushing back the Riffians all along the line and inflicting severe losses upon them.

"Groups operating along the Ouergha River were dispersed by the French, the Riffians fleeing in to the mountains."

ATTACK SPANIARDS.

MADRID, June 17.—(Canadian Press).—An official statement issued by the War Office yesterday says the rebel tribesmen in Morocco yesterday made a violent attack on the Spanish position at Maxara Alalex, but that the Spanish garrison defeated them, suffering only four casualties. The statement confirms previous reports that the rebel casualties in their defeat at the Beni Hozmar position on Friday were considerable.

The statement adds that the tribesmen are pressing the Spanish forts both in the eastern and western zone of the protectorate, but that the garrisons are fully prepared to repel all attacks.

Spanish convoys entrusted with the task of relieving Spanish advance posts at Ben Karrich were fired upon and attacked by a large enemy contingent. The tribesmen, however, were put to flight, suffering heavy loses. They left behind them three dead and one man wounded. The Spanish casualties numbered ten Europeans and thirty natives killed or wounded.

TIME OF PRAYER SET APART BY UNITED CHURCH

Two Weeks in October Recommended by Committee on Life and Work.

LAY ASSOCIATIONS.

TORONTO, June 17. (Canadian Press).—As a period of prayer and consecration for the United Church it was recommended at the meeting of the General Council yesterday afternoon that the two weeks, from October 4 to October 18, inclusive, should be set apart. The recommendation was contained in the report of the committee on the life and work of the Church, and was accepted, along with other suggestions, which Rev. Dr. C. W. Gordon of Winnipeg prayed would not be considered as "pietistic commonplaces and platitudes." During this period it was asked that there should be a re-consecration of spiritual life, a re-visualisation of the task of the Church and a re-dedication of the entire membership to God. The Moderator, whom it was expected would be elected by ballot at last evening's meeting, was authorized to prepare this call to prayer and prepare a statement of the Church's task.

The committee, which had referred to it at the morning session, the motion of Judge Chesley calling for the abolishing of cadet training in the schools, recommended that it be transmitted to the presbyteries for consideration. With respect to the question of lay associations, the committee recommended the formation of such associations in connection with the Conference and Presbyteries of the United Church.

The Committee on Publications was reporting when the Council rose the Methodist Book Steward, Dr. S. W. Fallis, having stated that the Methodist Church had a two million dollar equity in the Publishing House in Toronto, with a turnover last year of a million dollars and a payroll of $10,000 a week. He hoped that too much would not be expected of the new paper immediately and that there would be no demands for regional papers to begin with.

When do you enjoy Coca-Cola most?

Thousands of answers are arriving daily. They are coming from all over the Dominion. The Coca-Cola contest is proving the most popular ever conducted in Canada. Wherever happy-hearted people are gathered together, someone is sure to ask: "When do you enjoy Coca-Cola most?"

Have You Sent in Your Answer?

Could you imagine a more interesting five minutes than to sit down and write your answer to this question?

The contest is proving as popular with high school boys and girls as with grown-ups. The answer of a boy or a girl is just as likely to be interesting as that of someone of mature years.

What is Coca-Cola?

The description of this beverage is as well known as its name. It is "delicious and refreshing". It is a blend of pure products from nature—with nothing artificial in it. And it is prepared in clean, modern plants where every possible precaution is taken to safeguard its purity and goodness. Read the regulations of this contest and send in your answer to:

Contest Department
The Coca-Cola Company of Canada, Ltd.
90 Broadview Ave. - Toronto, Ont.

Regulations for this Contest

1. This contest is open to everybody within the Dominion, except employes of The Coca-Cola Company. No answers from countries outside the Dominion will be considered. All answers will be acknowledged.
2. The contest opens June 10th, 1925, and continues until July 20th, 1925. All answers, to be considered, must be in the mails before midnight of the latter date. Names of the winners will be published, and prize checks mailed, as soon after that as possible.
3. Answers may be of any length up to 300 words—the shorter and simpler the better.
4. Write plainly—on one side of the paper only. Number each page, and pin them all together. Put your name and address plainly at the top of the first page.
5. State name of newspaper in which you saw this advertisement.
6. No answers will be returned. All answers become the property of The Coca-Cola Company of Canada, Ltd., with the writers' permission to publish all or any part of same.
7. The names of the judges will be announced later.
8. All answers must be mailed, with postage prepaid, to: Contest Department, The Coca-Cola Company of Canada, Ltd., 90 Broadview Ave., Toronto, Ont.

FARM NEWS AND PROBLEMS

SELL BROILERS VERY QUICKY TO MAKE MONEY

Some Breeds Will Not Be Profitable if Kept and Sold as Roasters.

HIGH PRICES.

It Will Pay to Feed Them Specially For Two Weeks Before Selling.

Now is the time to be selling the broilers. If there is a market for these young cockerels see about supplying it. It pays better to sell now, rather than later, all chicks intended for the table, and as for breeds such as the Leghorn, one cannot afford to keep them until fall and then sell for the price of roasters.

If a market is not already arranged, it would be well to see about it at once. Usually the broiler market should not be too far away. The best places to look for customers are as follows (named in order of highest prices):—private families, clubs, high-class hotels, summer hotels, high-class boarding houses; dealers, etc.

The best time to sell the broilers is when they weigh from one to two pounds each. The earlier in the season, the smaller the weight that will be taken, and the larger the price.

The most satisfactory way to market is to kill and dress before shipment, (all but dealers require them dressed), but for longer distances, and in warm weather especially, if sold to dealers, they may go alive.

Before selling the broilers it will pay to give them specia feed ng for 10 to 15 days. In exper ments conducted at the Dominion Experimental Farm, Ottawa, it was shown that a good feed was made up of equal parts of corn meal, feed flour and middlings. To this was added 15 per cent of tankage (or beef-scrap), and the whole mixed with buttermilk. One part of the dry mash to two parts of the milk by weight is the right proportion. This mixture proved better than prepared commercial mixtures and fed three times a day to broilers weighing at the start less than two pounds, gave in 14 days an average gain of a little over 3½ pounds at a cost of feed of less than 5 cents. At the price sold, (50 cents per pound) there was a profit of 29½ cents on the feeding operation.

The feeding in ordinary fattening crates gave slightly better returns than the feeding in pens, and the heavy breeds gave better returns than the light breeds.

MENIE BREEDERS HOLD FIELD DAY

WILL BE SPORTS

BONAR LAW, June 17.—The Menie District Ayrshire Breeders' Club will hold its annual field day Friday, June 26, at the home of William Stewart Sr., known as the Menie Stock yards. Mr. Stewart is the oldest Ayrshire breeder in the district and was most instrumental in organizing the Menie Club many years ago. His farm is situated in the 5th Con. of Seymour, lot 26, just 2 miles north of Hoards Station. Mr. Stewart while up in his seventies is a very enthusiastic breeder and has a splendid young herd coming on. To those from a distance and those not acquainted with the district it is suggested that they spend the day and visit the herds in the district.

Alex Hume's Humeshaugh farm is just one mile north of Mr. Stewart's. The Humeshaugh herd is a large herd of splendid type and quality and will worth calling to see, also the herds of Robt. Little, Trent View farm; E. A. McCook, Pine Grove farm, John Locke's president of the club and Charlie Macoun, Mackland farm are all situated around Campbellford.

W. F. Stephen, Secretary of the Ayrshire breeder's Association of Canada from Huntingdon Que. will be present and address the breeders. Also Geo. W. Muir, animal husbandman, Central Experimental farm, Ottawa will be present and along with Mr. Stephen will take charge of a judging class. Last but not least and to the young boys and girls, most important, a baseball match will be held between the Rylstone and Seymour West team's which are both playing in the Seymour League this year. This game will be a league game and both team's have already expressed their determined opinion of having the strongest line-ups of players in hand, and bound to win the game.

A very cordial invitation is extended to every one by the members of the club. Mr. Stewart wants to see a bumper crowd and invites every one, whether breeding Ayrshires or not to be sure and attend a day full of interest to fairymen and sports for all.

Remember the date—June 26th.

Wild mustard is not hard to get rid of. After the grain crop is removed, cultivate to make the mustard-seed sprout, then plow the young plants under before they produce seed. Mustard in grain can be killed by spraying with copper-sulphate, twelve to 15 pounds in 50 gallons of water, put on at the rate of 50 gallons per acre. Use a sprayer to do the work, and spray when the mustard is in the second leaf, before the grain heads. Cut all plants in fence corners; do not let any go to seed.

GETTING RID OF ANTS

These pests quickly disappear if whole cloves are sprinkled on the pantry shelves or any place that the ants frequent. This remedy is quick, clean and certain.

Rich At Last!

After 40 years of toil on their 200-acre farm at High Island, Tex., Mr. and Mrs. George E. Smith stand to become millionaires. Oil has been struck on their land and they have already been paid $50,000. Smith is 69 and his wife is 68.

FARMERS LOOK FOR BIG CROPS OF ALL KINDS

Grains, Fruits and Vegetables Are All Growing Rapidly Now.

PASTURE GOOD.

Dairy Farmers Have Plenty of Milk Which Brings a High Price.

BURNBRAE, June 17.—The showers of the 14th and 15th have given the crops another boost and have undone most of the harm resulting from the hot, dry period at the first of the month. Most of the grain is of excellent color, and is growing fast, while the later clovers and timothy are coming on fast.

A few farmers have already begun cutting alfalfa and others are ready to start when the weather settles. Alfalfa is in bloom at about the same time as in other years, but is shorter than usual, owing to the late start. Sweet clover is also coming in bloom, and gives promise of a good crop, being shorter and consequently of finer quality than in former years. In the year 1922 sweet clover cutting began on June 6 and some of the stands were over six feet in height with stalks broad in proportion. This proved a lesson to the average grower, and thicker seeding followed which has resulted in the finer stands seen throughout the district this season. A number of farmers, tempted by the high price of red clover seed, intend cuttng their first crop of red clover before June 25 to give the seed crop an early start.

Although a few farmers have not yet planted their corn, the majority have completed this job and are being repaid for their hard work by the rapid growth this week. With ideal weather conditions, the growth of all corn, root and potato crops has been exceptionally good to date.

Lots of Strawberries.

A bumper crop of strawberries has been assured by this last rain and picking has already commenced. The plants carried heavy blossom this spring which was fortunately not injured by the frost and are therefore so well loaded with berries that a low price looks almost certain.

One somewhat discouraged feature of the farm situation at present, is the over-abundant crop of noxious weeds. The cold, backward spring retarded the growth of grain without holding back the weeds and as a result many formerly clean fields are badly infested, particularly by the thistle family. That perennial pest, "Sow Thistle," is perhaps the worst enemy of the local farmer. It is particularly adapted to the low clay loam flats which are so common here and often succeeds in completely choking out the grain crop in some patches as is the case this year. Various means of combating the weed have been tried, but the most successful seems to be a short summer-fallow seeded to buckwheat about the first of July. The buckwheat acts as a smother and usually leaves a clean field for a few years at least. The advantage of this plan over the bare summer-fallow is that the buckwheat provides a ready cash crop in addition to cleaning the land.

Pastures Good.

Pastures are growing fast and in most cases are gaining on the cattle. As a consequence the milk flow is assuming more of the usual June proportions. The dairy situation is the bright feature of the agriculturist's life to-day. With cows on good pasture and producing at a minimum of cost, he sees a chance to even up for some of the high-priced feed that those same cows swallowed up last winter.

The cheese market is very brisk, prices jumping from slightly over 18 cents to almost 19½ in one week. Those in touch with the cheese industry say there is every reason to believe that the prices will hold or even go slightly higher as there is a strong demand for good No. 1 quality Canadian cheese.

RAISE YOUR OWN SEED AND HAVE GOOD SELECTION

Some Seed Is Not What It Is Represented as When Sold.

NOT LABORIOUS.

Careful Attention Will Result in High Standard of Purity.

(Experimental Farms Note)

Despite the careful and ea nest supervision, exercised by inspectors and seedsmen, in the buying and inspection of field root and vegetable seed, much of the seed offered for retail sale is in Canada not as represented. It often turns out to be another variety entirely, or is badly mixed and the resulting crop contains a high percentage of undesirable types. Of two hundred and twenty-nine varieties of field roots obtained from seedsmen, and tested during the past four years at the Dominion Experimental Station, Lennoxville, Que., only twenty-three have shown a reasonable trueness to type. Of the remaining two hundred and six, a few proved to be merely incorrectly named, but the majority were composed in part, or were wholly, of types entirely different from the recognized type of the variety they were supposed to represent. This unreliability of ordinary commercial seed is also found to a somewhat lesser extent with many species of vegetables.

The result of mixing, careless selection of seed stock or incorrect naming of seed is often more serious than would at first be supposed. Where a crop is composed of mixed types it is usually found that the majority of the foreign types are of an inferior nature and seriously depreciate the yield and quality of the crop. As an instance of this, of two lots of Half Sugar White mangel grown at Lennoxville in 1924, one that was about ninety-five per cent true to type gave a yield of thirteen tons per acre more than the other, the crop from which was composed largely of roots representing other varieties and intermediate forms. And it should be added that the feeding value and keeping quality of the mixed lot was far the inferior of the two. Incorrect naming, although not so serious usually results in a crop of lessened value.

By growing his own seed of field roots and the common vegetables, the farmer, or gardener, has the matter of selection in his own hands. By careful, yet not aborious, attention he may not only maintain a high standard of purity and value in the seed he uses, but each variety may be gradually improved to suit the particular requirements of his farm or garden. Therefore, apart from the saving incurred by producing, instead of buying seed, it is quite possible to produce arger and more profitable crops by growing seed at home for home use.

Detailed information on this subject may be obtained from any of the Dominion Experimental Farms or Stations.—F. S. Browne, Asst. to Supt., Experimental Station, Lennoxville, Que.

FANCY PRICES FOR FRESH YOUNG LAMB

There is a limited demand at fancy prices in most Canadian cities for fresh young lamb. Like fresh fruits and vegetables, its value ascends in out-of-season periods. The demand at Christmas and Easter for this class of meat is greatest, and sheepmen situated under proper conditions would be well advised to investigate their markets for this special commodity.

During the past seven years special efforts have been made on the Agassiz Experimental Farm to raise lambs for the Easter market. The ewes are bred preferably during the first three weeks of August, the lambs arrive late in December or early in January, and with careful feeding of ewes and lambs the latter are ready for the Easter market in April. Dry sheds free from drafts, equipped with feeding troughs and lamb creeps, suitably lighted to assist in the proper caring for night-born lambs, adjacent to a well-drained, clean paddock, are essential to the proper carrying on of this work. Alfalfa or clover hay, ensilage and roots and a grain ration of oats, bran and oilcakes are particularly good feeds for the ewes, and later on for the lambs.

It is not every sheep that will breed so early in the season as August, although there are a few ewes in most breeds that will. Dorset ewes are particularly suited for this purpose. Most of them will breed at any period, and as they are prolific and good milkers, when bred to a ram of their own breed or of the more special muttonbreeds, they are especially adapted for this work.

Since 1918, 150 lambs have been reared at Agassiz, and sold for the Easter market. They averaged in weight from 44 to 68 pounds and the average returns ranged from $11 to $17.60 per lamb. The highest were received in 1920 when they sold for 40 cents per pound live weight.

Extra equipment and labor, good feeds and a special market must be provided. Ewes raising early lambs do not yield as much wool nor is the quality comparable with the wool from later lambing ewes. On the other hand, quick returns are made. Buck lambs can be disposed of early, leaving ewe lambs a better chance to thrive. Returns are often higher for 3-months-old lambs than for those kept ill fall.

Benefit and Profit For Little Girls In Having Poultry, Calves Or Other Animals For Her Own

A young girl always benefits if she has something alive to own such as poultry or a calf. In feeding and caring for what ever he owns it will make a better schoolgirl of her, a better artist, a better teacher, a better housekeeper, a better mother. She will be no less a lady because she looked after and cared for an fed some kind of farm anim when she was a little girl in a gingham dress and her hair down her back in braids or curls. But whatever she rais s, let her ke p the money when it is sold. That encourages thrift, makes work a pleasure and gives joy in owner hip. Learning to do by doing is the best kind of education—and the beauty of it is that it educates for the responsibilities of life. Such is life. Boys and girls' clubs are promoting this idea of ownership, but the same idea can be carried out even if there is no club in the community. Help your girl to find herself.

THIN FRUIT TO GET MUCH BETTER CROP

Trees Often Bloom For More Fruit Than Can Be Matured.

Thinning of fruit is sometimes necessary with apples, peaches, and plums to insure the production of the highest quality of fruit. An apple tree will often bloom for 20 times the number of apples that it could possibly mature. In some years the June drop removes about the right quantity but at other times it is necessary to thin fruit by hand to prevent the trees from breaking down and to insure well-colored fruit.

For thinning apples the best time, ordinarily, is between four and eight weeks after full bloom. Small shears or the thum and fingers may be used to clip off the excess fruit. With peaches and plums thinning lessens the danger from rot and keeps the trees from breaking. On peach trees a distance of six inches may be made between fruits.

CROPS LOOK GOOD.

WARSAW, June 17.—After the winds and intense heat the rains of the last few days have been very welcome. Despite the extremes of heat and cold the crops do look well. Where the ground was being worked for late crops the weed roots got a good scorching.

Weeds grow as fast as the crops do, and where there is wild mustard, the fields are yellow. Fortunately, just near Warsaw there does not seem to be much of it.

Ox-eye daisy, also, is showing itself, and the farmers do not admire the beauty of it.

In the warm weather people feel the jump in price of lemons. For a long time they were about thirty cents a dozen; within a week they rose to sixty cents. However, it is reported that some places in Peterboro' charge seventy-five cents.

Good, fresh eggs are bringing 26 cents a dozen.

PASTURE ABUNDANT.

Bonar Law Farmers Have More Milk Than Ever Before.

BONAR LAW, June 17.—The crops in this district are just looking their best. The abundance of rain has greatly improved everything. Hay is in fine shape and very soon the hum of the mower will be heard. The pasture has been so abundant that each and every cow is doing her duty. The supply of milk is the largest at the Maple Leaf Cheese factory that it has been since the factory was built. Times look better for the farmer as cheese is such a good price.

There is a great scarcity of pigs at the present time. The farmer seems to be more interested in veal calves. Owing to the high price of milk feed, there is not much clear profit in feeding pigs at the present prices.

Road work has begun so, between the new gravel and recent rains, our roads are not what they might be, but will soon be better after a little travel.

One farmer's wife has reported picking a few boxes of strawberries last week. The gardens are looking fine, the garden peas are in full bloom. Lettuce and onions are plentiful.

BETTER TOMATOES ARE EASILY GROWN

In most farms and village gardens the tomato plants are properly trained and fastened to stakes but little attention is paid to pruning and checking the terminal growth when the plants reach proper height. During early summer the lateral shoots should be kept closely cut off, only one stem being allowed to grow. The stakes to which the plants are trained should be one or two inches in diameter and five feet high. To this stake the stem is tied from time to time as growth progresses. Usually four ties are required from the ground to the top of the stake.

After the plant reaches the top of the stake the tip should be pinched out, thus checking further upward growth. Not that farmers or villagers do this, but doing so gives earlier maturity and larger fruit, and the yield is also greater. When the tomato vines are properly pruned to one, and never over two stems, and the laterals kept from these and the top pinched out, the yield may often be doubled over the old practice of growing more bushy vines. In the small garden it is quantity and quality of fruit that are wanted and hence the slightly more labor required for doing these things will be well repaid in the end. To the home gardener it is suggested this method of training be tried. Use it on a few plants, anyway, and compare results.

Farm Reports

Lennox and Addington.—Rain and cold weather has hampered seeding operations which will be spread over a long period as some of the grain went into the ground five weeks ago and there are farms where seeding is only commencing. In spite of this, conditions at present are favorable.

Northumberland. — Fall wheat is showing good growth and has done well during the past week. The same holds true to clover and nearly all kinds of hay crops are showing well in this County this season. Alfalfa, sweet clover, and red clover seedings are particularly good at present. Orchards have in most instances come through the winter remarkably well. Ground hogs have wrought havoc in some orchards. Evidence of a crop is that in a large number of orchards there will be a heavy crop. Trees that bore heavily last year are carrying lighter bud development than those which did not. The growth in orchards has been very slow during the past week. Spies have scarcely shown any growth at all this season while some of the other varieties such as Greenings, Starks, Baldwins and McIntosh have opened up considerable and with favorable weather conditions may be ready for a propink spray the latter part of next week. There are very few orchards in the County that are being cared for which have not already received either a dormant, delayed dormant or supplementary scab spray. Small fruits have come through the winter well and are making good growth.

Don't crowd chickens or let them crowd. Crowding the chicks results in losses from lice and mite infestation, besides the direct loss of killed chicks.

The first and best chance to force the growth of pigs is when they are three weeks old. Then they start to eat grain. Start the pigs in a creep, containing a trough with grain and skim milk.

OUTLOOK NEVER BETTER IN WEST AT THIS SEASON

Decrease in Wheat Acreage, But Gain in Coarse Grains Sown.

RAINS HELPED.

Came Just After Ideal Growing Weather and Grain Shot Up.

BRANDON. — After traveling through the Prairie Provinces for the past four weeks from Edmonton, the conviction grows that right now the Canadian West is in a better position than it has been for years. The situation in this district is definitely brighter and this is representative of the general situation throughout the Prairie Provinces.

Prominent business men of this city who know the surrounding country like a book, such as C. A. Sneath, manager of the Royal Bank, and A. Shewan, department store proprietor, state that "things never looked better." They report a 25 per cent. reduction in the wheat acreage and although this at first does not look promising, it is more than offset by an increase of over 30 per cent. in the acreage put to coarse grains. They point out that it must be remembered that 63c. oats means 63c. for the farmer; whereas $1.75 wheat means in too many cases only $1.50 for the farmer, on account of the grading which at times is alleged to be unreasonable.

It is believed here that this grading being so unsatisfactory in many cases may partially account for the decrease in wheat acreage and the increase in coarse grain acreage.

Rains have greatly benefited all crops, for coming as they have after the ideal growing weather of the past month, the grain has shot up wonderfully well. This can be said also for nearly every point visited between Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Regina, Moose Jaw and Souris. The grain too, is well-rooted and this means a great deal at this time of year, for it is generally known that grain with strong roots at this season speaks well for the harvest.

Considerable Building Going On.

Another encouraging feature is the extensive building programs that have been undertaken throughout the West in practically every large centre, commercial buildings, such as warehouses, office blocks, stores; and private residences, a goodly number of which are being built in most cities this season. Construction work of this nature is especially noticeable in Calgary and Winnipeg, it being reported officially in the latter place that more building permits have been let there this spring than in any other year since the war. Real estate also looks brighter, judging from interviews with such authorities as A. O. Arnott, of the A. O. Arnott Co.; Mr. Pearson, of the Calgary Gas Co., and Mr. Hindsley, treasurer, of the P. Burns Co. in Calgary, all of whom expressed their faith in the West's ability to "come through" this year. Several real big land deals have also been made in Calgary and Winnipeg which have been centred about important business blocks during the past few weeks.

APPLE HARVEST TO BE ABUNDANT

MILES OF FLOWERS.

COBOURG, June 17.—The apple orchards of Durham and Northumberland Counties have been a delight, and if the abundant bloom, now faded, is promise of an abundant yield, then orchardists will have a successful year. A drive through the county, notwithstanding road building and detours, was a delight. There were huge orchards, with every tree like a big bouquet, with its innumerable pink and white petals. First, the harvest apple trees were a mass of bloom, then the winter apple trees reached and passed their zenith, and the talman sweets were simply a mass of pink and white. The birds, busy because it is nesting time, and homes have to be built and baby birds fed, seem partial to the orchards. There one may see the oriole in yellow and black, the yellow warbler, the golden-winged and crimson-crested flicker and the red-breasted robbin, flashing like contrasting bits of color from tree to tree. While here and there may be seen a satin-coated blackbird. Nature's spring opening is now on, and a drive through long avenues of sweet-scented bloom, with shy violets peeping from banks above each stream, the lilacs, peonies and lilies blooming in the yards about the farm houses, with the strawberry a mass of white, would certainly open the eyes of the city dweller to the beauties of country life.

But speaking of driving brings up the matter of roads. Between Cobourg and Grafton where the paving company is busy on its contract, no portion of the road is yet entirely closed to traffic, although this is daily expected. This detour, when the traffic is sent north, a short distance east of Cobourg, is an inconvenient one, and the road not a desirable one.

However, paved roads, the great desideratum of the motorist, cannot be built without some discomfort.

The construction company, which is busy paving the road between Port Hope and Welcome, is reported to be making splendid progress.

Although crop conditions are generally favorable, Canadian winter wheat will be somewhat smaller than last season's supply. This despite an increased acreage.

Plenty of Time to Plant Peas For Late Summer

Garden peas do best in the cool day of spring, but this is no reason why they may not be grown later in the season, especially if planted in soil cool in character and retentive of moisture. Any clay-type of soil that is moist and cool will do well for the later planting. Naturally, the more sandy soils are preferred for early spring because of the greater ease in preparing the ground and greater tendency to mature quickly in such soils. Of the several sorts of peas, those having green and wrinkled seeds and known as late varieties should be selected for the later plantings.

The garden pea is so appetizing, so healthful and so readily useable with other vegetables that it is seldom grown on the farm or village garden in sufficient quantities to last for any length of time. Like sweet corn, beans, and many other vegetables pea should be a success crop—peas available from spring until late in the season. I have had them keep growing all through the summer. You can't have too many peas; if you do you can always put a supply up in cans or let them mature. Another planting of peas—even if you think it a bit ate.

GETTING A HIRED MAN AT NO COST

Jethro Tull First Taught Farmers That 'Tillage is Manure."

A FARM HELPER.

A good many years ago there lived in England a man by the name of Jethro Tull. He was a farmer and became famous by teaching the English people the value of thorough tillage of the soil. Before and during his time farmers did not till the soil very intelligently. They simply prepared a seed bed in a careless manner, as a great many farmers do today, and when crops were gathered the yields were not very large.

Jethro Tull centered attention on the important fact that careful and thorough tillage increases the available plant food in the soil. He did not know why, but he did know that when he tilled his, soil carefully he grew better crops. So he began to say and write that tillage is manure," a phrase that made him famous. Of course his explanation was not the right one, but the practice of it was right. The stirring of the soil enables the air to move all about in the soil and that air movement renders the locked-up plant food soluble and available. In other words, while tillage is not manure, it gives similar results.

Air acts on the soi particles in the same manner it does on stone and bricks—it crumbles them. The agent of the air that chiefly does this work is known as carbonic acid gas and this gas is a great farm helper. It is a hired-man that works for nothing. We must not forget that air is just as important in making the soil comfortable and homelike for plants as any of the tools and cultivators. Consequently good drainage, deep plowing and thorough harrowing and cultivating are all important steps in the art of tillage that air tillage also may be effective.

LEGUMES PROVIDE ORGANIC MATTER

Clover and Kindred Plants Make Good Green Manure for Soil.

Red clover, sweet clover, alfalfa and vetch are all members of the legume class which has great value to the farmer to turn under for green manure to furnish organic matter for the soil. They are sometimes known as winter legumes because of late sowing. Sown in mid August they are allowed to grow until the first of the following May approximately, and are then plowed under.

There have been numerous tests conducted by the various experiment stations of the country to determine the relative hardiness of these plants for the purpose of turning under. Red clover and vetch come through the winter undamaged, while alfalfa and sweet clover are some times sheaved, the latter suffering more than alfalfa.

In four test plots, on one of which fertilizer containing a little nitrogen was used in addition to red clover plowed under, the yield was a fourth more corn than on the three other plots planted to the other legumes. The red clover plot for a number of years showed a uniformly good yield.

Where corn had been grown continually with complete fertilizer, 20 pounds of nitrogen to the acre with a legume cover crop plowed in, the result was 84 bushels of corn per acre. With rye plowed under and 60 pounds of nitrogen to the acre, the yield was 70 bushels and with no cover crop, 55 bushels.

COMPARATIVE RESULTS.

South Dakota has but one silo for about every 22 farms and for about every 120 cows. Wisconsin has one silo for every 27 cows. Wisconsin cows average 4016 pounds of milk per cow each year, while South Dakota cows average only 2339 pounds. This is good evidence of the value of a silo in milk production.

According to experiments calves cannot be trusted to balance their own rations. Where self-feeders are used, the calves will eat too much of the protein feeds and keep themselves too fat. Many farmers do not know that excess protein can become fat tissue just as carbohydrates become fat tissue, but carbohydrates can never perform the work of protein.

A large white sow on the farm of W. H. Gilpin, near Leeds, England, has produced 42 live pigs in three litters within one year, of which a total of 37 were reared.

CHOLERA ACTS QUICKLY IN THE POULTRY FLOCK

Disease is Caused By Germ and Spreads With Great Rapidity.

CAN BE CURED.

Illness May Last From a Week to Ten Days—Use Disinfectant.

By Dr. G. H. Conn.

This disease is caused by a germ known as the bacillus avisepticus. It spreads very rapidly, since the germs are given off with bowel discharge and contaminates the food and water. The birds will also carry the infection on their feet.

The disease is accompanied by high fever, which causes the birds to become unusually thirsty, and they will be found hovering near the water trough. It makes itself apparent in from three days to a week's time after infection of the bird, depending on the resistence of the bird and the virulence of the infection.

Frequently it acts very rapidly, and the first knowledge the poultryman will have is the finding of a few birds dead among the flock. In other outbreaks an individual bird will be noticed to have loss of appetite accompanied by high fever. Birds are very weak, reeling and staggering as they walk. The feathers are ruffled and starey and the bird sits by itself, showing no vigor, and a rapid loss of flesh. The comb grows darker in color, and there is a severe diarrhoea of a greenish-yellow color. This condition may last from a week to 10 days or the bird may be attacked by convulsions and die early.

Treatment.

First remove all birds that are showing any signs of the disease, and thoroughly clean and disinfect the pens, including he runs. Remember that the attendant can carry infection from one place to another. Wipe the shoes thoroughly on an old sack saturated with stock dip. Dead birds hould be deeply buried in quicklime.

Feed in narrow shallow troughs in which the birds cannot stand. Sulphocarbolates compound can be secured from any druggist in 5-grain tablets. When mixing them in the mash use one tablet for each 4 or 3 birds two or three times daily, allowing just what mash they will clean up in a few minutes.

PRICES LOW ON COBOURG MARKET

"You Can Hardly Give Them Away," Says Farmer of Potatoes.

PRODUCE VALUES.

COBOURG, June 17.—"You can hardly give them away," said one farmer Saturday in alluding to his difficulties in disposing of a load of potatoes. The general price in the open market here has been 75 cents a bag throughout the winter, but a week ago the price slumped and potatoes are selling for 65 cents and less a bag, retail, while buyers have only been giving from 30 cents a bag up. The new potatoes are selling at six pounds for 45 cents.

Home-grown strawberries have not made their appearance on the market here yet. Berries shipped in are selling for 35 cents a basket still.

There is very little change in the price of produce here. Eggs are a trifle stronger, selling for 28 to 30 cents. In the stores extras are 32, firsts 30 cents a dozen. Dairy butter is selling from 35 cents a pound up, and creamery for 37 and 38 cents. Chickens are 30 to 35 cents a pound. The best cuts of pork run from 40 to 43 cents; beef roasts sell from 35 to 40 cents and veal fillet is 30 cents, with other cuts less. Rhubarb, onions and radishes all sell for 5 cents a bunch. These new beets are 30 cents, but they are of fair size and a bunch of three or more carrots may be had for the same. Cauliflower sells from 35 cents a head up; new cabbage is 8 cents a pound; Baled hay is $40.00 and loose hay runs about $33.00 a ton.

Plants for bedding out have been a feature of the market for two weeks past, boxes of aster-phlox, verbena, petunia, larkspur and other varieties of flowers sell for 35 cents a box; salvia is 45 cents a box; tomato and cabbage plants have been selling for 30 cents each.

CROPS ARE GOOD.

Hay Is Coming Along Fine in Norwood District Since Rain.

NORWOOD, June 17.—Crops in this district are looking exceedingly good. Hay which a short time ago was thought to be a failure is coming along fine and there are good prospects for a splendid crop.

AVOID FILTHY POULTRY HOUSES.

It is a sad commentary on a man's humane ideas to compel a flock of poultry to roost for weeks in a stifling atmosphere that arises from an accumulation of droppings. One may strew coal ashes, road dust, land plaster or some othel absorbent, but that sickly odor will stils remain. No wonder contagious diseases visit some farms. It should be the rule to clean up at least once a week, and dis infect once a month, the year round.

CALF SUCKLES GOAT.

The owner of two goats in Surrey bought a new-born calf to use up the surplus milk. The calf thrived mightily, particularly when he discovered the source of his milk supply one day in the field. Now he falls on his knees and helps himself

EARLY DAYS IN DOURO

During the American Civil War cotton was scarce and the price was high. In 1863 Louis Borland built a flax mill on the Indian River, near Henry Carveth's saw mill. This new industry was a boon to the farmers of Douro, who went into extensive growing of flax. The flax after being grown, weighed, and threshed, was soaked in water for a week in order to rot the woody part. Next it was spread on the ground to dry, after which it was run through a machine called a brake, it broke up the woody part, then baled the flax and sent it to the factory to be made into cloth. The seed was sold. This only lasted a short time for the war ceased, and Americans began to again ship cotton, this drowned the flax industry. In 1865 there were about six tons of flax grown in Douro and in the following year over fifty tons grown.

Mr. Henry Carveth built the first grist mill here, on the Indian River in 1861, the same one now run by Mr. Ross Staples as a chopping mill, which is a great convenience to the farmers in this district. The census of 1861 showed the population of Douro to be 1284 males and 1213 females, totalling 2497.

During the year of 1860 there were six deaths, 82 births and 513 children attending school. Michael Walsh was school superintendent from 1858 to 1864. Previous to the year 1858 the following men had acted as school superintendents in succession, Maurice Clancy, Rev. E. Roberts, Daniel Sullivan and R. Casement. The Justices of the Peace for the Township of Douro previous to 1864: Thos. A. Stewart, Robert Reid, Wm. Black well, Samuel Strickland, Patrick Leahy, John Sullivan, Charles Stewart, Robert Casement, David Porter, Michael Walsh, Henry J. Hickman, Wm. S. Reid, Edward Leigh, John Sherin and Wm. C. Nichols.

In the sixties there was a great deal of forest in the township. Mr. J. R. Allen, who is still on the farm which his grandfather received from the Crown in the year 1825, tells the following narrative: Mr. Allen was a boy in the '60s, and he drew solid body maple to Peterborough, which was sold to the late Samuel Dickson, who lived where Nicholls Park is now, and the best price he could get for it was $1.25 per cord. He had paid thirty-five cents per cord for getting it cut, therefore he had left only ninety cents per day for himself and team.

Famous Old Names.

Eighteen sixty-four saw the following members elected to council: R. Casement, John Carnegie, John Smith, George Whibbs and John Quinlan. It was moved by George Whibbs, seconded by John Quinlan, that John Carnagie be appointed reeve. Moved by John Smith, seconded by George Whibbs, that James Hogan, Jr., be appointed township clerk, for the year. Moved by John Smith, seconded by George Whibbs that Henry Carveth be appointed auditor and Wm. Torpey was appointed auditor by the reeve. Mr. Torpey, however, could not act so James Hogan took his place. John Leahy, Jr., was appointed assessor but resigned, and Mr. M. Torpey took his place. At that time clerks and assessors had to furnish bonds that they would do their work to the satisfaction of the council.

The council met January 16, 1865, and the following were the members present: Robert Smith, John Carnagie, Robert Casement, John Smith, George Whibbs and John Quinlan. John Carnagie was unanimously elected reeve. Henry Carveth was appointed auditor by the council, and Wm. Torpey by the reeve.

This year there were teaching school in Douro Township: W. J. Smith, John Wood, Daniel Sullivan, James Hogan, Jr., and John Cotter. Mr. John Reid was township surveyor. Mr. Denniston, was township solicitor. First meeting of the Douro Council for 1866 took place January 15, with the following members present: Robert Casement, John Carnagie, who was unanimously elected reeve, Wm. Moher, auditor by the council. The same clerk and collector that were appointed for 1865 continued in office. April 16.—No Reeve being present, Mr. Casement was appointed to the chair.

Lakefield's Sidewalk.

A plank side-walk was built in Lakefield by a subscription which was taken up among the villagers in 1865 and in 1866 it was passed in council that anyone damaging the same, maliciously or wilfully should be fined not less than two dollars nor more than five.

On May 14, Mr. Casement was appointed commissioner to expend a grant of sixty dollars on a bridge across Sawyer Creek on the road leading from Lakefield to Peterborough.

John Quinlan and George Whibbs were appointed commissioners to expend the sum of one hundred and sixty dollars on the road leading from Warsaw to Peterborough. Owing to ill health, George Whibbs resigned at the last meeting of 1866, after serving in the township council for three years. Mr Whibbs died in 1869.

Mr. M. Mahoney opened his home for the first council meeting of 1867. Mr. George Clarke was appointed reeve by the council vote. Michael Leahy was appointed auditor by the council and Henry Carveth by the reeve. The same clerk and collector, who had held those posts for two years, as Mr. Leahy would not stand. Edmund O'Donnel was appointed in his place. In the harvest season storms of hail did much damage to the crops. Several barns were burned, including those of Joseph Trotter and Daniel Driscol. Still the roads in the township were very poor, and this year a great deal of money was spent on them.

Monday, January 6, the election was held for 1868. The following members were elected: Wm. Moher, reeve, and R. Casement and James Hogan, councillors.

On Monday, January 20, the first council meeting took place. Michael Torpey was appointed assessor for the year. Danuel Sullivan and Henry Carveth, auditors, John Crowley and Denis Dwyer were appointed commissioners to expend money throughout the township. Mr. Edward O'Donnel, who had been appointed collector for 1868, resigned, Mr. Michael Leahy taking his place.

By this time many frame houses were being built in the township to replace the log cabins originally built. There were still many oxen, automobiles and buggies never having been dreamed of. Wedding parties gleefully bumped along over the corduroy roads in waggons without springs. Much forest was still in evidence, and although the wolves had become almost extinct, there were still lynx, wild cats, and foxes, an odd bear and other animals, which often fell prey to the huntsmen of fifty years ago.

Social Evenings.

Many older residents of Douro Township will remember Ned Reardon who played the flute and who opened his home very often for a social evening; also Denis Delaney, Patrick Moher, John McMurray, Daniel Moher, who helped to make those evenings still more enjoyable by their fine singing.

There were many good old Irish step-dancers, such as Richard Cavanaugh, Martin Guerin, Edward Hanrahu, Thomas Whibbs and Denis Sullivan, whose gifts of dancing have not yet been forgotten by many of the present residents of Douro.

At the election of 1869, these were the officers: Daniel Sullivan, poll clerk; James Hogan, returning officer; Michael and Thomas Torpey, constables. The first meeting that year was held at the home of M. Mahoney on January 18. The following were the council for the year: Wm. Moher, reeve; R. Casement, John Barry, James Hogan, John Walsh, councillors. After the oath of office had been taken, Michael Torpey was appointed assessor, Henry Carveth and Daniel Sullivan, auditors. During that year the first carriages came to the township. Mr. Wm. Moher and Martin Coughlin had them first.

Horse Power Mills.

The land was still new and it was well adapted for wheat growing. Mr. James McCliggott, ex-reeve of Douro, relates that in the year 1868 he threshed 400 bushels of wheat in seven hours for Chas. Tighe. Steam threshers or gasoline engines were still unknown in this district and the mill was driven by a horse-power team of five horses.

The aforementioned 400 bushels of wheat was the crop grown on ten acres of land.

In March, 1868, Denis Leahy, who had been a member of Douro's first council in 1850, bought the east half of lot 8, concession 2, from Mr. Scott of Peterborough. In the previous fall Mr. Scott had sown the cleared portion of the farm in wheat. Mr. Scott, who was a lumberman sent out a number of his teams and men in August, before they went to the woods, in order to get the land ready and sow the wheat. This year proved to a wonderful year for wheat. To harvest this crop was a great undertaking as there were no reapers, and the crop had to be cut with cradles. Mr. Leahy, being a very energetic man, went to Peterborough and engaged several men who were waiting for the lumber camps to open. Wages for men to swing a cradle from early morning until late at night was one dollar per day. He also engaged women and children to bind the crop. He harvested twenty-eight hundred bushels. The price in the fall was one dollar and seventy-five cents per bushel, but Mr. Leahy kept it until June and only received 75 cents per bushel.

The first meeting of the council for 1870 was called on January 17. The new councillors were: William Moher, reeve; Robert Casement, John Barry, James Hogan and John Maloney. Daniel Sullivan and Henry Carveth were appointed auditors, and Michael Torpey, assessor.

Building Bridges.

At a meeting held May 28 it was moved by Mr. Casement, seconded by Mr. Hogan, that Messrs. Maloney, Barry and the reeve be a committee to determine the plans for bridges on the Indian River, the one known as Burn's, and also the one on the line between concessions 2 and 3, and to advertise for tenders to build such bridges and to let the work to the lowest tender should they think it right. During the spring of 1870 the snow, which had been very deep, melted very quickly and caused the Otonabee River to overflow its banks, south of Lakefield, flooding the river road with flood wood, also causing two deep washouts which were repaired by the township council. The three bridges, Burns', Herffenan's, and Carveth's, aforementioned, were built of logs in 1870 at the total cost of $615.20.

In the meeting of November, 1870, it was proposed by Mr. Casement that twenty-five dollars be granted to the Dummer and Douro Agricultural Society to assist them in building an agricultural hall. This was done.

Wm. Moher was elected reeve for 1871, and John Maloney, deputy-reeve. This year Douro Township was divided into two assessment districts. The first to comprise of electoral district No. 1 and G. J. Galvin was appointed assessor in that district. The second consisted of electoral divisions No. 2 and 3, and Michael Torpey was assessor for the same.

At the meeting in February of 1871 it was moved by Mr. Casement, seconded by Mr. Hogan, that the reeve, Mr. Maloney, and Mr. Barry be appointed as committee to contract for the building of a town hall such as they considered necessary for the meetings of the council. The town hall was built in the summer and the first meeting held in it October 2. It was built by James S. Gregg.

The council met in the town hall. There were present: Wm. Moher, reeve, and John Barry, John Maloney, Denis Leahy, Mr. Strickland, Garrot J. Galvin, was appointed assessor for electoral division No. 1, and Michael Torpey for divisions No. 2 and 3.

Michael Leahy was tax collector for the year. Mr. Hogan resigned his position as township clerk at the final meeting for the year. He had held this office for eight years, the council wished him well and hoped he would get the reward of honesty and industry in whatever occupation he took up.

William O'Brien was appointed clerk for 1873, which office he held for 33 years, except for a short time when he was in the States, and Frank Cleary took his place. Mr. O'Brien died in 1907.

Reaper Introduced.

Up until 1870 all the crops in Douro were cut with cradles. Men swung the cradles. Following the cradle were two or three of the family or the farmer's wife. Everyone worked hard to make a living, in spite of the strong resistance of the surrounding circumstances. But in 1873 a combined reaper and mower was introduced. It was a good mower but a poor reaper. It was steadily improved and perfected so that to-day our farming is done by the most up-to-date machinery, such as our great-grandfathers never dreamed of. After a year, especially summer and fall, of hard work, Christmas was looked forward to with great preparations and all worry and work were laid aside and it was made even more an occasion of rejoicing than it is to-day.

In 1874 the Township of Douro received $5252, municipal loan grant from the Provincial Government for the improvement of roads and schools. The expending of this money on the roads made a vast improvement, in fact it laid the foundations of the present roads.

When on the threshold of 1875 just fifty years after the settlement of Douro we note a wonderful change, but could we ever imagine the changes that were to take place during the next fifty years which brings us to the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the township. By 1875 most of the adult settlers had passed away. Those who had come over as children were fast approaching old age, while to-day they are no more but a memory.

Their descendants are scattered in every state in the union, every province in the Dominion. Most of those who laid the foundation of our township now rest beneath graves which are unmarked but are kept neatly and well looked after in the modest cemetery at Douro. Many graves, however, are marked with quaint epitaphs which catch the eye, and remind one of the deep and sincere affection which existed between the members of the families of the early settlers, such as:

"Stop, passer by! behold man's fate,
Think of Eternity, here is the gate,
View this cold bed, and then with faith
Pray for the soul's of those beneath,
For John O'Brien and his daughter, whom
Are sleeping beneath this grassy tomb."
"O! Cruel Death, who could not spare
A tender husband, and friend sincere.
Left me a widow, and children behind
In the desert of America where
No earthly friends could find."

On one tombstone in our cemetery is the following inscription: "Our married life together was seventy years and three, and God was pleased to call us home to enjoy eternal bliss, while our united age was 197 years."

Remember your forefathers, and how they would love to be at the Douro Old Boys' and Girls' Reunion to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the settlement of Douro, and remember that it is up to you to make this week one of real enjoyment. Hundreds of old boys and girls are expected to come home for this celebration, along with many visitors from all parts of the county. Don't forget the date, June 23-24-25.

CARE OF HOUSEHOLD PETS . . . .

PARROTS I

Parrots are tethered to stands or confined in cages, indoor bird rooms or in outdoor aviaries. Parrot-stands should have wood perches, with the ends protected by metal caps against the birds' gnawing activities. The tether chain should be light and smooth. Of the various ways of keeping parrots, the stand method is least advisable, but it must be used for such powerful species as the macaws unless cages made of very strong iron rods are available.

Cages for parrots should be roomy, and square preferable to round, with plenty of perches of large diameter, standard food and water receptacles and removable bottom or tray of zinc.

The ideal arrangement for confining parrots is the outdoor aviary, which may be of modest size or as large and elaborate as the purse of the owner will justify. It should have at the north side a glass-fronted house for a cold weather retreat and part of the roof should be solidly covered to furnish shelter for nests and roosts. A running supply of water should be provided, and the ground should be well grassed.

If parrots are kept in cages in living rooms, the cages should be warmly covered at night and the rooms not allowed to cool off greatly. Moreover, do not throw the windows open to chilly morning air; let changes in temperature be small and gradual and exclude all drafts.

Logs and blocks of soft or partially decayed hard wood should be accessible to all confined parrots; the birds must exercise their bills, and they obtain from such pieces wood fiber, which seems to be essential to good digestion.

Male parrots as a rule respond better to teaching then females. Various individual systems of teaching the birds are recommended, but the essentials are repetition of the words, phrases or bars of music, one at a time, until learned. To achieve this end the parrot is sometimes placed in a room by itself and the person teaching the bird stations himself just beyond a door or elsewhere out of sight, or again the bird is taught in a darkened room. No teasing should ever be permitted, for under its discomfort the bird is apt to become a confirmed screamer and lose all susceptibility to training.

RABBITS II

Two widely different systems of management are followed by American rabbit breeders. Under the first system, which may be called hutch management, the animals are confined in small pens or hutches and obtain little exercise. This is the more common practice and has the advantage of requiring less room and probably of producing meat more rapidly.

Under the other system, rabbits are given the freedom of open yards or runs, where they obtain abundant exercise and are sheltered in small hutches or kennels. This method promotes the general health of the animals and probably gives a better development of their fur. It is especially adapted to the south, where there is a mild climate throughout the year.

Hutches for large rabbits should have about 12 square feet of floor space and a height of 18 to 24 inches, inside measurement. If there is plenty of room in the rabbitry, it is best to have the hutches separate, but to save space they are frequently built in tiers, or stacks, of two or three in height. A single hutch may be made from a dry goods box by nailing one-inch mesh galvanized poultry netting over the open side. A tier of hutches may be similarly constructed from a piano box.

There are two general kinds of self-cleaning hutches, those with slat floors and those with slanting floors. Slat floors are built of two-inch strips of board, spaced half an inch apart. Beneath each floor is a galvanized iron pan about one inch deep. This is made to fit closely to prevent upward drafts of air. Attached to the floor of each hutch is a rack designed to contain hay or greens. The nest box for this hutch may be made of an ordinary wooden packing box about 12 inches wide, 16 inches long and 10 inches high.

In the slanting-floor type the floor is built of dressed tongued-and-grooved lumber running crosswise of the hutch. It has a forward slope of about one inch to the foot. A space of about half an inch between the floor and the side doors allows refuse from the hutch to roll beneath the doors and fall to the ground. The end door is designed to be used in feeding the rabbits, while the side doors are used for cleaning or disinfecting the hutch.

Compound hutches in this form may be arranged so as to occupy very little space. By this arrangement 72 breeding rabbits may be kept in an area 30 feet square, each individual hutch having a floor space two and one-half by five feet.

RABBITS III.

American breeders follow no uniform system of feeding rabbits. Some feed no green stuff, while others use all that is available. It is usually wise to avoid both extremes, but green feed must be used with more caution than is necessary with dry, and only the best of any kind should be used.

Clean oats, bright well-cured hay and a small portion of some kind of greens daily is the steady diet used in most rabbitries. Crushed barley may be substituted for oats, clover or alfalfa may be used with green oats or timothy hay, and the greens may consist of carrots, prunings from apple and cherry trees and plantain, dock, burdock, dandelion, cauliflower, lettuce or lawn clippings.

The diseases of rabbits are mainly due to improper feed or care. A few are contagious, and newly acquired stock should not be placed in an established rabbitry until it has been kept under observation in quarantine for two weeks. When it becomes necessary to treat a rabbit, it should be wrapped in a piece of burlap to confine its feet as its sharp claws are capable of inflicting painful scratches. Rabbits should always be picked up by the loose skin over the shoulders, never by the feet or ears, and should be supported under the hind legs.

Disorders of the digestive organs come from feeding young rabbits too freely on wet and juicy greens, or from too radically changing their diet. Intestinal troubles usually may be corrected by a change of feed. For constipation rabbits should have more greens and bran mash, and, if possible, more exercise. Castor oil may be administered if necessary. In a case of diarrhea, green feed should be entirely replaced by dry hay and rolled oats or barley meal.

Mange is due to minute parasites which burrow into the skin, causing loss of hair and the formation of a scab. Treatment consists of cutting the hair around the scab, softening the scab with warm water and soap and applying an ointment made by mixing one part sulphur with three parts pure lard. The ointment should be applied three times daily until a cure is effected.

Snuffles is a very contagious germ disease resembling catarrh, which in the acute form is quickly fatal, and in the chronic form, though less malignant, seems to be well-nigh incurable. The noticeable symptoms are weakness, sneezing and running at the nose, the nasal secretions being watery at first and then thick.

It is better to kill rabbits having snuffles and to burn or bury the carcasses than to risk their spreading the disease through a rabbitry. It should be remembered, however, that the early symptoms are much lise those of a common cold and extreme measures should not be taken while there is any doubt as to the identity of the disease.

LAKEFIELD MAY VOTE ON BY-LAW FOR CEMENT CO.

Public Meeting Endorses Resolution Asking Council to Move.
FIXED ASSESSMENT.

LAKEFIELD, June 17. — The public meeting called for Monday evening in the Memorial Hall to discuss the proposed agreement of the village of Lakefield with the Canada Cement Company, was largely attended by an interested crowd of spectators.

Reeve Strickland called the meeting to order and asked for the election of a chairman. Mr. J. F. Lillicrap was elected by motion of Mr. W. H. Casement, seconded by Mr. S. R. Leggotf.

Mr. Lillicrap explained that after the last public meeting held April 6, the council met representatives of the Canada Cement Co., in the office of the local cement plant and the present agreement is the result of the conference.

Mr. Marling read the agreement, which briefly is this:

1. The village will and does fix the taxation of the Canada Cement Co. at a fixed assessment of $75,000, which will stand for ten years from Jan. 1, 1927, provided that the company comply with the requirements of clause 2. The school assessment will be in accordance with the general law of taxation.

2. The Canada Cement Co. shall and will begin manufacturing in 1927 making 100,000 bbls. of cement per year from January 1, 1927, to December 31, 1936, or during the life of the agreement, unless through an act of God, or the Kings enemies, or any other unavoidable cause it should be rendered impossible.

If the company fail to comply they will pay the difference in taxes between the fixed assessment and the school assessment.

3. The Canada Cement Co. shall each year file with the village clerk a statutory declaration regarding the output of the mill, etc. This will be done by an officer of the company, and a failure to do this will be regarded as conclusive evidence that the company has failed to comply with the said agreement.

4. The agreement shall not come into effect till it has been submitted to the ratepayers and passed. This will supercede the agreement made August 4, 1920.

The company will be granted the power to lay tracks on the south side of Bishop street, and also to keep Concession street open for traffic. The company also agree if the bylaw is passed to con.. te the mill by 1927.

Reeve J. C. Strickland.

Reeve J. C. Strickland explained the question of the fixed assessment of $75,000. The old b.law called for a fixed assessment of $50,000; the Dickson Co. assessment was for $14,800, and the assesment of other properties now included in the Canada CementCo's holdings amounted to $3000, which means that the present fixed assessment is $720 more than formerly.

The council and the officials of the Canada Cement Co. got together and discussed the entire matter thoroughly. The agreement is A1 and we could not ask better. It has come to the point when the people have either to do without work or take a chance with the Cement Co. It seems the best thing for the village and will certainly help the unemployment situation. Personally, the speaker will vote for the bylaw. We should consider the matter carefully, looking at both sides, but the plant completed and in operation will be a big benefit to the village.

E. Al. Tanner.

Mr. E. A. Tanner was the next speaker and while he too would have liked to have seen the fixed assessment higher, still we have a fairly satisfactory agreement. When the council met Mr. Jones and his confreres the village representatives asked for $100,000 fixed assessment, and the Canada Cement Co. asked for $50,000, and the speaker said that he was responsible for the Suggestion to spit the difference and make it $75,000, although he had not intended to include the former Dickson property in this, but Mr. Jones insisted that the $75,000 should included all holdings of the Cement Company. No one spoke further on the village side, and the meeting adjourned.

The matter has now passed out of the hands of the Council, and if the people think the agreement right and proper, the Council will proceed to give it the required number of readings and submit the by-law.

Re the unemployment situation, Mr. Jones said the company would try to give employment to a few men at least till the by-law passes, but if the by-law fails to carry, all men will be dismissed and work will cease.

As citizens of Lakefield we have an interest in the Cement Co., and people in Toronto, Peterboro and other places regard Lakefield prosperity as being dependent on the activity of the Cement Co.

It is expected that trade and commerce will pick up and that all the plants will operate and there is the question of competitive prices and it is up to us to help them to manufacture cement at least as cheaply as in any other place. The Reeve pointed out that the exemption begins in 1927. In 1925 the plant is assessed for $125,000 and the company will pay taxes on that which will amount to more than $6,000. Next year, 1926, probably about the same, according to the assessment. The assessment for the school tax on and after 1927 will be according to the general law and will mean a substantial addition to the school tax. The speaker intends to support the by-law which will be submitted about the first week in July.

E. W. Bailey.

Mr. E. W. Bailey, manager of the local cement plant, was the next speaker, and he stated that, as outlined in the agreement, the company would go ahead as soon as the by-law was passed by the people.

Mr. Jones suggested the public meeting to get an expression of the feelings of the ratepayers. The only adverse criticism of the agreement was that the fixed assessment was not larger, but times are hard. The company is optimistic about the plant, and think the village would do well to support it.

As soon as the time comes to operate, more men must be brought in, as there are only about half enough at present. These men will want homes, boarding places, etc., and that is not all you will get out of the Cement Company. Probably many remember the boom of 1904-05-06, when the village went forward with a jump. The speaker looks for a similar boom in 1927.

The construction work will now require more mechanics. With the roof and side walls to put on buildings, and the laborers part in closing in, but there will be work for laborers at the development of the water power, which will take a year to fix.

The plant, when complete, will employ from 125 to 150 men, with more at the shipping season. The speaker closed with a word of appreciation to Mr. Tanner, who gave such a comprehensive review of the situation, covering all points.

Dr. J. R. Fraser.

Dr. J. R. Fraser was the next speaker. Mr. Jones was very fair to the village at the conference with the Council, which the speaker attended; but we must bear in mind this point that if the by-law does no tcarry the plant will be shut down indefinitely. It is a choice for the people, and it is up to them. Personally the speaker will certainly vote for the by-law as being for the best interests of the village.

We can't have everything, and we must give and take and the ratepayers are not studying their own interests if they do not support the by-law.

C. S. Tanner.

Mr. C. S. Tanner very aptly told the fable of the boy and the filberts, showing the penalty of grabbing too much.

Te then moved: That the meeting heartily recommend the Council to submit the by-law at the earliest possible moment.

Mr. S. S. Spence seconded the motion, which was carried by a vast majority in a standing vote. The meeting closed by a vote of thanks to the chairman, Mr. Lillecrap, moved by E. A. Tanner, seconded by Mr. A. J. Strickland and carried unanimously.

CANADA SHOWS ITS SYMPATHY

RAISES $50,000

WINNIPEG, June 17.— (Canadian Press.)—Canada is once again showing its national sympathy with suffering humanity, as during the Russian and Chinese famines of recent years and the more recent Japanese earthquake, stated Frank Yeigh, Canadian representative of the "Save the Children Fund," who has just completed a tour of the Western provinces in the interest of the world-wide relief campaign in aid of Greek refugees.

"This time the world's greatest tragedy of suffering is in Greece, which is harboring 1,400 000 women and children forced to evacuate the part of present-day Turkey that includes Asia Minor, which has sustained a large Greek population for centuries," Mr. Yeigh declared.

The "Save the Children Fund" was formed as an all-British Empire effort to feed women and children in scores of refugee camps, chiefly in Salonica. The million or more thus deported from their ancestral homes, M. Yeigh explained, were forced out under the direst conditions, by ox-teams, or by rail overland and steamers on the Black Sea, where they journeyed under the worst possible travel conditions.

The administration of the fund in Greece is conducted under the direction of a Canadian, Dr. W. A. Kennedy, a graduate of Queen's University, Kingston. He has under his supervision nearly fifty refugee kitchens at Greek ports and throughout Thrace and Macedonia. One ration a day, consisting of soup and bread, is given to several thousand women and children, and this amount of food not only keeps the refugee alive but in comparative good health. Where malnutrition exists, malaria and other diseases are rampant and the death rate, especially among the children, is abnormally high, Mr. Yeigh asserted.

Almost every large city in Western Canada has a collection committee—Winnipeg, with Mrs. R. A. Rogers, M.L.A., at its head; Regina, Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, Calgary, Edmonton and several cities in British Columbia.

Canada as a whole has raised more than $50,000 from coast to coast. All dominion gifts are used to buy Western Canada flour, condensed milk and other foodstuffs. Many Western farmers have contributed, from the products of their lands, while several farmers' organizations have made grants from their funds.

A LINE-O-TYPE.

Life Saving. Life-saving appliances have now been placed at the east side of Peterboro lock, where the sad drowning fatality occurred a few weeks ago. The City Council took prompt action in requesting Mr. Gordon's good services in the matter, and his request brought immediate good results.

There is much to be said for this course of providing against the recurrence of an accident, but books might be written on the advisability of anticipating such occurrences. There are many danger spots in the vicinity of the city, both on land and water, that should have some warning sign to prevent unwary ones being trapped, and some apparatus to rescue them after they have fallen victims.

A headline says: "Big Bootlegger on Last Legs." If you can imagine a centipede on its last legs that is the exact present position of the big bootleg operators.

Savings Bank. It was natural—but none the less an honor—that the first savings bank should have its home in Scotland. Rev. Henry Duncan, of Dumfriesshire, is known as its founder. The idea of the savings bank was not new in 1810, when Duncan evolved the elaborate plan by which his bank was run. Two hundred years before it had occurred to a Frenchman, and it had been tried out in widely different forms in England and Germany. Daniel Defoe, creator of Robinson Crusoe, has been called the original savings bank man, for he suggested that the government establish a savings bank and run it as a public benefaction. But the first practical scheme, taking banks out of the ranks of charities, was Duncan's.

The record of every depositor was investigated before he was permitted to make a deposit. His age, family affairs and moral conduct were ascertained, and if the report was favorable, he was allowed to join the bank. And the rate of interest to be allowed him was decided.

It would be serious if that practice of the Gladstone boys in wearing no neckties became popular. At Christmas the women-folk might take to presenting us with red and green wash rags.

How It's Done A story in a current number of a Canadian magazine tells of on immigrant boy who came to Lakefield with 25 cents in his pocket—and is now a leader in financial centres in Ontario. He worked as a bricklayer's assistant in Peterboro till Tom Mark tried to hook him for an insurance policy one day, and instead landed him as an insurance salesman.

The story of his first policy sale is a good one. He went to "sell" a farmer on the outskirts of the city. The farmer was forking manure. Did the salesman go to the house and wait till the farmer was through? He did not. He found a spare fork and worked beside the farmer till the job was done, talking insurance between forkfuls. He wrote the policy and trudged back to the city.

Get on? How could he help it, with a spirit like that? It's the fellow who never does a minute's work more than he has to, and does what he must the easiest way, who is throwing the pusher into relief as a success—and kicking because there is no opportunity in Canada.

We know some who are hanging around waiting for an influential friend, or society, to pitchfork them into a real job when what they should be doing is out forking manure—and making the job for themselves.

The FLAPPER WIFE

by Beatrice Burto

THE STORY SO FAR:

GLORIA GORDON, beautiful Flapper marries DICK GREGORY, a struggling lawyer. Her idea of marriage is fun and fine clothes . . . . but no work or children.

She refuses pointblank to do her own housework, and hires a maid. But Dick has to let the maid go, because he can't afford to pay her wages. Gloria has swamped him with debts for her clothes and a new automobile.

She becomes infatuated with STANLEY WAYBURN, an actor. She lends him money, and finally, when he leaves town to go to New York, Gloria follows him. He spurns her, telling her he has just married a Russian actress. Then Gloria tries to land a job as a chorus girl and fails. Discouraged, she comes home to Dick.

He takes her back, but not as his wife. One night Gloria leaves him to work late at the office with SUSAN BRIGGS, his secretary. While Gloria is at home alone, the house is robbed. Dick doesn't get home until almost morning. Gloria wonders if he was with Miss Briggs all that time. But next morning she learns that he was at the house of DR. JOHN SEYMOUR, who had killed himself because of the love affair that existd between his wife MAY and JIM CAREWE.

Gloria goes to Dick's office to tell him about the robbery, and to make one last attempt to win him again.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

Neither of them said another word until they swung into the broad driveway of the Gregory homestead.

It looked so peaceful and welcoming tonight, with its lights streaming out from the windows . . . its rose bushes blooming beyond the sweep of lawn.

Mother and Father Gregory were just sitting down to dinner, when Dick and Gloria walked in.

"Well, isn't this a fine surprise!" Mother Gregory cried. She got up and put her arms around Dick, while Father Gregory beamed at them over his horn-rimmed spectacles. Gloria felt left out in the cold.

"How did you know we were going to have strawberry shortcake for supper?" Mother Gregory asked. She turned to Gloria and gave her the briefest of kisses.

"I smelled it!" Dick answered, laughing. "Blocks and blocks away I smelled it . . . above the rich perfume of gasoline that scents our town! And it drew me like a magnet!"

* * *

He looked like a boy as he sat down at the table . . . care-free and happy, in his old home. Gloria watched him with narrowed eyes. She hadn't seen him like this for weeks.

"Leg of lamb, tonight—and fresh peas. I smelled them, myself, and they were a job!" she said. But there was no complaint in her voice. She was a born housekeeper, and she loved hard work . . . really enjoyed it!

Gloria looked around the room. How different it was from her own dining room at home! She couldn't help thinking that.

There the silver was tarnished, and the chairs were dusty.

Here there were fresh roses in the center of the snowy cloth. Everything . . . glasses, forks and furniture . . . that could be made to shine, was agleam. There wasn't a speck of dirt anywhere.

The salad was crisply cold, and the things that should be hot were hot. The meal was delicious.

"Mother Gregory," Gloria said, on a sudden impulse, "You're wonderful! If I could keep house just half as well as you I'd be satisfied! And by jinks, I'm going to learn how to do it!"

"My dear child!" she said, "That's the most sensible thing I've ever heard you say! And if you need any help, come to me for it."

"Give her your recipe for strawberry short-cake," Dick suggested. "You said you were going to have short-cake, didn't you?"

Mother Gregory laughed.

"As Gloria would say, 'we are going to have nothing else but'," she answered. "Gloria, you carry out the plates while I cut the short-cake. It's Maggie's night out."

Gloria picked up the platter and took it out into the big, clean kitchen.

"I've been thinking over what you told me this morning," Mother Gregory said to her, quietly. "About you and Dick living apart. . . . I wouldn't worry about that if I were you. It will turn out all right, after a while. Dick's pride hurt . . . and I can't say I blame him."

Gloria shook her pretty head.

"No," she said. "It goes deeper than that. Dick doesn't care for me any more. . . . I saw it in his face tonight. And it isn't that he hates me. He's just indifferent to me. He's through with me!"

* * *

She went into the dining room and came back with a pile of plates, and a vegetable dish.

"Then, whom is he in love with?" Mother Gregory asked. "If he's not in love with you . . . depend upon it, a man of Dick's age is always in love with somebody or other. That's Nature."

Gloria stood silent for a moment, watching Dick's mother pile whipped cream on the short-cake.

"Yum, yum! Doesn't that look delusious!" she said childishly. Then she sobered. "I told you this morning that I think he's fallen in love with Miss Briggs. And I do think so!"

"Nonsense!" Mother Gregory said sharply. "Dick likes you just as well as he ever did! You just settle down and be a good wife to him, and he'll be tickled to death with you."

She nodded vigorously, so that all the beads on her black dress sparkled.

"I really haven't been a good wife, have I?" Gloria asked humbly. Afterward, she wished she hadn't said that.

Mother Gregory was the soul of frankness always. She opened her lips, now, and let Gloria have the truth about her wifehood . . . or at least what she considered the truth.

"You never were any kind of a wife at all to Dick!" she said. "You were a drag and a worry to him . . . a pretty toy. And any toy becomes tiresome, after a while."

"Months ago I told you married life wasn't a game, but a business, didn't I?" she asked. Gloria nodded.

"You believe me now, don't you?" Mother Gregory went on. "And I'm going to tell you something else. Nothing ties a man to a woman like a child. You take my advice, and give Dick a son or two . . . and a couple of daughters. . . ."

Tears smarted in Gloria's eyes. It was too late now, for that wise advice. Dick no longer loved her . . . He didn't want her to be the mother of his children. She was sure of that.

She winked away her tears, and helped Mother Gregory serve the short-cake.

There was a chill in the air when Dick and Gloria left the Gregory homestead at ten o'clock that night.

But he paid no attention to her. He might have been a man of iron as he sat at the wheel.

"Move over, Gloria," he said finally. "You're in my way. I can't reach the brake."

"You don't need the brake. There's no traffic," Gloria said crossly. But she moved away from him. She had a wild desire to cry.

"You just don't want me near you!" she said, her voice trembling. "I know—I know."

Dick said nothing.

In silence that seemed to crackle all around them . . . so electric it was . . . they drove into the garage, and walked around to the front of the house.

"Well, I wonder how many burglars will visit us tonight!" Dick said as he turned the key in the lock. They went in.

"It's a shame about that silver . . . although we were insured," Gloria answered. "I went down to the office today, and had Miss Briggs look it up."

Dick frowned. "I wish you wouldn't come down there and give her orders," he said. "When I got back from lunch today, she was gone. Her mother called up to say she'd been taken sick. I suppose her feelings were hurt because of something you said to her . . . You were rude enough to her last night! . . . Now you promise you'll stay away from my office."

Gloria tossed her head, wilfully.

"She wasn't sick because of anything I said to her!" she exclaimed. "It was something she said to me that made her sick, I'll bet you!"

"Well, what did she say?"

"Told me what a crush she has on you," Gloria answered calmly.

"Sure she did," Gloria said. "She told me she's been in love with you for years and years. She said that right up to the time you married me she hoped you'd fall in love with her . . . . That's why she hates me so! She thinks I came between you."

He took it, unwillingly. He didn't want to believe this thing that Gloria had just told him, although he must have guessed it.

"Are you telling me the truth, Glory?" he asked at last.

Gloria threw out both her little hands and grabbed the lapels of his coat. "Why should I tell you a lie?" she asked.

"I don't know," Dick answered, "But you've told me a good many of them, you know, in the last few months."

"Well, whether you believe it or not, it's the truth," she said. "She's in love with you . . . and you've got to get rid of her. You'd better hire a man for your secretary next time. He won't fall for your fatal beauty!"

* * *

She sat down on the davenport, and picked up a magazine. She turned its pages idly. Every nerve was waiting for Dick's answer.

He took his pipe from his mouth, emptied the ashes from it, and began to scrape its bowl with his penknife. Gloria could see that he was thinking hard. His eyebrows were pinched into a frown.

"No," he said presently. "I'm not going to discharge Susan Briggs. She's a good worker . . and she never upsets me. No matter how nervous I am, she soothes me, somehow . . . just the sound of her voice, the way she looks."

He was trying in his awkward man's way to tell Gloria that the very sight of Susan Briggs' quiet eyes gave him a sense of profound placidity and strength . . . the thing he needed.

"Why!" Gloria cried out, "You're talking about her as if you're crazy about her. You are in love with her! . . . I've told you so, before. And I was right!"

CHURCH HAS PASSED THROUGH A STORM

Presbyterians at Bethany Hear Encouraging Sermon on Re-organization.

BETHANY, June 16. —Service was held in the Presbyterian church as usual on Sunday evening. Rev. Mr. Walker announced that service would be held next Sunday. A very inspiring address was given on "Paul's Description of a Storm." The speaker said that the church had come through such a storm at the present titme and now when it is re-organized it should be stronger than ever.

Union service was held in what was formerly known as the Methodist church. Rev. Mr. Rorke preached in the absence of Rev. Mr. Dafoe. Owing to sickness and heat only a small crowd was out. Mr. Rorke spoke on how Christ formed the foundation of the church by choosing his disciples.

The many friends of Mr. Thomas McNamara were grieved to hear of his death in Peterboro' a few days ago. Mr. McNamara was a resident of Madoc for a number of years, and the sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved family.

Blue-jay is the efficient way to rout a corn. It leaves nothing to your guess-work. You do not have to decide how much or how little to put on. Each plaster is a complete standardized treatment, with just the right amount of the magic medication to end the corn. Simply put on the plaster—it does the rest.

She hated to acknowledge the Corn

So goes the old saying. And few indeed, like to confess a corn. It seems such an undainty thing—an admission of physical untidiness. One may conceal the presence of a corn, but not its ill-effect. It shows itself in the face—and the humor. That twinge in the toe means a frown on the forehead—and a thorn in the disposition. But how foolish to carry a secret-sorrow in your shoe! You can end the pain in ten seconds—and the corn in two days—with a pleasant Blue-jay plaster.

Perspiration moisture and odour can be prevented by one application of this rosy-coloured liquid

YOU have always taken it for granted that it was not possible to overcome the perspiration moisture and odour that annoys and frequently embarrasses you. You thought perhaps that as it was a natural bodily function it would be harmful to stop it.

Yet it is possible to have complete relief from perspiration annoyance—harmlessly and easily.

Extreme perspiration of one part of the body, such as the underarms, is due to local irregularities of the sensitive sweat glands. Clothing and the hollow of the underarm make normal evaporation impossible, so that corrective measures are necessary.

One application of Odorono gives you complete relief from perspiration moisture and odour for three days—two applications a week keep your underarms always dry and immaculate. Odorono is an antiseptic toilet water, formulated for the special purpose of counteracting excessive perspiration, without affecting the natural healthful perspiration of the rest of the body.

Odorono is delightfully easy to use, and quite harmless. You simply pat it on to the underarm with a piece of soft cloth or cotton wool, or with the tips of the fingers. Odorono is obtainable at all high-class toilet counters—three sizes, 35c., 60c. and $1.00.

WOMAN OF 102 AT WINNIPEG

Lived Through Reigns of Four Sovereigns—Pioneered in West.

"LIFE IS GOOD"

WINNIPEG, Man., June 17. —(Canadian Press.)—In her chosen rendezvous at the Home for the Aged and Infirm at Portage la Prairie, lives Mrs. Amelia Bureitt, 102 years of age, a woman who has lived through the reign of four sovereigns and is enjoying the best of health while her fifth rules heads the British Empire.

She was born on the banks of St. Lawrence river on August 1, 1823, when King George IV, was on the throne.

Despite her many years of life, Mrs. Bureitt still is interested in the happenings of her community and the world. When young she took an active part in the fight to secure the vote for the women and many other social reforms. She worked hard for the Dower act and the Temperance act. She was connected with many women's organizations.

She has seen the West develop from an extensive prairie to its present populace, its cities, towns and hamlets that were once a wilderness. She has witnessed the [illegible] of civilization from the Atlantic to the Pacific and has pioneered with vigor in the southern parts of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Mrs. Bureitt, first came to Manitoba in 1880 and took up a claim near Mordon, Man. It is thought she was the first woman to hold a claim in this province. Engaging in sheep raising, the venture was a success.

One of the happiest moments of her life, she says, was the day when women first went to the polls to record their votes.

She commended the work being carried on by present-day women's organizations, mentioning in particular the work of the Imperial Daughters of the Empire.

"Life is good. I never weary of life," Mrs. Bureitt concluded.

HOME TOWN RECIPE.

An orange pie is the interesting title of a recipe from the book of Mrs. M. J. Maher, 372 Rubidge Street:

2 Oranges, grated.
2 Eggs.
2 Dessertspoons flour.
¼ Cup sugar.

Flavor with lemon and finish with meringue. The above will make filling for two pies.

MUSICAL RECITAL

A very pleasant recital by two of the vocal pupils of Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park; Miss Geraldine Collins, mezzo soprano, and Miss Bertha Hill, contralto, was held in the hall of the Conservatory of Music last evening. The vocalists were assisted by Miss Margaret Widdess, pianist, pupil of Mrs. Pearl Burford Curtis of Toronto.

The two young ladies gave a lengthy and diversified programme in excellent style, singing with ease and showing the results of fine training. Miss Margaret Widdess' playing was very good, her rendition of Schumann's suite, "Scenes from Childhood," and of her two later selections, all from memory, making a splendid impression on her audience.

The three young ladies received hearty applause for their vocal and instrumental offerings, and, with Miss Mildred Green, the accompanist, received a number of bouquets of flowers.

The selections on the bocal program were very attractive, offering excellent range for the two voices, which blended with fine effect in the final number, a duett of the lovely "Barcarolle" from "The Tales of Hoffman." Miss Collins' rendition of "The Last Rose of Summer" and Miss Hill's singing of "Farewell" were also very effective.

The programme was as follows:

Coerne, I Arise from Dreams of Thee; Landon Ronald, Down in the Forest (Spring); Landon Ronald, Love I Have Won You (Summer)—Geraldine Collins.

Scenes from Childhood (Schumann): (1) About Strange Lands and People, (2) Playing Tag, (3) Entreating Child, (4) Contentedness, (5) Important Event, (6) Dreaming, (7) Knight of Hobby Horse, (8) Child Falling Asleep, (9) The Poet Speaks—Margaret Widdess.

Chaminade, Alone; Landon Ronald, The Winds are Calling (Autumn); Bartlett, A Dream—Bertha Hill.

Beethoven-Seiss, German Dance; Liszt, Sposalizio (Liszt was inspired to write this composition from the masterpiece of Rafael depicting the bethrothal of Virgin Mary; the chimes of the church are heard in the distance)—Margaret Widdess.

Hermann Lohr: The Wind on the Heath, Miri Dye (Mother Mine), Where My Caravan Has Rested, The Magpie; Romany Songs—Bertha Hill.

Rogers, The Star; Burleigh, Deep River (Negro Spiritual); Moore, Last Rose of Summer — Geraldine Collins.

Offenbach, Barcarolle (Tales of Hoffman)—Misses Collins and Hill.

W. A. PICNIC.

St. Luke's Church Ladies Have Annual Outing at Beechwood Farm.

The annual picnic of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Luke's church, was held yesterday at "Beechwood Farm," the residence of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Rogers. About forty of the members attended, and spent a very enjoyable afternoon and evening. A delicious al fresco supper was served on the lawn, where the tables were decorated with peonies, iris and pinks. Games were played after supper, and a reading given by Miss Jean Fairweather.

SCALLOPS MAKE THIS DRESS

Three large tucks, finished with scalloping, make an attractive hemline for this girlish frock of green pussy willows. Scallops also adorn the collar and the very short sleeves. The front is belted, but the back is held in place by three rows of shirring.

EXCURSION ENDS IN NEAR TRAGEDY

Woman Crossed to Canada for Holiday and Return Barred.

MONTREAL, Que., June 17.—(Canadian Press).—A week end excursion to this city by a dress maker of a little Connecticut town, was fraught with all manner of unlooked-for anxieties when the latter was just ready to take the train home. "We are afraid you can't get back to your two children for a year and a half," she was informed by U.S. government officials. And this was three minutes before the train was due to start.

Mrs. Mary McAdam thought of her two fatherless children and her business, and wept freely, sitting on a station bench. City Clerk of her own town had testified in a letter that she was a British-born woman had lived there several years; but it was found that she had gone to the States, in 1917 without inspection or payment of head-tax, remaining there when ostensibly entering for a visit. Then thinking it was all right, she came back to Canada, for a little week end trip.

In view of the worthiness of the case it was to exercise executive clemency, and allow Mrs. MacAdam to enter under a six months bond of $500, which will enable her to live in the United States for a period of not more than six months, and if she remains longer than that period the bond will be forfeited and deportation to Canada carried out.

It will probably be found possible to provide for her residence in the United States in this manner until such time as a British quota is available.

London Gossip

LONDON, Eng.—(By Canadian Press).—Queen Mary was 58 on May 26, and received a shower of birthday presents and greetings.

What presents the Queen gets for her birthday is a problem that has always intrigued the inquisitive, and this year for some reason, the veil has been slightly lifted from the array of packages and parcels that (metaphorically, may be,) awaits Queen Mary on her birthday breakfast table.

Well, David sent his present a few days too soon, but they were none the less welcome for the reason that they were some magnificent ostrich feathers wonderfully coloured and shaded, all the way from South Africa. King George gave his consort a wonderful emerald ring set in plantinum,—a setting that appeals to the Queen immensely for the majority of her private jewels, and all the State jewels, are set in gold. Princess Mary gave her mother some old lace,—and the gifts of Prince George, the baby, (and, it is whispred, the favourite of the Queen,) included some of the latest gramaphone records.

USED THE GOLD PLATE.

On Derby Night King George entertained his friends of the Jockey Club to dinner at Buckingham Palace and the gold plate service was used. Queen Mary went out to a private party on her own. Derby Night is the one night of the year when the King entertains as a bachelor.

$8,000,000 WILL BUY THIS.

It is generally anticipated in London that Grosvenor House, which the late Lord Leverhulme bought from the Duke of Westminster only a few months ago will now be repurchased by an American. It is the most palatial of the West End mansions and has a superb view of Hyde Park.

Unfortunately, the executors of the late soap king are not willing to let the mansion for short periods at enormous rentals, but had this been the case there would have been a rush of American hostesses for it. However, anybody can buy a 98 years lease for about eight million dollars.

Of all the many events in its long social history none was so remarkable as the $5,000 a head dinner which was given during the Tariff Reform Campaign. Everybody who has subscribed that amount towards the Campaign was, as a reward, invited to dine there with the Duke of Westminister.

LONDON'S SEASON WILL CONTINUE LATE THIS YEAR

London is preparing for a rush of overseas visitors in August and September. London's summer weather in the earlier months of the season has been so uncertain for the last few years that London hotel managers now state that this has resulted in heavier reservations this year for August and September than ever before. In view of this the social calendar has been revised and many of the season's events have been put back.

Both King George and Queen Mary will be back in town for August after Cowes Regatta. In the beginning of September a great pageant in which 20,000 people will take part will be given in the stadium of the British Empire Exposition at Wembley.

By the way, when the time comes for the King and Queen to go on holiday this year, for a part of the time at any rate they will their different ways. Queen Mary is going off on her own to some friends in Gloucestershire and King George has made arrangements for a bachelor holiday in the north.

ST. ANDREW'S W.M.S.

Consideration of Sending Student to Whitby Summer School Taken Up.

The meeting opened with devotional exercises in which a number of the members led in prayer, and Scripture reading by Mrs. A. Moore.

In view of the fact that St. Andrew's W.M.S. are considering sending a student to Whitby Summer School this year, Mrs. Ray Long of Knox church, who at one time attended that school herself, in a few well chosen words explained the work taken up there and the benefit she had received from it.

Mrs. J. John then gave a brief and interesting report on the recent Presbyterial Convention held in Cobourg.

Miss Craw's address, which is always such a source of pleasure and interest, was then heard. The speaker, who brings home to the ladies so clearly the messages from the foreign fields, is an inspiration to those who hear her. At the conclusion of this address, Mrs. J. Mathieson, on behalf of the society, moved a hearty vote of thanks to Miss Craw for her faithfulness and good work.

The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer, repeated in unison.

L.O.B.A. ANNIVERSARY.

Ladies' Orange Association Entertains Visitors — Enjoyable Banquet and Programme.

The 8th Anniversary of L.O.B.A. No. 244 took place last evening, when a jolly social evening was held in Victoria Hall, attended by visiting lodges from Havelock, Keene and Stirling. The local Star of Bethlehem Lodge and Eastern Star Lodge were also in attendance.

A banquet, at which about three hundred people sat down, was presided over by Neil F. Porter, who performed the duties or chairman very acceptably. The toast to the Visiting Brethren was proposed by Past Worthy Mistress Mrs. Jean Manley, and responded to by Mayor Turner.

At the conclusion of the banquet, an enjoyable musical programme was rendered, with vocal solos by Mrs. R. Scholey, Mrs. Quinn of Havelock, Miss Edith Tucker and Mr. Gatfield, instrumental selections by Mrs. E. Glover, and readings by Miss Miller and Miss Irene Wright. A dance followed, excellent music being provided for the banquet and dance by Taylor's orchestra.

Canada turns to the Sea for relief from Goitre

Brown witch that rides on foam of sea is vital to health—even little troutlets feel benefits of Iodine—Goitre now unnecessary if proper precautions taken by families.

Back in the bad old days, when the world was flat and gentility's favorite amusement was watching witches being burned at the stake, there lived a certain Spanish gentleman who wrote a dissertation entitled "How to Live 100 Years." It is recorded that all the wiseacres gave him the horse-laugh of that time claiming such longevity impossible. In those days girls married at 15, were widowed at 30 and became old women at 35. If anyone lived to 45 years he was lucky indeed.

And now, some 400 years later, an American doctor offers the astounding suggestion that people may live to 200 years if they really want to. And this doctor, like the 16th century Spanish pioneer, is also given the horse-laugh. Man's natural life is three score years and ten and any suggestion to the contrary is plainly theoretical and visionary. So say the scoffers.

At the same time advances in medicine and chemistry indicate that the prognosticating physician referred to above may prove a true prophet. In the past ten years the life of the average man has increased by a little more than 18 months. So many boons have been conferred on humanity by scientists that it is beginning to look as if diseases will some day be as old fashioned and out of date as bustles and peg-top trousers.

Take the various anti-toxins. Take insulin. Take surgery. Take iodine for goitre. How marvelously have these advances mitigated the ills of mankind. The case of iodine is particularly interesting. Fifteen years ago goitre was an incurable scourge; as horrible to contemplate as the bubonic plague. Today it is unnecessary and the most advanced cases are often easily cured.

It has always been one of the mysteries of physiology why salt plays such an extraordinary part in our diet, and why all men everywhere, in all times, have craved it so eagerly and insisted upon having its pungent taste in their food at no matter what cost. It is not a food, in the sense of giving off energy or heat in the body, because it has none itself and is not broken down to any extent in the body, but passes through the whole system and out again unchanged as it entered. Yet cut off the supply and we become as restless and uncomfortable and generally miserable and inefficient as though we had been deprived of bread or meat or potatoes. Now we are beginning to suspect that half our puzzling craving for its savor and salty tang is due to the brown witch Iodine, who rides inland with it on the spray of the same stormwind.

For untold centuries the world has lived in ignorance of the phenomenal curative properties of this iodine. It was not until 1833 that an inkling into its proper uses was gleaned. Dr. William Beaumont was the first to appreciate iodine's potential benefits. He wrote an epochal book on the subject of gastric juices and the physiology of digestion, which was a forerunner to the comparatively recent investigations that have established for all time the wonderful effects iodine has on the thyroid gland, which is the seat of goitre.

Deficiency of iodine in the thyroid is the cause of imbecility and cretinism. A cretin is an underdeveloped, stunted child lacking in both physical vigor and mentality. We can see from these unfortunate creatures that life is not worth living without an efficiently functioning thyroid gland.

Nature has denied most cretins normal thyroids. Their systems lack the proper iodine flow. Yet a large proportion of cretinism from now on will be almost inexcusable, for goitre need not be endured in the future by anyone.

Until quite recently accurate knowledge of the relation iodine bore to goitre did not exist. The only information scientists had to work on was that goitre was practically unknown in coast communities, while in inland towns and countries the disease was rampant. Switzerland, for instance, had the greatest proportion of goitre afflicted of any country in the world. Another curious feature of scientific investigations was that sailors and persons who lived in the atmosphere of salt water always had healthy thyroids. Goitre became more prevalent as the people moved inland, and this disposition created what became known as "goitre belts"—immense areas in which the percentage of goitre reached unprecedented heights.

The Great Goitre-Belt

The great goitre belt of North America is centred around the great lakes and the Rockies, and includes Michigan, Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and other neighboring territories.

It was scarcely more than half a century ago that medical men suddenly discovered that certain forms of depression and chronic nervousness in middle-aged women living inland, with ashy complexions, dull eyes and apathy, were suffering from a malady of the thyroid gland after the change of life; and what was more interesting, they could be cured by feeding the patients with extracts of the thyroid glands of animals.

A second finding, almost within a decade of the other, was that there was another form of goitre, marked by enlargement and overgrowth of the thyroid gland instead of shrinkage, recognized by protuberance of the eyeballs, hot and cold flushes, warm sweats and incredibly rapid pulse. And what challenged attention was that instead of lasting for years without appreciable harm to the health, it produced an extremely serious illness, with a death rate of nearly 20 per cent within two or three years. This came to be known by the graphic and descriptive title of exophthalmic—or out-eyed—"pop-eyed" goitre, on account of this protrusion of the eyeballs.

The main reason for the alarming increase in goitre was that people were insisting on "pure" salt with their food—that is, salt from which the brown element known as iodine had been extracted. Some years ago it was found that the thyroid gland differed from other tissues of the body chiefly in that it contained appreciable quantities of iodine. This created great interest. But the amount of iodine was so tiny that it seemed incredible that a mere half-pinch of any substance could possibly produce such extraordinary effects upon the whole human body. Then it was, scarcely five years ago, that the active principle of the thyroid, thyroxin, was extracted and isolated by Kendall, at the Mayo Brothers' laboratory at Rochester, Minnesota, and it was proved by actual demonstration that doses of a few thousandths of a grain would cure myxoedema, or the pasty-faced, under-thyroidism of women, and turn an idiotic dwarf called a cretin into a comparatively normal child of three or four, and that three-quarters of the thyroxin was iodine.

It had already been proved that goitre could be produced in dogs, and then cured by the administration of iodine. Later it was shown that many fresh water fish suffered from goitre, and an experiment conducted by the Bureau of Fisheries in the United States finally revealed beyond argument that iodine was the absolute cure of most goitrous conditions.

Where Fish Come In

This experiment was as peculiar as it was interesting. United States authorities discovered there was being produced in their fresh water hatcheries a rapidly fatal form of enlargement of the thyroid. One of the leading students of the goitre iodine complex, Dr. David Marine, was called in for consultation. He advised putting so much iodine salt per day into the stream supplying the hatchery pools. The results were wonderful. Within six days the fish were scampering and gallivanting about, taking notice of flies and generally behaving like animals that have been inoculated with a "pep" compound. They were cured.

On the heels of this experiment was the discovery that trout hatched in fresh water, who, like bad boys, ran away to sea water at an early age, were always healthier and better developed than their brothers and sisters who preferred to remain in the fresh water streams. The reason, of course, was that trout that receive the invigorating salt water supply of iodine were bound to develop faster than their comrades who had been denied the proper iodine feeding.

Applied to human beings this opened up a great vista of conjecture regarding goitre. The human body is about 85 per cent water. The theory is that every cell in the body, like fish in an ocean, requires water with iodine in it if they are to thrive. And the conclusion was that persons suffering from thyroid trouble did not have enough iodine in their "oceans"—that the cells could not be healthy because the water in which they lived lacked the vital element essential to health.

American and Canadian doctors began teaching the gospel of goitre cure and prevention in schools, with the result that goitre almost totally disappeared in many communities. The good news spread across the Atlantic and was promptly welcomed in Switzerland, partly because it was the native home of goitre and partly because of its high degree of general intelligence and open-mindedness. The authorities overcame one of its chief objections, the taste—because this led a certain percentage of pupils secretly to "duck" the dose—by coating it over with chocolate, which no schoolgirl can resist, and within a few months similar excellent results were obtained. In Zurich, for instance, the percentage of goitre before iodine was used was from 80 to 90 per cent. After iodine, it was barely 30 per cent, while the schools in the canton of St. Gall fell from 87.6 per cent of goitre to 13.1 per cent three years later. So the Goitre Commission recommended that this method of goitre prevention be instituted as a public-health measure over the entire state.

In several Ontario cities somewhat similar action was taken, but it did not go far enough. In one school the medical officer of health discovered that 60 per cent of girls between the ages of 10 and 18 were afflicted in varying degrees with goitre. Immediately it was recommended that pinches of iodine be put in the city water to counteract the injurious condition, but the objections of citizens to "polluted water," which they termed water containing iodine, prevented anything being done.

The really feasible method of regularly supplying the system with the necessary iodine is by taking it in salt. For persons living inland this, in fact, is the only convenient way. Already thousands of Canadians are regularly using iodized salt, a new, yet very old, method of preventing and combatting diseases to which the thyroid gland is subject. Several progressive salt manufacturing concerns are producing this grade of salt, so that now if anyone develops goitre it will be through ignorance or deliberate neglect. Every parent may protect his child against the disease simply by using iodized salt at every meal.

What the Future Holds

Our whole study of iodine and goitre opens up a most fascinating and hopeful vista. If we are able to produce such widespread improvements in the health of a whole nation simply by the intelligent control of tiny amounts of one mineral element in our drinking water, our condiments and our food, what other victories over human ills may not the future have in store?

To sum up briefly, wherever man goes too far inland from his native sea beaches he pays the penalty in the form of goitre, unless he makes good the deficiency in the form of salt. Salt has uses of its own in the economy of which we are not here concerned; but it seems almost certain that a very large share of the salt-craving which the human race has shown in all stages of its history and which is illustrated by such phrases as "not worth his salt," "bread and salt," has been due to the traces of iodine present in all impure salts.

As man became highly civilized, however, he relegated impure salt to the realm of obsolete things, deliberately extracting that vital substance, iodine, from it. And the result was widespread appearance of goitre in civilized countries.

Now it is generally recognized that iodine is as essential to good health as vitamins. And with that knowledge it is known that enlargement of the thyroid can be prevented and frequently cured. Indeed, it should hardly be regarded as a disease, but only as an unbalanced or abnormal condition; and if taken in time—that is, when the sufferer is under eighteen years of age—95 per cent of them can be cured completely by the administration of iodine. Goitre of high degree in parents may result in birth goitre of the child, known as cretinism, in which case the unfortunate infant grows into a stunted, idiotic, club-featured, thick-tongued dwarf and remains so all the rest of his life. A similar cretinism is the cause of a high death rate among lambs, calves, colts and puppies in the goitre belts.

The modern solution to the goitre problem is, of course, regular consumption of iodized salts. The necessary percentage of iodine is now included in iodized table salt with the bitter taste of iodine eliminated. If children are given this salt with their food there is virtually no possibility of them getting goitre.

For those who have been life-long sufferers the future is most hopeful. In a great proportion of instances absolute cures are possible and, when worse comes to worse, an operation can be depended on to cure about 80 per cent of all cases. Iodine plays an important part in operations, too. Its discreet professional use allows surgeons to operate with many more chances of success than were obtained before the powers of iodine were fully understood.

MAYO EXPLAINS IODINE'S POWER IN GOITRE CURE

(Calgary Herald)

That iodine is responsible for the saving of thousands of lives annually and that it is capable of effecting apparently miraculous cures in the cases of persons afflicted with toxic goitre were the contentions made recently by Dr. Charles H. Mayo, of Rochester ,Minn., who delivered the first of three "Beaumont Lectures" before members of the Wayne County Medical Society.

Dr. Mayo's subject was "The Historical Aspects of the Thyroid Gland; Its Development, Function and Disease." The "Beaumont Lectures" were inaugurated four years ago by the Wayne County Medical Society as a memorial to Dr. William Beaumont, who, when post surgeon at Fort Mackinac, published in 1833 his epoch-making work on gastric juices and the physiology of digestion.

Dr. Mayo touched briefly on the life of Beaumont and remarked that although medical history indicated eight of his predecessors had been given the same rare opportunity for pursuing the same line of investigation, none had been qualified to take advantage of this.

History of Gland.

Briefly, then, Dr. Mayo proceeded to give the history of the thyroid gland and to indicate its functions in health, contrasting this with its condition in disease and pointing out by means of slides the various types of goitre. Sixty-five per cent. of the solution discharged by the healthy thyroid into the blood stream consisted of iodine, he said, the average person consuming three-quarters of a milligram of iodine daily. When the gland found difficulty in obtaining its supply, it proceeded to multiply its cells as though reaching out after the substance and the condition known as goitre followed, he explained.

The Cretins.

Dr. Mayo spoke of the cretins, generally born with a deficient thyroid, which manifested itself in a sort of mental torpor, in deafness and dumbness often, and in failure to increase stature at the normal rate. Thyroxin, or thyroid extract, if fed to these children, he said, was found to have an almost immediate effect. He displayed pictures of children who had grown an inch a month during the first year of treatment and thereafter half an inch a month.

"We may see from related circumstances," he said, "that nature intended the thyroid gland to be the great energy gland of the body. I think it may well be likened to the draft, if the body is the stove. The draft regulates the burning of the carbon in the stove and the thyroid governs our metabolic rate. In the unborn child, the thyroid should be in place by the seventh week. We know that it is closely related to the sex organs, especially in women. At times when certain conditions arise with respect to these organs, there is a marked swelling of the neck.

"Nature has considered the gland of sufficient importance to provide for it an unusually large blood supply. In fact, the thyroid could take care of the entire supply of the body with the exception of the amount feeding the brain.

"We can see from the cretins that life is not worth living without an efficiently functioning thyroid gland. Remove the thyroid and you close the draft of the stove. The subject experiences chilly sensations and is mentally dull, asking the same question over and over again. It is the typical picture of old age when the thyroid is not functioning properly. But restore the glandular secretion and you open the draft; the stove burns properly again."

On Old Men.

Dr. Mayo stated that the Greeks, the Romans and the Phoenicians had practised glandular therapy, but generally on old men. Iodine, he said, was not discovered until 1801, although Paracelsus, as early as 1600, was prescribing for goitre a substance rich in iodine.

Absolute Preventive.

"Iodine is almost an absolute preventive of colloid goitre," he said. "That has been proved beyond all question. In those countries like Switzerland, the Indian Punjab and our own western and Great Lake region, where the water is deficient in iodine, goitre abounds. There is little of it, for example, in the States bordering the Atlantic Coast and where great quantities of sea food are consumed. How we manage to extract the iodine from food, no one knows, but it should form an admirable line for investigation.

"We are only just beginning to gather together bits of knowledge concerning our ductless glands, but already the fact that iodine has a profound influence on the thyroid has been of inestimable value. Previously, old cases of goitre, coming to Rochester for treatment, would die before they reached the clinic for operation. Now that can be checked.

"Give even a dying patient ten drops of iodine solution three times a day for ten days, and at the end of that time he will be on his feet. In the last year, the death rate was only .68 per cent. from this cause. The iodine also enables the surgeon to do a complete operation at once when before he had to do three or four 'test' operations first and thus greatly weakened the patient's resistance. Iodine or thyroxin, in many cases of goitre, is a curative. Given in table salt it is a preventive for goitre. Precisely how it is split up when passing through the digestive tract on its way to the thyroid gland, from which it emerges into the blood stream as a hormone, we do not know. Its demonstrated usefulness, however, must content us for the present."

Why rent a bath house when you can carry your own? The latest is a cretonne bathing tent which fits over the head and envelopes the whole body to permit making a change of costume.

LACK OF IODINE SOURCE OF ILLS

Long-Known Salt Wins Delayed Recognition by Medicine.

MUCH USED IN THE WAR

Salt Contained in Many Foods in Natural State.

(London Free Press)

LONDON.—There is new hope for the ordinary man, who is the victim of the ordinary aches and pains and ailments of every-day life. This hope comes through a substance, one of the essential salts, which has been known to medical science for many generations. It is iodine.

It is known, as indeed it might have been known many years ago, that a lack of iodine in the circulation of the blood, from which it is extracted by the thyroid gland, is the cause of countless ailments. It is responsible for a condition which shows itself in its most acute form in goitre or Derbyshire neck, which affects the health in minor but distressing degrees of thousands of people, who never realize that they are suffering from a form of iodine starvation.

Used in War.

Iodine is taken in many forms. The general and most familiar treatment with iodine, however, is found in its external use as a germicide. The war made millions of men its grateful adherents. For it was in common use as a first antiseptic dressing for wounds, while the simple prescription of a No. 9 pill and iodine saved medical officers a vast amount of trouble and restored unnumbered sufferers from strange and divers diseases to the rude state of health, which was known as A1.

The commonest way of absorbing the necessary iodine into the system is by eating common salt, of which it is a constituent, and through the vegetables and fruits in which it is contained. Nature indeed has always recognized the necessity for iodine. But we, who thrive on nature's bounty, have undone a large part of her good work by cooking and peeling our vegetables and fruit, and by refining the iodine out of our salt. The famous march of progress, of which the steps are so halting and slow, has now driven medical science into some recognition of the value of this essential salt. A stage has now been reached in which the doctors may be expected to make a habit of prescribing iodine much more frequently.

BRUSH TEETH

Children Should be Taught Need of Clean Teeth.

Whether this is a whole truth, or just a catchy trade phrase, Mrs. Mann never questions.

So she sees that each of her children are taught the proper way to use a brush. And she also sees that the children's teeth are examined regularly.

Most schools now have dentists whose business is to examine all the children's teeth, and recommend to the parents measures to remedy any defects.

Teeth should be brushed at least twice a day. They should be brushed not only up and down, but crosswise as well.

Food particles have a habit of lodging between the teeth where they escape the brush unless the brush is moved up and down as well as across the teeth.

Many tooth brushes are too soft.

Gritty tooth powder and paste should not be used.

The substance cuts the enamel, and opens a way for decay.

Tartar gathers around the gums, causing them to loosen from the teeth. This should be removed by a dentist.

Tooth brushes should be kept clean, and sterilized at least once a week.

TRIFLING WITH DEATH

Not a sinecure is the job of reptile curator. But that's the post of Dr. Raymond L. Ditmars of the Bronx (N.Y.) Zoo, and there's no snake too deadly for him to handle. Here he is shown with a green mamba, one of the most fearsome of African reptiles. The mamba hangs from trees and strikes at those passing beneath. His bite is almost certain death.

DISCOURAGEMENT

Oh, so that accounts for—" began the neighbor, when the frugal one interrupted him:

"Yes, that accounts for my wearing these clothes. What in thunder's the use of trying to be economical!"—Boston Transcript.

Many Children Have Goitre, Sault Investigation Shows

(Special Despatch to The Globe.)

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont.—The medical survey which is being made in schools of the Sault by the members of the Sault Ste. Marie Medical Association is revealing more goitre among the children than had been expected, though it has been considered for some time that the Sault was in a section where goitre was prevalent.

No figures as to the number of cases discovered are available, as the survey has not been completed, and the reports have not been turned in, but it is understood that the proportion is quite large.

Goiter is but the visible sign the ugly danger signal, of a lack of iodine in the thyroid gland — Mental development, physical growth, the skin, the hair, general health affected.

ALL the iodine in the world is contained in the ocean in beds of salt, deep underground, left there millions of years ago when oceans rolled where now it is dry land.

Ages ago iodine may have been one of the chemicals of rocks or the soil absorbed from the ancient oceans, but there is no iodine in the soil today. Iodine is one of the most soluble salts in nature, consequently if it ever existed in the soil it would be quickly dissolved and carried down to the sea, leaving none available at any of the usual sources from which our bodies derive the salts and other chemicals necessary to health and normal development, viz., in water, vegetables and other foods.

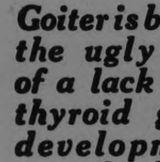
Thirty years ago it was learned that iodine was a necessity to the proper functioning of the thyroid gland and when the gland was deprived of its iodine, goiter in some form resulted. Another result of insufficient iodine was the wasting of the thyroid gland.

Generally speaking, goiter was considered more disfiguring than dangerous. In the majority of cases it really is not a serious trouble, though some forms, exophthalmic or "pop-eyed" goiter, for instance, are extremely dangerous and fatal in 20 per cent of the cases within two years.

Goiter—the common variety—so frequently seen in both sexes, is really a symptom or evidence that the body has not been properly supplied with iodine through the thyroid gland, with results to the general health likely to be much more serious than the goiter itself.

But the great prevalence of goiter also led to the discovery of the almost universal prevalence of other troubles due to the lack of iodine. As goiter became better understood its causes were sought. Surveys showed that it was least frequent near the sea and most frequent inland.

Further study revealed that to properly function, the thyroid gland must have iodine to work with—iodine in infinitesimal quantity.



THE DANGER SIGN

Then as the work of research proceeded it was found that the lack of iodine in the thyroid gland produced many other harmful results. Goiter is only the outward manifestation of one result of the absence of iodine. For instance, lack of iodine in the thyroid gland seriously interferes with the growth of children.

Investigation of this condition was started from the fact that young salmon which remain in the fresh waters where they are hatched seldom grow to more than a half to two pounds in weight, while those which go down to the sea their second year and remain there for three years grow to from 15 to 30 pounds in weight. They get their iodine in the salt water and grow big.

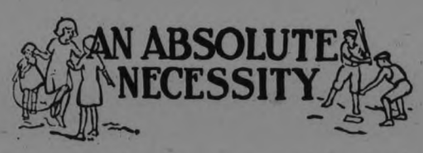
Then as children approach puberty, goiter or lack of iodine seriously retards the development of the generative organs in both sexes, especially in girls, in whom the change is made more rapidly than in boys. Such girls are likely to bear goitrous children when they themselves become mothers.

Goitrous expectant mothers may bear goitrous children, which in many cases are cretins or imbecile dwarfs, while in the large percentage of cases the children will be defective in one form or another.

Defective action or wasting of the thyroid gland due to insufficient iodine, in women approaching or past the change of life, causes depression, dry, unhealthy skin, pasty complexion, falling hair and nervousness.

Deficient iodine also adversely affects the nutriment of the body. Fats are not properly consumed as heat and are redeposited under the skin, causing obesity or even fatty degeneration.

We have now told you what the lack of iodine in the thyroid gland means. What the presence of iodine means is equally interesting and shows how important iodine is to every human being.



Dr. Barwise, who made a special study of this subject in Derbyshire, England, where for centuries goiter has been notoriously prevalent, has listed the functions of iodine through the thyroid gland as follows:—

1. It is necessary for effective metabolism, and specially promotes respiratory changes and physical growth.
2. It promotes efficient mental development. A severe shortage before birth results in cretinism.
3. It is especially required in the pregnant condition and antenatal clinics must bear this point in mind.
4. It is needed at the age of adolescence for the reproductive organs, particularly in the female, in whom the change-over takes place more rapidly than in the male.
5. It is needed to keep the skin and its appendages in a healthy condition. A dry skin and falling hair frequently mean thyroid deficiency.
6. It is required for the digestion, assimilation and combustion of fats. When a shortage occurs the fat cannot be satisfactorily dealt with and it is stored in the subcutaneous tissues. Many cases of obesity may be occasioned in this way.
7. It is required for the metabolism of calcium. The harder the drinking water the more iodine is required.
8. It is needed to enable us to resist the invasion of microbes, and to render harmless the toxins which they produce.

Dr. Barwise also admonishes that it should be remembered that the secretion of the thyroid is one of nature's processes of securing immunity from germ infection, and the prevention of goiter is much more than a mere aesthetic attainment. For the maintenance of health, infinitesimal quantities are as necessary as vitamines and the effect of it is similar and quite out of proportion to the quantity taken. There is every reason to believe that the freer use of iodine in Derbyshire would lead to improved physical and mental development; a greater freedom from infectious complaints; and improvement in the general health.

So it will be seen that while goiter is very common, it is not the only result of lack of iodine in the system. It is also plain that for the maintenance of good health iodine is an absolute necessity.

Windsor Iodized Salt

There are many ways of taking iodine into the system and all are very good. The first method is nature's—always good. Down by the sea in the Maritime Provinces of Canada and in the New England States goiter is almost unknown. Iodine gets into the drinking water by sea spray blown miles inland. It gets into the vegetables from the soil. In many districts marsh hay, soaked in sea water while growing, is cut and fed to the cattle and thus finds its way in milk into the human stomach. Then the people by the sea eat a great deal of fish, clams, oysters, crabs and lobsters, all of which contain iodine absorbed from the sea water. It might be mentioned here that all wheat, especially from near the sea, contains a little iodine, but the iodine is in the indigestible husks or bran of the wheat, so that even if it were eaten as a mixture of flour, the iodine would not be absorbed into the system, the bran merely acting as "roughage" to stimulate bowel action, without being digested.

But we cannot all live near the sea, so we must get our iodine by some other method.

Switzerland, one might almost say, has been the very home of goiter and the attendant evils caused by insufficient iodine. This is because it is far inland from the sea and because the water supply is almost exclusively derived from glaciers or snow. However, Switzerland is now adopting the simple, effective method of using salt.

The surest, simplest way of getting iodine into the thyroid gland is by using Windsor Iodized Salt.

It is necessary to put iodine into the salt and for this purpose the Canadian Salt Company at Windsor, Ontario, worked out the first successful formula in Canada for iodizing salt. Since this discovery and its subsequent approval by the Provincial Board of Health, Windsor Iodized Salt is in universal use.

Windsor Iodized Salt prevents goiter and the diseases caused by deficient iodine. It is estimated that 90 to 95 per cent of goiter cases can be cured by the simple use of Windsor Iodized Salt. While it is too soon to say what percentage of cases can be prevented, it is not too much to say that within ten years goiter may easily be eliminated in Canada by the simple, daily use of Windsor Iodized Salt.

Windsor Iodized Salt tastes and looks just like "plain" salt. If we didn't tell you it was iodized you would never know it. It does not change the flavor of your food one iota. The children take it in their porridge, in their vegetables and broths just the same as any other salt and they never know they are taking "medicine" that makes them grow into sturdy, vigorously healthy young men and women.

ROMAN CHURCH WILL CANONIZE MARTYRS HERE

Celebration in Canada at Same Time as Service in Rome.

JESUIT HEROES

Tablet Will be Unveiled at Waubaushene on Sunday Next.

TORONTO, June 17. — Canadian Press. — Sunday, June 21st, is the date upon which the first Canadian martyrs will be canonized in the city of Rome, with most impressive ceremonies. In unison with the event, which will be witnessed by thousands from all parts of the world, a celebration will be held in Canada, when the shrine of the martyrs near Waubaushene, Ont., will be the rendezvous for pilgrims from a distance and from the immediate vicinity, who will gather on the spot where the Jesuit heroes were slain almost three centuries ago.

The martyrs whose names will afterwards be found on the roll of the canonized are the following Jesuit pioneer missionaries.

John de Brebeuf, born in Normandy, March 25, 1593, died March 16, 1649.

Gabriel Lalemant, born in Paris, Oct. 30, 1610; died March 17, 1649.

Anthony Daniel, born in Dieppe, May 27, 1601, died July 4, 1648.

Charles Garier, born in Paris, May 25, 1609, died December 7, 1649.

Noel Charbanel, born in Mende, February 2, 1613, died December 10, 1649.

Three others whose missionary labors were also in Canada until they were made prisoners by Mohawk Indians and taken into the State of New York where they were afterwards subjected to cruel torture and death, are also on the roll. These are Father Isaac Jogues, born in Orleans, Jan. 10, 1607, died Oct. 18, 1646, and two lay companions, Rene Goupil, born in Angers, died September 29, 1642; and John de la Lande, born in Dieppe, died October 19, 1646.

A tablet to the memory of these men who left their native homes in France to brave the perils of unknown seas and savages in the interests of religion and civilization, will be unveiled at Waubaushene, the most Reverend Neil McNeill, D. D., Archbishop of Toronto, officiating. Rev. John E. Burke, C. S. P., will preach the sermon.

The lives and deaths of these early missionaries are summed up by the historian Francis Parkman, in the statement that "nowhere is the power of courage, faith and an unflinching purpose more strikingly displayed than in the record of these missionaries." Father John de Brebeuf worked for 16 years with the Hurons before he was seized by the Iroquois and taken prisoner to the settlement at St. Ignace. Here this wonderful 'Black Robe,' as the Indians called him, was put to most excruciating torture. Finding that he made no complaint the savages tore out his heart and ate it, hoping to imbibe some of his amazing courage. Father Gabriel Lalemant, the gentle companion of Brebeuf, rose to surprising heights of endurance and prayed for his tormentors as they prolonged his sufferings for 16 hours.

In a raid by the Iroquois on the Christian Hurons, Father Daniel faced the enemy while telling his people to flee. He became the target for arrows and bullets, and fell, his body being thrown into his chapel and set on fire by the enemy.

An apostate Huron dealt the blow which killed Father Noil Charbonel, whose sensitive disposition had at first rebelled against the coarseness of life with the savages and who found it hard to learn their language, though a professor rhetoric in France To overcome his disinclinations he had bound himself by vow to remain in New France. The story of Father Jogues is filled with endurance, sufferings, escapes to France and voluntary return to the land of his persecution where his life was ended by a blow from a tomahawk. The two young laymen, Rene Coupil and John de la Lande, the much loved companions of Father Jogues also met death at the hands of the Indians, the merciless tomahawk being in each case the instrument by which their ardent work in the missions was ended.

WHITE PLAGUE IS CONQUERED

Preventative Vaccine Tested With Success by the Pasteur Institute.

SUCCESS CLAIMED.

PARIS, June 17. Canadian Press — Preventive vaccine against tuberculosis, known as "B.C.G.," is producing most effective results, according to a report of the Academy of Medicine, by Professor Calmette, assistant director of the Pasteur Institute.

Of 173 nursing babies vaccinated three years ago, the report said, none had died of tuberculosis, and 94 examined last month were in perfect health. Of 137 babies vaccinated at the beginning of 1924, all members of tubercular families in Paris, none had died of tuberculosis.

SENATE MAY KILL HOME BANK BILL

Six Months' Hoist Proposed —Compassionate Grounds No Reason.

OTTAWA, June 17. Canadian Press. — A six months hoist for the bill to aid the Home Bank depositors was moved in the Senate yesterday by Senator W. G. Foster, seconded by Senator R. S. White.

After some discussion the debate was adjourned until to-morrow.

Senator R. B. Black of Sackville, thought the bill should not pass.

He could not, he said, find a single argument why the country should pay $5,450,000 to the Home B. depositors. There had not been a single bank organized since Confederation that had not at some time wittingly or unwittingly, violated this act. It was no justification for looting the treasury. If we are going to vote money on compassionate grounds, anyone who lost money on account of the war should be recompensed.

He believed the Senate would be interpreting public sentiment if they rejected the bill.

IS THIS Your BIRTHDAY

WEDNESDAY, June 17. —You are born under the sign of the Gemini, the twins and many people born under this sign are natural complainers and growlers. This will be one of your greatest faults. The whole world is "off centre," you think. The least little thing will cause you to growl at your friends. It's a fault that you can correct if real self for a short time. You will see the error of your way. The see the error ofr your way. The chances are that you will not marry until comparatively late in life, although you will have numerous love affairs.

Vacation Clothes

NEW YORK, June 17.—(United Press).—Vacation days have suddenly pounced upon us. Most of us are packing our furs in camphor and wondering what on earth we'll buy to replace them. The type of clothes one takes on a vacation depends entirely upon where one goes. Those who go with wardrobe trunks to smart resorts need no assistance.

The business girl who packs a suitcase and goes to a nearby resort is the one who requires careful selection of suitable garments. It is better to take a few well chosen clothes than to take the entire leavings of last season's wardrobe, together with hastily selected summer frocks. Usually we make the mistake of taking too many dressy frocks. A vacation is a place to rest and one shouldn't attempt to be a fashionplate, but to be comfortable and prepared for every occasion.

For the seashore we'd suggest a flannel skirt and sweater for cool days. A two-piece jumper frock of silk or wash material; two simple wash frocks of one-piece type; an organdy or lace frock in pastel shade for the hotel dance; sport coat or cape; a dark silk frock and a bathing suit. One should take at least two pairs of comfortable shoes, besides dancing slippers. One pair is white. Canvas is more sensible than kid. Tan oxfords or tennis shoes are best for walking on the sands and either choice may be worn with the above mentioned frocks, since smart shoes are not essential on the beach.

For the mountain resort one prepares a similiar wardrobe, except that one includes a suit or heavy coat for chilly nights. Knickers always come in very handy and, of course, mannish shirts go with them. If one does much hiking over mountain roads a pair of high laced boots act as a support to the ankles. Sweaters and skirts are the most popular clothes for mountain resorts, although one must also be prepared for warm days and must not omit a few wash frocks.

CENTRAL LEAGUE TEAM WINNERS IN BENEFIT GAME

Hits Were About Even, But the Mercantilers Were Stage Struck.

SCORE WAS 13-5.

Pitchers on Both Sides Hurled Nice Ball, But Fielders Were Off.

A fair-size crowd attended the benefit game at Riverside Park last evening when the Central Ontario League team won from a picked Mercantile League outfit, by 13 runs to 5, the game being called in the seventh. The proceeds were turned over to Bill Duggan, injured Examiner Mercantile League player.

Had the Mercantile Leaguers supported Donnelly, the young southpaw who started on the rubber for them, the fixture would have been much more interesting, for the youngster showed considerable steam and good control and the Central crew did not hit him with any degree of freedom. His teammates fell down badly behind him, however. Jimmy Hall of the Central team played left field for the Mercantilers and pitched the last two innings for them.

Jeff Hardill worked the first five innings for the winners and showed a lot of stuff. Heckman and Whitehouse split the last two innings between them.

Three double plays formed the principal fielding features of the engagement, the Mercantilers contributing two of them.

CRICKET GAME IS NEW VOGUE

U. S. REPRESENTED

TORONTO, June 17.—(Canadian Pres).—Cricket in Toronto this coming season is taking on quite a Dominion and international aspect, and followers of the sport will soon be enjoying the spectacle of Western and American teams invading fields here. The first visitors will be the St. George's C.C. of Winnipeg, who after having played Ridley College C.C. and St. Catharines on June 16 and 17 respectively at St. Catharines, and Buffalo on June 18, will open their Toronto series on June 22 against a team chosen from Grace Church and the Bell Telephone teams.

On June 23 the elite of Yorkshire and Rosedale C.C.'s of Toronto will provide the opposition. On June 25 Toronto C.C. will try conclusions with the westerners.

The first United States team to appear here will be the Schenectady C.C. who will play a day's match on July 14, followed by the Philadelphians on June 17 and 18, both teams meeting a representative side from the Toronto an District cricket clubs, the latter being a two-day match. Three more international matches will be Yorkshire vs Detroit, July 9; C.N.R. vs Buffalo, July 14, and Yorkshire vs Border Cities, July 29.

The interprovincial game this year will take place at Montreal on July 1 and 2 when the teams of Quebec and Ontario will try conclusions. Canadian cricketers look forward to the time when the touring eleven from the Old Country will be a regular annual feature in the Dominion.

COGS WIN AGAIN BEAT LAKEFIELD

Visited Northern Village and Took Game From Homesters by 8-3 Score.

GOOD FIELDING.

LAKEFIELD, June 17.—Cognawagas of Peterborough went home with a 8 to 3 victory after last nights' East Peterborough League game with the Lakefield team here. The Cogs took the lead when they scored four runs in the fourth and were never headed afterwards. Prest, in centre field is given credit for the victory as he cut off a number of runs by sparkling catches of hard flies. The other members of the team also gave Billingsley good support, on which he relied greatly, as he struck out only 3 men during the game. His rival, Woodhouse fanned five. The Lakefield team played the best ball of the season behind him but the good work of the Cogs in the field cut off many runs.

The heavy hitting was provided by Rooke and Billingsley. Each had a triple in the first inning and Billingsley finished the game with another in the seventh but went out trying to stretch it. Dr. Gibson of Lakefield, and D. Davis of Peterborough, gave entire satisfaction as umpires, the former calling the balls and strikes.

The score by innings:

The lineups:

Lakefield—Woodhouse, p; Northey, c; Moore, 1b; Grier, 2b; Hull, 3b; Fitzgerald, ss; McGrath, lf; Payne, cf; Manning, rf; Sherman, rf; McManus, lf.

The principal handicap of the locals is that the fans, who are always willing to drive to Peterborough for a Central League game, are not willing to spare the time and turn out to root for the home team. Whether they think the class of ball is too slow or the results of insufficient importance to warrant their attendance is not known, but it is certain that there should be a much larger turnout of spectators to cheer for the home team, the boys who were born and learned the game right in Lakefield, when they meet teams from other towns in scheduled games for the Wright cup and the privilege of playing off for the O.B.A. Intermediate championship.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER THORON
Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans

One factor characterizes the work of the expert golfer—he hits the ball hard but his swing defies you to see him put effort into it." This is because he controls his club. By that is meant that the good player has a consciousness of exactly what he is going to do with the club and sub-consciously at least, he knows exactly where the club is and what it is doing during every part of his swing. Thus, there is no part of the swing where the club is lost to his sense of touch. He "feels" his way clear through, so to speak. The inexperienced golfer lacks this control of the club. One good way to get the knack of it is to hold the club in front of you as you would hold a baseball bat. Draw it back as you would the bat. Feel it in your fingers. Note how long it takes to turn. Then gradually lower the clubhead to the ground and swing in the same way, a fine way to cure Fault Two; lack of control of the club.

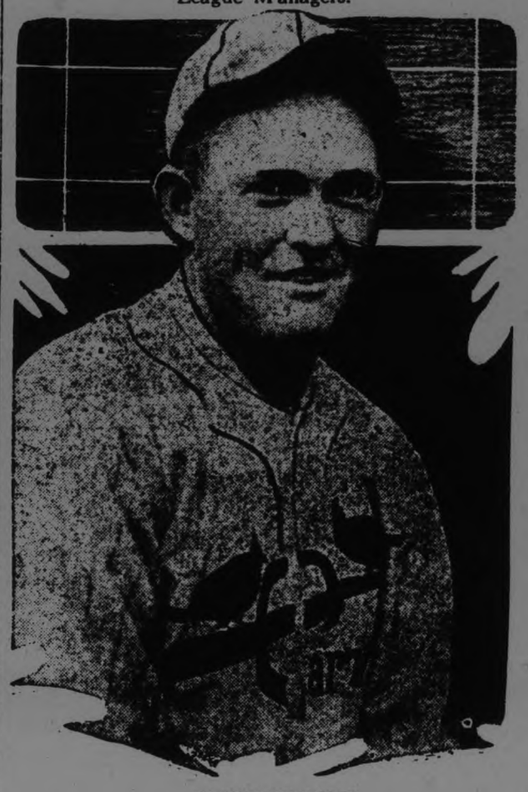
HE'S NEW PILOT OF CARDS.

Rogers Hornsby Latest Player to Join the Ranks of Big League Managers.



ROGERS HORNSBY

Presenting Mr. Rogers Hornsby, recently appointed manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, who has replaced Branch Rickey in that capacity.

Hornsby, as you no doubt know, is the leading clubber and start second baseman of the National League. He's led the circuit in batting for the past five seasons. He's out to beat Cobb's high mark of nine straight.

Hornsby came to the Cards back in 1915. And he's been improving ever since. Last year he turned in a hitting percentage of .424, the best in modern times. As a pilot he got off on the right foot by winning his first game.

SPORT GOSSIP AND COMMENT.

Will some one please wake up the sporting editor of the Kingston Whig and tell him the Central Ontario League is not playing a split schedule this season? The Whig keeps on discussing the chances of the Ponies to win the first-half honours. There is no first and second-half arrangement this year, the teams playing through a straight schedule of twenty-four games, at the end of which the teams finishing first and second will meet in a series for the league championship.

According to the Belleville Ontario, Jack Ouellet has accepted a "very lucrative" position in Detroit, and is pitching for an industrial team in that city. Jack must have graduated from the Belleville Business College in record time.

Oshawa will furnish strong opposition for the Petes in the weekend fixture at Riverside Park, and the first appearance of the Motorists here this year should attract a big crowd. Whatever happens in Oshawa today Saturday's game will be of the greatest importance to both teams, and the engagement promises to be full of interesting features. His Dukeship, Harold Dainty, will do the hurling for the visitors and the left-hander generally gives a colourful performance, even if he has discarded some of the mannerisms that used to distinguish his appearance on the mound.

PLAY STARTED IN TENNIS TOURNEY

Many Games Played in First Rounds at Rideau Club, Ottawa.

RAIN THREATENED.

OTTAWA, June 17 (By Canadian Press) — Despite the heavy rain Monday and during the night, a strong breeze combined with the sun dried the courts of the Rideau Lawn Tennis Club out so that play started at 2.30 yesterday. In the ladies' open singles Mrs. H. MacDonnell of Toronto, using her reverse service with good effect, defeated Miss O. Wadsworth of Ottawa, 6-2, 6-0. Miss Phoebe Grierson and Miss Muriel Bremner, the two very promising Ottawa girl players, both won their matches and Miss G. Gallery of Montreal, playing with lots of vim, defeated Miss L. Billing, Montreal, 6-2, 6-1. Mrs. H. F. Wright, of Ottawa, had a very hard struggle to win from Miss G. Dexter, of Winnipeg, 6-3, 8-6. Mrs. Dexter played a very plucky game. Mrs. B. Abbott had all she could do to win from Miss Ruth Grierson who forced her to a three set match.

Mrs. E. F. Coke, the Quebec champion, playing in great form, won her first match from Miss J. Askwith. In the men's doubles Le Roy Rennie and A Ham, of Toronto, came through two rounds without dropping a set.

Tom Brown and L. M. Brown, of Ottawa, last year's runners up, showed brilliant form in their match with Dave McLaren and Walsh, of Montreal, winning in straight sets. Innes Taylor, Toronto, and E. Taschereau, Ottawa, won two matches in the double defeating Brian Doherty and Fairquarson, of Toronto, in the second in straight sets.

Misses B. and P. Abbott, of Montreal, won a brilliant victory over Mrs. MacFarlane and Miss Steers, of Ottawa, after three very close and exciting sets. Charlie Leslie and Rainville, of Montreal, showed themselves a strong pair by taking Camsell and Hepburn into camp.

A few matches were played in the men's singles. Charlie Leslie, of Montreal, defeating J. Jamieson, of Toronto, 6-2, 6-4. Eddie Condon, of Ottawa, won a hard hitting game from Brian Doherty, 7-5, 63. Doherty led 5-4 in the first set and 40-15 but could not pull the odd point. Miss E. Henderson, Toronto, had a brilliant win over Miss P. Gykert, Ottawa, in three very hard fought sets and Mrs. Coke, Quebec champion, won two desperately close sets from Miss R. Abbott, of Montreal.

MARRIAGE LAX

Justice Macdonald Scores Petition Because Parties Couldn't Agree.

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 17 (Canadian Press).—Is the sanctity of the marriage bond lessened in British Columbia? The question, says the Province, is suggested by an observation of Mr. Justice W. A. MacDonald in Supreme Court during the trial of a petition by Rex. Leslie, for a decree of nulity of marriage In 1921, in Vancouver he married Adeline Helen Nichol. After a year and a half she went away to Portland, Ore. "We couldn't agree," explained the husband. "We had different ideas on different subjects." The marriage ties are getting pretty loose in this province," said Mr. Justice MacDonald, and he added, "among some people."

FOUR STRAIGHT LOST BY GIANTS

FIGHT AT ST. LOUIS.

PITTSBURGH, June 17 (Canadian Press).—Pittsburgh took its fourth straight game from the Giants yesterday, a home run by Wright with Traynor on base in the tenth giving the Pirates a 13 to 11 victory. Five New York pitchers were sent into the box. It was the fifth consecutive setback for the National League leaders. Score:
New York..... ...003012:112—11 17 3
Pittsburgh ....12330000—13 20 3

Boston 7; Chicago 4.

CHICAGO, June 17 (Canadian Press).—Boston broke Chicago's winning streak yesterday by going on a batting rampage in the thirteenth inning and taking the final game of the series here, 7 to 4. The locals had won five in a row. The game was a see-saw affair with pitching on both sides and sensational fielding by Griffith, Pittinger, Felix and Kibbie. Manager Bancroft started the rally which tied the count in the 8th, when he batted for Ryan. Bush, who replaced Cooper, weakened in the thirteenth inning after two were out the visitors scored three times. Score:
Boston ....0100100200003—7 13 3
Chicago.... ....0001012000000—4 12 1

St. Louis 6; Phillies 4

ST. LOUIS, June 17 (Canadian Press).—The St. Louis Cardinals made a clean sweep of their series with the Phillies, winning the fifth and final game yesterday, 6 to 4. The game was marked by much argument with the umpires. In the sixth inning Manager Rogers Hornsby of the Cardinals took a couple of punches at Art Fletcher, lead of the Phillies, and both pilots were chased by the arbiters. Score:
Philadelphia.. ....020002000— 4 9 2
St. Louis.. ....00000240x— 6 10 0

Cincinnati 6; Brooklyn 5.

CINCINNATI, June 17 (Canadian Press).—Cincinnati staged batting rallies in the eigth and ninth innings yesterday and won the final game of the series from Brooklyn, 6 to 5. Roush knocked out a home run in the fifth. Play was interrupted for 30 minutes in the fourth inning by rain. The score:
Brooklyn ....000500000— 5 10 3
Cincinnati ....01001022— 6 16 1
Petty, Osborne and Taylor; Rixey and Wingo.

TRENT RIVER LOST

TRENT RIVER, June 17.—The young ladies' softball team went to Havelock on Saturday afternoon and played their first game with a senior team, having had only two or three practices since organization. The team did wonderfully well, according to their knowledge of this year's rules. The first couple of innings their opponents took the lead, but from then to the end of the game the Trent River team secured 17 runs. The score was 33-17 in favor of Havelock. Special mention might be made of the pitcher, Laura Wight, the catcher, Ada Doupe, and Margaret Wilkinson, the latter on second base catching some balls from high batting.

Trent River—Pitcher, Laura Wight; catcher, Ada Doupe; 1st base, Elgan Ruttan; 2nd base, Mrs. H. Mann; 3rd base, Ethel Rose; 1st short, Mabel Inkster; 2nd short, Margaret Wilkinson; left field, Agnes Wight; centre, Annie Wight; right field, Mabel Tyler.

Jim Hooper, Havelock, umpire.

The team is arranging to play this week with Godolphin and Conolly School.

THOMAS WON HIS OWN GAME WITH SINGLE IN NINTH

Toronto Pitcher Drove in Winning Run of Game With Jersey City.

READING WON.

Keys and Bisons Squeeze Up Into First Division—Baltimore Won.

JERSEY CITY, June 17 (Canadian Press).—Thomas staged a rally in the ninth yesterday and scored two runs to win from Jersey City, 3 to 2. Thomas' single scored Miller from second base with the winning run. Score:
Toronto.... ....100000002— 3 6 1
Jersey City .. ....000010001— 2 7 1
Thomas and Manion; Roberts and Freitag.

Reading 8; Rochester 3.

READING, Pa., June 17 (Canadian Press). — Reading defeated Rochester yesterday, 8 to 3, chiefly through the excellent pitching of Tim McNamara. The Tribe bunched hits, including a homer by Lake, for its three runs in the fifth inning. McNamara fanned the side in the ninth. Manager Shorten announced that Mike Palm, former Penn. State star, has signed to play with Reading. Score:
Rochester ....000030000— 3 6 1
Reading.... ....02310200x— 8 11 1
Levsen and Lake; McNamara and Smith.

Buffalo 10; Providence 3.

PROVIDENCE, R.I., June 17 (Canadian Press). — Buffalo hit Swaney hard yesterday and also had the advantages of the breaks of the game and won its third contest of the present series, the score being 10 to 3. The Grays hit Fisher hard, but most of the hits were with nobody on base or the following matters were easy outs. Providence made six costly errors. The game was played in a young gale. Score:
Providence .. ....001002000— 3 11 6
Buffalo.... ....401010310—10 15 2
Swaney, Brown and Lynn, Elliott; Fisher and Pond.

Baltimore 9; Syracuse 7.

BALTIMORE, Mr., June 17 (Canadian Press).—With the score tied in the eighth, Tommy Thomas, last of four Baltimore pitchers who went to the box, hit a home run, scoring Cobb ahead of him, and Baltimore defeated Syracuse yesterday for the fourth straight time, 9 to 7. Four other hmers were made, Roser getting his twentieth of the season. Before Thomas entered the game in the sixth, Jack Dunn tried three rookies, none of whom was effective. Score:
Syracuse.. ....120103000—, 7 14 1
Baltimore ....00420012x— 9 12 2
Meine and McKee; Kudla, Nolan, Vines, Thomas and Cobb.

LAWN BOWLERS MUST IMPROVE

Dominion Association Secretary Comments on Needs of Canadian Bowlers.

HOLD CONTESTS

TORONTO, June 17.—(By Canadian Press).—"If our game does not improve we have no right to expect any team we may send to the Old Country to compete successfully, nor even with any that may visit us," declares R. T. McLean, honorary secretary treasurer of the Dominion Lawn Bowling Association, in a letter to lawn bowlers' clubs of Canada on the subject of "Why Play Championships?"

The D.L.B.A.'s manifesto strongly comments on the "indifference and inaction" which it intimates is too prevalent among Canadian lawn bowlers of the present generation. It asks "Why should lawn bowling not determine its champions?" just as golf, tennis, hockey and other classes of sport in Canada determine their champions. So far, says the statement, very few Canadian lawn bowling clubs have notified the D.L.B.A. of their intentions of conducting elimination contests this year.

Comparing bowling enthusiasm in Canada with that of other lands the manifesto says: "Championship contests in lawn bowling are held annually in the Old Country. They prove of great interest there and do much to improve the game. There is room for improvement in Canada. Those who know say that the game is deteriorating, it certainly is not improving. Some say that the great desire for the big score, brought on by the one day tournament is responsible for this condition. Some attribute it to the popularity of alley bowling, where every bowl is played as a 'running shot' No doubt the real game of the draw shot does not hold the place it should."

BIG INNINGS WIN FOR ATHLETICS

Ten Runs in Two Frames Aid Greatly in Beating Cleveland.

SENATORS WIN, TOO.

PHILADELPHIA, June 17 (Canadian Press).—Scoring ten runs in the first two innings off Shaute, Philadelphia had little trouble in downing Cleveland by a score of 12 to 7 yesterday. Groves was wild but hurled a strong game until the eighth, when the Indians got to him and drove him from the box. Score:
Cleveland.. ....21000040— 7 12 2
Philadelphia.. ....46000110x—12 20 0

Boston 2; Chicago 1

BOSTON, June 17 (Canadian Press). — Robertson and Ehmke hooked up in a pitchers' battle which the Red Sox won from Chicago, 2 to 1 yesterday, only after the wind had played a decided part in the game. In the fifth inning an error by Davis placed a man on the bags, and Flagstead's fly was carried away from the fielders by the wind and dropped safely for two bases, scoring the winning run. This was Ehmke's fourth straight win in the present Reed Sox home stay. Fielding plays by Kamm and Flagstead were features. Scores:
Chicago.... ....010000000— 1 5 2
Boston..... ....10001000x— 2 5 1
Robertson and Grabowski, Crouse; Ehmke and Picinich.

Washington 3; St. Louis 0.

WASHINGTON, June 17 (Canadian Press).—With Walter Johnson in prime form, Washington shut out the St. Louis Browns in the second game of the series yesterday, 3 to 0. The game was a pitchers' battle for six innings, with Giard also pitching effectively until wildness overtook him, opening the way for the first Washington score in the seventh. It was Johnson's tenth victory of the season. Score:
St. Louis ....000000000— 0 9 1
Washington.. ....00000012x— 3 8 2
Giard and Dixon; Johnson and Ruel.

Detroit 5; New York 3

NEW YORK, June 17 (Canadian Press).—Loose playing by the Yankees enabled Detroit to win yesterday, 5 to 3. It was the ninth time this season that the New York club failed to extend a two game winning streak. Babe Ruth hit his third home run of the year and also got a double. Fred Merkle, late of the Rochester International League club, joined the Hugmen today and supplanted Wiltse as coach at the third-base line. Score:
Detroit.... ....000103100— 5 7 2
New York ....002100000— 3 9 4
Whitehill and Bassler; Pennock, Hoyt and Bengough.

KING PRESENT AT ASCOT OPENING

GOLD CUP THURSDAY.

ASCOT, Eng., June 17 (Canadian Press) — Two of the season's important flat races were decided at Royal Ascot yesterday, the opening day, before the King and Queen, a brilliant assemblage of social celebrities and a record crowd. The feature races were, Ascot Stakes won by Lord Derby's four-year-old Mandelieu, and the Gold Vase, won by Mrs. Arthur James' three-year-old Kentish Knock.

Mandelieu, a four-year-old chestnut gelding by Harry of Hereford —Sunny Florence, is one of the comparatively lesser lights of Lord Derby's large stable, but starting at odds of eight to one against he won the Stakes yesterday in handy fashion. Mandelieu in company with Sir George Bullough's five-year-old Eastern Monarch and Lord Howard de Walden's five-year-old Carbonare forged in front entering the straight. Mandelieu gained down the stretch and won by half a length, Eastern Monarch finishing half a length ahead of Carbonare. Eastern Monarch started at 10 to 1 against and Carbonare at eight to one against.

The Ascot Stakes is run over the hard two mile course ,and is one of the few handicaps at Royal Ascot. The race was instituted in 1839, and is worth to the winner approximately $10,000.

The favorite Kentish Knock, Mrs. Arthur James' three-yearold colt by Galloper Light—At Last, starting at 9 to 4 against, easily won the Gold Vase. Kentish Knock finished six lengths ahead of Sir Abe Bailey's three-year-old Son of Spring, which captured second place by half a length from Lord Roseebrry's four-year-old Crowe Son of Spring and Crowe are both by Son-in-Law, the former out of Aprille and Crowe out of Juniata. Son of Spring started at six to one against and Crowe at seven to one against.

The Gold Vase is another long hard race over the Stakes course of two miles. It was worth last year approximately $5,000, and was established in 1838.

Kentish Knock has a chance to achieve lasting fame for himself, his owner and trainer, by winning the Gold Cup here on Thursday. The Gold Vase which he won today and the Gold Cup constitute one of the hardest "doubles" of the English flat racing season. The Gold Cup is a 2½ mile race, but though harder it is more valuable than the Gold Vase, being worth approximately $18,000 Kentish Knock along with several of yesterday's runner is nominated for the later race, but an indication of his task is the fact that only one horse has won both the Gold Cup and Vase the same year in the 80 years they have been run together.

At Royal Ascot this week the highest class of horses have gathered and some important races are down for decision. Tomorrow's feature event is the Royal Hunt Cup, a handicap. Other early closing races carded are the Ascot Derby Stakes, Coronation Stakes, and the Chesham and Waterford Stakes.

Thursday the Rouz Memorial Cup and the Gold Cup share leading honors of the meet.

Puzzle Plays in Baseball

THE PLAY.

There are runners on first and second base and one out. The batsman hits a fly ball which the umpire rules infield fly.

The runners on first and second remain about 10 feet from their respective bases. The ball is dropped by the first baseman, who makes the play on it and rolls a considerable distance away.

The runners advance one base on the miss. The team in the field throws the ball to first and second, claiming the runners should have held their bases until the ball struck the hands of the fielder and by failing to do so made themselves liable to be put out.

What is the correct interpretation of this play?

* * *

For years the major leagues differed on the interpretation of such a play as described, but are now a unit on it.

Base runners now have the same right to advance on an infield fly as on any other fly ball.

If the ball is caught they must return to their bases to escape being retired or to make legal their right to advance.

If the ball is missed they have the right to advance at their peril as on any other fly ball that is dropped.

LAWN BOWLING.

Members of the Lawn Bowling Club are especially asked to be present on Friday evening, when a tournament will be staged. Rinks will be drawn up sharp at 7.30. Suitable prizes will be given to the winning rink. Three games of seven ends each will be played. Be on time so that an early start can be made.

ASSEMBLY CLOSES.

Moderator Appeals For Advance to Greater Success —Prohibition.

TORONTO, June 17. — Canadian Press. — The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, came to a close yesterday afternoon with an appeal from Dr. Ephraim Scott, Moderator, for the Commissioners and all associated with the church to press forward to greater works and to continued success.

The assembly went on record as favoring total prohibition of alcoholic beverages, and that church members should be pledged to total abstinence.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

STAR'S VALUE

Take one outstanding star out of a team's lineup and you very often destroy its effectiveness.

It would indeed be unfortunate if the injury suffered by Pitcher Sam Gray of the Athletics had that effect on the morale of the club.

Sam Gray, with eight straight wins to his credit, was the big noise of the majors, when a fractured thumb suddenly erased him from the limelight.

Since that happening the Athletics have not been going as well. With a pitching staff already handicapped by injuries, the loss of so great a star as Gray was certain to be severely felt.

* * *

The injury suffered by Sam Gray recalls a somewhat similar incident of two years ago which had Pitcher Rolly Naylor as the victim of a whim of fate.

* * *

SIMILAR CASES.

The Athletics of 1923 stepped out much after the manner of the sensational machine of this year. Up to the first of June, the club was the only real rival of the New York Yankees.

Pitcher Naylor, who for several years had been an in-and-outer, one day great, the next day just so-so, started the year with a surprising winning streak of seven straight games. He was Mack's big threat.

Two days prior to a very important series with New York, Naylor, in chasing a fly ball in the outfield, tripped over a rope stretched to limit the crowd that was expected at the game. He had to be helped from the field.

The injury proved far more serious than at first expected. Naylor was out for about two months and never regained his winning ways. The weak knee interfered with his pitching stride. It put him out of the majors finally.

* * *

The accident to Naylor started the Athletics on the road to ruin, just when they appeared to be going somewhere. Sam Gray's case may prove a parallel.

* * *

TOUGH BREAKS.

"All my club needs is the will to win," remarked Connie Mack to me during the spring training trip.

"It is a mighty good ball club, possibly a great one, but it doesn't believe in itself as yet.

"The boys have become so accustomed to the cellar that it is hard for them to feel at home anywhere else."

It seemed overnight the Athletics absorbed the winning spirit. With the arrival of the "will to win," the team asserted its real strength.

No two players did more to supply the fighting spirit than Pitcher Sam Gray and Catcher Gordon Cochrane. Now these two stars are out of the lineup with serious injuries.

* * *

Certainly Dame Fortune is none too kind to Connie Mack. After 11 years of patient waiting, that fickle person slips him a knockout potion just when his team begins to show championship class.

* * *

MISS THE STARS.

The present season is already replete with the influence one outstanding star wields over a team.

The Yankees have been without Babe Ruth since the opening of the season and haven't done so well.

The Chicago Cubs, picked to be a pennant contender, largely due to the presence of Rabbit Maranville in the lineup, have been going badly minus his services. He broke a leg in spring training.

* * *

The moment the great Frank Frisch was lost to the Giants through injury the club slumped.

CHEESE CHAMPIONS.

Camembert to Roquefort.

I sat through 15 of the most uninteresting rounds that has perhaps ever graced a championship fight to see the passing of the rather unimportant light heavy title.

Berlenbach, who inside of two years has jumped from a third-rate wrestler's class to a ring champion looked every inch the wrestler in the McTigue bout.

Throughout the 15 rounds he rushed at McTigue like a wild bull. The champion used all his defensive tactics to stave off these rushes.

At times, flining caution to the winds, McTigue traded punches with the hard-hitting Berlenbach and on one occasion had the so-called "Astoria Assassin" in bad shape.

Berlenbach, favored to win by a knockout, was fortunate to get the decision. In justice to McTigue it must be said that he made one of his best fights in years.

* * *

The new champion has two praiseworthy traits, he is willing and courageous. However, I doubt if a less clever fighter ever held the title in any class.

* *

TAKING A CHANCE.

I doubt if Berlenbach retains the light heavyweight title any great length of time. I am of the opinion that there are three or four better men at the weight.

The dope is that Berlenbach's first bout after landing the championship will be with Jack Delaney. If such is the case, it is probable that the title will pass the first time he defends it.

Delaney, it will be recalled, is the young man who knocked out Berlenbach after Paul had piled up a long string of consecutive knockouts.

Delaney is a dangerous puncher and a crafty ring man. Berlenbach's style is made to order for him. Most of the time as Berlenbach rushes in, he is wide open for a straight right. Delaney packs dynamite in his right hand.

McTigue, I understand, received $50,000 for losing the title to Berlenbach. That is probably as much as Mike expected to earn in his entire ring career.

McTigue, never a popular champion, passes into the discard. His going will increase interest in the light heavy class.

* * *

McTigue won the light heavy title by coercing Siki, the black Senegalese, to risk his title in Ireland on St. Patrick's day. That proved Mike's craft.

* * *

WATCH SLATTERY.

The preliminary to the championship bout between McTigue and Berlenbach featured Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo. He saved the show.

Jimmy Slattery is the most impressive big fellow I have seen in action since the days of Jim Corbett. He has everything Corbett ever had plus more power in his punches.

Slattery is not yet 21. He is growing fast. Within the next two years he should put on 20 pounds. If Jack Dempsey is still champion at that time and meets Jimmy Slattery, you can mortgage the old home on the Buffalo boy.

* * *

Slattery is a master workman. There is ease, grace and finish to his performance. Fighters like him come about once in a decade.

INDIAN TRIBES IN ALLEGIANCE

Former Warring Neighbors Will Gather to Smoke Peace Pipe.

AT MacLEOD

MACLEOL, Alta., June 17. (Canadian Press). — For the first time since the signing of the famous Blackfoot treaty of 1877, Indians of the Western plaons of Canada and Montana will gather together at Macleod on July 1-3, and re-enact scenes such as were witnessed in the days of tribal warfare, forty years ago. Such deadly enemies as the Sioux and the Blackfoot, the Cree and Sarcee, the Piegan and the Assiniboine for the first time in history will meet on friendly terms.

While the old warriors and chiefs retire to an Indian encampment on the outskirts of the town, to dance, smoke the pipe of peace and reminesce on feuds of by-gone days, their sons, the younger generation, will meet in Macleod Town Hall and form an association to be known as the Allied Tribes of Western Canada.

The gathering is being conducted by members of the Blood tribe. An office has been installed at Macleod and great preparations are being made for the historic event.

Indicative of the spirit that prompted the call for a "peace gathering" is a letter received at headquarters here from Dan Pathmaker of the Assiniboine tribe. Pathmaker, who is a graduate of Manitoba Agricultural College, writes: "My chief advises me to write you that forty-three years ago, while we were camped in the Cypress Hills, your tribe, the Bloods and Blackfeet, invited us to come over to their encampment and hold a peace conference. Then we suspected treachery. We doubted you. We did not come. Now history is repeating itself. This time let us trust that what our forefathers lost through their inherent distrust, we will retrieve by our present-day enlightenment and our united effort. We are bringing with us a warrior named Runs-With-Another, son of Buffalo - Head - Flag. Tell your father, Chief Mountain Horse, we are bringing him to visit him. He will remember that he and this man nearly killed each other in their last battle."

Twenty-five delegates, representing the various Indian tribes, will formulate the first Indian constitution to be drawn up in Canada.

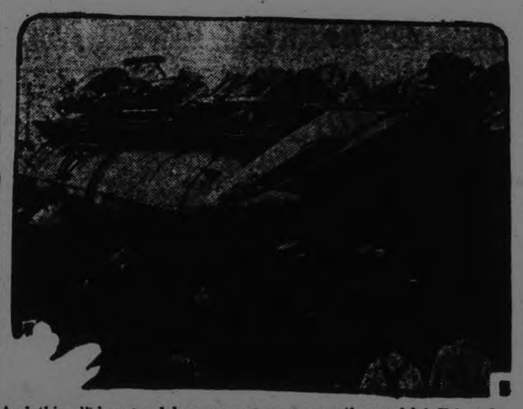
ALL BECAUSE OF A COW!



And this all happened because a cow was on the track! A Frisco flyer, eastbound, struck bossy near Bristow, Okla., and promptly went into the ditch. Luckily, only the engineer, J. W. Binkley, was hurt. Oh yes, and they're still looking for the cow.

"Canada must be quite a country for birds," said a bird lover in Philadelphia, one day.

This man was a business friend of mine, and we had been talking of the woods. "Yes," said he, "it must be a great place for birds, for they have so many birds with Canada before their names.

"There is the famous Canada Goose; the Canadian Waxwing which is also called the Bohemian; the Sweet Canada Bird; the Canada Warbler, and many other birds that seem to belong to Canada alone.

My friend then ask me how it happens that many of these birds are given Canadian names, since they are only in Canada part of the year. So I explained that home, the place of our birth, is very important in a bird's life. Human beings leave home very often never to return but birds are great homers; they go home every summer and Canada is a wonderful nesting place for birds.

The particular story connected with each and every bird's name, is very hard to trace, many of them having been named by pure fancy, some by stupid guess work, and some by bird students lacking in imagination. I remember visiting a girls' camp in the Laurentian Mountains one summer to talk to them on birds. The only guide book they had was an ancient and gloomy volume with so much wisdom in it that no human girl camper could follow it. We started out, five girls and myself, to see what we could see.

We had not been in the open woods very long when we found a Canada Warbler, a dashing young dandy, with a grey back and head, yellow throat and breast and dark brown stripes up and down on his chest.

"Oh, girls," called the five, as they deserted me and rushed back to the camp, "Canada has a beautiful warbler all her own," and then it was my turn to desert, for the whole girls' camp came after me.

YOUR GARDEN

SUMMER CARE OF ROSES

Roses are a special plant that responds to extra care, and, indeed, will not thrive without it. For this reason it is advisable to grow them in separate beds in a choice location or all sorts of troubles will follow.

In June and July, cut the roses with good stems (as described previously) to strengthen the bushes and increase the bloom. Never leave dead roses on the bushes for best results. After the first crop is pretty well advanced give the beds a dressing of nitrate of soda, bone meal, or dried blood at the rate of two ounces to the square yard This should be well watered in.

Make a strong fight at this time for the control of milldew, if it is present. Also the aphis and thrips. For milldew use lime sulphur or sulphur dust. Spray the lime sulphur on at the rate of one part by measure to 40-50 parts of water. For aphids use Black Leaf 40, as directed on the containers or a little stronger. Soap suds at a strength of 1 pound of Castile or Ivory soap to 6 gallons of rain water are effective if thoroughly applied. They should, however, be washed off in two or three hours or they are liable to cause injury to the foliage. Some of the commercial preparations, such as "Aloe," combine an insecticide with the milldew control and have been found very effective by growers on the Island of Montreal.

A moderately fine spary of hose, issuing with force, will knock the aphids off and will also control the red spider, especially if the hose is applied from the underside. (For a more complete treatise see the year book of the Rose Society of Ontario, 1925, or Bull. No. 16, New Series of the C.E.F., Ottawa—"Hardy Roses in Canada."

Summer pruning of Hybrid Teas is advisable after the first period of flowering, the well established plants should be cut back to a strong bud and frequently new flowering grogth will be produced.

The yellowing of the leaves during the season may be due to natural causes, such as summer drought, cold, or wet weather or over-zealous fertilizing or watering. Great care must be exercised to provide just the right conditions.

Thorough cultivation should be kept up throughout the season, especially during dry weather. After every rain or thorough watering is none too much, and this should be attended to as soon as the ground can be worked. This cultivation should be of a shallow nature or the roots are liable to be damaged.

Watch out particularly for sucker growth at this season and remove them entirely, displacing some of the soil if necessary to get at the base. These growths spring chiefly from the base of the plant, are very thorny and generally possess more leaflets, as they are the original stock on which the rose was grafted. If left the y will drprive the plant proper of nourishment.

RADIUM FOUND IN HALIBURTON

Commercial Development Will Be Proceeded With By Finders.

OFFICIAL REPORT.

TORONTO, June 17. (Canadian Press).—The discovery of radium in commercial quantities in Haliburton County is claimed by Charles Earle and E. W. Austin, two prospectors who have submitted samples of their find to the Provincial Assay Office and have had them reported upon.

The official finding of the Queen's Park authorities is that is "distinctly radio active."

A claim of 1,000 acres has been staked by Messrs. Earle and Austin, who plan immediate development.

CANADA BUILDS SOLID SUCCESS

President Canadian Credit Men's Association Presents His Report.

TARIFF QUESTION.

TORONTO, June 17. — Canadian Press. — "Let us realize that to-day we are perhaps building more permanently for success than during the hectic days of prosperity; that economy and hard work are cardinal virtues and if ever present will result in steady conditions."

In the foregoing words did F. E. Simonton of Calgary, Alta, national president of the Canadian Credit Men's Association sum up the present conditions in Canada, in presenting his fifteenth annual report to the annual meeting of that organization here to-day.

Dealing with the competition of the United States in Canadian markets and the lure of the United States to young Canadians, Mr. Simonton remarked:

"Certainly it seems that we are paying the penalty of being located so near such a powerful neighbor. Are we to progress slowly until her land is overflowing? Will the Fordney tariff continue to shut out our products while she floods our markets? Are we to continue preferential tariffs to the motherland, while our woollens, shoe and other industries suffer?"

GANG WARFARE.

Man Invades Attorney's Office and Fires at Sergeant.

CHICAGO, June 17. — Canadian Press. — Warfare between gangsters and policemen, which started last week with the shooting of five policemen, last night was carried into the city hall, when an unidentified man appeared at the office of Robert E. Crowe, States Attorney, and fired directly at Sergeant Elbert Curran of the States' Attorney saff.

Curran was not hit and the man escaped after Curran had fired several shots at him.

HEROES OF RACE FURNISH THRILLS

Balto himself, the famous Siberian sledge dog, together with his heroic driver, Gunnar Kasson, re-enacting for the camera their desperate race to Nome are furnishing the drama and thrills on the programme at the Royal Theatre in the Educational Special, "Balto's Race to Nome."

This remarkable picture is not a product of stage props or actors; it is an actual reproduction of a historic event an episode in the life of a sturdy frontiersman and a brave dog—a camera record of one of the greatest deeds of pluck and heroism within the last decade.

HOOT ADDS ANOTHER TO STRING OF FAST HORSES

His "Golden" Mare, "Pal." Playing With Him.

Hoot Gibson, Universal's famous Western star, has so many horses he doesn't know what to do with them. On his last few pictures he has been presented with a blooded horse at almost every Western ranch he visited on location trips, and has even been presented with a horse sent from Japan.

Of these, the most notable is "Pal," his wonderful "Golden Mare," one of the fastest and most beautiful specimens of the Palamino breed known, who makes her screen debut, following several months of training in Hoot's newest Western thriller. "The Hurricane Kid," which is showing tomorrow at the Royal Theatre.

"Pal" is a pure golden color, fleet as a racehorse, but versed in all the 'bucking" tricks of the range. She has been trained with great care, and is very gentle—except when throwing off a rider—and answers readily to cues.

She and her wild mate do a remarkable piece of acting in the picture, in which a romance between two horses is developed at the same time the romance between the human actors is shown on the screen. But besides her love problem, she has the problem of her life to avoid the lariat of the over anxious cowboy.

Gibson does some daring tricks of horsemanship in his new vehicle. There is a running horseback fight at a breakneck speed; a thrilling race, the pursuit and capture of a wild horse on the dangerous trails of the Sierra foothills, and a lively battle on the range, terminating in a romance of remarkable interest.

Well-Known Players Support.

Gibson's whimsical humor is responsible for much comedy between thrills; and Harry Todd, the eccentric character comedian and Gibson make an interesting pair. Marian Nixon, noted beauty of the screen, is leading lady for the new picture, and Violet La Plante, younger sister of Laura Le Plante, the noted Universal star, appears, following, perhaps, the footsteps of her sister, who first won recognition when playing opposite the Western star. Besides, William A. Steele again plays a 'heavy" with dire intent.

Edward Sedgwick, who directed "The Sawdust Trail," "The Ramblin' Kid" and others of the Hoot Gibson Western successes, is responsible for the direction of the new feature, which was written by Will Lambert.

The full force of the Univeral Ranch Riders appears with Gibson in this picture, and a thrilling race laid in Western roadways rather than on a track is one of the high spots of the dramatic climax.

"SACKCLOTH AND SCARLET."

"Sackcloth and Scarlet," a Paramount picturization of the novel by George Gibbs, featuring Alice Terry and others, closes at the Capitol Theatre to-night.

A big human theme is developed in the story, one of two girls, orphan sisters, Joan and Polly Freeman who have but one thing in common—unusual beauty. Joan kicks over the traces and goes West in search of adventure and engages in a brief love affair with a hotel guide. She returns to New York and tells Joan (Alice Terry) a secret. The pair go to France where baby Jack is born. Joan rises splendidly to the occasion and becomes devoted to the child from the very first. Polly hates the sight of him.

For six years Joan cares for little Jack as if he were her own. There is a great deal of gossip and the girl, to shield her younger sister, takes it all.

Later Joan grasps the opportunity to go back to America with friends. They live in Washington where the girl meets and falls in love with a congressman. She has no idea that he is really the father of little Jack. Their romance progresses rapidly until Polly returns. There is instant recognition between her and Edwards and, for the time at least, Joan's little bubble of happiness is burst.

Dorothy Sebastian plays Polly and [illegible] Caldwell has the role of Stephen Edwards. Otto Matiesen, Kathleen Kirkham, John Miljan and others play in support.

PHOTOGRAPHS ARE WANTED

In the preparation of a history of the Fire Department of the civic service and of the Fire Brigades that have served since the incorporation of the town, such things as photographs are very much desired.

Scattered about the city and in the hands of families of men who served in the brigades of years ago, should be found many interesting pictures, groups and individual photos. Several have been secured, one in particular, showing the brigade assembled on the market square, on May 24th, 1864, displaying the old hand pumped fire engine, the hose reels and ladder trucks, with the men all in brave array and uniform. Such photos may be turned into plates for printing and appear in the pages of the book about to be printed.

Particularly desired, if such are in existence, would be photos of Charles Stapleton, John O'Donnell and W. A. Howard, to complete the list of portraits of Chiefs of the Brigades.

Information may be phoned in to the fire hall, where a memo. will be made of those who have these things and if desired they will be sent for, to be returned after being made use of.

End Catarrh Germs In Three Minutes

Chronic catarrh, no matter how bad, and cases of bronchial asthma now yield instantly to the amazing discovery of a French scientist. This drugless method called Lavex eliminates the germs in three minutes, yet is positively harmless to the most delicate tissues. Your head and lungs are cleared like magic. Sufferers are relieved in a single night.

To prove it and to introduce Lavex to ten thousand sufferers in one month, I offer to send a treatment free and postpaid, to any one who will write for it. No obligation. No cost. If it banishes your Catarrh you can repay the favor by telling your friends—if not, the loss is mine. No matter what you have tried, just send me your name and address for this generous free treatment and prove that you can be rid of Catarrh.

ARCTIC RADIO WILL BENEFIT

Canadian Ship Will Make Special Record Efforts This Summer.

FARTHEST NORTH

QUEBEC, Que., June 17.—(By Canadian Press).—New Arctic radio transmission records will it is expected be established when the Canadian Government ship "Arctic" enters the polar regions on her annual trip this summer, for the vessel will be equipped with a transmitting set especially designed to keep the Canadian Government posted on her movements in the land of the midnight sun.

The vessel holds the present record for receiving and transmitting radio messages from the point nearest the North Pole. The Canadian Government is preparing to start the ship off on her voyage earlier this year, in order to pierce farther into the Arctic ice fields than it did last. The staunch ship, built especially for Arctic travel, is being reinforced on bow and stern with heavy steel plates to fight its way through the ice to a point farther north than it has been able to penetrate most of the 20 years it has been making annual pilgrimages to the Arctic circle.

Last year the vessel continuously received messages from the Canadian Government transmitted from Station KDKA at Pittsburgh, Pa., on the short wave, and establishing the "farthest north" reception record when a message from KDKA was received at Cape Sabine, north of Peary's winter base at Etah, and within 11 degrees of the north pole.

Not all the reply messages sent from the vessel to the Canadian Government were received, however, and in order to insure uninterrupted two way transmission this year Commander C. P. Edwards, director of radio service of the Canadian Department of Marine and Fisheries, in collaboration with C. W. Horn, superintendent of radio operations of the KDKA engineers, is having a more powerful set built for the vessel this year.

This set will be operated by Robert McA. Foster, of Montreal, who is a certified commercial operator as well as operator of an amateur station in Montreal, and who was nominated by the Canadian headquarters of the American Radio Relay League as its representative to make the trip with the "Arctic" and carry on for the government the short wave experiment with Station KDKA. Mr. Foster is assistant, in radio work, to George A. Wendt of the Canadian Westinghouse Company, Ltd., and has been given a leave of absence to make the trip.

REJECTS RESOLUTION.

Declares Thousands of Presbyterians Are Without Place to Worship.

TORONTO, June 17. Canadian Press. — Declaring all the wrongs from which the Continuing Presbyterian Church is suffering are still in process, with thousands of its members "dispossessed and homeless," in the matter of a place to worship, Rev Dr. Ephraim Scott, Moderator of the General Assembly of the Continuing Church, stated in an interview that the confidence of Presbyterians was shattered, and that without such confidence there could be no real co-operation with the United Church.

Dr. Scott made these observations in relation to his reluctance as Moderator of the Assembly yesterday to accept the motion of Rev. Dr. Johnston of Calgary, Alta., for co-operation with other Christian churches, particularly with the United Church. Dr. Scott suggested that the "offending party" "must first turn and repent," and added that "forgiveness is one thing" and "trust and confidence" another.

FINANCIAL NEWS.

Substantial Declines On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, June 17. (Canadian Press).—Some substantial declines were scored on the moderately active market on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning. Smelters dropped 1 3-8 at 83, and Dominion Canners, Common and Preferred, both lost 1¼ points, the Common at 109 and Preferred at 107. British Columbia Fishing was a strong and active leader, however, advancing about two points to 40¼. C.P.R. gained a quarter, Union Bank was active but a half point lower, while Winnipeg eased off 3-8 at 44½.

Advance On Wall Street Continued New Strength

NEW YORK, June 17. (Canadian Press).—The advance of prices in Wall Street this morning gathered momentum throughout the forenoon expansion of trading. The buying of a diversified list of stocks was inspired by the belief that the underlying business conditions were more favorable and that the continuance of easy money rates was steadily reducing the floating supply of desirable investment shares. Local traction issues continued to swing upwards in response to Wall Street's favorable interpretation of the political outlook in its bearing on the transit situation. Reports of special distributions, merger proposals and higher earnings laid the basis of a rise in several industrials. Skelly Oil was strong on rumors that control was being sought by one of the larger petroleum companies, and Dupont reached a new top price on the belief that an increase in capitalization will be followed by a stock dividend. Pierce-Arrow Prior Preferred jumped six points and gains of 3 to 4 points were registered by American and foreign power issues, Colorado Fuel and Famous Players. Call money renewed at 3 3-4 per cent.

Trading Is Again Active Standard Mining 'Change

TORONTO, June 17 (Canadian Press)—With transactions numbering 126,625 shares, trading on the standard mining exchange was active this morning. Con. W. D. Lake featured with 28,300 shares selling 1-8 lower at 14 1-8. Kirkland Lake was two points higher at 39 as was also Teck Hughes at 142. Tough Oakes, opening steady, advanced one point to 36. Vipond showed weakness selling at 106. Crown Reserve advanced four points from yesterday's close selling at 3¼ while McKinley Darragh was also on the upward trend at 29½ an advance of one point.

Northbound Heat Wave Drives Up Wheat Prices

CHICAGO, June 17 (Canadian Press)—Wheat scored a sharp early advance today influenced by an unexpected upturn in quotations at Liverpool and by indidcations that the hot wave was spreading northward Buying was also stimulated by the fact that the market had been declining for nine successive days and that values had fallen more than 20c a bushel within a week. On today's advances, profit taking sales quickly broadened out and reaction from top figures ensued, but the effect was only transient. Opening 1c to 4 1-8c higher July $1.51 to $1.53 and September 1.49 3-4 to 1.50 3-4 was followed by rapid changes in which July touched 1.53 1-2 and September 1.51 1-4.

Despite rains benefitting the corn crop, oats and corn ascended with the wheat. After opening at 1-4 to 2 7-8c advance September 110 to 111 the corn market climbed a little more and then receded somewhat.

Oats started at 1 to 3c gain, September 49 3-4 to 51 1-4. Later a part of the gain was wiped out.

Provisions were easier in the absence of aggressive demand.

PRESERVE STONES

City Engineer Will Endeavour to Make Memorial—Oldest is 1817.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., June 17.—(Canadian Press).—The old Dundas street cemetery in Belleville, where the last recorded burial was nn 1864, is being cleared up by the city and is to be turned into a motor tourist camping park, and the day after the city council voted funds there were men at work clearing away the brush which covere thickly the acre of ground where slept at one time many of the pioneers of the vicinity.

Search for stones is rather a weary task Scores of the finest monuments which graded the landscape in the old graveyard now hold their heads erect in Belleville Cemetery. But only small stones remain in the Dundas street grounds. Few are erect, many are in the ground black with age and moss, and so scarred, broken and disfigured that they are but shards. All but one of the stones are of marble and mainly of the slab type, although there are a few fallen shafts leaning from the base to the ground, the apex buried in the mould of earth. Some are illegible with the hand of time on them, but others have stood the ageing well.

The oldest indication of burial is on a stone which bears as inscription to the memory of a daughter of John and Ann Purdy, who died December 8, 1817.

The marble slabs bear the yew tree in relief, an open Bible, or a religious inscription and so on, so familiar with those acquainted with the older cemeteries.

There must have been many cases of exhumation here for the surface of the ground is broken as if whole plots had been torn open to get out bodies. The sunken hollows of many cemeteries do not show here for the ground is rough and all the signs point to a great activity in days gone by when friends removed the remains of relatives to a more kempt place.

One plot still remains quite intact. That is the Steele plot, carefully guarded by an iron fence with marble corner posts. The marble slab is still standing but inclined to the east. The ground is covered by trees and few people have seen this plot for it is in the densest of brush. The monument records an inscription of a death in 1863.

The latest recorded death is that of D. S. Vandervoort, who passed away on February 20, 1864, at the age of 44 years. There were later burials, indeed, they are thought to have continued here until the seventies. Most of the present stones in the graveyard are of the fifties and sixties The thirties showed few stones erected. The grounds were opened for burial probably in the late twenties although there are believed to be earlier interments here.

City Engineer Campbell said that he would collect the stones and endeavor to make some memorial for them. There are numerous footstones about the ground.

Weddings

DEAL—RENSHAW.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Luke's Church on Tuesday evening, May 16th, when Emily Edith, daughter of Thos. Renshaw, England, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony, to Stanley, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Deal, of Peterboro. The bride looked charming in a dress of orchid satin, with georgette and flower design, and hat to match, and carried a bouquet of white carnations. The bride was attended by Miss Jessie Pattison, who wore a becoming dress of French blue canton crepe, with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The groomsman was Mr. Arthur Deal, a brother of the groom.

The happy couple will reside in Peterboro.

CURTIS—MILLER.

A very quiet wedding was solemnized at the Little Church Around the Corner, New York City, on Saturday, June 13th, when Myrtle, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Miller, of Toronto, and formerly of Peterboro, became the bride of Conrad, only son of Mr. A. H. Curtis and the late Mrs. Curtis, of Toronto. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis will reside in New York.

AMUNDSEN COMES BACK

"I Am All Right" Is Laconic Word From Explorer

After Twenty-eight Days' Silence, Wireless Brings Tidings of Party's Safety—Believed That All Six Have Returned in Safety.

MESSAGE FROM SPITZBERGEN.

Brother-in-law of Ellsworth Says He Has Private Advices—Venture Was Looked Upon As One of Extreme Hazard—Search Parties Out.

NEW YORK, June 18 (Canadian Press). — The North American Newspaper Alliance announced today that Raoul Amundsen, the explorer, has returned to Spitzbergen from his North Pole flight.

From another source it is learned that Amundsen had sent a message to friends saying "Am all right."

Bernon S. Prentice, brother-in-law of Lincoln Ellsworth, co-leader of the expedition, said he had received word that all six members of the expedition had returned sately to Spitzbergen.

It was twenty-eight days ago, on the afternoon of Thursday, May 21, that the Amundsen-Ellsworth airplane expedition of two machines hopped off from King's Bay, Spizbergen, for its attempted flight to the North Pole. The venture was everywhere counted one of extreme hazard.

With Amundsen as observer in the second airplane, was Lincoln Ellsworth, aviator, engineer, and explorer. Amundsen and he were the navigators of the expedition. In addition, the expedition carried four men, two in each of the planes. They were Hjalmar Riiser-Larsen, expert airman; Lieu. Dietrichsou, an airplane pilot; Oskar Omdahl, mechanic, and Carl Feucht, of Friedrichshafen, Germany, mechanic and expert on Dornier aircraft.

TO SUE POLICE FOR SILK HOSE THEY AUCTIONED

Dealer Bought Stockings After Reporting Their Theft, He Says.

HAD HIS NAME.

"No Use to Dicker," He Declares, in Demanding Justice.

NEW YORK, June 18.—Jacob R. Gold & Sons, dealers in knit goods, 476 Broadway, who bought at a police auction some of $2,500 worth of silk stockings stolen from him last fall, announced that he would sue the Police Department for the value of the hosiery.

Gold said he found the police had sold stockings stolen from him when he bought some hosiery from Isadore Barish of 138 Columbia Street, Passaic. These stockings, he said, had his name on both the fabric and the boxes and when he questioned Barish he learned the latter had bought them for $900 from the police.

"So far as I am concerned," he added, "there is no further use to dicker with the police. They have proposed that I accept the $900 or nothing. I tried to confer with Commissioner Enright, but instead was turned over to Charles G. Young, his secretary. He said he would let me know about it later. That was last week, and that is the last I've heard from him. I intend to go to a court of equity and demand justice."

The police say the stockings were found in a truck apparently abandoned by burglars in Lafayette Street. They were turned over to the Property Custodian and the sale followed, although Mr. Gold said he reported the loss and described the property.

Woman Politician Leaves House Of Commons, Returning To Spotlight On Another Stage

LONDON, June 18 (Special by United Press)—Though the women members of the House of Commons are surrounded by an overwhelming number of more or less admiring males some of the ladies can and will stand under the spotlight before even larger and more demonstrative groups.

Mrs. Hilton Philipson is going back to the stage upon which as Mabel Russell, she long reigned as a queen of musical comedy. Next week she joins the cast of a smart revue. Mrs. Philipson is the fourth woman to be elected to the House having succeeded to the Northumberland seat formerly held by her husband, Captain Hilton Philipson, who lost it through an election irregularity. She was formerly wife of Stanley Rhodes, nephew of the great developer of South Africa, Cecil Rhodes.

"I have left the stage for good," Mrs. Philipson declared when she entered the political arena.

UNITED CHURCH THROWS DOWN CHALLENGE TO NON-UNIONISTS TO USE NAME 'PRESBYTERIAN'

Formal Protest Registered With the Secretary of State Through Instructions To Executive Council — Protest Use of Titles of Its Component Churches

NO LOSS OF IDENTITY.

No Powers or Rights of Uniting Churches Can Be Exercised Outside of United Church, and All Acts So Done Are Invalid, Says Report.

TORONTO, June 18 (Canadian Press).—Upon advice of counsel and of its legal committee the United Church of Canada Council at its session this morning instructed the executive council to register its formal protest with the Secretary of State for Canada and with the Provincial secretaries of all Provinces against the use by any religious body of the titles of any of the churches entering the United Church. This action is a direct challenge of the decision of the Continuing Presbyterians to call themselves "The Presbyterian Church in Canada."

Counsel McGregor Young, K. C., and G. W. Mason, K.C., in a letter gave it as their opinion that no continuing church "can validly claim to be the parent church or use the name of any of the churches entering the union" and that any acts or things purporting to be done by any religious body continuing the old name cannot be valid." They suggested that the matter be taken up with the secretary of state and various provincial secretaries to avoid misunderstanding.

Identity Not Lost

The legal committee under the chairmanship of the Right Hon. N. W. Rowell adopted the suggestions of the legal counsel. One part of the committee's report states that "the said churches have entered into Union without loss of their identity and continue to live within, and as integral parts of the United Church

READY TO SERVE INJUNCTION TO PREVENT VOTING

Solicitors For Continuing Presbyterians Will Make Test Case.

BREAKING SABBATH.

Voting Schedule For Sunday Which They Claim is Illegal.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 18—In its news columns the Free Press carried the following story yesterday:

"The solicitors of the Continuing Presbyterian Church are preparing the necessary legal documents for the purpose of serving an injunction on the Presbyterian Churches of Winnipeg to prevent the taking of a vote on entering the United Church of Canada, according to reports current here this afternoon.

"The vote was to be taken Sunday, June 21, and it is understood that Continuing Church will claim that it is against the Lord's Day Act to transfer property on the Sabbath, or transact other business. It is also claimed that the Federal Act in regard to Church Union should be the one adopted, and not the Manitoba Provincial Act.

"A. A. Fraser, Solicitor for the Manitoba Presbyterian Association, it is understood, will serve his papers asking for an injunction, late this afternoon or Thursday morning, E. K. Williams, K.C., will probably represent the United Church interests.

"There will be one test case, either that of St. James Presbyterian Church or Westminster Church, and the minister, board of managers, or the Kirk session, will be served with the papers; serving any one of the three is all that will be necessary for the purpose desired."

PAINLEVE WILL BLOCKADE RIFF WARRING TRIBE

Communist Deputies Try to Rush Committee Room Door.

NO OFFENSIVE.

Abd-El-Krim Can Conduct Stronger War Than Hitherto Experienced.

PARIS, June 18. (Canadian Press).—An official report of Premier Painleve's statement on the Moroccan situation before the Chamber of Deputies' committee last night is lacking, as the meeting was confidential, but Le Matin this morning presents an outline of his purported remarks.

The Premier spoke after the Socialist extremists had voiced opposition to his policy and after the Communist deputies had attempted to gain entrance by rushing the door of the committee-room from which they were barred because of their refusal to observe the required secrecy. According to Le Matin's account, M. Painleve told the committee that France's plan of campaign against Abd-El-Krim, Riffian Chief, did not include any general offensive action among the Riff mountains.

Abd-El-Krim, he said, was able to conduct an offensive far stronger in technical equipment than France had ever had to withstand in Morocco. This was due to the Riffian Chief's previous victories, the aid of a certain number of adventurers from European armies, assistance from Mussulman nations, particularly Turkey, and a purchase made from funds received as ransoms for Spanish prisoners. Blockade tactics would be adopted, he said.

SELF-EFFACING RENUNCIATION OF REV. DR. S. D. CHOWN HONORED

Former Methodist Superintendent Given an Ovation By General Council.

NAME CONFERENCES.

Peterborough United Churches Are In Bay of Quinte Conference.

TORONTO, June 18. (Canadian Press).—The General Council of the United Church of Canada yesterday afternoon approved of a message to be sent to His Majesty the King and His Excellency the Governor-General, declaring the loyalty of the Church membership.

The Publication Committee completed its report, Jas. Pedley reporting for the Congregationalists and J. M. Duncan for the Presbyterians. The latter stated that the Presbyterians had been doing $350,000 worth of publishing business annually and had built up a business with assets of $156,000.

The Council took formal notice of the "self-effacing renunciation" of Rev. Dr. S. D. Chown, former general superintendent of the Methodist Church, in declining to accept the Moderatorship of the Council. The formal resolution honored his action as one "which reflects the spirit which from its inception has distinguished this Union movement and as one which breathes the spirit of our Lord and Master." The resolution presented by Rev. Dr. C. W. Gordon of Winnipeg, also expressed the desire that Dr. Chown continue in the active service of the Church, and instructed its executive committee to make such arrangements as will enable the Church to avail itself of the experience, the gifts and personality of Dr. Chown.

Given Ovation.

Dr. Chown, in replying, was given an ovation lasting for several minutes. He said that by his action he had desired to put himself in unison with others, and that the efforts of the Church must be saturated with sacrifice.

The committee on church property whose recommendations were adopted, recommended that the appointment of three members to the Federal Commission to deal with Presbyterian property be entrusted to the Cold Blooded Murder Alleged in Death of Liquor Schooner Captain.

WITNESS COLLAPSES.

Bodies Mutilated So They Would Sink When Thrown Overboard.

VICTORIA, B.C., June 18. (Canadian Press).—Taking the stand late yesterday at the trial of Owen B. Baker and Harry Sowash, charged with the murder of Captain W. J. Gillis on the liquor schooner Beryl G, last September, Paul Stromkins, star witness for the Crown, piled up horror in his recital of the slaying.

So gruesome were the events described by Stromkins, whose boat was used in the hijacking of the Gillis craft, that he brokn down repeatedly while giving his evidence. Twice he collapsed and once he was overcome by a flood of hysterical tears and sobbing.

Stromkins declared that Baker had ripped open the bodies of Gillis and his son with a knife so they would sink after being thrown overboard from the deck of the Beryl G.

Additional testimony offered by Stromkins was to the effect that immediately after the alleged murders had taken place, Charles Morris, third member of the hijacking party, now held in Seattle, fighting extradition to British Columbia, had said to the witness as they stood on the deck of the Stromkins boat: "Cold blooded murderers."

A flush mounted to Sowash's face as Stromkins made this assertion. Then he smiled quietly as if amused.

SCIENCE SHOWS ALCOHOL'S USE AS BODY FOOD

Carnegie Institute Investigator Suggests 72 Grams Daily Beneficial.

SETTLES ARGUMENT.

None Permissible When Clear Head and Keen Vision Needed.

NEW YORK, June 18. — Dr. F. G. Benedict, director of the Boston Nutrition Laboratory of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, has definitely proved that alcohol is a food, producing energy and replacing other nutrients in the diet, according to the Journal of the American Medical AIssociation. The question as to whether or not alcohol really is a food has been a subject of keen debate up to the present. Dr. Benedict's experiments showed that up to 72 grams daily alcohol (equal to 500 calories) was oxidized—that is completely burned up—in the human body Commencing on the settling of this question, the Journal of the American Medical Association, says:

"Anyone who attempts to arrive at an unbiased conclusion regarding the physiological action of moderate amounts of alcohol on the human body realizes promptly that the decisive authentic information on the subject is surprisingly meagre. There is no dispute about the ill-effect of excessive indulgence in alcohol on individual and national efficiency; the habitual drunkard is a menace alike to himself and to the society that tolerates him. Yet many persons throughout the world to who the designation of drunkard could certainly not be applied with propriety, use alcoholic beverages moderately and secure therefrom not a little comfort

BUENOS AIRES, June 18. (United Press).—Five persons have died as a result of severe snowstorms which have just swept Patagonia, at the southern extremity of South America. Many sheep also succumbed to the bitter weather.

Rain and snow so weakened a dam at Comodoro Rividavia that it broke, permitting more than 300,000 barrels of petroleum to waste in the sea. The winter months below the Equator are June, July and August, so that the cold weather is just beginning down there.

WAR URGED.

Students Demand That Government Disarm Foreigners and Open Hostilities.

PEKING, June 18 (Canadian Press).—Thousands of posters have appeared in Peking, depicting British policemen shooting and bayonetting students, women and children, with bodies lying about on the ground. The vernacular newspapers print accounts differing materially from the foreign versions of the affairs at Shanghai, Hankow and elsewhere. Some of these stories assert that the Hankow trouble was entirely a fight between factions of Japanese, that the foreign buildings in Kiu-Kiang burned from spontaneous combustion and that W. W. Mackenzie, British subject murdered at Shanghai, died of sickness. The native account of the Mackenzie incident says the British Consul ordered the doctor who attended him to mutilate the body in an effort to throw the blame on the Chinese. Professors of Peking University have appealed to Pope Pius to use his influence in the present situation

BROTHER USMAR GIVEN 5 YEARS IMPRISONMENT

Found Guilty of Manslaughter in Scalding to Death of Boy.

SENTENCE TO-DAY.

Is "Brother of Mercy" in Orphanage at Huberdeau, Quebec.

MONTREAL, June 18. (Canadian Press).—Rene Francois De Vleeschouwer, in religon life known as Brother Usmar, one of the Belgian Brothers of Mercy, who conducted the Orphanage at Huberdeau, Que., was this morning sentenced to five years' imprisonment by Mr. Justice Wilson, in the Court of the, King's Bench.

Brother Usmar was last week found guilty of manslaughter in connection with the fatal scalding at the Orphanage last January of eight-year-old Hector Galarneau, an inmate, who died from burns suffered when he was placed in a tub of boiling water by accused, following the soiling of his clothes.

Life Imprisonment.

Sentences of life imprisonment were meted out to Charles and Francis Aikin, youthful Americans, found guilty of manslaughter in connection with the fatal shooting of George Benton, a farmer at Roxon, Que., on May 7, 1924.

MAN KILLED ON STREET RAILWAY

Inspector Was Victim of a Smash To-day—Dozen People Injured.

LONDON, Ont., June 18. (Canadian Press).—Charles W. Hoskins, 55, inspector for the street railway, was killed and a dozen others suffered injuries, more or less serious, early this morning when two cars on the Springbank line of the London street railway collided just outside the city.

The trolley pole of one car had become disconnected, leaving the car in darkness, and the second car ran into it. Both were filled to capacity with passengers.

Allen Paynter, a motorman, is in a serious condition in hospital, and Fred. G. Harper, conductor, has his right shoulder dislocated and his right arm badly torn. Four passengers were taken to hospital, and a score suffered minor injuries.

ATTACKS PENSION FOR MR. FIELDING

Woodsworth Points To Denial of $20 a Month to Others.

OTTAWA, June 18 (Canadian Press).—The House of Commons this morning approved the recommendations of the committee on old age pensions which recommended a conference between the Federal Government and the Provincial Prime Ministers on this question.

The report of the committee was adopted only after strenuous opposition by J. S. Woodsworth (Labor) Winnipeg Centre; William Irvine (Labor) East Calgary, and one or two other members. An amendment, introduced by Mr. Irvine, proposing that the report be referred back to the committee with instructions to inquire into a purely Federal scheme, was defeated by a vote of 139 to 17. Mr. Woodsworth, in supporting the amendment, claimed that further conferences would merely be "stalling off" the question. He regarded it as an injustice that a pension of $10,000 should be paid to Rt. Hon. W. S. Fielding, when other worthy Canadians were denied a mere $20 a month.

DESCRIBE CITY AS VERY CLEAN

Good Impression Made On Prominent American Visitor to Peterborough.

CLEANEST SEEN.

E. J. Clarke, of Grand Haven, Michigan, whose 45-foot cruiser, Dream LaLdy, has been at anchor in Little Lake for the past seventeen days, left the city this morning, locking through the Lift Lock at 8.00 o'clock. The boat was left here when Mr. Clarke's trip through from New York to Chicago was interrupted by an urgent call to Chicago on business.

Mr. Clarke drove around the city yesterday with Leon Frazer, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and expressed himself as being surprised at the cleanliness of the city, which he said it was the cleanest small city he had seen and commented favorably on the manufacturing concerns and other business houses.

PARTY POSTPONED.

The social and garden party planned for yesterday by St. Vincent's Orphanage was postponed, owing to unfavorable weather conditions, until today. A number of people had supper on the grounds last evening, and the fish pond was in operation, but other activities were left for today. A number of children from the Orphanage at Cobourg, who came up to take part in the celebration, were given a special treat.

ST. JAMES' W.M.S.

Mrs. E. L. Woodley Reports on Recent Conference at Oshawa.

The regular meeting of St. James' W.M.S. was held in the Sunday school room on Tuesday, with a good attendance. After the devotional exercises and routine business, Mrs. E. L. Woodley, delegate to the recent branch meeting in Oshawa, gave a report of the conference, and Mrs. B. Foster and Mrs. F. B. Elliott, representing the Mission Circle and the Mission Band, also gave short addresses. Mrs. Elliott saying that the Mission Band from St. James' Church was the banner band for the Bay of Quinte Conference.

The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Miss Spence, Cerscent street, and will be in charge of Group Number One.

WEDDING PRESENTS.

MONTREAL, June 18. (Canadian Press).—The announcement of a gift to charity of $250,000 was made by Lord Atholstan of Montreal, principal owner of the Montreal Star, on the occasion of the marriage this afternoon of his only child, Hon. Alice Graham. His Lordship also gave the thousand employees of the Star double pay this week and a half-holiday to-day. Miss Graham became the bride of Bernard Marsham Hallward, son of the late Rev. T. W. C. Hallward, of Frittenden, Kent, Eng.

POSTERS INCITE

"to promote brotherhood, which is the foundation of Christian religion."

Chinese troos are picketing the streets. Students continue to bombard the government with fantastic demands, urging forcible occupation of the legation quarter, disarming of the foreign guards and even a declaration of war against Great Britain.

No Concession.

LONDON, June 18 (Canadian Press).—A dispatch to The Morning Post from Shanghai, says the U. S. consul there today denied the report that Chinese demands already had been conceded in principle.

The dispatch adds that it is semi-officially stated that the British legation in Peking will insist that the strike in Shanghai be called off before any terms are discussed.

FARMERS TOUR PETERBOROUGH

Agricultural Representative Conducts Party—Welcomed By Mayor Turner.

FROM WARKWORTH.

J. G. Merrett, agricultural representative, was in the city to-day, in charge of a party of fifty farmers from Wentworth County, making a round of the district on one of the educational tours planned from time to time by the Department of Agriculture.

The party was welcomed by Mayor Turner at seven o'clock this morning, on its arrival in the city, and was conducted by him to the Exhibition Grounds. Later, Leon Frazer, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, conducted the members on a sight-seeing tour of the city, which included a trip to the Hydraulic Lift Locks, and, through the courtesy of the Quaker Oats Company, a visit of inspection to the company's plant, where the various processes were explained. At ten o'clock, the party departed for Lindsay.

LETTER FROM WARD.

I.O.D.E. Chapters Receive Letter From Argentine Boy in Home.

The following letter was received recently from the little ward of the 57th Regimental and Otonabee Chapters, I.O.D.E., in the Armenian Home at Georgetown:

"Dear Friend: I am very happy in this home. We have 26 cows and 6 horses, and 3 goose, 6 gosling, 1 pig and to dogs, name are Maggy and Jigs. We have big barn, and the trees start give flowers.

"Please send your pitcher. We are 90 Armenian boys in a big farm. We start work in our farm. We plant potatoes and flowers.

ACROSS CANADA AND BACK.

The wonder trip of the coming summer will be conducted by Dean Laird of MacDonald College, to Victoria, B.C., and back.

Inspired by the success of the trip to Victoria last year on the occasion of the Teachers Federation meeting at that point, and filled with patriotic motives for everyone to see their own country, the Dean has arranged for a special train of standard sleeping cars to leave Toronto on July 20, visiting Port Arthur, Fort William, Winnipeg, Regina, Moose Jaw, Calgary, Banff, Lake Louise, Vancouver thence steamer to Victoria.

Returning, the trip will be via the Okanagan Valley, Nelson, the Kootenay Lakes, Windermere Bungalow camps from which place the party will be motored to Banff, 104 miles over the newly completed Banff-Windermere Highway, the most charming and awe-inspiring trip it is possible to conceive, with stops at Radium Hot Springs, Vermilion River, and Storm Mountain Bungalow Camps—another day at Banff, then Edmonton, Saskatoon, Devil's Gap Bungalow Camp, near Kenora on the Lake Of The Woods, steamer from Fort William to Port McNicholl, thence rail to Toronto, where the trip will terminate on August 10.

Everything is included at the price of $325.00 from Toronto; transportation, sleeping cars, accomtation in hotels and bungalow camps, meals in diners, hotels, and on steamers, sightseeing tours at points visited, and all gratuities.

While appealing primarily to teachers, the tour is open to everyone desiring to go.

All will be welcome.

Fares from other points than Toronto will be named and descriptive illustrated booklet sent on applicato Dean Laird, Macdonald College, lege, P.Q., Que.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE MEETS AT OMEMEE

Social Hour Follows Expeditiously Handled Business Session—Baby Scalded.

OMEMEE, June 18.—The June meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. T. J. Parsons on Thursday afternoon with an attendance numbering about 30. The meeting had been planned for an out-door affair, as is the general custom at the June meeting, but inclement weather conditions drove the would be picnicers to the house where a splendid meeting was held. Mrs. A. Sloan the new president presided.

An appropriate solo entitled "Sunshine and Rain" was rendered by Mrs. Widdis.

The roll call and business, in which it was decided to hold a sale of home-cooking on the lawn of Mrs. T. E. MacPherson on Saturday, June 20, commencing at 5 o'clock as promptly attended to. Delegates to the District meeting to be held in Lindsay on June 30 were appointed in the persons of Mrs. Nichols and Mrs. Widdis.

Miss Martin of St. Mary's, a delegate sent out by the department was introduced and gave many interesting and instructive tips on how to achieve success in the Women's Institute. Miss Martin's talk was much enjoyed by all present, following which Mrs. E. W. Rowland rendered a piano solo in a capable manner.

A social half-hour was enjoyed by all.

Baby Scalded.

Baby Barbara Gowans, the nine months old daughter of Bank Manager and Mrs. Gowans was painfully scalded on Sunday evening when she pulled over a teapot of scalding tea. The hot liquid scalded her badly from the knees down.

Doctor Earle was speedily summoned, and although baby Barbara is still suffering much pain, particularly at times of dressing, she is resting as ell as can be expected.

HYDRO REFUSES TO PAY TAXES

Says Seymour Council Appeal Being Made to Force Payment.

FREQUENT DEMANDS

CAMPBELLFORD, June 18.—The Township Council of Seymour last year assessed the Hydro property within its jurisdiction at $37,000 for he land and $500 business assessment. The tax on this amount would be $135, but not a cent of this has been received to date, although Dr. G. A. Hay, the township clerk, has made frequent demands on the Hydro officials at Toronto for payment.

When the Seymour Council met Tuesday as a court of revision all the members, Reeve Grills, Deputy Reeve Peake, Councillors Allan and Linn being present, Dr. Hayy called the attention of the count to this matter. Not only the power houses and lands of the Hydro are exempt but the same claim is put up for the dwelling houses that have been built for th Hydro employees. The children of these employees attend the various schools in the district and for their tuition not a cent is collected. There are 12 such pupils attending the school at Healey Falls, and others are being taught in Commbellford.

Dr. Hay suggested to pressure being brought to bear on the Legislative representatives of East Northumberland to take this question up with the proper officials in Toronto. The doctor said that this course had been taken with the representative at Niagara Falls, and that the Hydro has been made to pay taxes, at least on the dwelling houses in that district.

It was decided to persevere in the effort to collect this tax, and it was asserted that a promise to pay had been made some time ago.

Assessments Reduced.

Only two appeals were received against the work of T. J. Ketchenson, and these were allowed. William Stanbury's assessment was reduced $200, and that of Mrs. George Wright by $100. The total assessment of the township is slightly less than a million and a naff.

New Township Constable.

John Ruttan, a resident of Trent River, was appointed township constable, his chief duty being to maintain order in the dancing pavilion in that village, but he is expected to enforce the O.T.A. in the township. He is to receive $1 a day or night while on duty at the pavilion, and for other service is to be allowed fees and 13 cents a mile for travelling expenses.

Are Not Alarmed.

The councillors are apparently not alarmed over the decision of the Department of Highways to return to the township some of the roads now in the county system. The grant for the latter roads is 50 per cent. of the cost and for the township roads where statute labor has been abolished the grant is 30 per cent. with 50 per cent. of the salary of the road -superintendent added. As the township can build a cheaper road than the type called for in the county system, the councillors believe that the change will not entail any extra expense.

The township's share of the county taxes this year will be $15,047.27 or $1,819.00 higher than in 1924, the increase being due to the extra levy of 1 1-8 mills on Northumberland County taxpayers to pay off the debt that has been accumulating for the last five years for the upkeep of bridges.

OMEMEE POPULAR AS FISHING SPOT

River Dotted on Opening Day of Season—a Barn Raising.

OMEMEE, June 18—The fishing season opened officially on Tuesday and many fishermen were on hand in the early hours of the morning, some havig come from as far distant as Astakula, Ohio. The river was dotted with launches and canoes and numerous catches of fine maskinonge and bass are reported.

A Barn Raising

A very successful barn raising was held on Monday afternoon, on the farm of Mr. Bruce McNevin, who resides about four miles west of Omemee. This new structure when completed will be 95 feet long by 35 feet wide and will be an up to date building with all modern equipment. The old barns were torn down and the new one is being erected on the old foundation with an extension of some thirty feet. The old timber being utilized as far as possible. There were between seventy-five and eighty men present on Monday, all of whom worked to their utmost in spite of the showers, which made it difficult to proceed with the raising and by evening the task was completed under the supervision of Mr. Norman Nugent of Millersmith.

Mrs. McNevin assisted by many ladies had planned to serve the lunch on the lawn in garden party style but owing to weather conditions was forced to remain in the house. However, the menu was thoroughly enjoyed by the large gathering and a jolly time spent!

Dogs Raid Sheep

Several flocks of sheep have been raided by dogs in the western section of Emily township recently. Mr. Arthur Pogue had the misfortune of losing 15. Mr. William Veals 7, and Mr. W. Moore 7. Some were worried when found but died later.

FIXING STREETS.

The Campbellford Crossings Were Lower Than Roadway—Band Concert.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 18.—The three concrete crossings on Front street, between Bridge street and the spur railway have been taken up and the steam roller and grader are now at work on this part of the thoroughfare. The crossings were several inches below the street level and became minature ponds after every heavy rainfall.

Band Concert.

The Northumberland Regiment Band will give a public concert on Post Office Square on Thursday night. As the Band has two engagements—the St. Andrew's and Christ Church garden parties, the usual open air concert will be omitted next week.

Personals.

Mrs. J. R. Davis of Deseronto spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Dagleish. Mr. and Mrs. Dagleish have moved to their summer cottage at Crowe River Bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Chambers of Buffalo spent Sunday with Mr. Chambers' aunt, Mrs. James Fraser, Front street.

Miss Anna Houlaghan, Pat and Leonard Dorie spent Sunday with their aunt, Mrs. James Fraser, Front street.

HELP FLOOD VICTIMS.

Shipment of Supplies Sent From Winnipeg To-day —500 Homeless.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 18. Canadian Press. — A large shipment of supplies, food and clothing, for the sufferers of the Whitemouth and Birch rivers flood, in Southeastern Manitoba, where 500 persons were forced to vacate their homes last week, was shipped from Winnipeg yesterday.

The district is an isolated one but the last reports stated that the flood waters were receding.

RADIO MILLENIUM.

The history of the phonograph is being repeated now with the radio. In the beginning in both instances, a few of the world-renowned artists "tried the thing," just to see how it would go. Then, with a sudden fear of cheapening themselves, they refused to have anything to do with the affair. Finally, they began to see that even they could not withstand the imperative uses of the new invention and allowed their art to go to the greater multitude.

In the case of the radio, they are still doing this in a somewhat hesitant manner, but the pregnant fact is that they are doing it— Dame Nellie Melba, and also Paderewski and Luisa Tetrazzini in England, and a number of them on this side of the Atlantic.

WEDDING BELLS.

ROBERTSON—PEELING

CAMPBELLFORD, June 18.—A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Peeling, Centre Street, when their second eldest daughter, Leona May, was married to Mr. T. B. Robertson, of Fort William; Rev. D. A. Thompson of Hastings officiating. The bride was given away by her father and looked charming in a gown of pale blue crepe de chine, with silk net veil arranged with orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Catherine MacArthur acted as bridesmaid, wearing pale blue taffeta and carried a bouquet of carnations and maiden hair fern. Mr. C. E. Robertson, of Dunville, brother of the groom, was best man. After the ceremony a dainty lunch was served, after which the happy couple left for Toronto, the bride travelling in a suit of navy tricotine, with sand hat. On their return from the honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Robertson will reside at Hydro, Ont. The groom's gift to the bride was an amethyst brooch; to the bridesmaid, an amethyst bar pin, and to the best man, a pearl tie pin. Among the many gifts which the bride received were several pieces of Community plate, from St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Choir, of which the bride was a member.

MADOC, June 18. — A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday at the home of Mr. John McKenzie, when Jessie Gertrude, daughter of the late Angus McKenzie and Mrs. McKenzie, was united in marriage to Ross Leslie Townsend of Sydenham. Rev. Mr. McCormack conducted the ceremony.

The bride, who was given away by her uncle, Mr. John McKenzie, looked charming in an ensemble suit of grey and blue with black hat, and carried a bouquet of roses. Little Miss Jean Clark made a dainty flower girl dressed in mauve crepe de chine and lace, and carrying rose peonies.

A buffet luncheon was served in the dining room where the decorations were carried out in yellow with long sprays of yellow roses. The rest of the house was a bower of pink and white peonies. Later Mr. and Mrs. Townsend left for Niagara Falls and points west.

GIRL DROWNED FROM STEAMER

Mysterious Death of Elizabeth Cromwell Recalls Cousins' Drowning.

SAILED SATURDAY.

NEW YORK, June 18. (Canadian Press).—Miss Elizabeth Mary Cromwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Cromwell, and prominent member of the Junior League, has been mysteriously drowned at sea. This information was conveyed to her family yesterday in a wireless message from the liner Veendam, on which she sailed Saturday for Rotterdam.

She was planning to spend the summer in Europe, and was accompanied by her cousin, Mr. Stoke Miller, of Chicago. Miss Cromwell was 21 years old, and was the second cousin of Dorothea and Gladys Cromwell, twins, who leaped from the steamer in Garonne, off Bordeaux, as they were returning from canteen work with the American expeditionary force in 1919.

MAIL ORDERS ARE RUINING VILLAGES

Says Hugh Blain to Ontario Grocers—Attacks Cash and Carry.

TORONTO, June 18. (Canadian Press).—Appeals for co-operation and reciprocity of action between manufacturer, wholesaler and retailer were voiced by various speakers on yesterday's session of the Ontario Retail Grocers in annual convention here. An attack on the cash and carry stores and mail order houses was made by Hugh Blain, dean of Toronto wholesale grocers, who termed the mail order business "a pernicious practice" and "largely accounting for many small towns lying in ruins with grass growing in the streets, which were once busy thoroughfares."

OBITUARY.

FLEGLER BELL.

WARSAW, June 18.—Another of Dummer's old residents passed away early on Sunday morning. Mr. Flegler Bell was born in Belleville seventy-seven years ago, but early in life came to Dummer and has lived in the township ever since. His wife, who predeceased him by nine years, was Matilda Watley. Eight children were born to them, six of whom live to mourn his loss, Mrs. John Tucker, Warsaw; Mrs. John Clifford, Dummer; Mrs. Frank Patterson, Dummer, Saskatchewan; William Bell and Percy Bell, Dummer and Ernest Bell, Peterboro.

Three sisters, residing in Buffalo, N.Y. are living, Mesdames Arnold, Miller and Shonfield. The late Mr. Bell was ill since the beginning of the year, but knew his family until twenty-four hours before passing away. He was a member of the Presbyterian church.

The funeral took place from the residence of his son, Mr. Percy Bell on Monday afternoon. Though the weather was inclement, there was a very large funeral. The interment took place in Warsaw cemetery. Rev. P. L. Jull conducted the services at the house and at the grave. The bearers were Messrs. Ray Carlow, George Barr, James Healey, Robert Moore, Wm. Forsythe and Ernest MacDonald.

SAMUEL McCALL.

NORHAM, June 18.— The funeral services for the late Samuel McCall, ex-Reeve of Brighton township, who passed away suddenly at Gilmore, on Monday at noon, were held at his late residence near Bethany on Wednesday afternoon and were largely attended. Mr. McCall had been ailing for several months and two months ago underwent a critical operation in Welsley Hospital, from which he never fully recovered. Deceased, who was in his 57th year, was born near Bethany on Oct. 18, 1868, where he lived until about 26 years ago when he moved on to a farm three miles north of Brighton, where he resided until about a year ago, when he moved on to the old homestead which had in the meantime been vacated by his father. The services were in charge of his pastor, Rev. J. F. Everson, who was assisted by Rev. Walter S. Smart, of Cherry Valley, a former pastor, and Rev. Raymond T. Richards, of Cavan.

Among the many floral tributes which banked the basket marking the esteem in which the deceased was held were appreciations from the Brighton Township Council, Brighton Loyal Orange Lodge and the Springer Lock Works people of Belleville. In religion Mr. McCall was a Methodist and for many years a member of Hilton Methodist church and for the past year a member at Bethany. He leaves to mourn his loss a sorrowing wife, three sons and two daughters, Douglas of Brighton; Harold, who has been attending Toronto University, and Rex at home, Jean of Belleville and Lorna at home, also his aged father, Hugh McCall, of Codrington, and one sister, Mrs. Maurice Ames of Codrington.

The pallbearers were: Walter Carr, John Dinner, Robert Ryckman, Samuel Hazelwood, Fred Wade and Elmo McLaughlin.

J. C. DUSENBURY.

NORHAM, June 18. — The last sad rites were paid to the late John Garnet Dusenbury, of Codrington, who died suddenly at his late residence at noon Sunday, on Tuesday afternoon. The services were conducted by his pastor, Rev. J. F. Everson, assisted by a former pastor, Rev. W. J. H. Smyth, M.A., B.D., of Wellington. The high esteem in which the deceased was held was marked by the more than half a mile of automobiles in the cortege bearing friends and relatives who had come to pay a last tribute of respect. Mr. Dusenbury was in his 67th year, and was born on July 4th, 1858, on the farm where he died, and spent all his years in the one place. In religion he was a Methodist, and until recent years, when his health began to fail, he was steward and treasurer of Bethany Methodist Church, of which he was a faithful member and liberal supporter for many years. He leaves to mourn his loss a sorrowing wife three daughters, Mrs. Vernan Ames, Hamilton; Mrs. Albert Vanblaricom, of Burlington, and Mrs. Garnet Hardy of Morganston; also three brothers and one sister: Daniel J. Dusenbury, Chicago; Bernard R. Dusenbury, Vancouver; Benjamin F. Dusenbury, Codrington, and Mrs. Richard Morgan, Third Concession of Brighton.

The pallbearers were: John Dinner, John W. Kemp, Michael Moran, Walter Ames, William Ames, Alciberis Vanblaricom.

PRAISES EFFICIENCY.

Warkworth Convention Arrangements Call Forth Commendation From Cobourg.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 18.—Archie Cochrane, who is a law partner of Crown Attorney W. F. Kerr of Cobourg, and vice-president for the Liberal party in that town, has addressed the following communication to J. N. Stone of Campbellford, President of the Northumberland Liberal Association:

Dear Mr. Stone—I am writing to express to you my personal appreciation of the splendid and efficient manner in which the convention at Warkworth was organized and conducted by yourself and Mr. Meyers. The meeting certainly was a splendid one and there were, apparently, delegates from all parts of the Riding so that all opinions as to the selection of the candidate were fully represented. It is to be hoped that when the election comes on the same enthusiasm will be shown in supporting a candidate as was shown at the meeting yesterday.

ASSISTING THE POLICE.

Considerable newspaper comment is being made in connection with a Western Ontario incident in which a citizen refused to carry out the request of a policeman making an arrest that he should telephone for a patrol wagon.

The magistrate before whom the unwilling citizen was haled classed him as an "undesirable"—he might have used a stronger term.

The case calls attention to a paradoxical condition which makes people engage police to protect their lives and property and yet causes them to be very reluctant to assist them in carrying out the duties for which they were engaged.

When an officer calls upon the public for assistance, those so summoned are required under penalty to offer their help.

There should really be no necessity of such a law if people were logical.

But somehow or other instead of treating the police as the friends of all law-abiding citizens there is a tendency on the part of very many people to regard them as something quite different.

Few are willing to assist them and many would lean in the other direction if they thought they could do so safely.

It is just another of those traits that makes the study of humanity so fascinating in its surprising developments.

THE STORY OF A CZECH.

New citizens who sometimes lament that Canada is not the land of opportunity and that the chances for success here are not as golden as pictured to them could learn a lesson from the story of Peter Dutiko, a thirty-year-old Czechoslovakian who the other day received the degree of Master of Sciene in Animal Husbandry in the Pennsylvania State College.

His story shows, as the Examiner interprets it, that there are plenty of opportunities on this continent for the man who is willing to work to take advantage of them.

In other words the old theory about not being able to keep a good man down is still alive and doing business.

This Czech landed in Philadelphia two years ago, penniless and unable to speak a word of English.

Undaunted he worked in the coal mines until he saved enough money and learned enough of the language to enter Penn State College last fall as a graduate student, having enough credits as a graduate of an agricultural college in his native land.

Although at first he could hardly understand the lectures of his professors, he stuck to his task, worked until 3 or 4 o'clock every morning, and finished the year as honour student and with a degree.

The moral is plain: The opportunities are here for those with courage and energy enough to take advantage of them.

DOURO'S CELEBRATION.

The prospects are that the centenary celebration in Douro next week marking the one hundred anniversary of the settlement of that township, will be a marked success.

It is fitting that it should be; no other result would be a suitable reward for the vision and imagination of those who promoted the celebration and for the hard work and enthusiasm with which the committee, headed by Mr. P. G. Towns, has planned the various features of the programme.

We folks of this generation, only faintly realizing the blessings we enjoy, are not very prone to remember the debt of gratitude we owe to the pioneers who hewed a Province out of the virgin forest.

The people of Douro do well to acknowledge this debt by a reunion of the kind planned for next week, which has also done a useful service in calling attention to the early history of the township and to the hardships and difficulties endured and conquered by the forefathers of those who will gather together in the township for the centenary celebration.

It was a worthy idea, this honouring of the memory of the pioneers, and the people of Douro are to be congratulated upon being pioneers themselves in being among the first communities in this district to remember what we owe to the gallant spirits who one hundred years ago settled this section of Ontario.

SUMMING UP THE POWER EXPORT QUESTION.

The pros and cons of the power export question are summed up by the National City Company, Ltd., as follows:

"It is no easy matter to judge impartially between the rival opinions. On one side the protaganists of export can to some extent demonstrate actual benefits to be derived by following the policy which they advocate, and can support their arguments with facts and figures. Those against export are dealing more with probabilities and hopes which, while perhaps not quite so convincing at first glance, are none the less important, and, it may well prove, none the less correct in actual application. They aver, and they number in their ranks some of our ablest and most public-spirited men, that power once exported can never be recalled, and that we have no right to pawn the heritage of our children and our children's children for our own immediate gain.

"It is, in our opinion, on the truth or the fallacy of this assertion that the entire question hinges. If power once exported can be recalled and diverted to Canadian consumers when and as required the arguments in favor of export are sufficiently sound to warrant the immediate adoption of some such policy with, of course, proper safeguards. If it can be fully demonstrated that power once exported is forever alienated, or even if there is any real doubt about our ability to recapture such power at a future date, then this consideration should outweigh all others.

"The controversy has reached the stage when the entire subject can only be decided by establishing this one point. To do this requires that the highest scientific, technical and legal opinions be sought. Then and not until then will it be advisable to obtain a definite decision from any political party."

TEMPERANCE AND PROHIBITION.

A campaign is launched in the United States by anti-tobacco crusaders to raise a fund of a million dollars—and as much more as they can get, of course—to promote legislation to prohibit the use of tobacco, says the Ottawa Journal. Whether the money is got or not, the campaign will not get far. Evidence is large that more people feel irritation now at propositions to restrict personal liberty than they did before the United States adopted the principle of prohibition of intoxicating liquor. This does not mean that we think there is any chance of the United States forsaking prohibition. Apart from almost insuperable political difficulties standing in the way of that, it is tolerably certain that a majority over there feel that, having faced so far all the fuss there has been, they may as well stick to the prohibition last. But they do not do so very cheerfully; and they assuredly do not wish to tackle anything new in the way of wholesale interference with other personal habits whose effects concern chiefly the people who prefer them.

In the country, where there has been more of an open field in the conflicts over prohibition of liquor, the cause of prohibition has recently lost a lot of ground, due considerably to accumulation of irritation at the intemperance of temperance advocates. The fact that over half the Provinces of Canada have approved of Government control of the liquor business, permitting its sale, and that in Ontario the prohibition vote fell off greatly in the latest plebiscite, furnishes sufficient indication that it has become a case of nip-and-tuck recently whether prohibition can stand anywhere in the Dominion.

It was illustrative of not merely the enthusiasm of some of our prohibitionists, but of their blindness, that after the Ontario plebiscite, claims were made that the vote was a triumph which must pave the way for a move to gain national prohibition. The real significance was quite the other way. Also it was illustrative that one prohibition leader proclaimed that the next move would be to prohibit tobacco. Hardly anything could have been less wise. The majority for prohibition in Ontario was small; not two-thirds of the voters went to the polls at that; and when, after such a test, any advocate of temperance could have the exhilaration to suggest that a move should be made on tobacco, he certainly exhibited a lack of common sense, for he could hardly have said anything more calculated to damage the cause of prohibition of even liquor. But perhaps, after all, he was merely bluffing.

WILL OTTAWA NEVER LEARN?

The Ottawa Journal does not take kindly to the suggestion of the Advertiser that that city should be so tickled to have a great enterprise like the Dominion Parliament in its midst that it should cease trying to prod it into paying more taxes to the City Treasurer.

The Journal puts a charge of rock salt into its old muzzle-loader, opens the west window of the sanctum and shoots in the general direction of London like this:

"Well, we can certainly imagine Parliament, or a glue factory, or anything or anybody else wanting to be bonused for going to or staying in London. In truth, we've often wondered how the city fathers there collect taxes from anybody. But Ottawa is different. This is a real city, with privileges and advantages that people should be willing to pay for, and which most of them gladly shell out for. Our only real trouble is that M.P.'s who come from our 'Main streets' and 'Gopher Prairies' like London and its prototypes are so used to kicking against paying for the kind of lives they lead in such places that they can't get accustomed to paying for something better here."

Blame it, that's the trouble with trying to present a great economic fact to some people. They won't come over and sit on your back porch some evening and try and grasp the great truth, but they gather up a soap-box and make for the corner to show the crowd how they are being persecuted.

Now, we never said Ottawa wasn't a nice place, because it is—if you don't have to stay too long. The Journal claims that the people who gather there from the long-grass towns should be willing to shell out for the high state of culture that has been developed there, and that's where the trouble come in. Whether the Journal knows it or not, they do shell out to an astonishing degree when they are living in Ottawa—they keep on shelling out our money for one thing or another to such an extent that we get hoarse yelling out "Quit." And they do it as individuals, too, and depart to alarming distances from the simple life of those who elect them. You never see any of the members carrying a lunch in a shoebox to the Parliament Buildings—they never make a meal from a can of salmon and a barley loaf on the corner of the kitchen table. Not a bit of it; they have departed from the mob. They must dine in the parliamentary restaurant, where, under the shade of palm trees, and with silver to the right of them, silver to the left of them, and monogramed dishes in front of them, they eat and chat far longer than it takes them at home to milk five brindle cows or put on the kitchen fly-door.

Truth is, Ottawa spoils them, gets their money away from them, trains 'em in ways that are hifalutin', and when they are broke the session ends, and if they didn't ride free on the train Ottawa might be called upon to ship them back home. By the time they escape the rest of us haven't got a half a chance at them. The best we can do is to squeeze out a five-spot for the fall fair prize list and about the same amount of shekels when we name a member of Parliament as honorary president of the local baseball team.

And all that money is spent in Ottawa. Then there's the civil service, a jim-dandy meal ticket for Ottawa, and the mint, too, where people stand around and scramble for all the loose money that falls from the wheelbarrows when they are carting it around town.

For the life of us we can't see why the Ottawa Journal keeps up this agitation, asking the rest of us to run along and get the corn and bran mash to feed the goose that lays the golden egg for that city. Why, say, if it wasn't for the Parliament Buildings people would be asking, "Where is Ottawa?" And some person would probably say, "I'm not sure, but I think it's across the river from Hull."—London Advertiser.

FISHING BRINGS CROWED RIVER

Hastings Comes Into Its Own as Parodise For Fishermen.

HASTINGS, June 18.—The fishing season opened in earnest on Tuesday, June 16. The weather was lovely and warm with a west wind blowing slightly. Several boats were up and down the river early in the morning. Good success is reported by the fishers. Several Americans are here and some are camping near by. The Hastings Tanning Company observed the day as a holiday so as to enable the employees to enjoy this one summer sport for which the village is noted.

New Tax Act.

A revenue officer from Toronto was in Hastings on Tuesday and called on the business men in regard to the Luxury Tax Act and the new clause of the Act concerning the sale of soft drinks wines and aerated or carbonized water.

Instructions were given proprietors of ice cream parlours as to procuring licenses for the use of soda fountains and coolers. Revenue stamps were left by the officers for use whenever a sale is made.

A Remarkable Recital.

On Monday evening in the United Church of Canada, Hastings, Dr. Solomon Cleaver of Toronto, gave the story of "Jean Val Jean," which was accepted by the audience as most extraordinary in every way. The speaker held the attention of the listeners spellbound for two hours. During the evening, Mr. W. W. Knight rendered a cornet solo and Mrs. Alex Fleming of Colborne rendered vocally "Open the Gates of the Temple." Rev. M. L. Hinton acted as chairman.

CANADIAN MILLS AGAIN BEAT U. S.

For Second Time on Record Newsprint Production Higher Here.

MONTREAL, June 18. (Canadian Press).—Production figures for the month of May show that for the second time in the history of the newsprint industry, Canadian output has run ahead of that of the United States. Canada produced 130,013 tons of newsprint last month, as compared with 129,026 tons in the United States. The only other time Canadian production exceeded that of our southern neighbor was last February, when Canadian mills produced 115,624 tons of newsprint, while American mills turned out 113,831 tons. The total output for the first five months of this year, however, still leaves a small margin of slightly under 10,000 tons in favor of the United States.

A THOUGHT.

NECESSARY TESTS.

Accepting as a matter of course the good things that come and whimperingly protesting against the mean things that happen is common human procedure.

1. What we need to remember is that no life is all sunshine, nor should this be expected; and that pretty nearly everything that happens to us is but our just portion of the bitter and the sweet of human existence.

We may not actually deserve all the rough treatment we get, but we should understand that it is coming to us for our good.

Troubles, disappointments, privations and hard work are necessary elements in the character tests by which we are graduated into happier conditions of living.

TORONTO CATTLE

TORONO, June 18. — Cooler weather, with moderate receipts, has done the trick. Trade was a little livelier at the cattle market yesterday. Except for the stale medium and common cattle, prices are steadily climbing to pre-super hot weather levels. Export trade is quiet, because there were not many in that class offering, but a few small lots were going at steady prices, $7.50 to $8.25. Export buyers say there will be a good market for export cattle next week.

Choice butcher stuff is wanted, and fresh offerings were selling firmer at from $7 to $7.50. Medium and common stale from $5.50 to $6.50.

Butcher bulls steady, $4.50 to $5.25.

Calves firmer at $8.50 to $9.50.

Lambs firmer at $17 to $18.

CHICAGO CATTLE

CHICAGO, June 18 (Canadian Press).—Cattle, 8,000; general steer trade strong to 25 cents higher, uneven; yearlings and medium weights offering showing most advance. Weighty steers, largely steady to 15 cents higher; rough heavy stale kind very slow; grassy and short fed offering sharing most of yesterday's advance; upturn going mostly to kind eligible to $9.50 and better; extreme top $11.75 paid for long yearlings; mixed steers, heifers upward to $10.65.

Hog receipts, 18,000; slow; opened steady to 10 cents higher than Tuesday's average; closed with advance lost; underweights 150 down, 25 cents lower; bulk good and choice, 235 to 325 butchers $12.70 to $12.90; top $13; bulk sorted 160 to 210 lb. weights, $12.50 to $12.85; 140 to 150 lb. kind, largely $12 to $12.25.

Sheep receipts 12,000; fat lambs strong to 65 cents higher; sort considered; 10 cars choice Idahos $16.50 with light sorts.

AT MONTREAL

MONTREAL, June 18 (Canadian Press).—A fair volume of business was reported by Montreal exporters in Canadian wheat, oats, barley and rye with the United Kingdom and the Continent here yesterday, the bulk of the offers made overnight being accepted, including No. 1 Northern wheat to London at 62s. per quarter for June shipment.

Owing to the above there was a little more activity in the local ocean freight grain market, there being an improved demand from both Canadian and United States exporters for room in nearby positions which resulted in engagements of 75 to 100 loads, of which th bulk was to London and Rotterdam, the former port being let to 1s. 9d. per quarter for heavy grain and the latter port at 11 cents per 100 pounds, with oats at 13 cents per 100 pounds for June loading, and a few loads were also engaged to other ports at current rates.

A feature of the domestic cash grain market was the demand from New York exporters for Manitoba spring wheat which resulted in sales of some fair sized quantities of No. 1 Northern at 13 1-2 cents per bushel over the Winnipeg July option, f.o.b. Montreal, and 13 1-4 cents per bushel over was also bid freely for the same grade, c.i.f. Montreal. There was also some business done in oats and barley on c.i.f. basis. Owing to the re-action in prices for oats in Winnipeg, spot prices here were marked up 2 cents per bushel.

The market for baled hay was without any new feature to note, prices being steady with a moderate amount of business passing, and sales of No. 2 timothy hay were made at $14 per ton, No. 3 timothy hay at $11 to $12 per ton, and clover mixed hay at $10.50 to $11 per ton, f.o.b. cars here.

There were no further developments in the local egg situation, but the undertone to the market was firm at the recent change in prices noted, with prospects of them going still higher in the near future. The volume of business in a wholesale jobbing way was not large owing to the fact that the demand was chiefly for small lots to meet immediate wants.

The receipts were 1,843 cases, as compared with 1,963 for the same day last week, and 3,094 for the corresponding day a year ago.

The receipts of butter were 577 packages, as compared with 25 for the same day last week, and 603 for the corresponding day a year ago. There were no new developments in the market, prices being maintained for all grades under a steady demand for supplies and a moderate amount of business was done in Eastern Townships No. 1 pasteurized creamery at 36 1-2 cents per lb. No. 1 creamery at 35 1-2 cents per lb., and No. 2 creamy at 34 1-2 cents per lb.

The receipts of cheese were 4,768 boxes, as against 5,050 for the same day last week, and 5,260 for the corresponding day a year ago. The export trade was quieter and the undertone to the market easier, but there was no further change in prices to note; Western No. 1 white and colored being quoted at 20 cents per lb., and Eastern No. 1 white and colored at 19 7-8 cents per lb.

LONDON, June 18. — (Canadian Press). — Rt. Rev. David Cathels, M.A., D.D., minister of the Parish of Hawick since 1892, and Moderator of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland for 1924-1925, died here yesterday. He was born at Arbroath, Forfarshire, in 1853, and received his education at the University of Edinburgh.

From 1882 to 1892 he was minister of Kirkton, Roxburghshire. In 1913 he was the delegate from the Foreign Mission Committee of the Church of Scotland to missions in China, especially in the Yangste valley.

BIBLE STOPS DAGGER

TOKYO, June 18.—A Bible in her kimona, just above the heart, saved the life of a young Japanese Salvatio Army girl, when a man she had refused to marry attacked her with a dagger. She fell to the ground after the thrust of the knife which was stopped by the Bible, and the man, believing her dead, killed himself with the weapon.

CANADA BUILDING TO BE OPENED BY KING AND QUEEN

Historic and Impressive Ceremony of Opening on June 29.

SPECIAL KEYS.

Made From Ontario Gold, Silver and Nickel for the Occasion.

LONDON, June 18 (Canadian Press Cable)—Arrangements for the formal opening of the new Canada building in Trafalgar Square by King George V on June 29 have been completed and the opening will be impressive as well as historic.

The King and Queen will be received before the main entrance of the building by Hon. P. C. Larkin, Canadian High Commissioner in London, and at the King's request the doors will be thrown open. Upon their Majesties' entrance the Queen will receive a bouquet from Miss Larkin, daughter of the high commissioner.

The King and Queen will then proceed to the dais while the National Anthem is being played by members of the Grenadier Guards Band. Then will follow an address to the King by Hon. Mr. Larkin and his Majesty's reply. "O Canada" will be played by the band, after which will follow the official presentations of prominent persons to their Majesties. The presentations will include representatives of the architects and workmen who have been engaged in the work of transforming the former Union Club which in its day was a noted centre, to the present beautiful and commodious Canada building.

Their Majesties will then be invited to make an inspection of the building and while doing so they will receive the keys made in Toronto specially for the opening of the Canada building the keys being made of gold, silver and nickel from the Northern Ontario mines. The idea of the keys was conceived by Mr. Larkin.

Cable mesages of loyal greetings from two Canadian children will be feature of the opening ceremonies, one of the messages being to the King signed by a Canadian boy and the other to the Queen signed by a Canadian girl.

UNION 4 YEARS; ISN'T ANY MORE

Trouble Over Vote Splits Sudbury United Congregation in Two.

FORMAL PROTEST.

SUDBURY, Ont., June 18. (Canadian Press).—It is learned that the congregation of the former United Church here has decided to make an official protest to the Commission appointed by the Ontario Government about the manner in which the Church Union vote was taken here.

When the vote was taken the Presbyterian members who formed a part of the congregation voted by about 25 to 3 not to enter the United Church of Canada. It is stated that the Methodist members of the congregation refused to cast their ballots on the question.

Since 1921 the Methodists and the Presbyterian congregations have been worshipping in the Presbyterian Church and have been known as the United Church at Sudbury.

On Sunday last, it being the first Sunday since the United Church of Canada functioned, the Presbyterians who voted against Union worshipped in the Presbyterian edifice.

Ascot Outfit Weighs No More Than Hat of 1910

LONDON, June 18.—The scantiness of women's costumes at Ascot Tuesday is widely commented on. One smartly dressed woman made the admission that the hat which she wore at Ascot as a deoutante fifteen years ago weighed only an ounce less than the entire outfit she wore Tuesday.

The woman, whose name is withheld by an evening newspaper, said she recalled weighing the hat at the time because it gave her a headache. This morning she put her chiffon gown, silk underwear, hat, shoes, stockings and handbag on the scales and found they weighed only an ounce more than the hat.

SLUMP IN HAIRPINS.

LONDON, June 17.—Bobbed hair has caused a very serious slump in the hairpin business, one of the oldest industries of England.

STARVED WHILE STRUGGLING FOR HIS EDUCATION

Student at University of Pennsylvania Died in Senior Year.

POSTMORTEM DEGREE.

Helped Mother and Sister and Kept Self By Selling Peanuts.

PHILADELPHIA, June 18.—The memory of a man whose desire for an education led him to follow a programme of self-denial that caused his death by starvation was honored by the University of Pennsylvanian at commencement yesterday, when a post-mortem degree was awarded in the name of Homer Oscar Ackerstrom of Sweden.

The commencement exercises will mark the close of the university's one hundred and eighty-fifth academic year, but records of the institution fail to show a single case which parallels that of Ackerstrom in the evidence it gave of a student's struggle to gain an education in the face of obstacles.

Ackerstrom, who was 27 years old, came to this country from Sweden in 1917, leaving there a mother and a sister. There were extremely poor, and Ackerstrom came to seek his fortune and gain an education which, he hoped, would enable him to lift them out of their poverty.

He first became a student at the Massachusetts Agricultural College, where he worked his way through. He joined the Students' Military Training Corps when we entered the war and earned the respect of his fellow-students by declaring 'I am not an American, but if America wants me I am ready."

From Massachusetts Ackerstrom came to this city and enrolled in the Wharton School of Finance and Commerce of the University of Pennsylvania. To pay his expenses he swept sidewalks, sold peanuts at football games, worked in offices, did chores of all kinds, and even found time to serve as a trolley conductor. At best he could afford to eat very little, and when "things were breaking bad" as he expressed it, he lived for days on stale peanuts.

Day by day he struggled along,

GRAND PAGEANT AT ROTARY MEET

25 NATIONS.

At the sixteenth annual convention of Rotary International held at Cleveland which is being attended by local Rotarians, Messrs. G. A. Gillespie, Alpine McNab and H. Bertram, some twenty-five nations are represented. On Monday, the firstday of the convention, over 12,000 delegates were registered.

A feature of the first night's entertainment was a pageant "Rotary" in which the cast numbered five hundred, all professionals. The spectacle depicted the development of the Rotary ideal.

The local Rotary Club is now preparing its second annual Carnival which promises to be a spectacular effort in aid of underprivileged boys and crippled children. The Carnival will be held on the afternoon and evening of Thursday, July 16.

Lad With Cowboy Urge Lassos Moving Truck

WHITE PLAINS, June 18—Wilfred Pinchbeck, 9 years old, wanted to be like his heroes, Tom Mix and Will Rogers, and his friends gave him a rawhide lariat at his birthday party Tuesday.

Wilfred immediately went into the front yard to whirl his lasso, but instead of catching a steer the noose fell over the headlight of an ice truck passing down the street. The other end of the lariat was tied about Wilfred's waist.

George Garrison, driver of the truck, did not know the noose had caught until Wilfred had been dragged thirty feet. At the hospital he was treated for bruises and lacerations about the face and body, but was allowed to return home. Mrs. Pinchbeck announced that he must confine his efforts to roping chair legs in the future.

Geraldine Farrar's father was a professional ball player.

FANS STARTED IN FIVE MINES

Pumping Will Begin When Gas Has Been Removed From Shafts.

PEACE HOPE SEEN.

SYDNEY, N.S., June 18. Canadian Press. — Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, continued last night to focus attention to a possible conciliator of the differences between the British Empire Steel Corporation and the miners of Nova Scotia. He spoke with Vice-President J. E. McLurg of the Corporation, and men corporation representatives against last night. Mr. Murdock does not feel justified in making any statement, but he does not consider the situation without hope.

Fans were re-started yesterday in Mines Numbers two, nine, ten, eleven and twenty-four, as the result of the re-operation of the Number Two power plant near Clace Bay. It is planned to commence pumping when the gas has been cleared out and the mines made safe for entrance. This may be possible to-day in some of the collieries. The power house is stricly guarded by troops.

The occupation of the New Waterford plant was the chief event yesterday affecting the movement of troops. This was the scene of the fatal rioting of last week.

A tour through the colliery districts yesterday showed absolute quiet.

PEACE RETURNS TO MINE AREA

General Impression is That Destructive Part of Strike is Past.

MURDOCK THERE.

SYDNEY, N.S., June 17. (Canadian Press).—Chief interest in Cape Breton industrial situation centered to-day in the presence here of Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, and the possibilities of his efforts as conciliator between the British Empire Steel Corporation and its employees.

He held conversations to-day with representatives of the United Mine Workers and also with J. E. McLurg, vice-president of the Corporation. With a night of comparative quiet passed with the United Mine Workers' organization backing up the normal civil police by large numbers of their members sworn in as special constables, together with the presence of troops in the mining district. It was generally felt here to-day that the destructive part of the strike had been passed, except for damage to the mines from flooding.

FEWER MEMBERS IN TRADE UNIONS

Decrease Is Attributed To Amalgamations and Poverty of Unions.

PAYMENTS FALL OFF.

LONDON, June 18 (Canadian Press Cable)—The membership of the general federation of trade unions has fallen off by 89,734 in the past year and it is now 830,000, according to the annual report of the federation by Secretary W. A. Appleton, who states that the present membership is the lowest since the year 1912.

The receipts of the federation for the past year, £57,730, are £3,221 lower than in the previous year.

The losses in the membership of the general federated trade unions are attributed by Secretary Appleton chiefly to amalgamations of unions and losses in the membership of the unions themselves, also because of the poverty of the unions owing to the falling off in payment due to unemployment.

DEATH TOLL UP TO FORTY-FOUR IN RAIL WRECK

Most of Victims Were on Way to Germany on Excursion.

DRIFTED SWITCH.

Dead Include Members of Same Families—Investigation Being Made.

HACKETTSTOWN, N.J., June 18 (Canadian Press)—The death toll of the wreck of the special immigrant train of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad at Rockport Sag, which had fluctuated yesterday because of confusion in identifications, last night was definitely set at 44 by officials of the railroad.

The official list placed 23 bodies at Easton, Pa.; 8 at Hackettstown; 7 at Dover; 3 at Morristown, and 3 at Phillipsburg. The shifting of bodies from undertaking establishments in Easton was responsible for varying totals at that place.

At least a score of persons are still in hospitals at Easton, Phillipsburg and Dover suffering from injuries. Several of these are in a critical condition from scalds and burns.

Prosecutor S. C. Smith, Jr., of Phillipsburg, who had investigators at work all day, last night expressed the opinion that the wreck had been caused when the locomotive left the rails after striking a switch covered with sand and dirt washed down by the violent electrical storm at the time of the derailment. So far, he said, he had discovered nothing to indicate negligence by the railroad company.

Eight Killed Outright.

Two coroner's inquests were held and both were adjourned to permit witnesses to testify later. The Public Utilities Commission directed investigation of the disaster, but is not expected to make public its report for several days. Only eight of the victims were killed outright, the remaining 36 dying in hospitals to which they had been rushed by farmers who came to their rescue.

On Excursion.

Most of the victims came from Chicago and were members of an annual excursion to Germany. Eighty of them who escaped injury sailed yesterday on the Republic.

Among the unidentfied bodies at Hackettstown was the body of a man found when a wrecking crew lifted the shattered locomotive from the bottom of an embankment into which it had tumbled. It was thought he might be a railroad worker riding from Scranton to New York.

Railroad men denied that the locomotive boiler had exploded, asserting that if it had it would have meant death for many more persons. The live steam, however, it was said, escaped through broken pipes.

It was announced that the railroad will offer accommodations for relatives of the victims to come from Chicago to care for the bodies. In several cases more than one member of the same family, en route to a holiday trip, were killed. Five members of the family of Edwin Brunner of Chicago, including three young children were listed among the dead.

MACMILLAN OFF TO THE ARCTIC

Will Search For Amundsen, Whose Food Supply Ends To-day.

THREE PLACES.

BOSTON, June 18 (Canadian Press).—Amid the din of roaring guns and shrieking marine whistles Lieut.-Commander Donald B. MacMillan and his little crew sailed from the Charlestown Navy Yard shortly after noon yesterday on the steamer Peary to start officially his ninth voyage into the Arctic.

Just before the Peary sailed, MacMillan outlined his plans to the notables assembled to wish him God speed.

He explained that his original plan, the exploration of the vast and unknown Arctic tract called Crocker Land, might be delayed a week to permit his expedition to search for Captain Raold Amundsen, who has been lost to the world since he started his Polar flight almost four weeks ago.

Food Finished.

If word is not received from the Norwegian explorer by August 1, when the MacMillan expedition expects to reach Etah, Greenland, the northernmost point its ships can go, MacMillan's flyers will begin a search. Amundsen, he said, will run out of food today if he has failed to reach Cape Columbia. He believes that the lost explorer will be found in one of three places he plans to search.

Amundsen's fate settled, MacMillan's party will fly to the unknown Polar continent to complete their original task. He said that he expected to remain there until the middle of August and probably would return to the United States about September 20.

The three amphibian planes, which the Peary carried on deck when she sailed, will allow MacMillan to accomplish as much in one day as he would in fifteen months if confined to the use of ships or dog teams, he said.

Moths cause $200,000,000 damage annually.

FRANKFORD IS BIG EXAMPLE OF SANE CIVIC GOVERNMENT

Village in Hastings County is Ideal in Caring for People.

TAXES TOO LOW

Manufacturing Centre of Importance With Lots of Recreation.

(By a Staff Reporter)

Frankford, June 18—Ask an old resident of Frankford how far it is to Belleville, the nearest city, and he is likely to answer that it is 14 jury miles but 15 by popular computation. Press him for an explanation of what he means by a jury mile and he will tell you that when a man residing in Frankford is summoned for jury duty in Belleville his travelling expenses are figured on a basis of 14 miles, but if he hires a conveyance to make the trip in his private capacity one mile is added to this total. The reeve of the village is allowed mileage at the same rate as a juror when he goes to Belleville to attend the sessions of the County Council.

Young Thriving Village

But leaving out of consideration the relative position of Frankford with regard to other places, this village has an attractive location of its own, being beautifully situated on the banks of the Trent Canal close to the boundary line between the counties of Northumberland and Hastings. It is one of the youngest incorporated villages in Ontario and one of the most prosperous. It was made a police village in 1871 and retained that status until five years ago when it was given the right to elect its reeve and councillors and to manage its own local affairs. Since that time it has progressed in every department of civic life until as a manufacturing centre and as an example of sane administration Frankford can hold up its head among the municipalities of the province. Here, too, community life is seen at its best and generous provision has been made for the entertainment of all classes. There is an excellent school, a circulating library, an up to date opera house, a large hall in which public meetings are held and a live baseball team which this year has been admitted to the Northumberand County League by special enactment as Frankford is situated in Hastings and under a strict interpretation of the rules is not eligible for membership in a league on this side of the line.

The Governing Body

The men who manage the affairs of Frankford and whose aim is to keep down the tax rate so far as consistent with modern improvements are: Hugh Miller, reeve; and Councillors Charles Morris, Elmer Francis, James B. Ford and G. W. Potter. The latter is one of the oldest residents and knows the history of the village and district since the time the first tree was cut down by the pioneers. E. Ketcheson, who is also the postmaster, is clerk and treasurer.

The School Question

Since its incorporation Frankford has had its problems, the most important being the providing of primary and secondary education for the steadily increasing population. A new building was needed and a six room structure was put up at a cost of $50,000, three of the rooms being occupied by the public school and three by the continuation department. The old school building that had been erected when Frankford was part of the township was purchased by the village and this now yields a return of 9 per cent on the investment. It contains the public hall, the library and several offices occupied by paying tenants.

Village Well Lighted

Frankford's streets and residences are well lighted, the illumination being provided by the paper mill company, the leading industry in the village. Only recently a bylaw was submitted to the people and the franchise of this company was renewed, the right to maintain poles on the streets and to supply light for 10 years being the concessions. In return for the renewal of these privileges the company agrees to reduce the cost of domestic lighting from seven to six cents per kilowatt hour.

Frankford's Industries.

Frankford's chief industries are the pulp mill, where 150 hands are employed, 75 working on the day and the remainder on the night shift; a factory where paper boxes are manufactured for the shipment of eggs in separate compartments, this factory also running night and day, a canning factory and a large grist mill which is operated by water power. With the exception of the canning factory, the operation of which is, of course, seasonal, these industries run the year round, so that there is little heard of the employment problem in Frankford.

Library Well Patronized.

The library in Frankford is supported by the subscriptions of the members, of whom there are 160 and there are 11 hundred well selected volumes on the shelves. The circulation last year, according to the records kept by Mrs. W. H. Weese, the librarian, was 4,260 and the patronage is growing year by year.

The Soldier Dead.

Frankford was one of the first municipalities to erect a memorial to the young men who gave up their lives in the great war. A tall shaft bears the name of 47 heroic dead, this being erected in the public park, a tract of three and a half acres which was purchased with the old school building, the land having been the school playgrounds before the new building was erected.

A Relic of the Past.

There are many residents of Peterborough who can recall the old hand pumps with which fires were fought in the early days of that city, an apparatus that was manned by 24 volunteers and which drew water from cisterns dug at intervals on the main streets. That was the day when the hand pump was regarded as a vast improvement over the pioneer bucket brigade.

That identical hand pump is now sheltered in a small building in Frankford, looking formidable still and but little the worse of wear after so many years of strenuous service. When a fire alarm is sounded some man with a team of horses is impressed into the service to haul the hefty apparatus to the scene of the blaze. Frequently when no horses are available the pump is propelled by human power. The affair is so difficult of operation that it is regarded as a man-killer, but given the proper motor power it accomplishes the purpose for which it was designed. Enos McAllister has been the fire chief in Frankford as long as the oldest resident can remember.

That fire pump was purchased from Peterborough by Campbellford many years ago and did yeoman service in that town until a modern fire fighting apparatus was secured, when it was sold to Frankford. In Campbellford there are old men who aver that any physical disability from which they are now suffering may be traced directly to over exertion when lending a hand with the hand pump.

EXPERT ARCHERS KILL FIVE LIONS

American Novelist Mauled By Leopard While on African Trip.

HUNTING WITH BOWS.

NAIROBI, June 18. — Etewart Edward White, the American novelist, has been mauled on the shoulder by a leopard in the Tanganyika territory. A native gunbearer was also injured on the head.

Mr. White, who is recovering from his injury, had been hunting with bows and arrows.

Reports state that he and his party have killed five lions with arrows, although in many cases they had to use rifles.

Stewart Edward White sailed from New York on March 7 for a hunting trip into the heart of Africa to last eight or nine months. He was accompanied by Dr. T. Saxon Pope of the Department of Surgery, University of California, and by Dr. Arthur H. Young, motion picture director. Dr. Pope and Dr. Young are expert archers, but Mr. White at the time of his departure explained that he was a novice at the sport. It is the author's third trip to Africa. On his earlier expeditions he shot thirty-seven lions and two elephants.

The bows and arrows carried with the party were similar to those used in the Battle of Crecy on Aug. 16, 1346, when the French were routed by English bowmen. The arrows were 28 inches long and will penetrate an inch board. They have a steel head 3 inches long. The bow is 5 1-2 feet long and its pull weight is 80 to 100 pounds.

INVENTS TALKING POSTCARD

A postcard device that tells its messages not to the eye but to the ear is the invention of Charles Rammelsberg, of Berlin, Germany. With a phongraphic apparatus small enough to be carried in a pocket, the inventor states that any one is able to make faithful voice records on gelatine films the size of postcards. Each record has a capacity of from 600 to 800 syllables.

The sensation of New York

The FLAPPER WIFE

by Beatrice Burto

THE STORY SO FAR:

GLORIA GORDON, beautiful Flapper marries DICK GREGORY, a struggling lawyer. Her idea of marriage is fun and fine clothes . . . . but no work or children.

She refuses point-blank to do her own housework, and hires a maid. But Dick has to let the maid go, because he can't afford to pay her wages. Gloria has swamped him with debts for her clothes and a new automobile.

She becomes infatuated with STANLEY WAYBURN, an actor. She lends him money, and finally, when he leaves town to go to New York, Gloria follows him. He spurns her, telling her he has just married a Russian actress. Then Gloria tries to land a job as a chorus girl and fails. Discouraged, she comes home to Dick.

He takes her back, but not as his wife. One night Gloria leaves him to work late at the office with SUSAN BRIGGS, his secretary. While Gloria is at home alone, the house is robbed. Dick doesn't get home until almost morning. Gloria wonders if he was with Miss Briggs all that time. But next morning she learns that he was at the house of DR. JOHN SEYMOUR, who had killed himself because of the love affair that existed between his wife MAY and JIM CAREWE.

Gloria goes to Dick's office to tell him about the robbery, and to make one last attempt to win him again.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

Dick frowned. His eyes looked straight ahead of him under their bent brows.

"No, I'm not 'crazy'—as you call it—about any woman," he said deliberately. He walked to the open window and stood, with folded arms, looking into the fragrant darkness beyond.

"When you say that do you mean me, too?" Gloria asked. There was an agony of entreaty in her voice. "Do you mean that you don't care about me, any more?"

Dick turned slowly toward her, without answering. The movement brought him face to face with her.

She looked at him narrowly, at first only with curiosity; then with a kind of terror . . . . His eyes were cold and without light.

Gloria felt as if some curtain had dropped between them . . . a curtain that she could not pierce.

She stepped back and put up her hand in a little defensive movement. "You don't love me any more!" . . . She answered her own question.

And then she burst into hysterical tears. Through her eyelashes, gathered into little wet points, she could see Dick looking at her curiously, as if he had never seen her before.

She watched him drop into his chair and pick up a book. He set it up between them, like a barrier, and began to read.

. . . The clock in the hall struck eleven . . . and, as if the sound of it freed some blocked movement in Gloria's brain, she pulled herself together and went upstairs.

As she went she heard Dick strike a match, for his cold pipe. He was calmly settling down to a quiet evening . . . . No doubt he was glad she was gone!

• • •

"I will get back!" Gloria said fiercely to herself the next morning when she awoke. She had set her alarm clock for seven!

"I will get back into Dick's life! I belong there. He can't put me out of it!"

She bathed, and dressed herself in one of the bungalow aprons that Ranghild had worn for her morning work. Then she tiptoed downstairs and brought in the milk and the paper from the back porch.

She lighted the gas stove and took the coffee tin from the kitchen cupboard. She stood looking at it helplessly. How did you make coffee?

There were no directions on the gay wrapper around the tin, and Gloria didn't own a cook book.

Then suddenly she remembered that Dick knew how to make coffee. She would run upstairs and ask him how it was done.

She knocked on his door. "Dick . . . I've brought you the morning paper," she called, brightly.

In a moment Dick opened the door. "Thanks." His eyes took her in—the bungalow apron, the rolled-up sleeves, and the coffee tin in her hand.

"What do you think you're doing?" he asked. An amused smile flickered over his face.

"Making coffee for my husband!" Gloria answered pertly. "Only I don't know how to make it. Aside from that I'm getting along fine!"

Dick's smile broadened into a grin. "I suppose you're after my recipe," he said. "I use a tablespoon of coffee for each cup, and an extra one for the pot."

• • •

Gloria's spirits lifted at his good humor. And something in her breast that had been like a lump of ice, seemed to melt. . . . She was sure that he hadn't meant his harshness to her last night. He hadn't meant what he had said. . . .

She put up her lips for him to kiss. "You aren't peeved at your Glory, are you?" she asked. She laid her hand on his cheek, and came a step nearer.

Then, with a little sigh, she put her head down on his shoulder. It was good to be there with Dick, friends once more. Like the solution of a problem.

"We've quarreled long enough . . . you and I. Kiss me!" she said.

But as she spoke, she knew she was making a mistake. She could feel Dick draw away from her.

Her hands dropped at her sides, and she went downstairs without another word.

She made the coffee according to Dick's campfire recipe, and put it on the stove to boil.

When he came downstairs to breakfast, it was more than ready.

"I'm sorry there isn't toast," Gloria said as she poured it for him, "but there wasn't so much as a crumb of bread in the house. I'll stock up today."

She tried to drink a cup of her coffee. But she had to admit to herself that it was too bitter to drink. She didn't care to offer Dick a second cup of it.

"Will you be home tonight for dinner?" she asked as he got up from the table.

She hoped that he would at least offer to kiss her goodby. But he didn't.

"Yes, I'll be home," he said colorlessly. "I think I'll take your car today. You don't seem to drive it any more . . . do you mind if I do?"

Gloria shook her head. There was a lump in her throat. She watched Dick drive down the street, her vision blurred with tears. She wiped them away, angrily.

"What's the matter with me?" she asked herself. "Am I falling in love with the poor simp?"

Was she? . . . Or had she always been in love with him? And had it taken her jealousy of Miss Briggs to unveil the fact to her?

• • •

The thought of Miss Briggs down in Dick's office with him all day was a torment to her. She stopped in the middle of her work a dozen times that morning to wish that Dick had a man secretary instead of Susan Briggs.

"He's just got to fire her!" she kept telling herself. "I just won't have her down in that office with him. That's all there is to it."

Soothing and sympathetic, was she? Well, Gloria would show Dick that she, herself, could be soothing and sympathetic. If that was Miss Briggs' method of "vamping" Dick, that would be Gloria's game. Two could play at any old game. . . .

The sight of Dick's shabby old house-coat hanging in his closet was an inspiration to Gloria. She would buy him a new one. Goodness knew he needed it!

And it wouldn't be a dull gray one like this. . . . It would have some pep and dash about it. . . .

When Dick came home that night, the table was neatly set. There was an appetizing odor of frying steak in the house. And Gloria, in a clean white dress, came out of the kitchen to meet him.

"Dinner will be ready in two minutes," she greeted him cheerfully. "And when you go upstairs to wash your hands, take a peek at the surprise I have for you up there."

On the bed in Dick's room was spread Gloria's "surprise" . . . a purple silk house-coat lined with scarlet.

"Holy suffering cats!" Dick said to himself. "Does she think I'd wear a thing like that!"

He went down to dinner in his suit. Gloria's face fell when she saw him.

"Aren't you going to put on your new housecoat?" she asked.

Dick shook his head. "You know I never wear bright colors like that, Gloria," he said, "although it is a dog-goned nice coat. Thanks."

"What'll I do with it?" Gloria asked pathetically. She looked as if she were going to cry. "Take it back?"

"You didn't pay cash for it, did you?" Dick asked.

"N—no," Gloria faltered. "I charged it to you."

"And how much was it?" Dick's voice had grown stern.

"Not very much . . . only $50," Gloria replied. "It really was a bargain. It had been $75 . . . awfully good silk in it."

Dick sat down at the dining room table.

"Now look here, Gloria," he said. "I've told you a dozen times that you're not to go downtown and run up bills without asking me about it, first. . . . And in spite of it, you charge a $50 house-coat to me in a store where I owe money as it is!"

Gloria felt a frown growing between her eyebrows.

"Well, what do you want me to do . . . take the thing back?" she asked. "I'm going to be terribly ashamed if I have to let me tell you!"

"I'll take it back," Dick answered. "Just do it up in a bundle, and I'll take it with me in the car tomorrow morning. . . . I hate to seem ungrateful, Glory, but a $50 present that isn't paid for wouldn't give me any satisfaction, at all. I'd have the blues every time I put it on."

Gloria shook her head. "I can't understand you at all, Dick," she said. "Suppose you do owe a few bills? Everybody does. Nobody ever has every dollar paid right up on the first of the month."

Dick was silent. He made little dots on the tablecloth with the tines of his fork.

"I . . . I suppose you'll have a fit if I mention the word 'clothes' to you," Gloria went on, after a minute, "but I haven't a single summer dress. You know you promised me I could have some, before you went away on your trip. Remember?"

"Yes," Dick answered quietly. "But don't you think it's more important for us to get some of our old bills paid off first?"

"No!" Gloria cried, angrily. "I'm just about at the point where I could go to jail for debt, cheerfully, like Mr. Micawber. That is, if I could have a few clothes . . . . I'm in rags!"

Dick's lip curled. "Pretty costly rags, I'll say," he remarked. "You bought three $100 dresses just a few weeks ago. I'll bet my mother never had one dress in all her life that cost that much. And Dad could buy and sell me a dozen times over . . ."

"It's just terrible that you have to support a wife, isn't it?" Gloria asked with fine sarcasm. "I feel sorry for you!"

"You should!" Dick answered. "All I hope is that you'll feel so sorry for me that you won't buy any more $50 hats for a while!"

Gloria moved irritably under his angry gaze. "You think of every penny . . ." she said.

"I've got to think of every penny!" Dick answered. "And you must, too, for a while, until I get on my feet again. That sickness of mine knocked everything in the head . . . There's just one way of looking at this thing. Our marriage has become nothing but a business partnership—and a one-sided one, at that."

"Oh, is that so!" Gloria cried. "So that's the way you've come to feel about it . . . . Well, thanks, I don't care for any! If that's all I mean to you, I'm through! See? All through!"

5 Reasons why you should wear WOODS HATCHWAY

HAS NO BUTTONS

The skillfully cut shoulder-straps are carried over from the front to the back and when spread open allow you to slip the undervest quickly on or off your body.

These patented shoulder-straps stay well up on the shoulders, holding the garment in place. They cannot sag or curl and help to make Hatchway more comfortable than any other underwear.

The back opening is generously cut and has a wide criss-cross flap which is held smoothly in place by the body and remains absolutely flat.

The effectiveness of this closed back flap is made possible by the support of a wide band of strong triple reinforced webbing which keeps the opening tightly closed.

Our popular nainsook is a higher grade than that generally used. It contains 88 threads by 72 to the square inch instead of the customary 84, thus having a closer mesh and being more absorbent in hot weather.

GRANTS ASKED FROM COUNCIL

Peterboro County Council on Second Day Has Many Visitors.

TO COMMITTEE

At the meeting yesterday afternoon of the County Council the Committee appointed to consider the Warden's address, delivered on the opening day, Tuesday, presented the following report:

Your Committee joins with the Warden in voicing with pleasure the brighter prospects before those engaged in agriculture and the general expectation of improvement in other lines of industry.

We recognize the responsibility of making proper provision for the preservation of the valuable papers deposited in the offices of the County officials and any committee appointed to deal with these matters will, we are sure, give them very earnest consideration.

We would recommend that the suggestions in the Warden's report with reference to the House of Refuge be referred to a Committee of this Council to be dealt with.

Of very considerable importance is the matter of the recommendation of the Department of Highways for the reduction of the mileage of the County System and it will, no doubt, receive most careful study by the members of the Council.

The Act for the abolishing of statute labour and the Contributory Negligence Act are recent amendments and time will be required to test the desirability of maintaining or amending these measures. It is apparent that they, particularly the latter, tend to increase the burdens of the ratepayer.

This Committee is very pleased to learn that the efforts of the Chairman of the Finance Committee have happily resulted in making provision for the needs of the County without adding to the general rate or increasing the present debenture debt.

This Committee also desires to express its appreciation of the constant and careful attention which the Warden is giving to the County's affairs.

The report was adopted.

Help For Blind.

On motion Mr. G. H. Guster of the Blind Institute, addressed the Council, emphasizing the work of that body and stressing the benefits that accrue from educating the blind. He urged the Council to make a grant to the Institution. On motion the matter was referred to the Committee on Finance.

Highway Accidents.

Mr. Plaxton of the Globe Indemnity Co. laid a proposal before the members to assume all liabilities arising from accidents on the highways up to $5,000 in the event of one death, $10,000 for more than one death and $1,000 damage to property through accident. On the motion of Mr. J. Clark, seconded by Mr. H. B. Parker, this was referred to the Committee on Roads and Bridges.

Exhibition Grant.

A deputation headed by Alderman Roland Denne appeared on behalf of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, that last year's grant of $1,000 be repeated for the present year. This was referred to the Finance Committee.

Victoria Park.

Mayor J. J. Turner on behalf of the City Council of Peterborough appealed for the resumption of the annual grant of $250 towards the upkeep of Victoria Park, which has been discontinued since the Council made their contribution in 1922. His Worship explained that through a mistaken belief that the grant was a perpetual one, the County Council were not approached in 1923 on the subject of the grant. As a result no grant was made that year. He waited on the Council last year with a request that they make a grant that would cover both 1923 and 1924 but learned that he had come too late, as the Council had already passed all its appropriations for the year. This year he hoped they would make a grant of $750 to make up the contribution that had been omitted in 1922 and 1923 or at least, that they would grant $500, two year grants. Victoria Park was an asset to the community and formed beautiful foreground to the County Buildings and any sum the Council might feel disposed to grant would be expended to the best advantage.

Mr. Armstrong, City Clerk, suggested that the County Council would probably assume the responsibility for the upkeep of Victoria Park if this was not done by the City Council. He thought that the City spent more on the park than the County would have been disposed to do.

Sunday Concerts.

The Warden, Mr. H. B. Rye, suggested that the City Council might raise some money by the sale of the bandstand, which he thought was not needed now that the band concerts had ceased.

Only on Sundays, said the Mayor. We have still the bands on Fridays. He added, We may have the Sunday concerts before the year is out.

The question of the grant was referred to the Committee on Finance.

OLD-TIME PICNIC AT HERMISTON LAKE

WARKWORTH, June 18.—On Saturday afternoon about two hundred from the Sleepy Hollow Settlement joined in a real old fashioned picnic at Hermiston Lake. Two baseball games furnished lots of fun and excitement for most of the afternoon. Hastings girls won from the Godolphin girls by a score of 25 to 5 and the Godolphin men won from the Hermiston Lake locals by a score of 35 to 24.

Races and other sports were also enjoyed.

On Friday evening a demonstration was given by Mr. C. Heath of Campbellford at the home of Mrs. W. S. Jackson. Twenty-three ladies were present. Mrs. Anderson won in the guessing contest and was presented with an aluminum basin. Mrs. W. S. Jackson was presented with a casserole for the kindness shown in giving the use of her home for the demonstration.

New Teachers.

Miss Evelyn Jones of Bowmanville and Miss E. Dorothy Wilson of Seaforth have been engaged as assistant teachers for the Continuation School for the coming school term.

Light Off.

Owing to a defect in the switch of the local Hydro system the village was without light during Sunday and Sunday night.

NO BOLSHEVISM.

New South Wales Premier Says It Ruins Social Conditions.

SYDNEY, Australia, June 18. (Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's) — When the new Ministers of the New South Wales Government were sworn in yesterday, Premier J. T. Lang declared that the Government would not tolerate any Bolshevism which, he says, "stands for the displacement of our best social and industrial conditions."

That the Canadian Mother May Have Quick and Ready Information On Feeding Her Child

BORDEN'S EAGLE BRAND MILK

In the following charts and data we provide the Canadian mother with the necessary information she may require for the use of Borden's Eagle Brand Milk for her child. You will note that the directions provide for a child from three days of age through until the child is 24 months old.

In addition to the directions for feeding Borden's Eagle Brand Milk, the mother should read carefully the suggestions which should be adopted in connection with the use of Borden's Eagle Brand Milk. The Borden Company Limited is proud of the fact that it has been helpful in the raising of many, many Canadian infants into sturdy boys and girls and men and women who are a credit to their country. For further information, do not hesitate to write direct to The Borden Company Limited—Montreal.

IMPORTANT.—In preparing feeding mixtures it is imperative that all utensils, bottles, nipples, etc., should be sterilized in boiling water before using. Use a dry spoon in removing contents from the can, and in measuring be careful to pour from can to spoon, allowing the milk in the spoon to level itself. Repeat this procedure with every spoonful measured, using the same spoon every time. This will insure accurate measurement and produce the best results.

DIET FOR CHILD DURING THE SECOND YEAR

Usually after the twelfth month, the mother should select a diet schedule. Every new article of food should be carefully prepared, and given at first in very small quantities. All meals are to be given regularly, with nothing between meals. With many children this expansion of the diet list is attended with considerable difficulty. They are thoroughly satisfied with milk, and refuse all other form of nourishment. In such cases, withhold the milk until the more solid articles of food have been eaten. If both are given at the same time, the child will prefer the milk and when he has finished drinking it he will refuse the solid food. The following diet schedule will permit the mother to select a suitable meal from the foods listed. It is never advisable to make a change in diet during very hot weather.

NOTE: One teaspoonful of EAGLE BRAND CONDENSED MILK added to one ounce of boiled water results in a mixture equivalent in nutritive value to whole milk. Whenever the word milk appears in the following diet, EAGLE BRAND should be diluted accordingly.

12th TO 15th MONTH---FIVE MEALS DAILY

7 A.M.—Oatmeal, barley, or wheat jelly, one to two tablespoonfuls in 6 or 8 ounces of milk. Stale bread and butter, or rusk and butter.

9 A.M.—The juice of one orange.

11 A.M.—Scraped rare beef, one to three tablespoonfuls, mixed with equal quantity of bread and moistened with beef-juice. Or a soft-boiled egg mixed with stale bread-crumbs; a piece of rusk and 6 or 8 ounces of milk.

3 P.M.— Beef, chicken, or mutton broth, with rice or stale bread broken into the broth. Six ounces of milk, if wanted. Stale bread and butter or rusk and butter. Many children at the above age will take and digest apple-sauce and prune pulp; when these are given, milk should be omitted.

6 P.M.—Two tablespoonfuls of cereal jelly in 8 ounces of milk; a piece of rusk. Stale bread and butter.

10 P.M.—A tablespoonful of cereal jelly in 8 ounces of milk.

15th TO 18th MONTH--FOUR MEALS DAILY

7 A.M.—Oatmeal, hominy, cornmeal, each cooked three hours the day before they are used. When the cooking is completed the cereal should be of the consistence of a thin paste. This is strained through a colander, which upon cooling will form a mass of jelly-like consistence. Of this give two or three tablespoonfuls, served with milk. 8 or 10 ounces of milk as a drink. Toast.

9 A.M.—The juice of one orange.

11 A.M.—A soft-boiled egg mixed with stale bread-crumbs, or one tablespoonful of scraped beef mixed with stale bread-crumbs and moistened with beef-juice. A drink of milk. Rusk or bran biscuit, or stale bread and butter.

3 P.M.—Mutton, chicken, or beef broth, with rice or junket or with stale bread broken in the broth. Custard, corn-starch, plain rice pudding, junket, stewed prunes, baked apple or apple sauce.

6 P.M.—Farina, cream of wheat, wheatena (cooked two hours). Give from one to three tablespoonfuls, served with milk. A drink of milk. Rusk or stale bread and butter.

18th TO 24th MONTH--FOUR MEALS DAILY

7 A.M.—Cornmeal, oatmeal, hominy (prepared as in the above schedule). Serve with milk, or with butter and salt. A soft-boiled egg every two or three days. Hashed chicken on toast occasionally. A drink of milk. Bran biscuit and butter, or stale bread and butter.

9 A.M.—The juice of one orange.

11 A.M.—Rare beef minced or scraped; the heart of a lamb chop, finely cut. Chicken. Spinach, asparagus tips, squash, strained stewed tomatoes, stewed carrots, mashed cauliflower. Baked apple or apple-sauce. Stale bread and butter. After the twenty-first month, baked potatoes and well-cooked strained beans.

3 P.M.—Chicken, beef or mutton broth, with rice or with stale bread broken into the broth. Custard, corn-starch, or plain rice pudding, junket, stewed prunes. Bran biscuit and butter or stale bread and butter.

6 P.M.—Farina, cream of wheat, wheatena (each cooked two hours). Give one to three tablespoonfuls, served with milk, or with butter and salt. A drink of milk. Rusk or stale bread and butter.

The following suggestions have proved to be helpful when properly used with bottle feedings, and they may be used in conjunction with Eagle Brand Condensed Milk.

Always pour the milk from the can into the spoon—allowing it to level itself but not run over. You can readily understand that by dipping the spoon into the can you get more than a level spoonful, because of the milk that would adhere to the bottom of the spoon.
When you have added the milk to the water stir thoroughly. This is important.
After opening, it is safe to leave the milk in the original can. We recommend that you cover the can tightly with an inverted cup, and keep it in a cool, clean place.

ORANGE JUICE

When baby is four months old, give one teaspoonful of strained orange juice, diluted with equal quantity of boiled water, once daily before feeding time. Gradually increase the amount until you are giving the strained juice of a half of an orange undiluted, once daily before feeding time. Orange juice may be continued until child is old enough to eat other fruits as well as oranges.

OATMEAL JELLY

When baby is five months old, add one teaspoonful of oatmeal jelly to each feeding. Gradually increase the amount until you are adding three tablespoonfuls of oatmeal jelly to each feeding. To make oatmeal jelly add four ounces of oatmeal to one pint of water; boil for three hours in a double boiler, and add enough water so when cooking is completed a thin paste will be formed. This while hot is forced through a strainer to remove coarser particles. When cold a semi-mass will be formed. Oatmeal jelly may be continued until child is old enough to eat well cooked whole cereals.

CONSTIPATION

Oatmeal water very often relieves this condition. To make oatmeal water add one heaping tablespoonful of oatmeal to one pint of water, and boil for three hours in a double boiler. This will make a little more than half a pint of thick gruel to which add one pint of water that has been boiled. After straining mixture through fine strainer, you should have a little more than a pint of whitish liquid. This should be used with each feeding instead of the plain boiled water. If you find that this makes bowels too loose, dilute oatmeal water with plain boiled water.

Barley or rice water may be used instead of oatmeal water. If necessary two to three drops of plain codliver oil may be given twice daily added to the morning and night feedings.

DIARRHEA

Give nothing but plain boiled water for twenty-four hours. Then start feeding with barley water, or rice water, to which has been added a little salt to improve the taste. If these feedings are retained, and bowel movements lessened, small amounts of very weak regular feedings may be started and gradually increased according to baby's condition. If your baby does not improve after trying the above suggestions, consult your doctor at once.

BARLEY WATER

Obtain the very best barley flour. Add one rounded tablespoonful to one pint of water. Boil for thirty minutes, strain; then add enough water to make one pint.

RICE WATER

Add one tablespoonful of rice to a pint of water. Boil three hours, adding water from time to time so that you will have one pint of rice water at the end of the three hours.

LIME WATER

It is seldom necessary to use lime water with Eagle Brand Milk but should there be undigested particles of food in the bowel movements (which seem to be otherwise normal) or should there be vomiting of large curds shortly after feeding—or colic—it would be then advisable to try lime water. Obtain freshly prepared lime water at the Druggists, of which add 1 to 2 teaspoonfuls to each feeding.

COLIC OR VOMITING

These conditions may be due to over feeding, or constipation. Reduce quantity of food and use constipation formula, or lime water formula, as given above.

PASSES BILL.

Second Reading For Home Bank Bill—Consider in Committee.

OTTAWA, June 18 (Canadian Press).—The Senate last night, without dividing, gave second reading to the Home Bank Bill, but it was understood that the Senate did not thereby approve the principle of the bill. The step was taken to permit consideration of the bill in committee of the whole on Friday, when amendments will be proposed. In the meantime, Liquidator Clarkson is to be summonded to Ottawa to furnish information to the Upper House.

and pleasure. It is a debatable question whether or not the enjoyment of the social glass must be proscribed because a large class misuse alcohol. The moderate users are frequently represented as those who 'use' alcohol as distinguished from those who 'misuse' alcohol.

Doctors must consider it.

"Physicians cannot avoid a consideration of the alcohol problem. It not only confronts them as it does every thinking person, but often is actually 'thrust' on them by the exigencies of their daily routine. Probably the most debated feature centres in the inquiry as to whether alcohol can in any sense be regarded as a food. This is a question that demands a defensible answer regardless of the inquirer's personal habits, social proclivities or political convictions. Such a decision cannot be formulated on the basis of offhand impressions, hearsay evidence or subjective reasoning. It demands and deserves scientific analysis. Consequently many persons will be interested in the statement of a physiologist having unusual qualifications for arriving at a conclusion when he asserts at length that the experimental evidence about the debated food value of alcohol 'is extensive and admits of no controversy.'

"Among the clearly proved facts that further study is not likely to modify to any degree, F. G. Benedict, the director of the Boston Nutrition Laboratory of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, includes the observation that alcohol in not too large doses—that is, about 72 grams daily—is oxidized in the human body, and the energy which it furnishes in its oxidation may contribute to keeping the body warm, replacing other nutrients in the diet, and possibly to the performance of muscular work. Seventy two grams of alcohol contributing 500 calories to the daily ration, are more completely burned than 500 calories supplied in the form of almost any other substance, with the possible exception of pure sugar. This has been demonstrated clearly by actual measurements of the heat output of man inside a respiration calorimeter, first when subsisting on an ordinary diet, not containing alcohol, and then under exactly the same experimental conditions when 500 calories of fat or carbohydrates, or both, were replaced by 500 calories of alcohol.

Replaces Fats and Carbohydrates.

"This interpretation of alcohol as a food is, then, based on the demonstration that it can replace fat and carbohydrate in no small measure in the diet. Benedict hastens to remind us, however, that there are two functions of food that probably cannot be filled by alcohol. It is highly improbable that alcohol becomes a part of organized tissue, and its exact function in the energy required for the performance of muscular work is by no means clear. We know, Benedict adds, that fat, carbohydrate and protein do become a part of organized tissue and do contribute to the performance of muscular work.

"Viewed in the foregoing light, it might seem as if alcohol, being a food, should be physiologically permissible if used in moderation. In attempting to meet the crux of the situation by determining the physiologically permissable amount for daily use, science has also recently indicated that something more than the danger of incipient intoxication must be taken into account. All the more recent physiologic tests with alcohol ingested even in small amounts agree in the demonstration of lessened organic efficiency resulting from the absorption of the substance. From two to four hours after moderate doses of alcohol practically all persons are affected with general depression of neuro-muscular processes, lessened visual acuity and lessened motor co-ordinations of eye and hand.

"Benedict argues that in assessing the value of alcoholic beverages for the use of mankind the true scientist may not disregard the obviously beneficial and seemingly legitimate phases of its effect on man. He must give recognition to the fact that used in moderation, besides being an easily digestible source of calories, it results in a great deal of gratification and pleasure to enormous numbers of people, giving them relaxation at times, and again by releasing the inhibitions, a stimulus. Nevertheless it seem certain that at any time when one is confronted with a task that calls for a clear head, a keen vision, and a steady muscle, there is no 'permissible' dose of alcohol."

LAKEFIELD KICKS AT NAME 'KICKERS'

Team Claims Misrepresentation Over Quitting of Game at Curve Lake.

LAKEFIELD, June 18.—The Lakefield Baseball Club is feeling rather disgruntled over its game with Curve Lake at the Curve Lake Reserve. The 1925 rules do not allow an umpire-in-chief, is their contention. The darkness prevented them from seeing the ball, so naturally they quit the field. The local team has no wish to be a bunch of kickers" but the players feel that undue publicity has been given the other side of the question, and they hope to secure a fair and square deal.

Miscreant Ruined Plaster Forgot To Turn Off Water

MADOC, June 18.— A mysterious and disastrous accident occurred at the High school Tuesday. It is thought that some one must have turned on a tap when the water was not flowing, and forgotten to turn it off and then when the water came on with force a flood ensued. When Principal and students arrived at school in the morning they found to their horror, that some of the rooms had two or three inches of water. Serious damage is reported to the plaster and it is feared that much of it may fall in the drying process.

WEATHER

Storms have been almost of nightly occurrence lately, and another one occurred last night. High winds and thunder and lightning made a great commotion for a time, but the rainfall was not heavy, being .15 of an inch. Cooler conditions have followed. There has been a considerable deficiency in the rainfall of this section for some time, and even with the late abundant rains the total is still short.—W. P.

working, denying himself, but always sending at least a little money for the support of his aged mother and sister in Sweden. Then finally, in his senior year, weakened by undernourishment, which was in effect self-imposed starvation, Ackerstrom fell a prey to pneumonia, dying in the University of Pennsylvania Hospital on April 7, this year.

News of his death was cabled to his mother in Sweden and brought the pathetic reply: "Bury him as cheaply as possible. We have no money."

Ackerstrom was buried, but not as cheaply as possible. Students who were familiar with the brave fight he had made saw to it that his burial was attended with all the dignity that befitted a man worthy of the name.

Then students and Faculty joined in a movement to console his mother by having his name appear among the graduates next month, and by sending her the diploma that would have been handed to him. As a result the programme at yesterday's exercises bore the following:

executive. In the matter of providing for existing trusts, the committee recommended no action claiming that this was covered amply in the Dominion Act.

The committee also recommended that presbyteries appoint committees to inquire and make reports in reference to any trusts or property within their jurisdiction and upon which the committee think action should be taken to protect the interests of the Church.

The committee on temporary organization recommended that the present administrative departments be carried on in the closest co-operation until permanent organization was complete; that the individual colleges of the United Church be authorized to proceed with their work along the lines set down in the basis of Union; that the vacancies on the Board of Queen's Theological College be filled by Rev. W. T. C. Brown, Rev. W. H. Raney, H. A. Lavell, Elmer Davis and Rev. T. W. Pedley. It was agreed that the Wesleyian, a Maritime Methodist paper published at Sackville, be continued in the meantime as an existing organization of the Church. The Presbyterian Record will also be continued, and other smaller papers of any of the uniting churches. The larger papers are amalgamated in the Outlook.

Conferences.

The Committee on Conferences made the following recommendations:

I. There shall be eleven Conferences of the United Church which shall be named and bounded respectively as follows:

(1) The Newfoundland Conference comprising the territory within the Dominion of Newfoundland and that portion of the Labrador Coast under the jurisdiction of the Newfoundland Government.

(2) The Maritime Conference, comprising the provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, that part of the Gaspe Coast and the south-eastern portion of the County of Bonaventure now ministered to by the Methodist and Presbyterian Churches, and also Bermuda and Jamaica, Trinidad, British Guiana: that is, comprising the areas covered by the old Presbyterian Synod and by the Methodist Conferences of the Maritime Provinces.

(3) The Montreal and Ottawa Conference, comprising the Province of Quebec except that part of it included in the Maritime Conference, and the counties of Grenville, Dundas, Russell, Stormont, Glengarry, Prescott and Carleton in the Province of Ontario.

(4) The Bay of Quinte Conference, comprising the Counties of Lanark, Renfrew, Leeds, Frontenac, Lennox and Addington, Hastings, Prince Edward, Victoria, Northumberland, Durham, Ontario, Peterborough and Haliburton.

(5) The Toronto Conference, comprising the Counties of York, Peel, Dufferin, Grey, Simcoe, Muskoka, Parry Sound, Nipissing, Algoma, Sudbury, and Temiskaming as far west as, and including, White River on the C.P.R., and Hornepayne and Nakina on the C.N.R.

HOSPITAL BLAZE.

Patients Moved From Danger in Kingston Institution Last Night.

KINGSTON, June 18 (Canadian Press).—Fire which broke out last evening destroyed the drug stores of the General Hospital on Stuart Street. The firemen confined the blaze to one room which is in the basement under the main entrance. The building was filled by smoke and 46 patients had to be removed to another part of the hospital.

446 GEORGE STREET

The day I had been invited to end at the girls' camp was supposed to end at sundown, but when the first five girls and myself discovered that Canada has some birds that not one of the girls even suspected was in existence, and they were right at the door, so to speak, they demanded more.

One girl, proud of having learned that Canada has a Canada Warbler, made a crude drawing about a foot long, on the wall of the club-room, using a lead pencil and pollen from flowers. So they demanded more.

The directors of the camp invited me to remain, and a big bird day was planned for the morrow.

Owing to a whip-poor-will repeating his call for no less than thirty-seven times without a break, and a bed made in a hay loft for me, by girls too pretty and nice for me to complain, I awoke at dawn, or let us say that I arose at dawn, for I slept very little.

We had a wonderful [illegible] by 1925.)

we discovered is not half so important as the fact that we had a real adventure.

I got up at dawn and was out creeping closer and closer to that guy that was pounding-poor-bill for all he was worth, until I got so close that I could hear him draw his breath with a funny cluck between bangings of poor bill, and I was just beginning to think I would soon be able to look down his throat and see how many teeth needed filling, when —

"Oh, Mr. Robb!" you early bird. Oh, girls, the bird-man is down and out!"

And she meant I was down out of the hayloft but I could see my finish. Girls came out of their tents like flies, bare feet, rubber boots, bath robes and rain coats. And poor Bill, the Whip-poor-will beat it, leaving me to explain as best I might. We had a hectic day. I will tell the story to-morrow.

OUR GARDEN

OBSERVATIONS AMONG IRIS.

The old-fashioned "Flag" has given way to many new-named varieties of iris and there is a very great range of color, height and time of blooming from which to choose.

Starting with the dwarfest I. pumila and I. cristata, which bloom in May, an almost continuous flowering may be enjoyed until well on towards the end of June. As irises should be planted soon after flowering in July or in August, it is time now to find out what you care particularly for, so that you may be ready when planting time comes.

For those who are not familiar with the iris and iris descriptions the following notes may help. Descriptive terms: S denotes the standards or three inner upstanding petals. F. the falls, refers to the three drooping or horizontally spreading sepals. The styles are the smaller, inner, segments which arch over the stamens and often together with the beard and venations on the haft or base of the falls give a distinctive color effect to the flower. The beard is the usually yellowish but varying in color, hair-like growth on the upper surface of the falls just at the point of bending. The two leaf-like structures at the very base of the flower form the spathe, composed of two valves. The stigmas are three plumose structures within the standards, tipped by a fringed petal-like crest.

These are two main groups of irises of interest to the beginner, the Bearded Iris or Pogoniris, and the Beardless or Apogon. The Bearded group comprise the more familiar Germanica or German Irises whose distinguishing characteristics are (1) the conspicuous "beard" on the lower petal or "fall"; (2) the root, which is a rhizome and which will stand long exposure to air and drought without injury after the manner of bulbs. The second group, the beardless iris also includes the crested or Evansia Irises. Here the root is also a rhizome, but fibrous, and, like most herbaceous plants, will not stand long exposure to air and drought. The leaves are grass-like and the flower, as indicated by its name, lacks the "beard" on the "fall."

Of the bearded iris there are dwarfs (pumila, chamaeiris, aphylla, etc.), Intermediate (hybrids between the Dwarfs and the Tall Bearded), the Tall Bearded (species, forms and hybrids of Germanica, pallida, variegata, tojana, etc.), and miscellaneous Bearded Iris (includes hybrids which do not fall into the other classes). The Beardless Iris group includes a number of sections only three of four of which are of particular interest in our northern climate. Sibirica (which includes Sibirica and Orientalis varieties), Spuria (which includes Graminea)-Lævagata (which includes the tall, growing, water-loving I. Pseudacorus) and the Evansia Secion (which includes the Dwarf Cristatas). These, though not so well known, are splendid flowers and deserve investigation and a place in the garden or collection. Having mastered these principal groups and species among the many, one will be better prepared to appreciate the various named varieties within the groups and sections.

For those who are particularly interested in the Genus Iris I would recommend "A Handbook of Garden Irises," by W. R. Dykes, or the "Tall Bearded Iris," by Walter Stager.

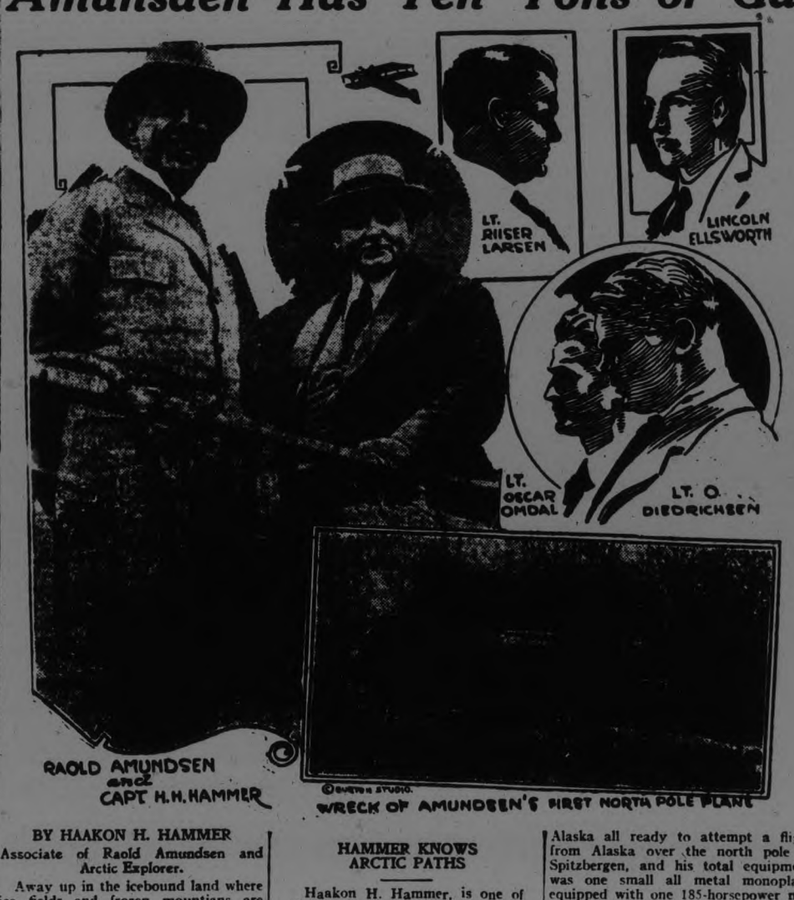
Amunsden Has Ten Tons of Gas



BY HAAKON H. HAMMER
Associate of Raold Amundsen and Arctic Explorer.

Away up in the icebound land where ice fields and frozen mountians are clothed with the weird shadows of the midnight sun, lies a secret treasure trove that may mean the difference between life and death to Roald Amundsen, gallant polar explorer.

This treasure trove which throws the lone gleam of light into the cloud of darkness that overshadows Amundsen's fate, consists of ten tons of gasoline.

It is stored in a cache between Wainwright and Point Barrow, Alaska, and was deposited there by Amundsen a couple of years ago.

When Amundsen sailed north from Spitzbergen a month ago did he have a secret goal?

Flying to Alaska.

Did a mere flight to the pole seem insufficient to him? Was his real purpose to fly all the way from Spitzbergen, over the north pole, to Alaska, exploring the million square miles of unknown territory that that route would include on the way?

The thing is far from unlikely.

If true, it is all the more amazing in that practically every time Amundsen tried to fly a plane he met with disaster and narrowly escaped death.

Amundsen has always had an uncontrollable impulse for surprises.

In his official announcement of this year's expedition he emphasized that he was only planning a flight to the pole, but what he expected to gain by a flight from Spitzbergen to the north pole and back was difficult to conceive.

What He Said.

The distance from Spitzbergen to the pole is considerable shorter than from New York to Chicago. The round trip of about 1400 miles would mean nothing extraordinary in present day aviation.

And then again, the north pole has already been discovered. Many years have passed since Admiral Peary planted the Stars and Stripes on the utmost top of the world.

Not even the achievement of discovery would be Amundsen's.

What then could be his real object?

In searching for an answer it is interesting to review a statement given out by Amundsen in May, 1924. Amundsen said:

"I am not the least interested in the north pole, but I aim to solve the world's last geographical problem and discover just what is to be found within the unexplored regions between the north pole and Alaska."

In view of it all one cannot but help making certain deductions.

Was it likely that he had entirely changed his mind within the space of 12 short months, or can it be possible that when he took off from Spitzbergen his real goal was still Alaska and exploration of parts unknown?

The Irony of Fate.

He carried sufficient gasoline in the two planes combined to enable him to follow his old plan of abandoning one "ship" in the vicinity of the pole, transferring fuel and men to the second "ship" and endeavoring to reach the Alaskan coast and the hidden deposits of gasoline.

The possibility exists and affords a ray of hope.

It would be irony of fate of the most cruel variety should Amundsen have been caught by the arctic ice packs, never to be heard from again.

In 1922 and 1923 Amundsen was in Alaska all ready to attempt a flight from Alaska over the north pole to Spitzbergen, and his total equipment was one small all metal monoplane equipped with one 185-horsepower motor. But fate intervened and minor accidents prevented his hop off.

This year he had the most carefully selected and prepared equipment which money could buy. To add to the safety of the expedition twin-motored planes had been selected, each equipped with two 360-horsepower motors.

The attempt of a flight from Spitzbergen to the pole had been made as safe as man could make it.

Should Amundsen really be lost he has died a martyr to his tremendous sense of public duty and, judging from our standpoint, this would be but a poor reward for his amazing determination and perseverance.

While Amundsen was tremendously interested in aviation he personally disliked to fly. His aviation experiences in the past have been most unfortunate.

With a few exceptions every airplane flight on which he had embarked had ended disastrously.

Even in 1914, at the occasion of his examination flight in Oslo, Norway, where he earned his pilot certificate, that very flight almost proved fatal and the school machine in which he flew was wrecked.

In 1922 Amundsen started out to fly his airplane from New York to Seattle, but crashed in Pennsylvania and since then until now in Spitzbergen he absolutely declined to set foot aboard an airplane.

But in spite of his personal disinclination for flying and in spite of his full consciousness of his "jinx," he did not hesitate to attempt his north pole flight. He had ample excuses to withdraw, his previous failures, his bankruptcy, but in spite of it all he carried on.

A Man of Honor.

Why? Because he stood committed to the world and because he is a man of undaunted courage and determination.

Amundsen never allowed himself to forget that he was a world figure. To him the old saying that "a man is a man and a word a word" was more than a mere phrase.

In 1922 he announced to the world that he would attempt a polar flight and that meant that only death would prevent him from keeping his promise.

Whether Amundsen returns or not, Amundsen will never die. His spirit will hover over coming ages as an everlasting inspiration toward true manhood.

HAMMER KNOWS ARCTIC PATHS

Haakon H. Hammer, is one of the few men living who have flown over the arctic regions.

He has been a partner and close personal friend of Raold Amundsen for fifteen years, and knows not only the perils of polar flying but the principal in the daring expedition probably better than any other man in American.

In 1923-24 he accompanied Amundsen on the latter's expeditions north of Alaska. Then he took a plane to Spitzbergen and prepared to fly across the top of the world to Amundsen's relief, doing considerable valuable reconnaisance flying in that locality when he learned an accident had caused Amundsen to call off his trip.

Capt. Hammer is now living in Hollywood, Calif.

MILLBROOK GIRL FRACTURED ANKLE

Softball Game With Pontypool Team Ended Disastrously.

MILLBROOK, June 18.—While running to first base, during a friendly game of softball between Millbrook and Pontypool, on Tuesday evening, Dorothy Armstrong had a nasty fall, probably through the bag slipping under her foot, resulting in her left leg being fractured at the ankle.

The game was played at Pontypool, and Dr. Neal, of that town, gave first aid, bandaging the injured member. The return trip was made in F. Gray's car, Dr. H. A. Turner giving the further necessary medical attention. An X-ray showed three small bones broken, and convalesence will probably be slow and painful.

Miss Armstrong, who showed remarkable grit throughout the trying experience, is now at Miss L. Burton's home, her sister, Mrs. R. Wood, who accompanied her to the village, remaining to take care of her.

The accident occurred in the first half of the second inning, and the game was proceeded with, resulting in a tie score.

CURED HER RHEUMATISM

Knowing from terrible experience the suffering caused by rheumatism, Mrs. J. E. Hurst, who lives at 204 Davis Avenue, B428, Bloomington Ill., is so thankful at having cured herself that out of pure gratitude she is anxious to tell all other suffers just how to get rid of their torture by a simple way at home.

Mrs. Hurst has nothing to sell. Merely cut out this notice, mail it to her with your own name and address, and she will gladly send you this valuable information entirely free. Write her at once before you forget 5d-16.30.14.28.11-214

MANY FISHERMEN OUT FOR OPENING

Rice Lake Was Dotted With Anglers' Craft and Many Fish Were Caught.

BAILIEBORO, June 18.—Tuesday, June 16 left the season open for catching game fish. Although the morning was very windy, there were quite a number set out for the fishing grounds, which are well known far and near, as the famous fishing grounds of Rice Lake. Many tourists, as well as local residents who did not care to tackle the rough waters in their small craft plied their oars vigorously a short distance off the mainland. During the close of the afternoon and evening, however, the waters became still and very calm, and one could count with the naked eye scores of boats in which the occupants were trolling for fish. The boats extended from Bewdley on the west of the lake right to Gore's Landing near the east end of the lake.

The sportsmen were mostly all successful in landing their catches, composed principally of pickerel. Some were also fortunate enough to hook on to a fine maskinonge.

The pickerel are rapidly becoming the favourite eating fish in Rice Lake, especially among the American tourists, who claim that they would sooner make a meal of the pickerel than of the "musky."

MANY ANTIQUES IN MUSEUM AT DOURO

Wedding Gown 125 Years Old, and Bible From King James' Day.

DOURO, June 18.—Among the antiques on display in the museum during the Old Boys' Reunion will be a wedding dress at least 125 years old and which was made in Ireland, also a tablecloth that has been used at the weddings in a family for six generations. It is of Irish linen and is at least 150 years old. There will also be a couple of quilts 150 years old and a Bible nearly 300 years old, printed in the time of James I.

A LINE-O-TYPE.

Now is the time for all good men to take home some fly-swatters, even if they leave the swatting to wife. It's better that someone should do it than that no one should. It is better that many meals go uncooked than that one should be poisoned by flies that just came from your neighbor's garbage can. In other words, and to be brief, and to put aside all superfluous verbiage as being calculated to becloud the issue, SWAT THAT FLY. It's an annual event, like vacation, or Christmas, or the twelfth of July. It's been going on for a great many years, and yet every year there seem to be as many flies as ever, and the government has taken no step to stop the immigration. Now that Peterborough has rid itself of a dog-catcher, why not take on a fly-catcher? He could drive slowly through the streets with a honey pot of large dimensions on his rig and drown all the flies on the outskirts of the city in some handy pond. He would have to look carefully through the honey, though, for small boys.

Perhaps the unsettled weather conditions lately can be blamed on the presence in this vicinity of the following people, whose names were taken from the city and country personal columns: Bernard Freese, Paul Raine, I. C. Hail, E. Fairweather, I. S. Cloude, Felix F. Snow and H. E. Sunny.

Among those present at Douro reunion next week should be: (1) Those born in Douro; (2) Those who would like to have been; (3) Lovers of sport; (4) Lovers of music; (5) Lovers of anyone; (6) People with appetites; (7) Those without any; (8) Long-married couples (they may win prizes); (9) Short-married couples (they will have a good time anyhow); (10) Everyone else.

Big Days.

Douro is one of the oldest-settled districts, one of the best farming sections, has given some of its best citizens to Peterboro, and has sent many more natives out to make their names elsewhere.

And it is putting up a mighty good programme for the three days of the re-union, starting next Tuesday.

Now they tell us there's to be a Progressive picnic at Jackson Park to-morrow night. Some people will think it's like progressive whist, and move around all the time.

REV. R. BAMFORTH LEAVES MARK ST.

Congregations Join to Make Presentation—Will Be Greatly Missed.

The members, adherents and friends of Mark Street Church and Bethel appointment met last night in Mark Street Church to do honor to their beloved pastor and wife, Rev. and Mrs. Bamforth, who are not only retiring from Mark Street Church, but from the active work of the ministry.

R. J. Kidd acted as chairman, and the following programme was given:

Piano solo: Miss King.
Vocal solo: Miss Blanchard.
Reading: Miss Alberta Throop.

Interspersed with the programme, the yearly reports of all departments of the church's work were received showing an increase and balance in hand in every branch of the church.

Rev. and Mrs. Bamforth were then called forward and presented with a well-filled purse by W. Dawson, of the Bethel appointment, on behalf of both congregations.

A. L. Thyson read the following address:

Dear Mr. Bamforth,—The members and adherents of the two congregations of Mark Street charge desire on this occasion, first, to place on record our deep regret that your pastorate among this people has reached its close after an all too brief period of two short years. We regret that you have found it necessary or desirable that you should retire not only from the pastorate of this charge, but also from the larger sphere of active work of the Christian ministry in which you have been so eminently successful in ministering to the spiritual needs of the people whom, in the providence of God, you have been called to serve. While we deeply regret the conditions which have led you to decide upon such a course at this particular period of your life and history, yet we also desire to place on record our profound appreciation of the marked progress which has been made within the brief period of your two years' ministry on this field. During that short time every branch of the Church's activities has shown a marked and very satisfactory advance which is exceedingly gratifying to the officials and members of these congregations. Your very successful pastorate on this field has furnished a bit of Church history in Peterboro, that will not easily be forgotten by your co-laborers or fellow-workers on this charge.

We desire also more particularly to place on record our sincere appreciation of the earnest and Godly messages which we have received from Sabbath to Sabbath during the years of your ministry here. You have been proclaiming to us most acceptably and effectively, with a zeal and force born of the Spirit of the Master Himself, the unsearchable riches of the Gospel of the Grace of God in Christ Jesus, with but one end in view, viz., to raise men and women above the grovelling and petty influences of the world of material things and to place them upon the common ground of an exalted ideal of life and the greater possession of a high type of Christian character and citizenship. We wish for you and Mrs. Bamforth, whom we have learned to so highly esteem and love the blessing of God that maketh rich and addith no sorrow during the years of your retirement from the active work of the ministry and would ask you to accept this purse as a slight token of our appreciation of the high Christian character which each one of you has borne and of the invaluable service rendered during your sojourn in the parsonage which has been all too short among the people of Mark Street charge.

Signed on behalf of the Mark Street and Bethel congregations by the Members of the Mark Street and Bethel Boards.

Rev. Mr. Manning, Rev. Mr. Rorke and J. E. Adams (a friend of long standing) each gave short addresses, bearing testimony to the sterling qualities of Mr. Bamforth, and how he was admired far and wide for the way he had carried on, in the face of a great handicap.

Rev. Mr. Bamforth replied, paying a tribute to his wife, for the great help she had been to him in his work. His message thrilled the heart of his hearers, and was an inspiration for them to do better work.

After prayer by Rev. Mr. Manning refreshments were served and a pleasant social hour enjoyed.

LAKEFIELD TEAM PUT ON A SHOW

Baseball Club Picture Drew Successful Attendance — Decoration Day Coming.

HALTING ACCIDENTS.

LAKEFIELD, June 18. — The moving picture entertainments put on Monday and Tuesday evenings by the baseball club were very successful. The picture, "Baree, Son of Kazan" drew good houses both nights. Miss Hunter furnished music on both occasions and also played the accompaniment for Dr. J. C. Smith, who sang a couple of solos each night, forming a pleasant interlude to the pictures.

Doing It in Time.

It is very rarely that the stable door is locked before the horse is stolen, but the street commissioners of Lakefield have actually done this very thing. The junction of Queen and Strickland Streets was a "bad corner" and many bad accidents were averted only by the dexterity of the drivers of motor vehicles. Within the week the turn has been widened and is no longer a menace to public safety.

Decoration Day.

Sunday afternoon marks one of the Red Letter Sundays in the year—the Decoration Day of the I.O.O.F. Primarily it is the day that the Oddfellows remember and honor their dead members, but in Lakefield, at least, it has become a day when practically the whole community turns out and honors this "day of remembrance." In the parade, led by the band, march the members of the local lodge bearing floral emblems for those who have passed beyond, and on foot and in motor cars are hundreds of villagers and their friends, showing their respect.

The Public School with the exception of the Entrance Class closes on Friday afternoon.

The annual closing exercises of The Grove School will be held on Friday afternoon of this week.

HAIR CONVICTS

Hunting Knife Bore Evidence of Slaying of Beavers.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 18. — (Canadian Press).—Tiny shreds of hair, rescued from the hilt of a hunting knife and identified under microscopic examination by an expert zoologist, recently were forged into a link of evidence which resulted in Alphonse Geiglehem, Fort Garry municipality, being committed for trial on a charge of stealing and slaying four beavers from a pond in City Park here.

Geiglehem was arrested following the discovery of beaver pelts strung on the side of a shed near his home in Fort Garry.

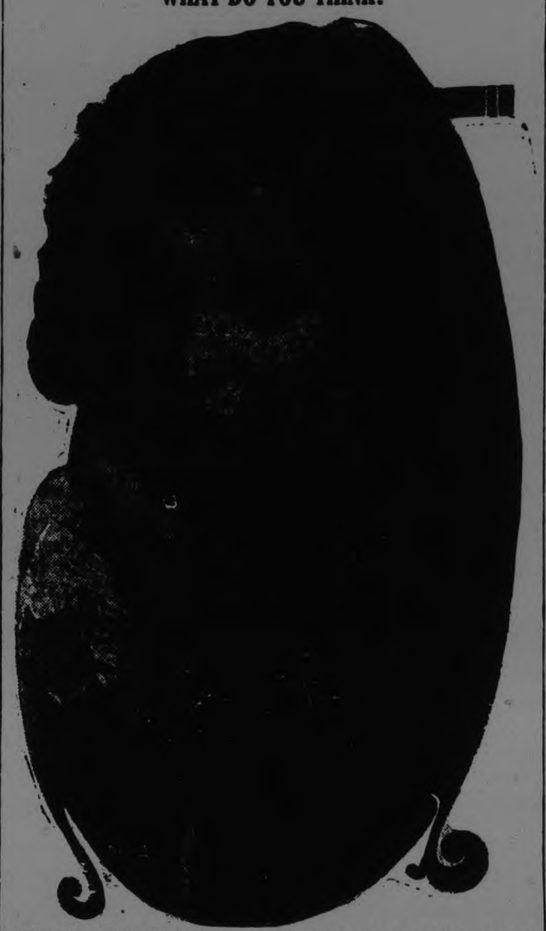
It's Your BIRTHDAY

THURSDAY, June 18 — Men and women born this day differ greatly in temperament and disposition. If a woman you will have a strong, determined and aggressive nature. In fact, your attitude will be almost imperious. If a man, your first inclination is to be rather weak and vacillating. Despite this you have much ability, and if you force yourself to keep up your courage you can correct your fault.

WHAT DO YOU THINK?



"Favoritism," is the cry among rejected co-eds of the University of Oklahoma over selection of Miss Dorothy Devin for first position over seven other campus beauties. The pictures were printed in "The Sooner," the university year book. Miss Devin is a member of "The Sooner" staff whose members were judges. Thus the cry!

HOME TOWN RECIPE.

Scones are always an acceptable addition to a meal. Here is the way they are made by Mrs. William Fell, 235 Princess street:

4 cups flour.
1 cup butter and lard, mixed.
½ cup white sugar.
1 teaspoon soda.
2 teaspoons cream tartar.
2 eggs.
2 cups sweet milk.

Sift cream tartar and soda in flour. Mix in butter and lard and add sugar. Beat eggs and add to the milk. Make into a stiff enough dough to roll slightly. These ingredients should make one and one-half dozen scones.

JOLLY HIGH TEA.

Mrs. E. Morrison Was Hostess at Y.W.C.A. Yesterday Evening.

Mrs. E. Morrison, superintendent of the Boarding Home of the Young Women's Christian Association, was hostess at a jolly high tea given in the dining room of the "Y" last evening, for the girl students resident in the house who are leaving shortly after the school term, and for the girls going on holiday trips. Miss Ethel Nicholl, whose departure from the city after twelve years' stay, takes place shortly, and Miss F. Williams, the English exchange teacher, who returns soon to her home in the Old Country, also several members of the Board of Directors, were included in the party, which numbered altogether about seventy. At the conclusion of the supper, Mrs. Morrison was presented with a handsome purple silk umbrella, the presentation being made by Miss Laura Mackey, accompanied by an address read by Mrs. Watson.

STRAWBERRIES HAVE ARRIVED

Canadian Grown Varieties Make Appearance in Peterborough This Week.

OTHER FRUITS.

Canadian strawberries from the Niagara district are the newest arrivals in the retail and wholesale fruit establishments. The prolonged hot, dry spell spoiled the crop to a certain extent and the berries are scarce this year and sandy in texture. "No damn good" was the way one gentleman characterized them, when asked just what his opinion was of the new crop.

Pineapples are teetering to a finish in the fruit race, and their price is advancing as they retreat in quantity. Imported, luxurious cherries have come down slightly from their high quotation, and the juicy watermelon has also decreased slightly, selling now for $1.75 to $2 apiece. Lemons, however, are still maintaining a high price. At the onset of the season when they are most in demand, they made a spectacular flight in price, rising almost overnight from a price of $6.50 a case of three hundred, to $12 and $13 a case.

Oranges also are high in price, the dealers stating that the summer crop was damaged by frost.

Canadian cabbages and beets and carrots are on the market, and new potatoes are holding their own in price, with an increasing demand from the summer resorts and tourist centres for the new spuds.

Green peas are priced as low as 15 cents a quart in some of the stores.

Flours have not registered much change in price for some weeks. The half barrel sells for $5.40, the 24-pound bag at $1.40, and the same quantity of pastry flour from $1.14 to $1.30.

According to local grain dealers, Canadian wheat growers should be in a favorable position this year. American farmers, it is reported, will not have any available surplus for export, as much of their wheat was winter killed. However, the European situation is said to be very satisfactory.

Sugar Low.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports granulated sugar as now selling at the lowest level which has prevailed since June of 1922. The wholesale price on April 15th last was $6.41 per hundredweight, net, at Montreal. This compares with an average price of $4.20 per cwt. in 1913, a low point since that year of $3.90 in March and April, 1914, and a peak price of $22.80 in July, 1920.

Present sugar prices have come down to about 150 per cent. of prewar values, which is close to the general level of prices as measured by 236 commodities. The current decline in sugar values, says The Canadian Grocer, is due wholly to the expectation of a record world production which will be more than sufficient to meet a probable record demand.

BONAR LAW PERSONALS

Geraniums at Your Window

Nothing is more suitable for your summer window-box than the red geranium. A box of these flowers will stand the heat well and the color adds an attractive touch to your home.

Cynthia Grey Says

Women dress to please selves, not men!

"Whom do women dress to please?" ask M. Paul Poiret of Paris.

And without hesitating, he answers his own question: "Why, the men, of course! Let men vanish from the face of the earth, and for how long would women bother about their clothes and complexions? ....For not a single second!"

Paul Poiret is the fashion dictator for the whole world. If he says waistlines shall be normal, normal they become overnight. If he decrees that lipstick red shall be the color of fashion today, lipstick red is seen in the world's shop windows tomorrow!

"I have been asked why it is that the most successful dressmakers are men," Paul Poiret said recently. "Because women want them to look ....and who knows better than men how men want their womenfolk to look?"

It sounds reasonable, does it not?

And yet, I think that M. Paul Poiret, who knows all about styles, knows little about women. I am sure that not all women dress to please men.

A great many of them dress to startle their women friends, or to draw their admiration. There are many mothers who dress to please their families....mothers who wear the hats their daughters pick out for them, for example! And there are still more who like to "look nice" for themselves.

There is an almost spiritual joy to be found in the sense of bodily cleanliness that a person has after a thorough grooming; and nothing gives a woman such poise and assurance as the knowledge that her new hat is becoming.

If you ask an average man what he thinks about short skirts for grown women the chances are that he will say: "I think they're hideous, and that they make a woman look like a caricature of herself." But that doesn't cause any woman to lengthen her skirt!

Women know that the majority of men think bobbed hair unfeminine. But short hair is comfortable, and long hair isn't. And so the popularity of "shingles" grows daily.

The type of girl who is attractive to almost any type of male is the "fluffy ruffly" little thing, who wears frills when they're not in style, pink shoulder bows and tiny high-heeled slippers.

If Monsieur Paul Poiret were right .....and women dressed to please men .....that's the only type of femininity that we'd ever see. As it is, shes as rare as Rocs' eggs!

TWO VALUABLE RECIPES.

Cake Made Economically With Only One Egg—Short Cake.

One Egg Cake.

1-4 cupful Borden's St. Charles Milk, diluted with 1-4 cupful cold water.
1-4 cupful vegetable cooking oil, scant.
2-3 cupful sugar.
1 egg.
1-2 teaspoonful salt.
1 1-2 teaspoonfuls baking powder.
1 1-2 cupfuls sifted flour.
1-2 teaspoonful vanilla.
1-2 teaspoonful lemon extract.

Beat the egg light and cream it with the sugar, salt and flavoring. Combine the milk, diluted, with the cooking oil. Sift together the dry ingredients and add them alternately to the first mixture with the milk. Beat thoroughly, turn into a lined, medium-sized pan and sprinkle nut meats, chopped raisins or cocoanut over the top. Bake in a moderate oven for thirty minutes.

Strawberry Short Cake.

2 cupfuls flour.
2 teaspoonfuls baking powder.
1 teaspoonful salt.
2 rounding tablespoonfuls butter.
2 rounding tablespoonfuls granulated sugar.
1 cupful Borden's St. Charles Milk, undiluted.

Sift all the dry ingredients together, work in butter, as you would for pie crust, add the milk, beat with spoon (it will be very stiff) and bake 20 minutes in an oblong pan. Split the cake with a hot knife, butter the two sides and put them together with two quarts of strawberries which have been cut into small pieces, sweetened and allowed to stand before placing on cake.

Short Sleeves

NEW YORK, June 18. (United Press). — Much has been written against the wearing of sleeveless or short-sleeved street frocks. Women with ham-like appendages suspended from over-fat shoulders have been advised to wear long sleeves. Skinny armed maids have been told to pumstone their elbows before casting them before the public.

Ugly arms brought about the current style for long-sleeved frocks this summer. Not one arm in a hundred is fair to gaze upon, according to the learned ones who set the styles. Most of us are disinclined to believe this, since men are forever assuring us that our arms are beautiful.

But—regardless of the picturesqueness of the arm and regardless of the long-sleeved vogue — we are for short-sleeved summed frocks! Why suffer? Styles, after all, should be comfortable. A stout woman simply melts in a long-sleeved gown. It is too late for her to start arm-reducing measures now that the heat is here. Women who attempt to follow a strict diet in warm weather, who roll on floors or melt in Turkish bath, are risking their health. Winter is the time for these things. Our main duty now is to keep as cool and comfortable as possible.

For years women in large cities have been led to believe that the dark silk frock is the proper thing for street wear in summer time. On the hottest days we see the great majority of women dressed in these dark frocks. They are anything but cool. What a pity women don't call a strike against the wearing of silks in summer. Wash frocks look equally pretty and they are cool and comfortable. The most attractive miss on Fifth Avenue wore an ecru-toned organdy frock, sleeveless and short skirted. Not in keeping with style perhaps, but in keeping with the weather!

JOHN McGRATH HERE.

Former Resident Returns to the City After Four Years.

Mr. John McGrath, a former resident of Peterboro, but now residing in New York, is in the city visiting friends and renewing old acquaintances.

It is four years since Mr. McGrath has been on a visit to Peterborough and he was much impressed with what improvement he could see in that time.

He stated that business on the other side is just fair, and also made the statement that one of the great differences between Canadian citizens and American citizens is the enthusiasm the American displays for his country, while the Canadian may have it, but keeps it to himself.

Oshawa 5, Petes 2 - Trunks 9, Ponies 8 - Leafs Lose Again - Yankees Drop

ONE UNLUCKY INNING ROBS JEFF HARDILL OF A VICTORY IN HIS FIRST SENIOR START

Young Right-Hander, After Holding Oshawa to Two Scratch Singles in Seven Frames, is Outlucked.

MOTORISTS WIN 5-2

Last Night's Exhibition at Oshawa One of the Best Played Battles of the Season.

(By F. D. C.)

With Jeff Hardill making an impressive senior debut the Petes lost their third Central Ontario League game in succession at Oshawa last evening, the Motorists winning by 5 runs to 2, after being tied in a knot for the greater part of the game by the stuff delivered by the Petes' recruit pitcher.

An unlucky combination of breaks in the eighth frame starting with a hit batsman and a fumble sacrifice bunt by Hardill himself was followed by a couple of lucky hits and the Motorists collected five runs in a hurry.

It was a mighty tough loss for the youngster.

Up to the fatal eighth, when Oshawa got all their runs, he had held them to two very scratchy hits and so thoroughly were the Motorists subdued that they got only four men on the bases in the first seven frames and but one runner reached second

Pitted against the seasoned Dainty the eighteen-year-old Hardill, still eligible for the juvenile series, outpitched the veteran over most of the journey, and of the five hits registered against him during the battle, only one was without an element of luck attached to it.

Dainty turned in a fine game on the rubber for the Motorists. Early in the game the Petes were smashing into his delivery with a vehemence that promised trouble, but several great catches by Reg. Fair in centre, a fast play by Morrison and a quick double killing started by Rowden were of great help to the Oshawa left-hander and as the game progressed he grew stronger. It was not until the ninth that the Petes finally broke through his service to score a brace of runs, a single by Heckman, a slashing triple by Harrison and an error by Ward being responsible.

It was a fast and snappily played game, with both teams turning in a great fielding card. Beside the Oshawa plays already mentioned, Ward contributed a running catch of a long foul fly in great style.

For the Petes Rose handled eight chances at second without a skip and Manager Shiner Johnston, playing short in place of Holyman who couldn't make the trip, turned in some nice fielding Swanston ran to the Petes' dugout to grab a foul fly and Helson cut across and scooped up a slow roller on the run for a feature play.

Good Start Wasted.

Legon gave the Petes a good start in the first by doubling past third but Rose struck out and Fair made a great catch of Swanston's torrid drive to centre field which looked like a sure homer when it started. Rowden threw out Heckman.

In Oshawa's half Rowden and Fair were tossed out by Hardill. Tyson scratched a hit on a high bounder to third but was forced at second on Ward's smash to Johnston.

Harrison first up for the Petes in the second, smashed a mammoth drive to centre but Fair, playing very deep, was under the ball. Helson walked and Dainty hit Hall putting two on, but Johnston hit into a double play Rowden to Morrison to Saunders.

Morrison and Saunders both hit to Rose and were out at first. Roddick got a life when Harrison missed Johnston's toss but Alger struck out.

The Petes had a great chance in the third. After Hardill had fanned, Legon slammed a single through short. Rose fanned. Swanston cracked a hit off Dainty's glove and went to second and Legon to third when Morrison made a high toss to first. Heckman, however, hit a high one in front of the plate which Dainty gathered in.

Oshawa went out in order. Dainty rolled to Rose, Rowden popped to Johnston and Fair struck out.

In the fourth Harrison was thrown out by Morrison. Helson was robbed of a hit by the same player, who knocked down his liner and made a fast play to retire the batter at first. Hall rolled to Ward.

For Oshawa Tyson flied to Legon. Ward singled between short and third. Swanston made a great running catch of Morrison's foul, Ward going to second after the catch. Saunders was thrown out by Rose.

A Pitchers' Duel.

There was nothing doing in the fifth. Johnston fanned, Hardill rolled to Dainty and Ward made a fine catch of Legon's foul fly.

The Motorists did no better. Roddick was easy, Hardill to Harrison. Helson picked up Alger's roller on the run with one hand and pegged out the batter and Dainty gave Rose a chance to fatten his assist column.

Rose, first up in the sixth, was hit, but was forced at second on Sawnston's bunt to Dainty. Heckman flied to Alger and Harrison struck out.

In Oshawa's half Rowden grounded to Rose. R. Fair struck out. Tyson walked but Ward was thrown out by Rose.

In the seventh Rowden made a nice catch of Helson's fly in short right and Hall and Johnston flied to Alger.

For Oshawa Morrison and Saunders were retired on neat plays by Johnston and Rodick lifted one to Heckman.

Hardill flied to Fair to start the eighth and Legon popped to Rowden. Rose singled through short but Swanston rolled to Rowden.

The Fatal Frame.

The break came in Oshawa's half. Hardill hit Alger to start with and then fumbled Dainty's sacrifice bunt, putting two runners on. Rowden singled to right, the only honest-to-goodness hit off Hardill during the game and Alger carried the first run in, the other runners moving up a peg on the relay home. With the infield in Fairs "hump-backed liner" went for a single, scoring Dainty. Tyson's roller bounded over Hardill's head for another lucky hit on which Rowden and Fair scored. Ward grounded to Harrison, Tyson going to third. Morrison's fly taken by Hall after a long run, scored Tyson with the fifth run of the inning. Heckman made a nice catch of Saunders' liner to right.

The Petes started a rally on their own account in the ninth, but it fell short. Heckman opened with a single to left, Roddick holding it to a one-base clout by a jumping stop of a high bounder. Harrison whaled a triple to the fence in deep right, scoring Heckman. Ward lost Helson's roller, Harrison counting. The fun stopped there, however, for Hall flied to Fair, Johnston struck out and Hardill rolled to Dainty.

GOOD GAMES IN TENNIS TOURNEY

Large Programme of Events Run Off in Ontario Championships.

OTTAWA, June 18. (Canadian Press).—Lovely weather graced the third day of the Ontario tennis championships and a big programme of events was run off. Young Jack Sears, of Toronto, had a splendid win over W. Lyons, of Ottawa. He uncorked some lovely shots. L. W. Brown put out D. Farquharson, of Toronto, in straight sets but the game was much closer than the score would indicate. Captain E. C. Chambers, of London, was unlucky to lose his match against E. F. C. Fiske. Two sets were played on Tuesday, and as Fiske had to leave, the other set was played yesterday. This set Chambers, a notably slow starter, lost, whereas had the match been finished on Tuesday he would very likely have won. J. Cordon, of Montreal, had a good win over A. S. Lett. A. Ham, Toronto, showed splendid form in his match with Quain, which he won in straight sets. Tom Brown had all he could do to beat J. G. Wayland, of Montreal; the latter had match point several times. Rainville, of Montreal, defeated Eddie Condon after a spirited three-set match. E. A. Purkis, of Toronto, was beaten by L. Brown. Gilbert Nunns, Canadian junior champion, playing very attractive tennis, won his matches in both junior and senior events, and has made quite an impression with his swift and well-placed shots. Mrs. H. MacDonnell, of Toronto, won her match in the singles against Miss G. Gallery, of Montreal. It was a hard-hitting and interesting game to watch. In the ladies' doubles she also won with Mrs. G. F. Coke, but in the mixed doubles, playing with Innis Taylor, Toronto, lost to Mr. and Mrs. Dexter, of Winnpeg. In the singles, Innis Taylor, Toronto, won and also in the men's doubles with C. Tuchereau. C. Leslie and Rainville of Montreal, played very well together, winning their doubles match handily. Le Roy Rennie had a good game with Heppenstall, which he won in straight sets. Wright and Quain, of Ottawa, had all they could do to win from Dexter of Winnipeg and Strike, of Ottawa, both sets going to deuce.

HOME RUN ONLY YANKEE SCORE

Detroit Scored Thirteen Runs in One Inning and 19 in Game.

ATHLETICS WIN.

NEW YORK, June 18 (Canadian Press)—Detroit defeated the Yankees yesterday, 19 to 1, a home run by Lou Gehrig, saving the Yankees from being shutout. The Tigers scored 13 runs in the sixth inning, equalling the record for the season established by the Philadelphia Athletics. The Tigers also set what is believed to be a major league record when they scored 11 of these runs before a batter was retired.

During this hectic batting feast six hits were made and two errors committed by the Yanks in addition to seven passes being issued by the four Yankee twirlers who labored in the inning Cobb got a home run with the bases full while Heilmann got a single and a triple in two times up. Eighteen Tigers batted during the inning. It took Ruth to put the side out, all three batters retired during the inning flying to him. Score:

Detroit 00400 13 002—19 18 0
New York 00000 0 100— 1 4 4

Dauss and Bassler, Stanage; Shawkey, Ferguson, Beall, Johnson, Jones and Schang.

Athletics 10; Cleveland 3

PHILADELPHIA, June 18 (Canadian Press)—Slim Harriss' batting and pitching were too much for Cleveland in yesterday's game and Philadelphia won 10 to 3. Sherrod Smith was a puzzle in the opening rounds but was found for sixteen hits in the last six innings.

Tomorrow's scheduled game with Cleveland here has been transferred to Cleveland where the Rotarian Convention is in session. Score:

Cleveland 100101000— 3 8 0
Philadelphia 00030132x—10 19 0

READING CLOSE.

Only Game and a Half Behind Keys and Second Place.

JERSEY CITY, June 18 (Canadian Press) — Jersey City made it three out of four games with a victory over Toronto yesterday, 6 to 2. With the game tied up in the sixth, a brace of three passes issued by Satterfield and a pair of singles by Zellars and Sheridan yielded three runs, sewing the game up. Freitag hit for the circuit in the seventh. Score:

RAYBESTOS WIN ON WILD THROWS

High Class Pitching By Turner and Maudsley at Exhibition Park.

ERRORS COUNTED.

Wild pegging proved costly to the Royals in their East Peterborough League game with Raybestos at Exhibition Park, last evening, the brakeliners' scoring their second shutout, the score being 5 to 0. Otherwise the Royals played good baseball, and with Maudsley pitching effectively, the Raybestos crew had real opposition. The Royals' heaver allowed only one hit. Lefty Turner also did some nifty hurling and fielded faultlessly. Mahood and Barrie were the only Royals to nick his pitching, one of the two safeties being a perfect bunt down third by Mahood. McIntosh and Miller handled some difficult flies in the garden and the Raybestos infield stood out well.

Snappy play in the first two frames held the attention of the fans. Raybestos made a bid for a run in the second when Moore who had walked and made third on McIntosh's wild peg following Rogers' fly tried to steal home. He was caught at the plate.

A pass to Turner, Curry's slip on McIntyre's grounder and a hit-by-pitcher, followed by a wild throw by McIntosh after taking Batten's fly, Ranger's infield out and Curry's high throw off Nicholls' grounder gave Raybestos three runs in the third.

Maudsley dropped Rogers' fly to start again in the fourth. A wild pitch advanced the runner and after Shaughnessy and Turner had skied out, McIntyre hit to right to score Rogers.

Errors by Mahood and Cameron's skyrocket to first to get Nicholls allowed Batten to score in the fifth. With one down, Barrie took a hard smash from Rogers and doubled Nicholls off the bag.

COBOURG SPORTS.

Town League Revises Schedule—All Classes Sport Booming.

COBOURG, June 18.—Sports of all kinds are booming in Cobourg at present. The Cobourg Town League, owing to a number of games having to be forfeited on account of bad weather, have revised their schedule, and opened the season again Thursday with a game betwen the Dyeing Co., Cobourg's entry in the Durham and Ontario League and the C.N.R. From now on Town League ball will be fast and furious.

The Cobourg Scouts won from Port Hope in a game played here at the week end, and the Cobourg Collegiate Ball team won from the Port Hope High School.

SPORT GOSSIP AND COMMENT.

With the Ponies and Petes beaten again yesterday, the Central Ontario League race is in a fine scramble, with Belleville in last place only two games behind Kingston. Oshawa and Peterboro are now tied for second place, and they will fight it out here Saturday in what should be the best battle of the year. The Motorists have won two decisions in a row and are confident of climbing into second place Saturday at the expense of the Petes. Duke Dainty will be sent back at the Johnstonites again and the Oshawa gang are counting on the southpaw to turn the trick. The Petes cannot see it that way, although they realize they have a real battle on their hands. The biggest crowd of the year will see the clash.

? • • • • • • • • •

Last night's game showed that Manager Johnston made no mistake in adding Jeff Hardill to his pitching staff. The youthful right-hander turned in a sensational game in his first start in senior company, and had to be mighty unlucky to lose his initial game. The break came when he hit the first man up in the eighth and then fumbled a bunt. That brought the infield in and several taps that would have been easy outs under different conditions went for hits. Up to that stage Oshawa had made only two scratchy singles off his delivery—in fact, they only hit one ball out of the infield in the first seven frames, a fly to Legon.

? • • • • • • • • •

With Hardill added to the Petes' staff the Johnstonites have the two youngest pitchers in the league. Hardill was eighteen last month, while Whitehouse is a year older.

? • • • • • • • • •

When Reg. Fair tore over and gathered in Swanston's vicious drive to centre in the first inning he saved Dainty a lot of trouble. It looked like a certain homer. So, too, did Harrison's huge drive in the second inning. Fair was almost out of the league altogether when he gathered in this one.

? • • • • • • • • •

Harrison's triple in the ninth inning last night kept his hitting record intact. He has hit safely at least once in every game this season, his string including a homer and two triples.

? • • • • • • • • •

There was a great array of right-handed batters in last night's game. Dainty was the only left-handed batsman in the Oshawa line-up, while the only Petes who hit from the port side were Swanston and Hardill.

? • • • • • • • • •

The league standing is as follows:

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Kingston	5	3	.625
Peterboro	4	4	.500
Oshawa	4	4	.500
Belleville	3	5	.375

Next games:
Friday—Belleville at Kingston.
Saturday—Oshawa at Peterboro.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER THORON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans

Forcing the club with too much muscular effort, which I list as Fault Three among the ten commonest faults, leads almost immediately to a body lunge at the ball. The ball so hit, if hit solidly, often pulls. It is difficult for the average player to learn the greatest lesson of all, which is that the club will do the trick if you merely let it swing. That is why the expert golfer appears always to accomplish his shots with such ease. The snap and crispness of the clubhead action are in his strokes, but no heaving lunges at the ball. You must give the clubhead time to make its full, natural swing. The least interference with its natural swing will result in some unwanted effect on the ball.

SECOND PLACE FOR WINNER OF SATURDAY GAME

Oshawa - Peterboro Tilt Should be Best Battle of Season.

BOTH NEED WIN

Central Ontario League Teams Are Well Bunched Now.

With Oshawa and Peterboro tied for second place, the Ponies only a game ahead and Belleville but a game behind, Saturday's fixture at Riverside Park, which brings Oshawa here for their first appearance of the season, should be full of excitement. Without robbing them of the credit due them for an excellent performance the Motorists had a lot of luck in collecting five runs in the eighth, last evening, after being unable to move a runner further than second up to that time, and the Petes hope to get some of the breaks themselves in Saturday's return game.

The winner goes into undisputed possession of second place, so that much depends on the result and both teams can be counted upon to put up a real argument at all stages.

With so much at stake it should be the most lively tilt of the year.

It is called for 3 o'clock and will be in charge of Umpires Sullivan and Dell.

LACROSSE PRACTICE.

First League Game at Norwood is Rapidly Approaching.

There will be a lacrosse practice at the Central Park, Friday evening, at 6 o'clock. All lacrosse players are requested to turn out as there will be just one more practice (on Monday, June 22, at Nicholls Oval, at 6 p.m., before the league game at Norwood, June 24.

The management requests that all players turn out for a good practice and the public is invited to come and see the boys in action.

YOUNG COPS CHANGE.

Rotary Club Will Take Over Responsibility From Sergeant Deannard.

The Rotary Club has decided to take over the responsibility of managing the Young Cops midget and baseball teams. These were originated last year by Sergeant John Deannard, who gave much of his time and interest to them. Now that they have grown to such an extent Sergt. Deannard needs help, and it is speedily forthcoming from the Rotary Club.

The teams practice Thursday and Friday nights. All are welcome to try out.

BARACAS MEET E. P. L. LEADERS

Fast Game Promised When These Two Good Teams Clash.

Murray St. Baracas tackle Raybestos at Exhibition Park tomorrow evening and the Baptists promise to make a strong bid for a win. The team has been strengthened by the addition of some willow-wielders and the League leaders are in for a real battle.

BELLEVILLE WINS FROM PONIES 9-8

Riot Followed the Scoring of Winning Run in Eleventh.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., June 18. — Belleville's C.O.B. team won its third consecutive victory here yesterday afternoon by defeating the Kingston Ponies, 9 to 8, in a battle of eleven innings. Chuck Jeffries' steady pitching, sensational fielding behind him, and timely hitting won the game for the home team. The end was inglorious, however, a short but disastrous free-for-all taking place immediately after Weir scored the winning run. As a result, a Kingston fan was placed under arrest, and Quinn, the Kingston catcher, was rushed to the hospital. Kingston scored one run in the 11th. Belleville evened it up again with one out. After Cairns had walked two, Peeney Mills poled deep to centre, and Ross romped home ahead of the thrown-in. Harry Mills drew four balls, and Weir arrived at third. Walt. Gerow stepped up as pinch-hitter, and fouled out to the catcher, Quinn. Weir had taken a long lead-off for a squeeze play, and raced back to third. Quinn threw high to third in an effort to get Weir, and Weir came home.

With the ball still out in the outfield, Quinn gave Weir the hip as he crossed the plate, the runner being thrown heavily. One Belleville player, running in with Weir in the excitement, laid Quinn out, and in a twinkling everybody was in it. Chief Kidd arrested a Kingston supporter, and the players helped to end the hostilities.

The game was featured by brilliant baseball in spots, clever fielding being the order of the day. Young was relieved in the fifth after a disastrous fourth, when Belleville touched him for six hits and five runs. Cherry relieved and pitched good ball after he got going. Score by innings:

Belleville	00052000002—9	11	3
Kingston	02012020001—8	15	1

Batteries—Chuck Jeffries, Mills and Hagerman; Young, Cherry, Cairns and Quinn.

Umpires—Kay and Dell.

EVERY PLANET MAY HAVE LIFE

But of Different Form Than Man, Says Professor Campbell.

SURPRISES HERE.

LONDON, June 18. — The interesting theory that every planet may be inhabited but by forms of life adapted to the particular atmosphere of each planet, and as different from man as man is different from fishes, was propounded by Professor William Campbell, president of the University of California, and director of the Lick Observatory.

Professor Campbell, who came to Europe, as President of the International Astronomical Union, which will hold its triennial meeting in Cambridge, July 14, will lecture at Oxford this week and later this month will attend the meeting of the International Research Council in Brussels.

Outlining his views in The Morning Post, Prof. Campbell instanced the discovery by the expedition to the Sargasso Sea, headed by William Beebe, of some extraordinary specimens of fish.

"Even in our own planet there are forms of life of which we know hardly anything," he declared. "Life is everywhere evolved in conformity with its environments. Thus forms of life on the earth and in the sea are very different. A fish would doubtless wonder how man was able to live on dry ground.

"Taking this argument further men have been apt to say, 'There can be no life on such and such a planet, because conditions are too unlike conditions here to permit life as we know it.' There is no reason however why life should not be quite foreign to what we know. Why most grotesque creatures might inhabit the planets.

Prof. Wright of Lick Observatory, lately demonstrated that Mars possesses an atmosphere of considerable depth, a fact which tends to show that conditions on Mars are favorable to life as we know it here. The chance of vegetation and life in the sun, even in most grotesque forms, is a question, of course, no one can answer."

PREMIER OF NOVA SCOTIA SAYS REQUESTS FOR HELP ARE ONLY POLITICAL HOAX

PARADE RED FLAG.

Advises Quarterly Board of Methodist Church to Take Notice.

TORONTO, June 18. (Canadian Press).—A letter said to have been written by Premier E. H. Armstrong of Nova Scotia to the Saskatoon Methodist Church Board, discouraging the giving of relief to Nova Scotia miners is made public to-day by the Canadian Press. The story first appeared on June 10, but was killed when Mr. Armstrong stated that it was inaccurate. The letter as given out by the Saskatoon Church says in part: "In my opinion, there has been nothing in the history of this country so grossly exaggerated for political purposes as the situation in the mining districts of Cape Breton. I think practically every person in Nova Scotia has now agreed that one of the most pronounced hoaxes ever put upon a sympathetic people was that launched a few weeks ago by some excited people in connection with this unfortunate matter. Further than that, I do not think 'aid' is needed. You have asked me a plain question and I can do no better than give you a plain answer. When those who are fomenting this trouble see fit to accept money from the Red Internationale and to parade under the Red flag in preference to the British flag, it is about time the public took notice, much more so the Quarterly Board of the Methodist Church." CAPTAIN JONES AT KITCHENER Represents Local Firemen at Provincial Convention Being Held This Week.

Captain William Jones is the representative of the Peterborough branch of the Provincial Federation of Ontario Fire Fighters at the sixth annual meeting, which is being held in Kitchener this week. The meeting was opened yesterday when Mayor Asmussen, Fire Chief Guerin and members of the Fire and Light Committee of the city council delivered addresses of welcome. The business transacted yesterday was largely of a routine nature including the appointment of committees to consider and report on resolutions and other questions slated for the convention. A feature was a moving picture in which the most frequent causes of fires and the necessity of precautions and guarding against negligence were emphasized most frequent causes being carelessness with matches and electric apparatus, and defective chimneys.

An interesting report was that given by the International Secretary, George J. Richardson, who alluded to the fact that since the forming of the organization in 1918, the two platoon system had been generally adopted in the cities of the United States and Canada largely the result of the efforts of the association, whereas in 1918 only 26 American cities and only one Canadian had the system.

Immediate Past President S. B. Blackler, of Ottawa, who replied to the addresses of welcome also pointed out that the predictions made a few years ago by some opponents of the organization to the effect that direct results would follow including disruption and strikes in fire departments, had not materialized and that these opponents today were strong supporters of the association. He also pointed out that the asscoiation had secured that to which every fire fighter was entitled, one holiday in seven days.

ONLY TWO INNINGS.

Play Ceased With the Score 2-0 in Favour of Millbrook.

MILLBROOK, June 18. — Owing to the heavy rain, only two innings could be played in the ball game at Mount Pleasant on Monday evening, in connection with the North Durham League. The Millbrook nine journeyed to the North Cavan town to play the return game due, but the weather made it impossible to carry out the schedule.

The score stood 2-0 in favour of Millbrook when play ceased. The date for the game to be played off a second time has not yet been decided.

Mount Pleasant plays at Janetville on Friday, June 19, and Bethany at Millbrook. The game is called locally at 5.30 p.m. in the Agricultural Park.

NO DECREASE IN PERMIT ISSUE

Building Inspector Is Still Issuing Permit For New Dwellings.

MANY REPAIRS.

The number of permits for dwelling-houses shows no signs of decreasing. During the first eighteen days of June permits were issued for four new dwellings and alterations to turn a dwelling house into three apartments. Waterford Street, where a number of houses have already been constructed this summer, is again on the list, a dwelling being erected there now to cost $3,600. On Walkerfield Avenue a dwelling to cost $3,500 has been authorized, while on Wolfe Street another will cost $2,700. A bungalow is to be built on Union Street at a cost of $1,200, and the dwelling at 273 Charlotte is to be altered at a cost of $2,800, to provide three apartments. Alterations to the house at 483 George Street South to provide more rooms, will cost $2,100.

The gasoline and oil station at 229 Charlotte Street is to have a new front and various other improvements on which $2,200 will be expended.

The demand for permits for garages and verandahs has slackened up a bit. Apparently all the new cars have been housed, and the repairs have all been started, if not finished.

TAKES FIRST PLACE.

PROTEST AGAINST HOLDING TWO JOBS

Some Government Employees Have Spare Time Jobs Says Trades Council.

The regular meeting of the Trades and Labor Council was held in the Labor Hall, George street, last evening, with a good attendance of members, Bro. Hewitt taking the chair in the absence of President McMurray.

After the routine business was attended to, there was called to the attention of the members that government servants in the city were holding other regular situations in their spare time, and it was thought by the members that it was hardly a fair thing, considering the state of the labor market at the present time, and a resolution was passed that the meeting write to the heads of these various government works and see if it can be remedied, as there were plenty of men out of employment who would be glad of the work these men were getting, and it would help alleviate the labor situation in Peterborough.

A number of other matters were discussed and the meeting adjourned at 9:30.

Swift action and tense dramatic situations fill "The Rainbow Trail," Tom Mix' latest William Fox picture, which opens a run at the Regent Theatre to-night. Into this incomparable Zane Grey story, which is the sequel to "Riders of the Purple Sage," Mr. Mix has packed an abundance of thrilling exploits. Combining the genius of these two westerners, Mix and Grey, has made this a picture of unusual distinction.

Lynn Reynolds, who directed the picture, has succeeded in carrying on the story of "Riders of the Purple Sage" with artistic adroitness. The action in "The Rainbow Trail" starts with the first foot and continues until the romantic conclusion.

Tony, Mix' wonder horse, carries his master through perilous situations, and Mr. Mix performs many deeds of new daring. Lucien Littlefield and Mark Hamilton, a picturesque pair, contribute several exquisitely funny incidents. Anne Cornwall is the charming heroine whom Mix rescues from George Bancroft, the villain of the drama. Steve Clemente, Fred De Silva and Diana Miller skillfully portray character roles.

Others in the cast are Vivian Oakland, Tom Delmar, Doc Roberts, and Carol Halloway.

AT THE CAPITOL

NAZIMOVA HERE TODAY IN NEW FILM.

Noted Russian Star Makes Big Picture of Broadway Hit "My Son."

The role of a Portuguese mother who loves three men, calls for great acting ability and when Edwin Carewe engaged Nazimova for the part in his production of "My Son," First National officials gravely nodded their approval of the director's choice.

Martha Stanley wrote the stage play, "My Son," and New York audience acclaimed it as a masterpiece for more than seven months. The actress' role is that of a mother whose son, once the idol of the fishing village, is being led down the primrose path by a scheming flapper. Two suitors seek the hand of the mother and their loves are enmeshed in her fight to save my son.

"I like my characterization in 'My Son' better than any screen part given me in recent years," declared the noted Russian star. "The whole story is told in a simple fishing village with plain folks as the characters, yet with great dramatic force. It gave me the opportunity of a life time. I think the picture will beacclaimed as Mr. Carewe's finest, and that critics will declare him among the foremost of screen directors. He took 'My Son' and painted a perfect portraiture of plain people."

Audiences at the Capitol Theatre today will have an opportunity to see "My Son," and to judge the value of Madame Nazimova's statements. Besides the great Russian Actress, the cast of the First National production has such celebrities as Hobart Bosworth, Charlie Murray, Mary Akin, Constance Bennett and Jack Pickford.

AT THE ROYAL

'THE HURRICAN KID' IS GIBSON'S LATEST.

His Golden Mare "Pal" With Him in This One.

Hoot Gibson is the star of the Universal feature attraction coming to the Royal theatre to-day, "The Hurricane Kid." It's a western action drama with human interest intertwined with the action, directed by Edward Sedgwick, maker of the recent series of big Gibson successes.

As usual, Hoot will be seen in a human, natural role as a cowboy wandering around from place to place on the "bum." He has a high regard for the ladies and a heavy share of hard luck in this direction. Every time he looks at one, handicapped as he is with extreme bashfulness, something happens that isn't so much fun. The story was written by Will Lambert, adapted by Raymond L. Schrock and scenarized by E. Richard Schayer.

For the principal roles in the story Universal picked a cast which includes Marian Nixon, popular young leading woman of Tom Mix pictures, William A. Steele, Arthur Mackley, Harry Todd and Fred Humes. Also, conspicuous by right of "beauty and brains," "Pal," Gibson's beautiful mount, will be seen in plenty of scenes.

With a bashful hero and an impish heroine, "The Hurricane Kid" unwinds the story of misadventures that fall to the lot of the hero starting with the time that she snatched a bunch of photographs out of his hand and finds that they are poses of beautiful women. From then on he leads what is popularly characterized as a "dog's life"—with thrills and fighting thrown in for good measure.

This is the twentieth production in which Hoot Gibson has been directed by Edward Sedgwick. Over a long period their mutual success has testified to the wisdom of consistent co-operation between a star and his director.

TAKE INSURANCE FOR ACCIDENTS ON RURAL ROADS

County Council Follows the City's Lead in Protecting Itself.

ASK REPEAL.

Will Ask Other Counties to Aid in Fighting Negligence Bill.

At the County Council meeting this morning, Mr. Smithson moved and Mr. Simpson seconded, that the Council go into committee on county roads. This was carried, and Mr. Coughlin, chairman of committee, took the chair. The representative of the Globe Indemnity Co. again appeared before the committee and explained the company's scheme of protection. H. B. Rye proposed and Mr. Lillico seconded, that the Council avail themselves of the company's policy assuming all liabilites for damage arising from accidents on the highways and rural roads of the county. This was carried.

Seek Repeal of Act.

A resolution was proposed by Mr. Anderson and seconded by Mr. Lillico, that Messrs. Rye and Curtis be appointed in conjunction with the county solicitor and the county clerk as a committee to draw up a petition to the other counties of Ontario, requesting joint action of all counties with the object of approaching the Provincial Legislature to press for the repeal of the Contributory Negligence Act which has greatly increased the liabilties of the County Councils of the Province in connection with highway accidents. This was carried unanimously.

Grants to School Committee.

A deputation from the Board of Education of Norwood appealed for the continuance of the Council's grant towards the upper school work being carried on by Norwood Board of Education. On a motion by Mr. Curtis, seconded by Mr. Corkery, it was decided to refer this question and the question of all school grants to the School Committee.

NATURE'S BALANCE BEING DISTURBED

Slaying of Wolves for Bounty to Hurt the Trappers.

EDMONTON, Alta., June 17.—(Canadian Press).—The old question of man's interference with nature has been raised anew over the persistence with which the wolf of the far North is being hunted, as a result of the increase in the government bounty from $20 to $30.

Every trapper coming down from the North carries in his pack a few wolf pelts. For the past year, the government has had a party of four wolf-catchers at work across the northern planes, trapping eastward from Great Slave Lake.

This season, it is estimated, two or three hundred wolf pelts will be surrendered to the government, from all sources, taken from the territory north of Edmonton.

The trappers themselves have raised the question of whether it is advisable for this trapping of wolves to continue. They are generally in agreement that it all levels down to that fine adjustment which nature sets up between the denizens of the wilds, and in the case of the wolf, the balance swings between the wolf, the caribou and the fox.

The fox is the real standby of the trapper. The wolf preys on the caribou. The fox largely is dependent upon the wolf for meat, and after the wolf has had his fill, the fox like a jackall feeds on the remaining carcass. The trappers are beginning to realize that by the destruction of the wolf they are gradually chasing away the fox.

It is reported that the trappers of the North are considering the feasibility of petitioning Ottawa for the withdrawal of the wolf bounty entirely, for a period at least.

SUNLIGHT WORKS AMAZING CURES

Ultra-Violet Rays Give Newest Weapon in War on Disease.

Recent tests made at the U. S Bureau of Standards prove that sunshine—that part of it, anyway, which is called "ultra-violet light"—is the most powerful non-chemical germicide known. In these experiments deadly bacteria found in sewage were exposed to ultra-violet light, and in an exposure of less than a second the bacteria were killed.

Ultra-violet light was discovered more than 120 years ago, but only in the last few years have its varied powers been appreciated. Today it is being used not only to fight disease, but to hasten growth of crops, produce more eggs, test paint and fabrics, season lumber, and sterilize water. Its utilization is one of the amazing accomplishments of our age, writes G. B. Seybold in "Popular Science Monthly."

Ultra-violet light is not to be confused with the so-called "violet rays" that we see the salesmen at the corner drugstore "demonstrating" with glass rubes of various shapes. These "violet rays" are merely the violet light that a high-frequency electric current produces when it is passed through a vacuum.

Ultra-violet light is a colorless, invisible part of sunlight; amazingly short light vibrations that occur beyond the violet end of the solar spectrum. Though they cannot be seen, they will darken a photographic plate, and their wave length has been measured. They are so short that this wave length cannot be computed in ordinary terms, so the Angstrom unit is used. An Angstrom unit measures approximately 1-250,000,000 of an inch. That is to say, it would take 10,000,000 of them to equal the diameter of a human hair of average thickness. The waves of ultra-violet light vary in length between 1000 and 3900 Angstrom units.

Ultra-violet light is emitted whenever an electric current is broken and made to leap across a gap in an arc. Thus, arc-lamps in motion-picture studios give off a large amount of ultra-violet light. It is the longer ultra-violet waves that cause sunburn. Ultra-violet rays will not penetrate glass. That is the reason why a person sitting behind a window never can become sunburned. In the treatment of disease by means of artificially produced ultra-violet light, lamps of clear fused quartz are used.

Probably the most amazing thing accomplished by the use of ultra-violet light is the curing of rickets—a disease in which the bones fail to develop properly because of a deficiency of calcium and phosphorus in the body. In some way that is not understood, baths in ultra-violet light cause the body to utilize calcium and phosphorus that has been introduced from without.

Ultra-violet light also is useful in the treatment of tuberculosis because it improves the quality of the blood. It has been used successfully in combating influenza and dyspepsia, pyorrhea, ringworms, abscesses, boils and carbuncles. It is used as a sterilizing agent in place of such familiar ones as iodine. It will grow hair, it is said, in all cases except when the hair has died gradually on account of old age. It has found many diverse uses in industry.

MANY BAPTIZED.

Service Held at Chard's Bridge—Peterborough People There.

SPRINGBROOK, June 18.—A large number gathered at Chard's Bridge on Sunday to attend the baptism of Jennie Murry, Mrs. Richard Morton, Gladys Gibson, Maud and Hazel Tompson, Wellington Oulthouse, Fred Irwin and Arthur Collitt.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Bentley and Miss Muriel and Marjorie of Peterboro were present. Mr. Bentley gave a short address and the Misses Bentley assisted in a brief song service. Owing to Mr. Bentley having to be at Peterboro at 7 o'clock to hold a Gospel meeting they were unable to stay for the night meeting.

Mr. George Garrett preached a very impressive Gospel sermon on Sunday night.

Mr. Garrett left on Monday for his home at Foxmead.

FINANCIAL NEWS.

Quiet Day In All Shares On Standard Exchange

TORONTO, June 18 (Canadian Press) — Trading on the Standard Mining Exchange was quiet this morning with transactions numbering 101,486 shares. Hattie preferred made an advance of a half at 6 1-4 while Tough Oakes dropped 2 3-4 points to 34 1-4. Vipond was strong at 167 an advance of two points and Lorraine declined slightly to 14 1-4, Crown Reserve, opening steady, dropped four points closing at 30.

Atlantic Sugar Leader At Toronto This Morning

TORONTO, June 18. — Canadian Press. — Atlantic Sugar, Brazilian and Winnipeg were leaders on the Toronto stock exchange this morning. Winnipeg advanced two points to 46½; Atlantic Sugar and Brazilian were easier, the former an eighth at 27 3-8 and the latter 3-8 at 55 1-8. Dominion Canners was a ½ lower, and C.P.R. 1-4 down. Inactive trading in the Mines section; Crown reserve advanced a point.

Many Issues Depressed By Work Of Professionals

NEW YORK, June 18. Canadian Press. — Outbursts of profit taking in many section of the list and liquidatio of special issues later reversed the Wall street market's early trend Prices ran off rapidly as the profesionals pounded the various leaders in the absence of inside support.

Conspicuous weaknes: cropped out in American, Can. Baldwin, Mack Truck, U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, American and Foreign Power, Independent Oil, Savage Arms and Havana Electric which before noon sagged 2 to 4 points and exerted a depressing influence on other shares in which pools were reluctant to abandon their operations. Savage Arms touched 54, the lowest of the year, and American Woollen duplicated its previous low of 34 3-4. Effective buying took place however in American Telephone, which mounted to a record top price at 144. Call money renewed at 3 3-4 per cent.

Black Rust Report Sent Price Of Wheat Higher

CHICAGO, June 18. — Canadian Press. — Higher prices for wheat went hand in hand early to-day with reports that black rust had been discovered in South Dakota as well as North Dakota.

New black rust reports came from Huron, S. D., and said the infection had already in some cases appeared both on the stems and the leaves of wheat. Weather conditions in the northwest however were cool and dry, the exact opposite of what would tend to spread black rust.

Chicago opening prices 1-8c off to 1 3-4c higher; July 155 3-4 to 156½ and September 152 1-2 to 153 1-4 were followed by an irregular additional upturn that carried July to 156 3-4. and September to 154 1-8.

Estimates that the corn acreage had been increased 5½ per cent. and that the crop condition was about the usual average tended to weaken the corn market. After opening at 3-4c decline to 5-8c advance, September 111 7-8 to 112, corn showed fractional gains all around but then sagged to well below yesterday's finish.

Oats eased with corn. Starting unchanged to 3-8c higher, September 51 1-2 to 51 3-4c oats underwent a moderate general set back.

Provisions were firmer, sympathizing with an unturn in hog values.

CANADA THERE IN FULL FORCE

Bisley Meeting in July Sees Usual Big Dominion Representation.

TWENTY MARKSMEN

LONDON, Eng., June 17 (Canadian Press). — The annual Bisley meeting will be held this year from Monday, July 6, to Saturday, July 18. As in previous years, Canada will be well represented, and Lieut. Desmond Burke, G.M., Ottawa, winner last year of the great Bisley classic, the King's Prize, will again be a competitor at the Bisley ranges.

The Canadian Bisley team, comprising twenty marksmen, who sailed from Montreal on June 13, was announced some time ago by the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association as follows:

Commander Col. Douglas R. Street, Ottawa; Adjutant, Major A. G. Styles, D.S.O., Regina, Sask.; Sergt.-Major R. Kiddie, Toronto; Major C. W. Gibson, Hamilton; Sergt. G. M. Elmslie, Toronto; Lieut. D. Burke (G.M.), Ottawa; Corpl. G. Preece, Guelph; Sergt. H. Ashling, Toronto; Pte. J. H. Gray, Toronto; C.Q.M. Sergt. A. Parnell, Verdun; Major C. R. Crowe, Guelph, Ont.; Sergt. B. W. Beaumont, Victoria; Lieut. H. E. Rowlands, Hamilton; P. H. Radford, Toronto; Sergt. C. H. Tyers, Britannia, Ont.; Pte. W. J. Irvine, Ottawa; Lieut. A. E. Hunt, Winnipeg; Capt. G. M. Galbraith, London; Lieut. A. J. Harvey, Timmins, Ont.; Sergt. A. F. B. Wilson, Ottawa.

Details of the programme arranged for this year's Bisley meeting were given by Major-General Lord Cheylesmore at the recent general meeting of the National Rifle Association at the Royal United Service Institute.

Lord Cheylesmore said they had every reason to hope that the attendance of overseas visitors would again be large, and that they would see teams representing Canada, Rhodesia, Nigeria, the Gold Coast, Nyasaland, India, the Channel Islands, and possibly the Malay States as well as many individual competitors from other parts of the Empire. They hoped also to welcome a team of cadets from Canada. To add interest for the smaller Colonies and Dependencies which were unable to raise a team of eight, it was proposed to institute a minor Kolapore match for teams of four.

The amount offered in prizes (money and kind) was about the same as last year, when the figure was about £16,000. The competitions open to each class of competitor had been grouped in such a manner as to entail the least inconvenience and expense to the majority of the marksmen and to afford the maximum amount of shooting in the shortest time. The principal match rifle events would be in the first week, and the sporting rifle events would be confined to the second week, as the national miniature meeting would occupy the ground during the first week. Service members of the forces who confined their shooting to the service rifle would find special provisions made for them during the first five days of the meeting. The events comprised in the Service Rifle Championship, the King's Medal for the best shot in the land forces at home, and regimental team matches were to be fired during this period.

The Public Schools matches would be on Wednesday and Thursday, July 8 and 9, and a "record" entry for the Ashburton Shield on the Thursday was expected.

The service rifle programme was practically the same as last year. A new competition, the "Barbow," ten shots at 600 yards, with a time limit and without marking, has been introduced. It was hoped to attract many new competitors from Police Force and Royal Naval Reserve units, and special matches had been instituted for them. At the request of the Civil Service Rifle Clubs, the "Lucas" match would be shot shoulder to shoulder under Kolapore conditions. Conditions in the classic events like the competitions for the King's prize and Queen Mary's and the Prince of Wales' prizes were unchanged. Additional prizes were offered in the revolver competitions. The ammunition would be specially selected and should prove equal to that supplied last year. The usual travelling concessions had been obtained from the Southern Railway. Over £400 would be given in prizes at the National Miniature meeting.

Lord Cheylesmore also mentioned that the competitions for the Imperial Challenge Shields and His Majesty the King's Shield were both progressing. For the former there had been a satisfactory increase in the entries received from home units this year of over 2,000 boys.

Referring to the Association's appeal for funds recently launched by the Prince of Wales, Lord Cheylesmore said their hopes of raising £100,000 had not been fully justified, for up to the present only £16,727 had been received. What they really wanted was an assured income of about £5,000. If they could only obtain that they should be able to go on without fear of disaster. He hoped they would have raised at least £20,000 before the Bisley Meeting began, and he appealed to members to do all they could to obtain further subscriptions. He added that Lord Derby had retired from the Council and announced that Admiral of the Fleet Lord Jellicoe had consented to allow his name to be proposed at the next meeting for the vacancy.

Around The City.

The mustering of the local squadron of Volunteer Cavalry for the annual camp at the Exhibition Grounds commenced this morning. There were troops from the city, from Smith, Douro and surrounding townships. Adjutant Sloan is in command to-day.

THE PIANO PEDALS.

The pedals of the piano are often mis-used by performers, but for all that they are of very great use in assisting the instrument to the best of its powers. The soft pedal so shifts the piano "action," that the stroke of the hammer comes into contact with only one or two of the unison strings which produce each note. The sustaining (or "loud") pedal releases the strings from the "dampers"—which check the vibrations of each stroke of the hammer—and lets those vibrations be heard. Badly used, the loud pedal merely makes more and sometimes unpleasant noise. Artistically used, it allows the pianist many beautiful effects of sustained tone.

WEDDING BELLS

GOSSELIN—HANNA.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at Sacred Heart Church, June 1st, when Mary F. Hanna became the bride of Peter Gosselin, both of this city.

After a short honeymoon the couple returned to Peterborough, where they will reside.

O'BRIEN—CAVANAGH.

DOURO, June 18.—On Tuesday morning at St. Joseph's Church, Douro, a pretty wedding took place when Miss Annie B. Cavanagh, daughter of the late Richard Cavanagh and Mrs. Cavanagh, was united in marriage to Mr. William G. O'Brien, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick O'Brien, Rev. M. J. McGuire performing the ceremony. The bride wore a French blue satin-faced Canton dress, and cream Leghorn hat with trimmings of cream and blue. Her bouquet was white carnations. The bridesmaid, Miss Teresa Cavanagh, sister of the bride, also wore a gown of French blue satin-faced Canton with white satin hat and carrying pink carnations. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Richard O'Brien. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold and sapphire rosary, and to the bridesmaid a bracelet.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, the young couple receiving many handsome gifts.

In a few days Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien will leave for their home in Detroit, where the groom has a good position.

Hungarian Prince Joins Sausage Makers' Guild

BUDAPEST, June 19. (United Press).—The Sausage Makers' Guild to-day has a new recruit—a noble one at that.

Prince Paul Esterhazy, who has just come of age, has installed a potted meat and sausage factory on his estates, and is personally supervising it.

RAIDER MAILED SHARE OF LOOT TO HIS MOTHER

Unselfish Spirit Seen in the Strike Area of Nova Scotia.

HOPE IN MURDOCK.

Parties Refuse To Make Statements Until Labor Minister Speaks.

SYDNEY, N.S., June 19 (Canadian Press)—Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, was still in Sydney last night, indicating that he had not finished his attempts at conciliation between the British Empire Steel Corporation and their miners. He was expected to soon break the silence he has maintained since the beginnning of his conversations with the opposing parties on Tuesday. In the meantime the miners' executive and J. L. McLurg, vicepresident of the corporation, decline to make any statement, wishing, they say, to leave that to the minister and to avoid prejudicing his efforts.

A development yesterday was the swearing out of a large number of search warrants at Sydney Mines in connection with the recent taking of the $60,0000 stock of the corporation stock there, and the arrest of William Whalen and M. Walsh..

Goods, alleged to be from the store, were found in a number of houses. Apparently one man had gone to the trouble of carrying home a heavy brass bedstead, while another was not selfish in his efforts, but had addressed parcel of goods to his mother in another part of Nova Scotia.

Pumping Started

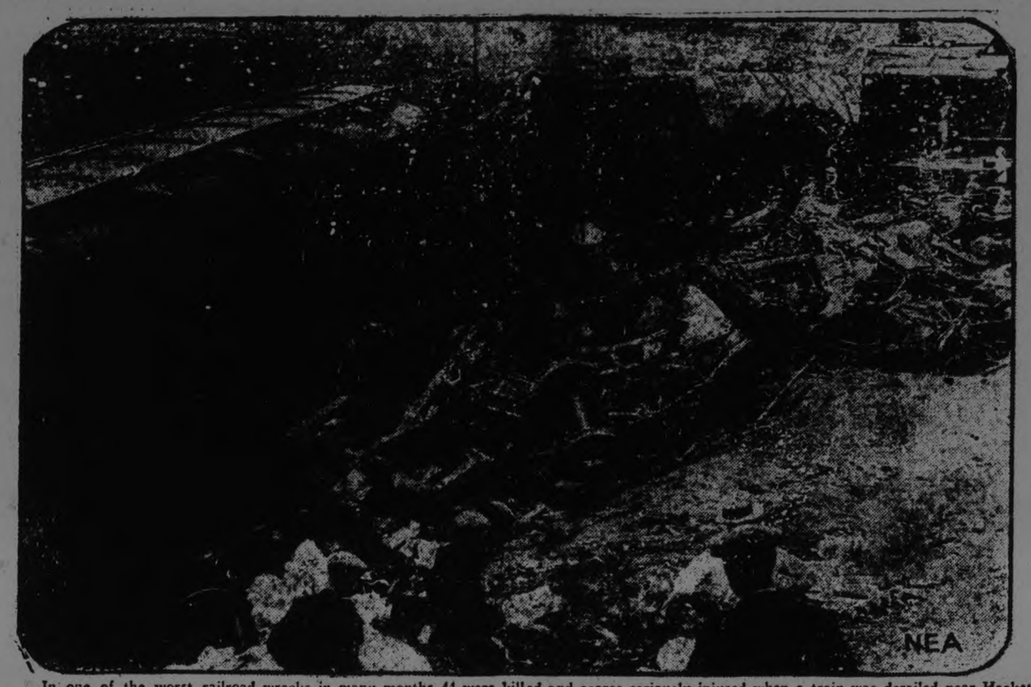
Operation of the fans in a number of collieries from the power house at number two mine continued yesterday and some pumping was started in one or two mines. Maintenance work is expected to make steady progress.

With the addition of four hundred Royal Canadian Artillery and Royal Canadian Horse Artillery forces yesterday troops are distributed over the mining area, including the corporation general offices at Glace Bay, No two and the New Waterford power houses, reserve, Sydney Mines, the Sydney steel plant and other points.

Forty of the artillery force were sent to Sydney Mines this evening to join the thirty-five dragoons already there Everything remains quiet in the district and it is not expected that there will be further disturbances of any moment for the present at least.

The town of New Waterford continues without electric lighting and water supply except that from wells and springs. The water scarcity is causing concern to insurance companies. There is no announcement as to how long it will take to put the power house back into operation.

WHERE 44 DIED IN TRAIN ACCIDENT



In one of the worst railroad wrecks in many months 44 were killed and scores seriously injured when a train was derailed near Hackettstown, New Jersey. Most of the victims were German excursionists from Chicago, Ill., on their way to sail from New York to Berlin. Here is a comprehensive view of the wreck. Note the little boy in night-gown on the extreme right, the garments of passengerss and the bandages of the rescue workers in the foreground.

RESENT TAKING COLLEGE SEATS

Action of Unionists Calls Forth Strong Terms From Montreal Presbytery.

"PRIVATE BURGLARY."

MONTREAL, June 19. Canadian Press. — Denounced as "stupid brigandage," "private burglary," and deprecated in a formal resolution the action of the Unionists in taking over the official seal and papers at the Presbyterian Theological College, was resented at yesterday's meeting of the Montreal Presbytery of the Continuing Presbyterian Church in Canada.

Rev. J. J. McCaskill introduced the question, saying that the Presbytery should do something about the college being "broken into by ecclesiastical and other bandits,' and documents taken.

Rev. Malcolm Campbell, Moderator, termed the action of the Unionists childish, and said the action would expose them to criticism which would react upon them. Rev. Dr. E. Scott spoke of the Unionists' action as "private burglary."

GIRL WAS KILLED BY STRYCHNINE

Evidence Showed That Mistress Had Bought Poison For Rats.

DOMESTIC TROUBLE.

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., June 19. (Canadian Press).—The inquest into the death of Martha Winkelman, 20-year-old German immigrant girl, yesterday afternoon, resulted in a verdict that death had resulted from strychnine poisoning. Analysis of the girl's stomach showed that it contained half a grain of strychnine. Evidence previously taken established the fact that the girl had been the cause of domestic friction between her employers, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Snyder. It had also been stated in the evidence that Mrs. Snyder had purchased a bottle of strychnine for rats two weeks prior to the girl's death. This she had hidden in an old stove in the pantry but, as far as she knew, the girl had known nothing of its whereabouts. However, on the day of her death, the girl had come out of the pantry with her hand to her side as if in pain, and almost immediately afterward had gone into convulsions.

HANG SLAYER THIS MORNING

Henri Messier Paid Penalty For Butcher Killed in Hold-up.

PAL REPRIEVED.

SOREL, Que., June 19. (Canadian Press).—Henri Messier, 19-year-old slayer, was hanged here a few minutes after five o'clock this morning in the court yard of the local jail for the murder last November of Emile Pelletier, a butcher, whom he, with Hermengilde Duffault, held up and beat so seriously that the victim died. Duffault, who was to have hanged with Messier, received a reprieve late yesterday afternoon, his sentence having been commuted to life imprisonment. Messier died with a prayer for forgiveness on his lips.

ABANDONED PLANE 150 MILES FROM NORTH POLE MARKER OF AMUNDSEN'S 'FARTHEST NORTH'

Explorer and Six Companions Came Back in One Plane.

WILL TRY AGAIN.

Believes That Experience Just Gained Will Make Success Possible.

LONDON, June 19. (Canadian Press).—Roald Amundsen has once more come safely out of the merciless grip of the Arctic. An abandoned seaplane frozen in the ice one hundred and fifty miles from the North Pole remains as his "farthest north" marker, but the great Norwegian explorer and his five intrepid companions are enjoying the comfort of bunks and warm meals after 28 days of untold hardships, during which they pried the other machine out of the ice and flew back to Spitzbergen.

Amundsen failed to realize his dream of reaching the Pole by air, but the failure is almost entirely lost sight of here in a great popular wave of relief at the news of his return and admiration at his heroic accomplishment.

Amundsen's two planes, one commanded by himself and the other by his fellow-adventurer and financial backer, Lincoln Ellsworth, disappeared over the northern horizon from King's Bay, Spitzbergen, on May 21. The planes carried no wireless, and as the days passed, anxiety increased regarding their fate, and extensive plans were under way to search the Arctic ice fields when word was flashed yesterday that the explorers had returned.

Details since received here have been very meagre, but despatches from Oslo, the Norwegian capital, say all six men are safe. They arrived at Spitzbergen in their remaining plane and were conveyed by a fishing boat to King's Bay. The expedition reached North Latitude 88 degrees 30 minutes, or about 150 miles from the Pole, according to despatches.

WILL TRY AGAIN.

COPENHAGEN, June 19. (United Press).—Dissatisfied with the result of his aerial attempt to reach the North Pole, Captain Roald Amundsen is determined to try again, according to the newspaper, Social Demokraten, to-day.

This paper pictured him as reticent, but as believing that the experience he gained in his trip would enable him to succeed in a second effort.

PRESENT GAVEL TO PETERBORO' FIRE CAPTAIN

Fire Fighters' Federation Gave Token of Appreciation to Captain Jones.

FOR COURTESY SHOWN

J. J. O'Kelly, of Ottawa, Re-elected President— Approve Compulsory Pension.

KITCHENER, June 19, — Canadian Press. — James O'Kelly of Ottawa, was re-elected president of the Provincial Federation of Ontario Fire Fighters at the concluding session of the convention here yesterday.

A proposition received the endorsation of the convention to seek legislation making it compulsory for all towns and cities to provide superannuation and pension funds for their firemen, to which the firemen will also contribute.

Silver mounted gavels were presented to Delegates Parker of Hamilton and Jones of Peterboro in appreciation of the courtesies extended to the Federation by the locals of those two cities.

Fort William was chosen as the place for next year's convention.

Wm. O'Rourke, Sault Ste. Marie, was elected first vice-president.

STRIKE SPREADS TO OTHER PORTS

Has Begun in Hong-Kong, While Emissaries Are Going to Canton.

WARN VOLUNTEERS.

HONG-KONG, June 19 (Canadian Press).—The shipping strike spread to Hong-Kong to-day. Chinese students here also struck and decided to send a committee to Canton in connection with the proposed general strike movement. Steamship sailings to Canton and Macao have been cancelled. The strike is spreading to other British coasting steamers. British volunteers were warned of the possibility of their early mobilization in view of the emergency.

Bulgaria is using convict labor in an extensive program of reforestration.

Loyalty To Overseas Dominions Is As Important As Friendship With France, Says Cape Town Times

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, June 19.—(Canadian Press Cable).—The Cape Town Times, in an editorial headed "European Tangles," says that while awaiting further information justifying the security pact proposed by Austen Chamberlain, minister of foreign affairs for Great Britain, and Aristide Briand, minister of foreign affairs for France, it issues a warning to British commentators who, it says, are apt to assume that British sympathisers in the dominions will automatically agree that the dominions should join the British Government in such a scheme with France.

That paper continues: "The very opposite is the truth. There is a very strong body of opinion in the dominions convinced that the tendency of the British Foreign Office is to be intensely pre-occupied with European affairs. It is a dangerous tendency from the viewpoint of the true welfare of the British Empire."

The Times, referring to Chamberlain's loyalty to France, declares that loyalty to the dominions and other Britons overseas is at least as obligatory on the part of the British Government as loyalty to France. It also maintains that the foreign policy of the British peoples should be one that is dictated by their common interests which is a real guarantee of world peace. It is ludicrous to say that France's security is the main interest of the various communities of the British Empire.

DRAGOONS HERE UNDER CANVAS

"B" Squadron Rode in 35 Miles From Orono Yesterday Afternoon.

120 ALL RANKS

Peterborough's usually peaceful Exhibition Grounds has for the time being been turned into an armed camp, as the Third Prince of Wales Dragoons go under canvas for annual training. B Squadron rode in yesterday afternoon, in splendid cogdition after the trip of 35 miles. There are about 120 men and 90 horses in camp.

The unit will remain in training until June 26, under command of Lieut. Col. T. D. Johnston, M.P.P. Training has already commenced.

Fannie Landed In Canada Without Money Or Home And Surprised Railway People In Different Ways

MONTREAL, Que., June 19. (Special).—Six thousand miles of a journey by sea and land is a trying ordeal for a young lady to undertake, but to come from Glasgow via Canadian Pacific liner Metagama, to Montreal, and on arrival have no hotel or friend's house to hang her furs in is much worse.

To add to the difficulty of her position, she had come here without money or Dominion Express money orders and she was on her way to join friends whom she had never seen but hoped they would be pleased to look after her until she could do something to repay their kindness.

So, when it was indicated to Fannie last night that she could not get anywhere to spend the night she did not raise a rumpus like some might, but just raised appealing brown eyes to the men around her, and, without removing her clothes, lay down on the floor of the Dominion Express office and grabbed off the odd forty winks.

When the office opened next morning, the staff was amazed to find that six other members of the two sexes were also sleeping alongside the young lady of the night before. They were aroused and put on the train for Revelstoke, while everyone wished the party of newly arrived immigrants a pleasant journey. There was then entered in the

SOUTH MONAGHAN AND CAVAN U.F.O. CLUB ANNUAL PICNIC WITH MISS AGNES M'PHAIL

Five Hundred People Attend at Wallace's Point Despite Chill.

GOOD IMPRESSION.

Visitor Condemns Present Banking System—Blames Depression on Money.

(By a Staff Reporter.)

The U.F.O. Club of South Monaghan and Cavan held its annual picnic yesterday at Wallace's Point, with an attendance of about five hundred people, the cloudy weather of the afternoon lessening the usual attendance to a certain degree. The picnickers ate their suppers swathed in warm sweaters, with a chilly breeze blowing over the teacups.

A programme of addresses was the main portion of the afternoon's entertainment. Miss Agnes McPhail, M.P., was the chief speaker, with R. H. McMillan, of Huron County, giving an address on matters of interest to the farmer, mainly dealing with co-operative selling, and a brief address delivered by F. C. Patterson of Port Hope, agricultural representative for Durham. Fred. Wood of South Monaghan, president of the club, acted as chairman.

Miss McPhail, who was attired in a smart costume of purple and white striped broadcloth, and evidently made a very good impression on her audience, the majority of whom listened to her for the first time, opened her address with an endorsation of the previous speaker's remarks with regard to co-operative marketing, and looked forward to the time when farmers as a general rule would sell their produce through the contract system of pooling. If the farmers of the Dominion, she asserted, were organized to one hundred per cent. of their strength, their influence in Parliament would be felt to a much greater extent than at present. "Because it is true that it is our economic or money strength that sneaks in Parliament. That is why small groups of rich men have such power there. We should try also to be entirely free from partizanism, which does not mean being bound up with Liberalism or Torvism, but means backing our own people when we know they are wrong or shutting our eyes to the obvious faults of our friends."

Referring to the bad times prevailing at present and to the many solutions offered for their betterment, Miss McPhail laid the blame to the door of the money problem, and the way that money is handled at present.

Blames Grabbers.

"What is really the matter at the present time is that the primary producers of wealth, and we farmers are only one of this great group, which includes all the primary products of the country, cannot buy back goods. The man who makes shoes in a factory may not make enough money to buy shoes for his family, and so with the rest. We can produce unlimited quantities of stuff. Products are a drug on the market. But we cannot sell them or get rid of them. The reason for this is because of the vast army of people who are just grabbers, making an easy livin~ for themselves without helping the situation to any extent, non-producers and non-buyers."

"To-day we have not a democratic control of the natural resources of credit. Money should be the vehicle between one producer and another. It should be that instrument of credit which makes the exchange of products easy and possible. But money to-day has become a commodity to be bartered and sold and money-lenders and money-vendors have found it much more profitable to hoard and sell money than to use it as a medium for buying products. I think this question is more vital than the tariff or anything else. You know, we might sometime be able to pay off our national debt if we did not have to work so hard and so fast to pay off the interest on that debt. We must study the money question intelligently or the whole of civilization is going into bankruptcy. Twelve years ago we had thirty-four banks. To-day we have eleven. And yet these banks own nothing but your money, on which they have power to issue instruments of credit against all our natural resources and manufactures. Sometimes these banks own nothing but the buildings they occupy and yet they carry themselves pompously."

Speaking of the Parliamentary commission which heard various bankers at recent sittings, Miss McPhail said that the most insolent of the men appearing before this commission was Sir Frederick Williams Taylor, president of the Bankers' Association. "He was the great all-in-all and we were nothing, but Parliament is changing for the good, and we did not let him get away with it."

"We have a long way to go, however, before we acquire a democratic control of credit. Why should the banks have the power to print paper money that has absolutely no more value than any other piece of printed paper that you might pick up on the street on a windy day? It has no more value than what you put into it. Why should we not have a Federal Bank system with the right to issue against these same resources. When the provinces need money they go to New York and float a loan against the natural resources of the province. They pay interest that keeps them scratching for years, and all they get is some figures on the right side of a book. Why can't the Dominion Government issue instruments of credit against the resources of the province without any interest at all?

"The money question is not more difficult than any other question. It has simply a smoke screen of figures drawn across it. That is why the banks hate the little group of us who are advocating democratic control of credit."

International Affairs.

Democratic control of international relations was also advocated by Miss McPhail, who deplored the fact of entering into "European squabbles" without knowing the real facts of the case. "Disputes in Europe are usually inspired by desire for gain, the tearing to pieces of some lesser country or the looting of some less intelligent people. I don't think the invasion of Belgium caused the last war. We thought so then and some of us do now. But we cannot read authentic reports of authorities in power at that time, and believe that the Belgium invasion was the cause of the trouble, nor doubt that if the staying out by England from the squabble would have saved Belgium, that she would still have gone in."

"Why are we so stupidly blind? We have degraded the love of country because we have woven into it the idea that the great patriots are not those who look with love at any other country. Do you know who are our enemies, who are the bad people in any argument we may have? They are those who may happen to be against us at the moment. Perhaps in the past we have been friendly with them, but if at the moment, they do not agree with us, then they are enemy nations and must be demolished, if possible."

Election Possibilty.

Speaking of the possiblity of a general election in the Fall of this year, Miss McPhail said it depended upon the result of the Nova Scotia elections this month. "If the Liberal Government, which has been in power there for forty-three years, is upheld, then we will have an election. If they are defeated, and I hope they will be, because forty-three years is much too long for any party to be in power in any place, then we won't have a general election."

Going on to speak of the squandering of public funds, Miss McPhail alluded to the opening ceremonies of Parliament, when the speech from the Throne, read by Lord Byng, but really written by the Prime Minister and giving an outline "of the things they want the people to think they will do during the session, but which they won't have time to attend to," is read. "According to this speech, the thing to do is to solve the high cost of living is to produce more, and bring in more immigrants."

Of the British North America Act, Miss McPhail said it was a great blessing to both parties, because it usually offered a real excuse for not doing anything that either of the parties wished to refrain from. However, she looked forward to the time when this Act would be amended, when those who spend most of their time in studying the landscape over their shoulders" would be unable to stop the forward march of progress in this regard, and then the Senate will have to wrap itself in cotton wool and retire. Sometimes I forget that the Senate is part of the Parliament of Canada. They never forget it, however. We think of them as an expense on the face of the earth."

Suffering Strikers.

Miss McPhail spoke in feeling terms of the situation among the striking miners in Nova Scotia, and of the cause as being the placing of the natural resources of that province in the hands of a company whose sole thought is for their dividends, and who have water-logged their stock to such an extent that they are compelled to make profits from either of two sources—the consumers of their products or the miners of it. "And the consumers are spread over a wide area and not easily got at, so they take it out of the workers."

You would never imagine that such conditions of slavery could exist. The company says there people are free to go away, but so are you all free to go away and live in California, if you had the means to do it. They go into the mines as young boys and work there for years. They come out to live in the company's houses—rotten, sagging structures, where their haggard women try to keep a home together. There is not so much wrong with their wage, if they had the work. But they get little more than two or three days' work in a week, and then the check offs from that amount, their dues to their own association, their hospital dues, their rent to the company, their coal to the company, their store bills, make some of these bob-tailed pay cheques finish with a balance sometimes of nothing at all, or of a dollar or two, and that to a man with a family of perhaps six or eight children."

Petersen Contract

Miss McPhail spoke of the Petersen contract as the result either of sloppy thinking or deep rascality. Sir William Petersen, whose sudden death put a tragic end to the negotiations, was drawn into it by W. T. R. Preston, who is a favorite of the Liberal party, the proof being that he always has some sort of a job. Sir William Petersen and Preston were personal friends, and I could connect that friendship, but I will not, with one of the Cabinet ministers. It may be all right, but they were foolish to link it up with friendship. Anyway, Sir William Petersen is dead."

What Miss McPhail characterized as expensive jokes were the grants for the building of the Halifax elevator, for the port of Prince Rupert, and for the harbor at Quebec. At Halifax, she asserted, only 2,000 bushels of grain were sent through last year. The member for that constituency, Bobby" Finn, gets things done. He got an elevator grant for Halifax which costs us half a million dollars and it is not needed at all. There is a question whether all the money will go to the elevator. I don't know."

Commenting on "Bobby Finn's" first entrance in the House, when he was introduced as a new candidate, and appeared "all dressed up, with a rose in his buttonhole and glasses with a ribbon," Miss McPhail aroused much mirth with the repetition of the utterance of a neighbor of hers in the House: "Is that him? Why, he's a damned dressmaker."

The Governmental grants for the port of Vancouver were quite justified, in view of the increasing business from this port, said the speaker, who took exception, however, to the grant of $1,185,000 for the port of Prince Rupert, and the grant of five millions for the Quebec harbor was also stamped as outrageous, in view of the fact, as the speaker said, that facilities at that port at present exceeded demands made on it. "Montreal is the great outgoing port and you can't change it. You can't artificially create ports."

The reason for the Quebec grant was given as being the fact that a Conservative government, when in power, had given grants to Conservative-owned sections of land there and the Liberal government was doing likewise now with its friends. "We will have to cut this sort of thing out," said Miss McPhail, referring to similar conditions, "on the side roads and concessions, where they think a grant from the council for something they want won't come out of their own pockets, but from some other fortunate source."

An appeal for organization among the farmers and a demand that the men whom they send to Parliament "shall serve those they are sent to serve," formed the concluding sentences of Miss McPhail's address.

R. J. McMillan.

R. J. McMillan, of Huron County, one of the Board of Directors of the Co-operative Company, spoke at some length, outlining what the co-operative selling agencies had done for the farmers of this province in the Toronto creamery, the egg pool, the sale of binder twine and in live stock shipping. He said that Canadian farmers were one hundred per cent. producers, as against the production of eighty per cent. of the farmers of the Argentine, and sixty-four per cent. by the farmers of the United States. And this was because the Canadian farmer and his wife were such good workers.

"After seven long years' experience in this province with co-operative selling, I have come to the conclusion that party politics are the greatest hindrance of all to our organization. What has party politics ever done for any of you? Has it ever put a dollar in your pockets? Party politics in the last fifty years has lost you millions of dollars."

Mr. McMillan pointed to the organization of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and the Labor party in Canada as being examples of the methods the farmers should use in organizing for their own good, and went on to point to some of the achievements in the past seven years by the Farmers' Co-operative Selling Company.

The Toronto Creamery, he said, had made over $40,000 last year, with a record of 2,235,000 pounds of butter produced in that period, and an expected production this year of 2,750,000 pounds. "We are paying a dividend and more money than any other creamery in the province with the exception of one," this exception, said Mr. McMillan, being a competitive concern, a branch of a United States business.

In the egg pool, we paid 20 cents on the Toronto basis on the start, and at the finish, gave 11 cents more on the dozen. Last year, the town of Zurich alone received $740 to distribute among its egg producers from the pool.

With regard to binder twine, in the past five years, the sum of two and one-half millions had been saved the farmers of the province, declared the speaker, who said that the price at that time was 20 cents a pound, and the action of the co-operative company in going to Ireland and buying in quantities had reduced the quotation to 14 cents a pound. A demand from Ottawa for $45,000 for the dumping clause had been disregarded by the company, who found after a later demand that representations had been made to the Government for such an impost by a binder twine firm from the United States doing business in Canada.

Co-operative livestock selling had also been a boon financially to the farmer asserted the speaker, who said that millions of dollars had been saved the producer in this way. "Two years ago the packers of Ontario admitted that we kept up the price from 1½ to 3 cents on the pound, and with a million hogs marketed in Ontario that year, an average of 2 cents on the pound would mean an increase to you of about four million dollars." Increases on the market from time to time were also attributed to the actions of the company. Mr. McMillan said that many of the shippers were not doing the right thing by the farmers. They send to the co-operative company for a while and then divert the produce to other buyers.

Mr. McMillan made a strong plea for support of the co-operative company by the farmers generally.

F. C. Patterson.

F. C. Patterson of Port Hope, agricultural representative for Durham, gave a brief outline of conditions observed by him in a recent visit to Indiana, in company with other agricultural representatives, to study conditions there. The prolonged drought had injured the crop to such an extent that a sixty per cent. crop of corn was the only remaining outlook for this year of Indiana farmers. Some idea of their system of marketing was given by the speaker, who finished with a plea for the growing of more alfalfa in the province, as being a very worth-while crop.

A hearty vote of thanks to the several speakers was moved by J. C. Campbell, of South Monaghan, and accorded an enthusiastic response by the audience.

Accidents,

The sports which followed the programme of speeches included a number of running races, a game between two opposing softball teams, and a game of baseball.

Two accidents, more or less serious, marred to a certain extent the enjoyment of the occasion. Thompson Huggins, driving a roadster, had the misfortune to run into and knock down a group of girls, one of whom, Miss Kathleen Lancashire of Millbrook, was injured rather severely about the chest. The others were bruised considerably. The group included two former members of the Normal School here, Miss Loretta Barnard of South Monaghan and Miss Ethel Falls of Hamilton Township, also Miss Connie McConnachie of South Monaghan.

The second victim of the day's festivities was Charles Breckenridge of Cavan, who was struck so severely in the stomach by a foul ball, while watching the men's game, that he had to be removed in an automobile.

Ladies' Softball.

The ladies' softball game resulted in a score of 4-3 in favor of Millbrook, the line-up being as follows: For Millbrook: Mrs. Basil Richards p, Miss Luella Shaw c, Miss Gertrude Gray 1b, Miss "Ted" Russell 2b, Miss Phyllis Richards 3b, Miss Thelma Armstrong ss, Miss Betty Montgomery lf, Miss Olive Carroll rf. For Bailieboro: Miss Effie Perrin p, Miss Marjorie Price c, Miss May Earl 1b, Miss Mary Panter 2b, Miss Viola White 3b, Miss Hazel Armstrong ss, Miss Lottie Earl lf, Miss Myrtle Munro rf. Ronald Deyell acted as umpire. Basil Richards as manager for Millbrook and John Breckenridge as manager for Bailieboro, and Bruce Dawson of Millbrook as base umpires.

The programme of races for boys and girls, in charge of W. H. Barnard of South Monaghan, resulted as follows:

Boys under ten years of age: Max Henry, Bailieboro; Frank Barnard, South Monaghan; Dalton Brown of Millbrook.

Boys under thirteen years: Jack Hutchinson, Cavan; Joe Barnard, South Monaghan; Tom Fallis, Millbrook.

Boys under fifteen years: E. Boner, Wallace Point; N. Roland, Millbrook; Keith Barnard, South Monaghan.

Boys under eight years: Clifford Patten, South Monaghan; Harold Donaldson, Otonabee; John Moncrief, South Monaghan.

Girls under ten years of age: Muriel Whittington, South Monaghan; Bessie Barnard, South Monaghan; Pearl Huggins, Fraserville.

Girls under thirteen years: Marjorie Collins, Otonabee; Muriel Whittington, South Monaghan; Helen Savigny, Otonabee.

QUEBEC COMING TO OLD ONTARIO

Good-will Tour of Province Planned Under Premier Henri Bourassa.

325 IN PARTY

TORONTO, June 19. (Special.) — With a view to making arrangements for a party of representative citizens from Quebec to make a tour of Ontario visiting its various cities and towns during the month of August, Napoleon La Fortune, manager of the newspaper Le Devoir and J. P. Marion, District Passenger Agent of the Canadian National Railways, arrived in Toronto yesterday, and conferred with Mayor Foster and the Executive of the Toronto Board of Trade, where they were the guests of the executive at a luncheon. Mr. Marion and Mr. La Fortune also called at Government House, and upon Hon. Mr. Henry, Acting Prime Minister.

It is anticipated that more than three hundred and twenty-five of the leading French-Canadians of the province, will make the tour.

The party will be headed by Henri Bourassa, and will comprise the leading business men, professional men, educators and clergy, and the object is to promote a closer commercial and social relationship between the two peoples.

During the day tentative arrangements were made for the Toronto visit which will take place on August 21. Among the other cities to be visited are: Sudbury, Midland (where the ruins of old fort St. Marie will be inspected), Niagara Falls, Windsor, Detroit, Sarnia, Kingston and Pembroke.

Mr. Marion and Mr. LaFortune left to-night for Sudbury and the north. Two special Canadian National trains will be required to accommodate the party.

RAILWAY BILL PASSES HOUSE

Clears Way For Equalization of Freight Rates Throughout Dominion.

GOES TO SENATE.

OTTAWA, June 19 (Canadian Press)—A bill amending the railway act so as to clear the way for equalization of freight rates throughout the Dominion by the Board of Railway Commissioners passed the House of Commons last night. There was no division on the third reading. Two amendments, both from the Progressive party, while the bill was in the committee stage, met with defeat. Robert Forke, Progressive leader, moved that nothing in the bill should in any way affect pending litigation between the Government of Manitoba and the Canadian Northern Railway arising out of the 1901 agreement between the province and the company. This amendment the government declined to accept on the ground that it would defeat the object of the bill and hamper the railway commission in its work, and it was declared lost. Another amendment providing that rates in the prairie provinces should not exceeed by more than ten per cent the rates in eastern Canada, was defeated by a vote of 109 to 34. The bill now goes to the Senate.

Campbellford and District.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 19. — A. McLean Haig, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. Haig, has passed the first year's examination in the Osgoode Hall Law School. This young man is evidently keeping up his reputation as a student, which he established while attending the Campbellford High school as in the law examination he stood second in a list of 59 candidates.

Goes To Hosptial.

Ed. Henson, merchant on the west side, has gone to a Peterborough hospital to have his eyes treated and word has been received here that he will be obliged to undergo an operation. Mr. Henson was one of the most efficient members of St. Andrew's choir until eye trouble forced him to give up.

ENTERTAINMENT AT MARMORA IS LIKED

Town Hall Crowded—Continuation School Medal Winners' Records.

MARMORA, June 19.—The Town Hall was filled to overflowing on Tuesday evening, when W. Leonard Howe, the well-known English actor, related the salient features of the case of "John Lee, the man they could not hang." The story was illustrated by film and picture. Miss Doreen Thompson delighted the audience with her singing and dancing. Mrs. W. Litt acted as accompanist. The event was staged under the auspices of Marmora Booster Club.

Continuation School.

On Tuesday at the closing of the Continuation shcool, the report of those who took first and second place in each form, thereby earning the medals awarded by the trustees, was as follows:

Form I—1st Ida Clare, 84 p.c.; 2nd Stanley Pearce, 78 p.c.

Form III—1st Barbara Emmory, 67 p.c.; 2nd Marjory Colster, 57 p.c.

Form IV— 1st Hazel Williams, 89 p.c.; 2nd Hilda Thomson, 80 p.c.

Teachers Leave.

The teachers of both the Public and Separate schools at Deloro are leaving at the close of the present term. Owing to an increase of scholars, an assistant is being added to the Public school staff.

INSTANTLY KILLED.

Worker in Pulp Mill Struck on Head By Block of Wood.

STURGEON FALLS, June 19 (Canadian Press).—A heavy block of wood fell off an overhead conveyor at the pulp mill here yesterday and hit A. Legace on the head, killing him instantly. He was 30 years of age and married. An inquest will be held.

PROTECTION FROM ACCIDENTS.

The County Council has protected itself against damage suits arising out of traffic accidents on the roads under its jurisdiction by availing itself of a scheme of insurance, the company assuming all liability for damages in such accidents.

A similar course was adopted some time ago by the City Council, and both bodies were wise in their decision to adopt a safeguard against damage claims.

In the old days before the motor car became popular traffic accidents were not numerous enough to make it worth-while for a municipality to insure itself against such mishaps, but conditions have been revolutionized by the increase in the number of cars in commission, and no matter how carefully municipalities may try to avoid liability for accidents there are so many ways in which they may be held liable that the insurance method seems the only business-like means of protection from damage suits.

THE SALE OF THE NEW BEER.

Although the contention of General V. A. S. Williams, Commissioner of Provincial Police, and Inspector F. E. Elliott, in charge of the enforcement of the O. T. A., that the sale of the new beer is cleaning out the bootleggers may be a too rosy view of the situation, there is no doubt that the dire predictions of those who opposed the amendment of the Ontario Temperance Act have not been borne out.

The new beverage may not suit the hardy imbiber who likes his drink to have a recoil, but many other people are apparently satisfied to drink it—and they are not getting drunk on it.

The local record of arrests for drunkenness since the 4.4 beer went on sale confirms the impression that the Ferguson-Nickle brew is as harmless as the Attorney-General predicted it would be.

The head of the Provincial Police declares that there have been so few cases of breach of the O. T. A. since May 21 that the revenue from fines will suffer materially.

However, bootlegging will doubtless continue so long as there is enough demand for hard liquor to make the trade profitable.

The new beer interferes with some of that trade, however, as it is satisfactory to many people as a beverage, and thus deprives the illicit vendor of a share of patronage.

RT. HON. W. S. FIELDING.

The proposal to recognize the long and splendid public service of Rt. Hon. W. S. Fielding, the Minister of Finance, by providing him with an annuity of $10,000 a year on his retirement from public life, will [illegible] tics as a fitting reward for a life spent in the service of his country.

Retiring allowances for politicians would no doubt be unpopular if generally applied, but the case of the venerable Minister of Finance whose health has broken down as a result of his untiring attention to the onerous duties of his position is an exception, and no doubt will be endorsed by the majority of the members of the House, regardless of their political beliefs.

Mr. Fielding has done Canada great service in his long term in public life, as a member of the Laurier Cabinet, in his support of Canada's active prosecution of the war as a member of the Union Government, and more recently as Finance Minister in the Government of Hon. MacKenzie King.

His worth, his honesty of purpose, his faith in Canada, his ability to think broadly on big questions have combined to make him an outstanding figure in the public life of this country—and the recognition now proposed has been richly earned.

PROTECTING THE WATER FRONT.

Through the instrumentality of Mr. G. N. Gordon, M.P., the City Council has succeeded in having the Dominion Government place life-saving appliances at the east side of the Peterboro lock where a drowning occurred a few weeks ago.

This is a step in the right direction—but the work should not stop there.

There are other points on the water front within the city limits that need similar protection and the Government cannot very well be expected to provide the equipment for these danger spots.

The Council had the water front surveyed by a safety expert some time ago, and his report made a number of recommendations looking to a greater degree of protection for the citizens at certain points along the river.

The suggested action has not yet been taken by the civic government, and while it is desirable that the Federal authorities should protect points outside of the city that come under their jurisdiction, it becomes even more necessary that Peterboro should see to it that the water front within its borders is similarly equipped in case of emergency.

The installation of an alarm system at the bathing beaches was a splendid innovation, and it might be followed up by the carrying out of other recommendations in the report.

A NEW NOTE IN ADVERTISING.

A new note is being touched in some of the best-planned advertising that is being placed in Canadian newspapers by Canadian industries. It does not deal entirely with the product manufactured or with the service offered to the public. The idea seems to be one of drawing attention of the Canadian people themselves to their own country, their own industries, telling them what is sought in the way of future expansion and pointing plainly to the positiv eaccomplishment that has been achieved.

In the current issue of Marketing attention is drawn to several firms that are using space for this purpose.

The Northern Electric Company, for instance, comes out frankly in its advertising to state that it has faith in the future of Canada. Its announcement, after commenting on the manner in which foreign success has been heralded all over the world, goes on to say:

"Naturally there must be a reaction to this. And for Canada, it has been decidedly unfortunate. The continuous stream of foreign publicity has led our young men to feel that Canada has nothing to offer in comparison with other countries, that chances of success are far greater elsewhere. The truth is that Canada has unrivalled opportunities to offer her youth; opportunities for growth and financial success."

The announcement goes on to say that the Northern Electric has definitely adopted the idea of telling the public of the success of business activity in Canada, that they have faith in Canada, with the idea that others may catch the idea and move toward putting in motion a wholesome influence to offset the influence of "success elsewhere," at which shrine it is becoming a common habit of too many people to pay homage.

The Canadian Pacific Railway adopted the idea of "The Building of the Dominion" for an advertising campaign, and it has used excellent judgment in the selection of sketches and in the preparation of the descriptive matter accompanying them. So effective are some of these that there have been cases where school children have clipped the pictures to paste in the history scrapbooks now used in many of the public schools.

E. W. Beatty, President of the C. P. R., speaking at Hamilton recently, stated that the older generation in Canada knew the part the C. P. R. played in Confederation, but "a younger generation had grown up not so familiar with these facts. That was our problem of changing conditions, following the war, and in meeting it we have used the great educational force of advertising." Mr. Beatty believes it is well to point now and then to Canadian accomplishment, to say that the road over which he presides "spans the world." It is not any empty boast, but an accomplished and recognized fact, so why shouldn't it be stated?

There is something wholesome about the tone of the advertising referred to above. It is bound to bring results to the firms interested, and at the same time turn the eyes of Canadian people to Canadian problems, achievements and the possibilities for the future.—London Advertiser.

A BRIGHT OUTLOOK.

Agricultural and business conditions during May were on the whole more satisfactory than a year ago, says the monthly commercial letter of the Bank of Commerce. The reports received from various parts of the Dominion show that seeding has been carried out under favourable auspices and that the condition of the soil augurs well for a good yield. Both the wholesale and the retail trade are still being conducted on a conservative scale, but apparently there is a good deal of optimism in the air, for the manufacturing industries show considerable activity. The situation is not the same, however, throughout the entire country, nor in all lines of business, but it is doubtful whether this ideal condition of affairs has ever existed except in times of unusual prosperity. In both Canada and the United States there has been a growing conviction that business has settled down to a fairly long term of quiet but steady growth, and that it is folly to look back upon the condition of business in 1918 or even in 1913 as a permanent normal standard. The sooner we are able, therefore, to realize that the present situation is normal and healthy, the easier it will be for us to deal with any difficulties which may arise. Canada, as well as the rest of the world, has learned to take her losses during the past few years, and will likewise have the courage to adapt her standards and business methods to cope with the facts of the case. We have already seen how easy it is for any much-heralded revival of business along the lines of war-time prosperity to dwindle away into nothingness, and it would therefore be unwise to expect too much of the immediate future; but the present itself is by no means as black as it is sometimes painted, nor should its good points be lost sight of in the hope of what tomorrow may bring forth. The present condition of business should, in fact, inspire every Canadian with confidence.

Agriculture in all its branches is on a sounder footing than for some time past, and not only is this true, but every indication points to an expanding market for agricultural products in general. We are in an excellent position to produce a large part of what the world requires in the way of grain, flour and animal products among others, but this fact only raises the problem as to how we can by wise methods of distribution make the best use of our opportunities in the world markets. What is lacking there is not the desire but the ability to buy, and as the purchasing power of our customers abroad improves through the stabilization of the political situation and of the foreign exchanges, we may expect to find an increased demand. There is one rider, however, attached to this, which is continually being pointed out by our trade commissioners overseas, namely, that our producers and exporters must take the greatest pains to keep their commodities up to standard. It is, of course, certain [illegible] as for domestic consumption, reduce our production costs to a minimum, but it is equally important that we should win and maintain the confidence of foreign importers in the highest degree possible.

The latest report of the United States Department of Agriculture indicates that the winter wheat crop in that country will be small, more than half the acreage having been abandoned in some of the Western States. While the spring wheat crop is as yet an uncertain factor, the outlook for the year's entire yield appears to be more favourable for Canada than for her neighbour and, although there is little likelihood of a world shortage such as would cause a steep rise in prices, there appears to be every reason for hoping that with a good growing season we can market our crop at a satisfactory figure. The same report also states that the total supply of hogs and hog products in sight for the remainder of the year is much less than at any time since the close of the war and that this will presumably affect not only the prospects of hog-raising but of the cattle industry as well.

TORONTO CATTLE

TORONTO, June 19.—Making a few necessary price concessions on stuff for Thursday, the market ceipts 7,000; fed steers 15 to 25 cents cleared of the large carry over from the recent hot weather spell. With the usual light offering of fresh stuff stuff for Thursday, the market closed with a clean slate at good steady prices. A small bunch of heavy export steers sold at $8 to $8. 50 for three extra choice steers. It is expected there will be a good export market next week, with plenty of vessel space available. The total export trade for this week was about 2,300 cattle bought in the country and billed through.

Choice, light handy butcher cattle are quoted steady and in good demand at $7 to $7.50; fair, medium, $6.75 to $7, and common, $5.50 to $6.50.

Fat butcher cows in good market at $5.50 to $6.

Calves steady at $9 to $9.50 tops.

STERLING EXCHANGE

Sterling demand $4.85 3-8.

Sterling cables $4.85 7-8.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, June 19 (Canadian Press).—The foreign demand for Canadian grain on the Montreal market was quieter than in Wednesday's session, owing to the fact that buyers were not disposed to pay the higher prices asked by exporters overnight, and the only sales reported were a few odd loads of No. 4 barley to Bristol at 35s. 4 1-2d. per quarter for June shipment. There was some enquiry from New York houses for No. 1 Nofthern wheat at 13 1-2 cents per bushel f.o.b. Montreal, but no business resulted.

A moderate trade continues to be done in baled hay for local account, but the movement in other directions was reported small and the market on the whole was quiet with a steady undertone. Sales of good No. 2 timothy hay were made at $14 per ton, No. 3 timothy hay at $11 to $12 per ton, and clover mixed hay at $10.50 to $11 per ton, f.o.b. cars here.

A fair amount of business continues to be done in eggs in a wholesale jobbing way, there being a steady demand for small lots to meet immediate wants and the market was moderately active with a firm undertone. The receipts were 1,297 cases, as against 2,104 for the same day last week, and 2,523 for the corresponding day a year ago.

The receipts of butter yesterday were 5,193 packages, as against 5,282 for the same day last week and 7,846 for the corresponding day a year ago. There was some demand from English importers for supplies and as the prices bid were in line with exporters' views a little business resulted, but the market on the whole was much quieter than it has been of late and the undertone if anything was inclined to be easier. The trading on spot was slow. The trade in a wholesale jobbing way was steady and prices were unchanged with sales of finest creamery at 36 cents per lb. in solid packages, and at 37 cents per lb. in 1-lb. blocks.

The receipts of cheese were 6,397 boxes, as compared with 7,247 for the same day last week, and 10,540 or the corresponding day a year ago. Owing to the falling off in the demand from foreign sources for supplies and the weaker tone of cable advices the market here was much quieter and the undertone easier with little new business passing, but spot prices were unchanged.

BROCKVILLE CHEESE BOARD

BROCKVILLE, June 19 (Canadian Press).—The offerings of cheese on the board were 2,942 boxes, consisting of 1,540 boxes of white, and 1,402 boxes colored. The highest price bid was 18 7-8 cents per lb. at which 100 boxes of white and 142 boxes of colored were sold showing a decline of 1-2 cent per lb. as compared with a week ago, but it was 2 7-8 cents per lb. higher than a year ago when 2,915 boxes sold at 15 5-8 cents per lb.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 19. — Wheat prices averaged lower yesterday, influenced largely by the cold dry weather likely to retard black rust. Frthermore reports were conflicting as to whether or not black rust had been discovered in South Dakota as well as in North Dakota. Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled at the same as Wednesday's finish to [illegible] cents d[illegible]y $1.52 [illegible], and Sept. $1.52 1-2 to $1.52 5-8, with corn 1 3-8 to 3 cents ket Wednesday was practically and provisions showing 5 to 42 cents gain.

A late rally which took place in wheat values was for the most part ascribed to profit-taking by speculators who previously were on the selling side of the market. According to some observers, however, renewed buying just at the last was more in the nature of reinstatements of holdings, for eastern interests in particular. Some European buying for July-August shipment wa also noted, the first business of the kind in some time.

Corn and oats were depressed, mainly by an official report that corn acreage had been increased 5 1-2 per cent., and that the corn crop condition was about the usual average.

Higher quotations on hogs gave a lift to provisions.

GASOLINE SHORTAGE FORCED AMUNDSEN TO RETURN EARLY FROM NORTH POLE VENTURE

Explorer Reached 150 Miles From Pole—600 Miles From Base.

MAY TRY AGAIN.

Two Airplanes Are Ready For Second Attempt at Any Time.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, June 19. (Canadian Press).—A despatch received here from Oslo, Norway, says the two airplanes in which Roald Amundsen's expedition set out for the North Pole on May 21 arrived in Spitzbergen Tuesday afternoon.

The despatch indicates that the members of the expedition are safe and that it is likely a new attempt to reach the Pole will be made shortly.

The despatch received here says Amundsen used so much fuel that he was unable to continue, and after descending in latitude 87.10 was forced to return to Spitzbergen.

Latitude 87.10, where the Stockholm despatch says Amundsen came down because of a shortage in his supply of gas, is only about 200 miles from the North Pole and about 600 miles from King's Bay, Spitzbergen, where the expedition took off for the flight.

Prior to the arrival of the Stockholm despatch the indications were that the Amundsen planes had returned to Spitzbergen Thursday, instead of Tuesday, as the Stockholm advices have it. Tuesday mentioned in the Stockholm despatch possibly may be an error in the transmission of the cable.

If Amundsen's planes have been damaged by the ice, there still are two other planes in Spitzbergen which he and his party can use in another endeavor to fly to the pole and back. These two planes, belonging to the Norwegian Government expedition, sent to the north to try to locate the missing North Pole expedition, arrived at King's Bay Wednesday from Norway. They were transported from Norton on board the steamer Ingertre and were put in the water at Advent Bay, from which place they flew over the glaciers to King's Bay. The planes are in charge of Lieutenants Lutzow Holm, Harald Styhr and Bernt Balchen and four mechanics.

In their trip from Advent Bay to King's Bay they functioned beautifully, and were said to be in the best of condition to start at any minute on a long flight over the ice regions to discover, if possible, the whereabouts of Amundsen and his party.

The machines used by Amundsen were German seaplanes which were built in Pisa, Italy. When they took off from King's Bay they had on board everything deemed necessary in the way of equipment and provisions. Not the slightest detail was forgotten. The loaded machines each weighed 3,000 kilos (6,612 pounds). The Dornier Company, which built them, had guaranteed them for lifting 2,500 kilos.

When Amundsen flew away the greatest load in the planes consisted of gas, each machine having on board about 5,000 pounds. This quantity was considered by Amundsen as sufficient for the expedition to reach the Pole and return to Spitzbergen, still having a small supply in the tanks.

Four Weeks Ago.

In two specially built airplanes, Roald Amundsen and his companions in this [illegible]ring of attempts to explore the region around the North Pole, flew from King's Bay, Spitzbergen, four weeks ago yesterday afternoon.

The plan was to return within 56 hours. Amundsen hoped to land near the Pole, spend six hours making observations and return to the base where his staunch little ships, the [illegible] and the Hobby [illegible] waiting.

While the world waited for word from the north days and finally weeks passed without any message from Amundsen.

Scientists throughout the world gave their opinions as to the probable safety of the expedition—some believing them safe, others maintaining the explorers must be lost.

Friends Never Gave Up Hope.

Close friends and relatives of the members of the expedition in this country refused to give up hope. Mr. and Mrs. Burton Prentiss, brother-in-law and sister of Lincoln Ellsworth, the only American with Amundsen, maintaining that the flyers were safe.

Bereaved While on Flight.

Ellsworth was born in Chicago, attended Columbia University and later McGill at Montreal. He had flying experience in France during the World War, and explored in the Yukon, hence was qualified to act as co-leader of the expedition with Amundsen. While Ellsworth was on the flight, his father, chief financial backer of the expedition, died suddenly in Italy.

Ellsworth and Amundsen both acted as observers in the planes in which they flew.

The latter's fame as an explorer has been world-wide, especially since 1912, when he was the first man to reach the South Pole and later traversed the north-west passage and discovered the north magnetic pole.

First word from the north that the explorers had returned safely from their adventurous flight was received by leaders in the world of scientific exploration with remarks of "I told you so."

Talk of Rescue Expeditions.

After Amundsen had failed to return to Spitzbergen for a fortnight and more, however, there was much talk of rescue expeditions. Secretary of the Navy Wilbur was asked to send the dirigible, Los Angeles, to rescue the missing flyers. He declined.

Lieutenant-Commander Donald B. MacMillan, whose own polar expedition, which includes three airplanes in which he will fly over hitherto unknown lands, departed from Boston on Wednesday, and was going to look for Amundsen before taking up his own exploration.

Norway finally got an expedition under way, led by Lieutenant Lutzow Holm, which was to skirt the edge of the Arctic ice fields between Spitzbergen and the North Pole.

Eight Months' Sentence on Nine Charges to Eldest of Trio.

CAUGHT IN ACT.

REGINA, Sask., June 19.—(Canadian Press.)— When members of the Regina police force caught three youths in the act of robbing a store in the early hours of yesterday morning they were able to piece together possibly the most remarkable series of juvenile crimes in the history of the city. One of the boys, Samuel Turcotte, barely 17, and only one of the gang of legal criminal age, pleaded guilty to nine separate charges of theft and shop breaking when arraigned in the police court. He was sent to the common jail for eight months.

ALLAN B. MANN CATTLE SALE DREW CROWDS

Five Hundred Present and Good Prices Received for Stock.

SOW BROUGHT $85

High Price for Cow Was $130—Others Over $100 Mark.

"The Hawthornes," home of Allan B. Mann, well-known Smith Township farmer, was yesterday the scene of one of the most successful auction sales of cattle and pigs in a long time. About 500 interested people gathered on the property and the auctioneers, George Johnston and Son, of Port Perry, and S. S. Staples, of Cavan, were able to get good prices on all the animals offered.

About 35 pure-bred Yorkshire pigs were disposed of, and their sale was characterized by Mr. Mann as being exceptionally good. The high price was $85.00 for a brood sow. The pigs sold up to $47.00, at which figure a considerable number were sold. Three-month-old pigs brought $12.00 each, and hundred pound sows were sold for $17.00.

The cattle offered were Shorthorns and grade cattle. No young cattle were offered except a few calves with their dams. The highest sum realized was $130 for a cow with her calf. Good prices, some of them over one hundred dollars, were obtained for the others offered, and both Mr. Mann and Mr. Johnston expressed themselves as being highly pleased with the result of the sale.

Buyers were present from all over the district, and the sale-books show, among others, the names of Messrs. Simmons, Welcome; Morrison, South Monaghan; Gordon Mann, Smith Township; McCamus, Cavan; Harold Cathcart, Ida; Humphreys, Keene; and Beattie, Otonabee. The noted quality of the cattle is shown by the widespread area from which the buyers were drawn.

Railway Company Refuses To Say That Folkestone Is Unsurpassed By Any Town on the South Coast

LONDON, June 19. Canadian Press Cable.) - Folkestone, well remembered doubtless by many Canadian soldiers, is issued a poster announcing itself as "unsurpassed for health and beauty by any town in the south coast." The description will probably be assented to by any visitors who were not there for a spell of soldiering.

The Southern Railway which serves the town, refuses, however to display the advertisement because it is likely to offend the other south coast watering places which the railway also serves.

Folkestone retorts in so many words that the company fails to understand the real value of the English language. The word "unsurpassed," it says, does not mean that Folkestone is better than the other places but that it is as good as any other place which is really a quite modest way of proclaiming your merits. The railway refuses to accept this submission and demands that the superscription be deleted.

Needless to say the other watering places heartily support the railway. Some of the general public say that the Southern Railway has already covered itself with ridicule through eccentric management of traffic without involving itself with the difficulties of the dictionary.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT WILL PROTECT NATIONALS' LIVES MENACED BY CHINESE MOBS

Secretary of Foreign Affairs Announces in House of Commons.

NO WEAKNESS.

Will Hold the Chinese Government Responsible For All Injuries.

LONDON, June 19 (Canadian Press) — The British government will protect the life and property of British subjects in China and will hold the Chinese government responsible for all injuries to British nationals and damage to British property.

This pronouncement was made in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon by Right Hon. Austin Chamberlain, Secretary for Foreign Affairs.

"There can be no weakness or hesitation," he declared emphatically.

Such a course was the fundamental duty of every British government, the foreign secretary went on to say—"it is not a remedy for the situation, but it is necessary because of the outrages that have taken place."

The Rt. Hon. C. P. Trevelyan initiated the debate on the Chinese situation, at the same time repudiating any desire to attack the government because all sections of the house were agreed on the gravity of the situation and the duty of the government to take steps to protect the lives of its nationals. He contended, however, that it was necessary to probe the industrial situation, especially the employment of Chinese, and argued that it was not to British interests that bigger dividends should accrue by the exploitation of cheap Chinese labor.

Report On Situation

The debate had been preceded by many questions on the same subject and a promise from the government to submit papers dealing fully with the industrial position in Shanghai and China generalll at the earliest possible date, probably nevt week.

Mr. Chamberlain, replying, reiterated that no British government would encourage evil conditions in Chinese factories and proceeded to a general review of events in China since the war. His remarks were interrupted by Jack Jones, the Laborite, who was reproved by the Deputy Speaker.

Mr. Chamberlain strongly emphasized the valuable work of the Washington conference in laying the basis of peace in the Pacific, which, he argued was proof and a real guarantee that the powers mainly concerned in China would not endeavor to exploit China for their own interests,, but would try to help China in the [illegible]. He frankly admitted, however, that they had not gathered all the hoped for fruits of that conference.

He explained that this was due to the difficult situation of flux and transition in China, and from this viewpoint he was disposed to think that the representatives of the powers at Washington took too rosy [illegible] were too sanguine of smooth and rapid regeneration and domestic recovery in China. The difficulties had been such that the powers could hardly do more than the situation.

After making his declaration that British subjects would be protected he added that factory conditions did not justify the advance of a murderous mob shouting "kill the foreigners" on a police station containing a large stock of guns, and it was not until the police station was endangered that the order was given to fire.

PLEADS GUILTY TO 6 CHARGES

Earl Ray Sentenced to Five Years' Imprisonment at Kingston.

YOUTHFUL BURGLAR.

OTTAWA, June 19. Canadian Press. — Earl Ray, 19, was yesterday sentenced by Magistrate Charles Hopewell to five years in the Kingston Penitentiary, after having pleaded guilty to six burglary charges, and George Guertin, 19, was sentenced to 23 months in the Ontario Reformatory, with an indefinite period of two years less one day, after pleading guilty to three charges of burglary.

The two youths were members of a gang of burglars who are held responsible for over 100 burglaries in the city during the past 3 months.

Jules Banfield, 19, alleged member of the gang, was yesterday committed for trial on three burglary charges and remanded for one week on three other charges.

His brother, Israel Banfield, 23, held on a charge of receiving stolen goods, was also committed for trial.

Took Detective's Gun.

Ray was alleged to be the leader of the gang and Guertin was the most recent recruit. They were arrested here on June 1, following a fight with Detective C. Johnson, who was accidentally shot in the leg when his revolver was taken from him by the youthful burglars after he had attempted to arrest them.

Brutal Tactics Followed By Three Thugs For $35

WINNIPEG, June 19 (Canadian Press)—The brutal tactics of three unmasked bandits in robbing Max Hoffman, elderly proprietor of a store in the north part of Winnipeg, yesterday, was ill repaid.

After tying a bag over Hoffman's head, shackling him securely after beating him, they departed with their loot of $35 in cash.

Hoffman succeeded in releasing himself by crawling where a knife was lying and by great effort managed to sever the the bonds. The thugs are still at large.

DR. JAMES MOFFATT TRANSLATED BIBLE

Single-Handed Task Performed By Man Who Left Canada Yesterday.

MONTREAL, Que., June 19.—(Special.)— Among those sailing from Montreal yesterday on board the Canadian Pacific steamer "Metagama" was Dr. James Moffatt, the famous translator of the Bible.

Dr. Moffatt, who was professor of Greek at Mansfield and is now at Glasgow, is one of the world's leading scholars and he is particularly noted as having performed single-handed the unique task of translating the entire Bible, both new and old testaments, from the original Greek and Hebrew into a simple style of English conforming with modern scholarship.

According to Dr. Moffatt, owing to the discovery of papyrus texts dug out of the Egyptian sands, new light has been thrown on the Greek used in the Greek testament, showing that it was a more colloquial character than had hitherto been suspected and became evident that a new translation was almost a necessity. The changes resulting from the increased knowledge had very little effect upon doctrine but illuminate and clarify passages that hitherto have been obscure. The work of deciphering these copies of the gospel and epistles is still incomplete as there are still a number of words, the meaning of which remain obscure. Recent discoveries have been made in entries which may throw still more light on the early history of the gospels.

Dr. Moffatt is returning to Glasgow after a lecturing tour in Canada and the United States. He likes Canada and hopes to return. His favorite sport is trout fishing and in his spare time has enjoyed some of the best fishing he has ever experienced in the quest of rainbow trout in British Columbia.

It Signed the Parchment of Union

SPECIALLY printed on sheepskin parchment—that its great historical evidence might be preserved for the eyes of generations yet unborn—the Basis of Union by which the United Church of Canada came into being, was signed by three hundred and fifty delegates to the first vast Assembly.

And the writing instruments by which these three hundred and fifty delegates inscribed their names, chosen for the sterling service to be performed, were twelve Parker Duofold Pens. Parker Duofolds were chosen and purchased by the committee because the individualities of three hundred and fifty different handwritings had to be cared for; because the signing was done on parchment, requiring a pen point of super-smoothness; and that the writing instruments might be in keeping with the occasion.

Only the Parker Pen has these creations which abolish long-standing pen faults:
1. The Ink-Tight Duo-Sleeve Cap.
2. The Press-Button Filler concealed inside the barrel—out of sight—out of harm's way.
3. The Lucky Curve Feed providing an instant flow and a steady flow by capillary attraction.
4. The Duofold Point, so smooth and quiet-going that it makes your writing luxurious—a Point no pen can distort—guaranteed, if not mistreated, for 25 years' wear.

HOLSTEIN BREEDERS ENJOY FIELD DAY AT HONEY FARM

Pioneer Breeder of Pure-Bred Holsteins Entertains the Association.

GOOD SPEAKERS.

Richard Honey Has Largest Herd in District—Prominent Men There.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 19.—Richard Honey, popular breeder of pure bred Holsteins in Northumberland County, and whose herd of 54 black and white is the largest of that class in this district, acted as host to the Holstein Breeders' Association Thursday, when the annual field day of that organization was held on Mr. Honey's 300-acre farm near Dartford. The attendance was not up to expectations, but this is easily accounted for—the date for the field day first agreed upon and announced was Friday, but it was found necessary to change this to Thursday, and this change had not been sufficiently advertised.

It was not an exclusive gathering of Holstein breeders, although they were in the majority and included such well known farmers as George S. Vanvolkenburg and P. P. Nelson. The farm of M. E. Maybee, M.P., near Trenton, was represented by his son, Leonard, who is in partnership with his father.

Those well-known breeders of Ayrshires, William Stewart and Alex. Hulme, of the Burnbrae district, and who are interested in all classes of pure bred stock, were there and took a prominent part in the discussions. Another Ayrshire breeder was Fred M. Rutherford of Bonar Lar, who is secretary of the Ayrshire Association.

An Expert Heard.

The leading speaker of the afternoon was Professor W. J. Bell, principal of the Agricultural School at Kemptville, who came in the car with Walter H. Smith of Brighton, district representatives for Northumberland. Professor Bell's remarks were replete with constructive criticism, but the conclusion which he arrived at after a careful study of the points shown by over a dozen cattle in Mr. Honey's herd was that they were the equal of any of that breed to be found in Ontario.

Naturally Mr. Honey was pleased with the verdict, as he has for years been striving to improve the type. His opinion, frequently expressed at similar gatherings, is that both Holstein breeders and Ayrshire men have been remiss in the past and that it is up to them now to change their policy. Holstein owners must not be satisfied with raising large cattle, but must pay more attention to their conformation. The Ayrshire men must produce a larger type and not be satisfied entirely with well-proportioned live stock.

A Model Herd Sire.

The first animal paraded was the huge herd sire, which Professor Bell pronounced one of the best types of the breed that could be found anywhere in Ontario. No breeders have so fallen down in the matter of producing type as the Holstein men who have devoted too much attention to securing a milk flow. He pointed out that the herd sire before them had a model head and neck, that the line of his back was straight, and that his hips did not show the droop that was so often a distinguishing mark of Holsteins. It was, he said the progeny of such a sire that would command the top price in the Canadian market to-day.

A Question of Weight.

This herd sire is three years old, and Professor Bell estimated his weight at 2100 pounds. At the Kemptville school, he said, they had had a Holstein sire, and the best they could do was to bring him up to a weight of 2250.

Mr. Honey said that his herd sire had never been weighed but that he would have him put on the scales later and if the bull did not weigh more than the estimate of Professor Bell the latter would receive a new hat with the report of the figures.

Cows and Heifers Approved.

As usual at such gatherings different cattle were examined as opinions on their various points of excellency were called for. It is evident that even the most expert breeders cannot see eye to eye on such matters. Still Mr. Honey's matured cows, those with records, his heifers, just beginning their career, and the young calves were commended by those whose opinions are most entitled to consideration.

The Professor Speaks Out.

Professor Bell asked why so many men keep cows that yield only two and a half per cent. butter fat? Answering his question he said the reason was that so many farmers lack business ability. Before conditions improve, the professor believes there is a period of starvation ahead of the farmer, this to be followed by a term of education in business principles.

Test Almost Perfect

Mr. Honey's herd sire of which so much was said yesterday, was submitted some time ago to the type test by R. M. Holtby of Port Perry, field man for the Holstein Breeders of Canada. Mr Perry gave this bull a mark of 92 points out of a possible 100, a rating that has not as yet been excelled in the Dominion. The bull has always won first prize at the Fall Fairs wherever shown.

Visitor from England

One of the visitors who came with District Representative Smith was H. J. Fear, of Reading, England, a prominent business man who is making a tour of Canada, which will include a survey of commercial and agricultural conditions. As Mr. Fear has been in this country for only one week he is not in a position to give an opinion of the general outlook. He will spend three months here travelling all over the Dominion as far as British Columbia.

TWO DOGS—$10,000.

Introducing Soutsouki and Mitsouki, two Pekingese dogs just purchased in Paris by Marcelle Lucas, dancer and wife of a wealthy clubman.

These dogs are not watch dogs. Nor are they able to herd sheep or cattle. They are not sturdy enough to be playmates of children or hiking companions of adults. They are not hunting dogs,, nor do they catch rats or mice.

Soutsouki and Mitsouki do not eat scraps from the table. More attention is paid to their diet than to that of a baby. The one thing they can do best is to sleep on a silk pillow. Yet their owner paid $10,000 for them.

Ten thousand dollars would save the lives of many babies by providing good milk during such a heated period as this country has just experienced. It would help to keep thousands of humans from starving in the Near East. The interest from that sum would keep an old man or woman out of the poor house.

Ten thousand dollars is a big sum to pay for two sofa-pillow dogs.

CAMPBELLFORD PERSONALS

CAMPBELLFORD, June 18.—Mr. and Mrs. John Oakley of Hastings spent Wednesday at the homes of their daughters, Mrs. Walter Lowe and Mrs. Chas. Bidford, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Covert, Mrs. Robert Stephens and Mr. and Mrs. John Hunter leave on Friday for Little Falls, N.Y., where they will visit the former's brother, Mr. George Covert who is seriously ill.

Miss Eva Long, Peterborough, was in town for the Robertson-Peeling wedding.

Mr. Thomas Lavell is in Trenton on business.

Engagement.

Mrs. M. P. Cairns, Queen Street, Campbellford, announces the engagement of her eldest daughter, Charlotte Helen to Mr. Raymond W. Goheen, B.A., of Ross Mount, Ont., the marriage to take place quietly the latter part of June.

After the afternoon session of the O.R.E.C. Convention for Campbellford and Seymour Township held on Tuesday in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, the delegates were royally intertained to supper by the Ladies of St. Andrew's, for which a hearty vote of thanks, moved by Rev. C. D. Daniels and seconded by Rev. G. C. Clarke was tendered them for their hospitality. The Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. N. H. Thompson was also accorded a hearty vote of thanks for the efficient manner in which she had conducted the reports, etc.

A Presentation.

On Monday evening, June 15th, a very pleasant social evening was spent by the Willing Workers of Christ Church and friends in Parish Hall, when one of their most faithful members, Mrs. E. J. Burling was presented with a beautiful gold wristlet watch, accompanied by the following address, which was read by the President, Mrs. R. A. Linton.

Dear Mrs. Burling:—

It is with great pleasure and much regret at your departure from us that we ask you to accept this token of remembrance and appreciation of your long and faithful work in our society.

We wish you every good luck and our heartfelt good wishes are extended to you and your family in your new life in the Old Country.

Signed: Members of Willing Workers, Christ Church, Campbellford.

Mrs. Burling, though taken entirely by surprise made a very suitable reply, stating that, although she was returning to her former home in England, she would always have a kindly remembrance of pleasant five years spent in Campbellford.

The rector, Rev. G. C. Clarke, also made a very fitting address, expressing regret at Mrs. Burling's removal from town.

Mr. and Mrs. Burling and family expect to sail on the steamship Montcalm on June 26th, for their former home in England where Mr. Burling has a good position.

TRENT CANAL WELL UP LIST

Revenue is Second Highest in Canada—Gain Isn't Object.

WATER DEVELOPMENT

In connection with the figures recently issued by Hon. George P. Graham, Minister of Railways, showing that since 1919,, $4,091,000 has been expended in upkeep and operation of the Trent Valley Canal, while the revenue during the same period was only $389,791, it is pointed out that in Canada at least, a canal is not a direct revenue producer. All toll and tonnage charges were abolished many years ago. Canals and waterways exist for the development of commerce, not for the purpose of producing a direct profit.

As a matter of fact the Trent Canal as a revenue producer ranks second in the Dominion being exceeded only by the Lachine Canal. This is derived from waterfall developments and small leases in connection with the system and bears no relation whatever to the number and tonnage of vessels making use of the waterway.

FEAR CONGESTION IN HAVELOCK SCHOOL

Increased Attendance Next Year is Problem Facing Trustees.

HAVELOCK, June 19.—Havelock School Board met on Tuesday evening in the school room with H. W. Roche in the chair.

Members present, chairman, secretary, trustees J. Barlow, J. Moore and Dr. A. S. Thompson.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

A copy of the maintenance report as submitted to the County Council of Northumberland and Durham was read, showing the attendance of five county pupils and the cost, amounting to $134.13.

Moved by Trustees Barlow and Moore, that the account of Inspector Lees for $3.00 be received and paid. Carried.

A communication was received from Miss Rierdan of Belleville, a former teacher requesting a certificate as to her teaching here. It was moved by Trustees Barlow and Dr. A. S. Thompson that secretary endeavor to secure information requested by Miss Rierdan. Carried.

A communication was read from the Department regarding any changes that the Board would suggest. It was moved by the secretary, seconded by J. Barlow, that this be referred to Principal Guill for his consideration. The teachers attended the Board meeting for a review of the year's work and to consider the work for next year.

It was found that the shift made last year to relieve the congestion by having two teachers take on classes larger than normal had not worked out as expected.

That the prospects for next year would indicate that there will be an increased attendance in the public school is the real problem that the Board has to face for 1925-26.

REV. JAMES ROLLINS ON CHURCH COUNCIL

Former Peterboro Pastor Has Well Merited Distinction Given Him.

Among those named on the Council of the United Church of Canada is Rev. James Rollins, formerly of Peterboro.

Rev. Mr. Rollins, after a distinguished course at Queen's College, was engaged in mission work. His principal charges have been Elmvale, Ont., King Street Presbyterian Church, London, Ont., St. Andrew's, Peterborough and now settled in St. Andrew's, Renfrew. Besides his regular pulpit work, Mr. Rollins has always displayed a rare executive gift and has been an active campaigner for every good cause.

He was an ardent worker for Union, and expressed great satisfaction when St. Andrew's, his old charge here, entered with the Presbyterian Church.

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

It Neutralizes Stomach Acidity, Prevents Food Fermentation, Sour Gassy Stomach and Acid Indigestion.

Doubtless if you are a sufferer from indigestion, you have already tried pepsin, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids and you know these things will not cure your trouble—in some cases do not even give relief.

But before giving up hope and deciding you are a chronic dyspeptic just try the effect of a little Bisurated Magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate, or milk, but the pure Bisurated Magnesia which you can obtain from practically any druggist in either powdered or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or three compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or heavy, lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat.

You will find that provided you take a little Bisurated Magnesia immediately after a meal, you can eat almost anything and enjoy it without any danger of pain or discomfort to follow and moreover, the continued use of the Bisurated Magnesia cannot injure the stomach in any way so long as there are any symptoms of acid indigestion.

FIND KINGSTON BOY AFTER NINE DAYS

Eleven Year Old Lad Had Gone As Far as Mont Joli, Quebec.

KINGSTON, June 19 (Canadian Press).—Running away from his home without a word to anyone as to his intentions, Albert Clifford, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Clifford, 53 North MacDonald Street, disappeared at noon on Tuesday June 9, and no word of his whereabouts had reached the city till this morning, when Mayor T. B. Angrove received a telegram from the C.N.R. constable at Mont Joli, Quebec, asking for instructions as to the disposal of a boy who gave his name as Albert Clifford of this city.

HIGHER DEATH RATE FEW KNOWN CASES

Greater Number of Negro Sufferers Die, But Fewer Negroes Have TB.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 19.—(A. P.)—Disclosing the fact that communities with the highest death rate from tuberculosis show the smallest ratio of known cases of the disease, Alice M. Hill, statistical field secretary, National Tuberculosis Association, told delegates at the annual meeting of the organiation here today, that her researches also showed higher negro death rates were accompanied by a lower ratio of known cases, than among white persons in the same cities.

This apparent contradiction is due, stated Miss Hill, to the fact that where only a small proportion of the total of actual cases are known to the authorities, persons afflicted are beyond the reach of health measures and the high death rate results. Where the greatest number of cases are known, the individuals can be sought out and modern methods of tuberculosis prevention applied.

The speaker urged the establishment of tuberculosis clinics for diagnosis and emphasized the need of more thorough reporting of cases to health authorities by physicians.

WEST TO HAVE A WILD WEST SHOW

Bucking Contests and Mimic Indian Battles to Feature Display.

WILLIAMS LAKE, B.C. June 19.—(Canadian Press).— A wild west show in one of the few remaining wild west towns will be held here this summer and bucking contests, steer roping, bulldogging and mimic Indian battles are only a few of the events to be staged.

Last year a new departure was made when special features were put on, portraying the perils associated with carrying gold to the vaults and banks of the coast from Barkersville, capital of the famous old Cariboo gold country, in the early 'sixties. This year's star event will be a hold-up of a Hudson's Bay company fort at St. James by a band of Indians. It is hoped to make this a realistic presentation of an historic event that is little known. The Indians overpowered the Hudson's Bay traders by sheer force of numbers, gained an entrance through the stockade and bound the white men. The Indians raided the stores of the fort and became intoxicated with liquor. They drank until overcome with stupor, in which state they were easily struggled free of their shackles, regained possession of the fort and inflicted an impressive rout on the natives.

Williams Creek is situated in the heart of the Cariboo cattle country, near the Chilcotin plateau on which thousands of head of cattle are raised, and is in many respects similar to the cow towns of the Old West, except that the outlawry associated with the frontier days has been eliminated.

The cattle industry in British Columbia originated with the stampede to the Cariboo gold camps in the early 'sixties, when stock was driven across the United States border and along the shore of the Fraser River to Barkersville and other mining centres to meet the demands of the miners for beef.

TOOK INVENTOR TEN YEARS TO GET CLAIM RECOGNIZED

Explosive Expert Who Invented Rifle Grenades and Aerial Bombs

COST £7,000

Man Conducted His Case from Sick Bed for Several Years

Ten years after his bombs, grenades and depth-charges were helping to win the war, and after four years of litigation, F. Marten Hale, explosives expert, of Bromley, Kent, has earned the right to state his claim before the Royal Commission on Awards to Inventors.

He has now proved the validity of his patents.

An invalid for the past year, with 14 doctors attending him at various times, Mr. Hale had to conduct most of his court cases from a sick bed. He has had to cover 2,000 miles in a motor stretcher.

Mr. Hale has no fewer than 270 patents, his inventions including:—

Rifle grenades.
Aerial bombs.
Depth charges.
Torpedo war heads.
Armor-piercing shell fuses.
Gun-cotton presses.
Dredging apparatus.

"When war broke out," he told a newspaper representative, "mine were the only rifle grenades and aerial bombs available. Ten million grenades were made. The Germany copied them, and used 20 millions, and the French also adopted them.

"Under the Peace Treaty I am debarred from making any claim against Allied or ex-enemy countries.

"It was with one of my bombs that Lieut. Warneford brought down the first Zeppelin destroyed. An R.A.F. bombing squadron armed with the Hale bomb missed the ex-Kaiser by only 15 minutes.

"When I submitted my inventions to the military authorities, the arrangement was that the question of reward would be decided by the Government later.

"When I laid my case before the Inventions Commission I was told that I was not entitled to a hearing as my patents were not valid. It cost me £7,000 to establish the validity of my patents.

"All I ask is a fair and reasonable royalty. Of my grenades alone, £5,000,000 worth were manufactured."

Mr. Hale, who is 61, was only 22 when he patented his first invention.

He was a pioneer in the construction of steam fire engines, and created a sensation on Derby Day, in 1892, by driving one of these, four-in-hand, from the City to Epsom.

GIRL LEAPS ON RUNAWAY LORRY

Diverts Course and Saves Lives of Playing Children

Marie Clarke, aged fourteen, of Cheltenham street, Blackburn, was walking in Lynwood road, one of the steepest thoroughfares in the town, when she heard a group of children scream. She then saw a motor lorry dashing down the hill.

She realized at once that a serious accident would be inevitable on the main road lower down, sprang on the footboard of the lorry, and guided the vehicle into the front of a house. The brickwork was demolished, but the girl jumped clear before the impact. She escaped with a shaking.

"I only did my duty," she said.

"I was not afraid."

YOUNG MAN SOUGHT TO BLACKMAIL LORD

Copies of Letters Sent Were Found in His Room

A charge of sending letters to Lord Terrington at Clarges street, London, and demanding £35 by menaces was preferred at Marlborough street Court against Samuel Arthur Taylor, aged 25, Aldarney street, Pimlico, remanded in custody.

Herbert Muskett, for Lord Terrington, said that Taylor was arrested at an office in Red Lion street where letters were taken in. There was no doubt as to the identity of Taylor, because copies of the letters demanding money were found in his room.

BLACKMORE'S STICK FETCHED BIG SUM

In connection with the Blackmore Centenary it may be of interest to recall the following rather amusing incident:—In 1915 Mr. Eden Philipotts sent as a contribution to the Red Cross Sale an ebony walking-stick which formerly belonged to the author of "Lorna Doone." The stick was returned by Messrs. Christie on the ground that it was of "no commercial value," whereupon Mr. Philipotts intimated in a letter to The Times that the stick would go to the sender of the highest bid received by him during the week. This highest bid was 30 guineas, but, being supplemented by the generosity of unsuccessful bidders who handed over their bids for the benefit of the Red Cross Fund, the stick really realized a total amount of £62 15s.

He had personal reasons for being concerned. His income was about a fifth of what it was a few years ago; he had been living on capital, and [illegible].

LIFEBOAT COXSWAIN DIED WHILE FAVORITE HYMN WAS PLAYED

PARACHUTE WHICH FAILED TO OPEN

Aviator Jumped to His Death from 2,000 Feet

NOSE DIVE

Three Royal Air Force Men Gave Lives in One Day

Two air accidents, resulting in three deaths, were officially reported by the Ministry of Air recently.

At Andover, on Monday evening, while engaged in a practice parachute jump, Corporal Sydney Ronald Wilson (241627), of No. 12 Squadron, was killed.

According to a correspondent, Wilson leapt from the plane when it was at a height of 2,000 feet, and the parachute failed to spread.

The jump was made in the sight of a large crowd. Wilson fell like a stone into the R.A.F. aerodrome.

RIP CORD NOT PULLED

At the inquest on Wilson at Andover yesterday, Flying Officer Horace John White, the pilot of the machine, said that he saw Wilson's hand on the rip cord which would open the parachute, but did not see him actually pull the cord. Wilson got down the ladder all right to make the jump, but seemed a little tremulous.

Another witness, Reginald Charles Read, also said that Wilson appeared nervous when he got out on to the ladder. As he was leaving the steps, he had his hand on the rip cord ring, but afterwards took it away, and when he left the aeroplane his hands came out as if he wanted to clutch back at the machine.

TAKEN UNAWARES

Flying Officer Frank Soden, an inspector of parachutes, said Wilson had been instructed in the use of the parachute, and the harness was properly fitted before he left the ground. The rip cord had never been pulled, of that he was certain.

His theory was that when the pilot opened out the engine Wilson was taken unawares just as he had one hand on the ladder and one on the rip cord, and, feeling himself going off, he released the hold on the cord and clutched at the ladder. He was too panic-stricken to find the rip cord afterwards.

Two were killed and one man seriously injured in an aeroplane crash near Grantham. The plane, a Fairey Fawn machine, belonging to the No. 100 Squadron, stationed at Spittlegate had been up some time on Monday evening when, at 6 p.m., it developed a nose dive, and crashed from a height of 1,000 feet.

Pilot Officer Jack Terence Eve, who was flying the machine, was picked up dead. First-class Aircraftsman George Edward Bruce (341628) was alive, but died later in hospital, and Second-class Aircraftsman Percival Thomas Sharpe (244302) was severely injured.

ADMIRAL FINED FOR FAST DRIVING

Local Magistrate Knocked Down Boy in Side Street

A fine of £5 was inflicted on Admiral Sir Reginald Tupper, a Winchester magistrate, for driving a motor car in a dangerous manner. His license was also endorsed.

It was stated that the admiral drove his car at twenty miles an hour out of a narrow street, and knocked down a boy who was riding on a bicycle. Sir Reginald denied driving at twenty miles an hour. He was a good judge of speed, he said, because he had commanded a destroyer for three years.

JEWELS STOLEN AS LADY SLEPT

A £10,000 jewel theft has been reported to Scotland Yard and the Continental police by Mrs. Felix B. Goetz, of Welbeck House, Welbeck street, W.

Mrs. Goetz believes the jewels were stolen from her bedroom at the Imperial Hotel, Boulogne, while she was asleep.

One Saturday night recently Mrs. Goetz, who was staying at Boulogne on her way to Paris, went to a dance. On her return she put away in her bedroom the jewels she had been wearing and retired for the night.

"I discovered my loss next morning," said Mrs. Goetz. "I found that my trunk had been opened, and the jewellery, which had been locked in it, had been taken.

"Someone must have entered the room while I was asleep."

A reward of £1,000 has been offered by the assessors for information leading to the recovery of the jewels.

Among the missing jewels is a very fine string of pearls, valued at £5,700, a diamond bracelet and a diamond ring, each worth £1,000, and an £800 pearl ring.

AEROPLANE LANDS ON BULLOCK IN FOG

A secret Army aeroplane, endeavoring to land in a thick fog, descended on a bullock in a field at Spittal, Berwick. Flying Officer Robert R. Mooney and his mechanic, named Pritchard, though severely shaken, escaped without injury, but the bullock died. The propeller of the aeroplane was broken, and the wings, engine and fuselage damaged.

KEY TO MARRIED BLISS

"Tell all the girls of your acquaintance that they should not marry until there is the nucleus of a home, a few pots and pans, for instance," was the advice given by W. B. Luke, the Willesden magistrate, to a young wife.

SHIP WITH OVER CENTURY'S SERVICE STILL ON THE SEAS

Ketch from Whose Deck Crew Saw Nelson on the Victory

ON SOLENT

Has Covered More Than Half Million Miles on One Route

A ship that is 124 years old is still on active service in the Solent.

She is the little ketch Bee, which trades between Southampton and Newport in the Isle of Wight, and has made more than 38,000 crossings of the Solent since 1801.

She is one of the few ships remaining in the world from whose decks men say the Victory at sea with Nelson on board, and was once commanded for forty-eight years by the same captain.

She has been on the same route the whole of her existence, and has carried more than half a million tons of cargo between the mainland and the Isle of Wight, covering more than half a million miles, although the distance between her two ports is only eighteen miles. Three younger sisters of the Bee have been on the route for fifty years.

THREE POUND BABY KEPT IN INCUBATOR

Has More Than Fighting Chance to Live, Says Doctor

A boy baby born prematurely in a Bath hospital weighed one ounce less, than three pounds. It is kept alive in an incubator of wood and glass, lined with cotton wool and warmed by a hot-water bottle. A nurse watches it day and night.

The house surgeon of the hospital says the baby had been christened, and has more than a fighting chance of surviving.

Its first food was an hourly teaspoonful of whey, to which the necessary fat and sugar were added, but it is now being nursed by its mother.

MAN KILLED BY BOILING DYE

Opened the Wrong Vat—Discovered Error Too Late

George Cowling, an employee at a Selby dyeworks, misunderstanding the foreman's instructions, opened a vat containing five tons of boiling dye liquid. He was terribly scalded, and later died in hospital.

The man should have opened the next vat, which, having cooled, was ready for emptying. He had taken three or four turns of the screw which opens the vat when the foreman noticed the hot liquid escaping, and shouted to him.

"I have opened the wrong vat," exclaimed Cowling, and tried to close the door with an iron bar. His efforts, however, caused the door to open wider, releasing a torrent of boiling liquid, which gushed out over his body and legs. Cowling rushed out of the building in agony, tearing off his clothes as he went. He received first aid from the works ambulance staff before being taken to hospital.

LOST THREE FIANCES, AGAIN TEMPTS FATE

Irish Innkeeper's Daughter Was Engaged to Michael Collins

London, June 6.—Pretty Miss Kitty Kiernan, daughter of a Longford innkeeper who was engaged to the famous Michael Collins at the time he was killed from ambush in 1922 by Irish Republicans, is perhaps tempting fate by again becoming engaged to a soldier although her three former military fiances were all shot de[illegible].

Next week she will give up her position in the Free State Government and marry General Felix Cronin. She was first engaged to a member of the Royal Irish Constabulary, Kelliher by name. He was shot dead in her father's inn.

Then she plighted her troth to Harry Boland, who was shot in the summer of 1922, and the same fate overtook her third fiance, General Collins, to whom she became engaged, however, before Boland was killed.

WOMAN PUT GIANT TO SPEEDY FLIGHT

The man clapped his hand over her mouth, but Mrs. Morehouse bit his fingers so severely that he bolted through an open window, leaving a boot behind.

Afterwards a man gave himself up to Shoeburyness police, and was later charged at Southend with breaking into The Cottage.

He is 6ft. 3in. tall, and refused his name and address. He was remanded.

LEFT A PENNY

When a man was charged at Thames Police Court with a minor offence, the magistrate asked if the man had any money. The Gaoler: 5s. 1d. The Magistrate: Give him a penny back.

GOLF—EVIDENCE OF MEANS

At Westminster County Court it was stated in a debt case, as evidence of means, that the defendant went about playing golf.

Judge Sir Alfred Tobin—Golf costs money. He will be committed unless he pays forthwith.

THE PRINCESS PATRICIA'S OWN.

Lady Patricia Ramsay's son is growing up. He and his mother have just returned to England from Bermuda after spending some months with Commander Ramsay, whose ship is stationed there. The picture was taken on the R.M.S.P. Araguaya on its arrival at Southampton. The young man, whose full name is the Hon. Alexander Arthur Alfonso David Ramsey, will be six years old next December. Lady Patricia is now visiting her father, H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught.

SILK HOSE LETS IN ULTRA-VIOLET RAYS

Women and Girls Getting More Benefit from Sun Than Males

"Women have had the sense to cut the necks of their dresses low, to shorten their skirts and to wear stockings of artificial silk which lets the ultra-violet rays pass through. Women and girls thus get more of the ultra-violet light into their bodies than men and boys, and a possible result is that girls will be more healthy than boys."

Dr. Leonard Hill, whose experiments at the National Institute of Medical Research, Hampstead, have proved the efficacy of these ultra-violet rays in helping people to resist disease, said yesterday at Browning Hall, Walworth, S.E., that by surrounding ourselves with glass and covering our bodies with clothes we shut out these vital rays.

A sunlight clinic was opened at the Browning Hall, where there are 220 crippled children on the register, in which weakly children will be treated with baths of ultra-violet rays from a powerful arc lamp at a cost of 2d a bath, equal to what one gets in the south of France.

MARRIED SONS TO DOUBLE FORTUNE

Father's Will Offers Incentive to Take University Degree

To each of his younger sons, on taking the B.A. or equivalent University degree, Everard C. de Peyer, brewery accountant and auctioneer, has left £1,000.

Mr. de Peyer, who died at Eastbourne, leaving £210,209, bequeathed the residue of his property on trust for his sons, "so that the income of a married son shall be double that of an unmarried son."

The remainder goes to his grandchildren, the share of a grandson being double that of a granddaughter.

MANY BRITISHERS HAVE BIG INCOMES

Half Million Dollars a Year Received by Over Hundred

There were 134 people in the United Kingdom in 1922-23 with incomes of more than £100,000 a year, and 110 people whose incomes were between £75,000 and £100,000.

This revelation of private wealth is contained in the report of the Commissioners of Inland Revenue, issued yesterday.

The number of people paying supertax—those possessing incomes of £2,000 a year and more—totalled 85,435. By far the largest proportion were those with incomes between £2,000 and £2,600, and their number increased over the two previous years by more than 5,500, to 20,153.

The estimated number of people with total incomes above the income tax exemption limit was 5,000,000.

WOMAN RAN ALONG PARADE ON FIRE

Mrs. Florence Attingham, of Pulteney street, Islington, was sitting on the Marine Parade, Southend, when her clothes caught fire. Her husband had just lit a cigarette, and it is suggested that when he threw the match away he accidentally set his wife's clothes alight. Mrs. Attingham rushed off along the parade with her clothes ablaze and was caught by Police-Constable Reenan, who smothered the flames. She is now in hospital.

WELSHER, A NOVICE

Six weeks' imprisonment for "welshing" on a racecourse was the sentence passed at Bath on Percy Atkinson, of Devonport, who pleaded he was a novice, making his first "book."

SOUTHEND MOURNS ITS BENEFACTOR

Buried in the Cloister Garth at Prittlewell Priory Priory Park

HIS OWN WISH

School Children Held Special Services and Lined Funeral Route

Southend was in mourning when R. A. Jones, the borough's great benefactor, was buried in the Cloister Garth at Prittlewell Priory, in accordance with his own wish.

Prittlewell Priory is an ancient monastery in a public park which he gave to the borough.

The church service at St. John's, Southend, was attended by the Mayor and Corporation in state, members of the Education Committee, Viscount Elveden, M.P. for the borough, and Viscountess Elveden, forty employes of the dead man, representatives of the Chamber of Trade, the British Legion, and, in accordance with the wish contained in Mr. Jones's will, sixty children from the elementary schools, who were in two motor coaches. Other children, drawn from all the schools in the borough, lined the park path.

Thousands of people lined the route to the graveside, where the choir of Bournemouth Park road school sang "Brief Life is Here Our Portion," and the Vicar of St. Mary's, Canon Gowing, pronounced a prayer of consecretion. Afterwards "Abide With Me" was sung.

The actual spot where Mr. Jones is buried is at the site of the memorial cross of the monks of Cluny.

There were special services in the schools for Mr. Jones, after which the children were dismissed, there being no lessons.

BISHOP CHALLENGED MAYOR TO BOWLING

Both Lost to Member of Parliament in Triangular Contest

A challenge by the Bishop of Lewes to the Mayor of Chichester and Major J. S. Courtald, M.P., resulted in a three-cornered bowling contest at Chi[illegible].

The Bishop's challenge was thrown out at a dinner of the local bowling club, following some banter about playing for a "bob" a corner.

Church dignitaries, magistrates, and town councillors were spectators of the match, which resulted as follows:—

Major Courtald, 8 points.
The Bishop of Lewes, 7 points.
The Mayor, 6 points.

The Bishop confessed that he had played only half a dozen times in 40 years. Major Courtald had not played since boyhood, and the mayor had handled the bowls four times in his life!

BURGLAR FORCIBLY FED FOR HALF YEAR

The Home Secretary, Sir William Joynson-Hicks, stated in Parliament yesterday that the number of prisoners in England and Wales who were forcibly fed in 1924 was eight.

The greatest [illegible] at any time one prisoner was forcibly fed was 570. He was a burglar who would not take food, and had to be forcibly fed three times a day.

SUNDAY MORALS

The Kingsthorpe Golf Club, Northampton, has deleted the rule prohibiting Sunday caddies. One speaker supported the change on the moral ground that caddies were better off carrying clubs than sitting under hedges playing cards, tossing for money, and using obscene language, as youths will.

Mrs. Maria Martin, of Chislehurst, Kent, has just celebrated her diamond wedding in bed, where she has been for 18 years suffering from debility as the result of her age.

BRITISH PREMIER SEEKS TO DO GOOD BUT ANONYMOUSLY

Collected Dirty One Pound Notes and Sent Them to Asylum

VAGABOND HELP

Bought War Loan and Returned to Treasury for Cancellation

Premier Baldwin's eagerness to do good by stealth and his passion for anonymity are illustrated in a story told of him by Wickham Steed.

Hidden away in an old-world village in Gloucestershire, says Mr. Steed in the "Review of Reviews," the Premier once came upon a local asylum for feeble-minded girls, which was maintained by two old ladies in straitened circumstances.

Hearing that the "home" was in difficulties, he walked into Stroud, a good many miles away, collected with much trouble 200 of the dirtiest "Bradburys" (one pound notes) that could be found, and wrapped them up in a piece of newspaper, together with a letter written and worded with complete illiteracy.

It was to the effect that a passing vagabond wished to do what he could to keep up an establishment the like of which might perhaps some day afford a refuge to himself.

SMALL BOY BRIBED

A yokel was then induced to bribe an urchin, who went back to the village and delivered the dirty-looking parcel without being able to explain how he had come by it. The "vagabond" escaped detection.

Mr. Steed also recalls the already published story of how, during the war, hiding himself from a public under the initials "F. S. T.," Mr. Baldwin wrote to The Times, stating that in order to help the country in its grave financial situation, he had, with one-fifth of his fortune—£120,000—purchased £150,000 of new War Loan, returning it at once to the Government for cancellation.

Few people followed his example, for the Treasury received only £500,000 War Loan for cancellation in all. But, as Mr. Baldwin has since said, "I would rather sink with faith than swim without it."

WOMAN OF FORTY NOT OLD LADY

Is Emancipated Both in Body and Mind, Says Doctor

The woman of forty of a generation ago who looked fifty, and the woman of forty of today who looks twenty were contrasted by Dr. Percy Hall, a Harley street specialist, who addressed a health congress at Brighton. He said:—

"A woman of forty formerly was an old lady. She wore voluminous flannel petticoats, and a shawl across her shoulder, while she sat by the fire and crocheted. Today the woman of forty looks twenty, jazzes far into the night, and is the first down to breakfast. She is emancipated both in body and mind.

"What has she done? She has simply cast away her superfluous clothes. By wearing silk next to her skin, short skirts, and clothing low in the neck she allows more light and air to get to her body, and so achieves prettiness and health.

HOLD BOX SUPPER AS QUAINT CUSTOM

Gathering First Held in 1573 Kept Up [illegible]don

Those in search of a hilarious evening might not find it at the annual Box Supper of St. Clement Danes, London, for reference to the "wine list" discloses this state of affairs:—

Small tankard of ale.
Lemonade.

But for sheer delight in honoring the old, and the good, customs in the Box Supper, revived in 1922, is an unrivalled institution.

[illegible] and, as his predecessor did in 1573, when the feast was first held, so acted Mr. Churchwarden Cotter.

The silver-mounted gavel with which Churchwarden Cotter controlled the proceedings was first used in 1573, and one of the toasts out of the dim past was "The Maids, Wives and Widows of St. Clement Danes."

Churchwarden pipes were provided, and snuff was passed around in 17th century silver boxes.

The supper fare was simple, finishing, appropriately, with "orange and lemon ice."

According to custom, the principal guest was the rector, the Rev. W. Pennington-Bickford.

APPOINT RECEIVER FOR WASTE COMPANY

An overdraft at the bank of nearly £238,000 was mentioned at Manchester yesterday, when a receiver was appointed for the Leigh Waste Company, Oldham, (1920), Ltd., a concern with a million pounds capital, of which half a million is called up.

Counsel said the outstanding debentures were £500,596, and it was quite clear there would be a large deficiency.

ROOK HAS MOUSETRAP ATTACHED TO FEET

An extraordinary sight is witnessed daily near Ely, where a rook can be seen flying about with a break-back mousetrap attached to its feet.

How the bird came by its encumbrance, is not known, but, despite the handicap, it is as energetic as any bird in seeking food and carrying it to the young in the nest built in a large rookery.

SOFTENING OF BRAIN PLEA DID NOT SAVE AGED SOLICITOR

Harry Bailey, aged 70, a solicitor, was sentenced at Cambridge Assizes to three years' penal servitude for appropriating £3,500, the money of his clients.

A plea that he was not of sound mind and was suffering from softening of the brain was not accepted by Mr. Justice Avory.

EARTH SWALLOWS TEAM OF HORSES

Ground Opened Up and Ploughman Left on Edge of Cavity

UNSEEN STREAM

Belief Water Wears Away Limestone Rock in Nottingham

Two horses were killed and a ploughman had a narrow escape in a field at Intake Farm, Mansfield, Notts.

The field, which has been the scene of previous unaccountable subsidences, was being ploughed when the ground fell away just ahead of the team of horses, and a hole was formed 12 feet long, over a yard wide, and six feet deep.

Before the ploughman could stop the horses they had plunged into the hole, dragging the plough after them. Both horses were suffocated.

It is not known certainly what causes these caverns to form, but they are put down to the effect of colliery working by some.

Geologists who have examined the scene, however, believe that there is an underground stream that wears away the limestone rocks, letting down the surface earth.

MAN GOES MAD WHILE ON TRAIN

London Express Stopped by Message Thrown to Station

When travelling to London from Manchester a man went suddenly mad and the train was stopped.

Before Tamworth was reached he became violent and seemed determined to jump on to the line after breaking a window.

A passenger dropped a message at Tamworth asking for the express to be pulled up.

It stopped at Nuneaton and the man was secured with great difficulty by the railway staff, seven of whom had to help in controlling him.

The police removed him to the local workhouse and he was later certified insane and sent to Hatton Asylum.

The man's wife, who was travelling with him, was badly scratched. She had had a terrible ordeal.

DUCHESS OF YORK WOULD SEE CANADA

Wants to Arrange to Stay at Prince's E.P. Ranch

Scores of visitors at Wembley recently were unaware that they were in the presence of the Duke and Duchess of York.

The duchess plied her escorts with questions, while the duke made minute inspections of numerous mechanical devices.

On entering the main Colonial Building, the duke and duchess asked to be shown the model in butter of the Prince of Wales as "Chief Morning Star" of the Stoney Indians. The duchess declared it was an excellent likeness. "I hope [illegible] back in time to see it," she exclaimed.

The duchess said Canada was one of the places she was anxious to visit. "I would like to make an arrangement with my brother-in-law to stay at his ranch," she added.

PUPILS STRIKE FOR DAYLIGHT SAVING

[illegible] in the [illegible]shire still "on strike"—a situation that has persisted since the dawn of "summer-time."

The managers of the school, attended normally by 28 scholars, have decided to retain Greenwich time. They argue that under the new conditions the children reach school sleepy and tired.

The parents are up in arms against a school time of 10 a.m. (summer-time). Each morning at 9 o'clock time children troop off to school. They arrive to find the gates locked, and troop off home again. It is their daily joke, and loses none of its flavor with the passing of time.

An hour later, the teachers and a few scholars arrive, and remain until 1 p.m., when the dinner bell rings. They return at 2 p.m., and remain until 5 p.m.

The Lindsey education authorities have decided not to interfere in the dispute.

BURIAL PLACE OF GREAT BISHOP FOUND

The burial place of Bishop Peter Aquablanca, Bishop of Hereford from 1240 to 1269, a mystery which has puzzled historians for centuries, has been solved.

It was generally believed that he was buried in Savoy, the place of his birth, 650 years ago, but Canon A. T. Bannister, of Hereford, had the tomb in Hereford Cathedral opened and the remains were revealed.

The stone coffin had been filled in with mortar in which there is a hollow, the shape of the body. In this cavity are the decayed rags of the bishop's full canonicals.

Wireless has been installed in a public park at Newport, Mon.

CENTENARIAN WHO KNEW FAMOUS PEOPLE, IS DEAD

Miss Lisle Was Friend of Tennyson, Disraeli and Dickens

SOME STORIES

Was Presented at Court More Than Eighty Years Ago

Miss Elizabeth Underwood Lisle, who celebrated her 104th birthday on March 31, died at her home at 24 George street, Manchester square, today.

Until her last illness Miss Lisle took a keen interest in current affairs and even when she had completed a century of life she would go out shopping with her housekeeper.

Miss Lisle came of an old country family, and was born in Alton, Hampshire. In her younger days she was an elocutionist much sought after at public and society functions. Almost to the last she could recite practically the whole of "Hamlet," and used to be engaged by Dickens and Browning to read their finished works to them.

She numbered among her circle of acquaintances, too, Cardinal Newman, Disraeli, Tennyson, and Florence Nightingale.

TENNYSON'S PORT

She used to relate how, at a dinner to which Tennyson was invited, the poet, who drank a bottle of the finest port each day, complained of the quality of the vintage served. This caused much concern to the party till the host met the emergency by sending for a bottle of Tennyson's favorite port.

Mrs. Disraeli, who was a friend of Miss Lisle, on one occasion had her fingers badly bruised through the coachman shutting the door on her fingers when she and Mr. Disraeli were about to be driven to the House of Commons. Although suffering agony, she did not mention the matter to her husband for fear of spoiling the speech he was about to deliver.

PRINCESS VICTORIA'S PRANK

Miss Lisle was a well-known figure in Society in the early days of Queen Victoria's reign, and was presented at Court more than 80 years ago. She used to tell the story of the young Princess (afterwards Queen) Victoria sliding down a staircase on a tea-tray as a last mad prank before her coronation.

Miss Lisle was no supporter of the "modern" young woman's fashions, and held strong views on the question of cosmetics and other "aids to beauty."

On the other hand, she held the opinion that modern rush and bustle really helped to prolong life by keeping people active and cheerful.

She was a wonderful character, and one who disliked intensely any suggestion of "tittle tattle" or scandal. The story is recounted of her that once she told a guest, guilty of this (to her) cardinal sin: "That door has two sides. Will you go to the other side—and stay there."

HOSPITAL BOARD GETS A FORTUNE

Forced to Buy Site Now Worth Nearly Two Million Pounds

The reported sale to a syndicate of the Foundling Hospital estate for £1,850,000 need not occasion any surprise, for land in this [illegible] of London has rapidly increased in [illegible] years.

When the hospital was built in 1753 the site was a part of Lamb's Conduit Fields, and, although less than a mile away from the busy thoroughfare of Holborn, it was comparatively open country.

The land belonged to the sixth Earl of Salisbury (his son was the first marquis), and he refused to part with a portion of it; so the governors of the hospital, which had previously been established in Hatton garden, were compelled to buy the whole estate of 55 acres.

A bargain was struck at £100 an acre—£5,500 in all — and nine acres were enclosed for the purposes of the hospital. The remainder has long been built on, and brings in a large income in ground rents.

DUKE IS CREATED [illegible]

The Duke of Northumberland has been created a Knight of the Garter. The appointment fills the vacancy caused by the death of the Duke of Rutland.

His Grace of Northumberland has just completed a series of articles in the "Morning Post" on "The Passing of Liberalism."

He has also denounced the Socialists and predicted revolution in the columns of the "Morning Post."

The duke is the principal shareholder in the "Morning Post."

GENERAL MUST PAY SCHOLAR DAMAGES

A schoolboy, taking a walk in Southcote lane, Reading, was struck by a falling elm tree, and so badly injured that his leg had to be amputated.

As a result the boy's father, Captain Thomas Stratton, of Erlegh [illegible] Reading, was awarded £1,000 damages at Berks Assizes against Brigadier-General H. Huleatt, of Oakland Hall, in whose ground the tree was situated.

It was stated that this was the first action of its kind ever brought.

General Huleatt's gardener confessed that he had seen a hole at the base of the tree, but did not think it dangerous.

WATERLESS VILLAGE

Eight hundred inhabitants of East Bridgford, Nottinghamshire, a hillside village 150 feet above the River Trent, are suffering from a water famine.

Householders fetch their water from the valley, and keep it in buckets covered with cloths, which they guard jealously.

PICKING THE CITY DUMPS

Picking dump heaps in New York is no fly-by-night, odd-time job for the loiterer. Children and tramps may be seen wandering at random over rubbish heaps on the city's outskirts, where final disposition is made of the stuff. But small, indeed, is their chance of getting anything more than a thick coat of grime.

The real picking has already been done, and that with system and precision. It is a regular business, with no room for free-lances. Those who pick the dumps do so officially. They pay for the right. Fortunes are found in the 10,000,000-odd cubic yards of ashes and rubbish they pick annually in New York.

These men are "trimmers" by trade. They trim the land fills and scows by which the city's waste stuff is carried from the waterfront dumps to Riker's Island or to sea. They build a wall around the outside edge and level off the pile as it grows. Before and after, and while they trim, they dig out of the piles things that may be used over [illegible].

[illegible] word passes out from the Department of Street Cleaning that the time is at hand for dealing out the dumps. This serves as notice for those who have picked dumps, or desire to do so, to size up the prospects of the job. Bids soon come in, and the highest bidders get contracts for the year.

Time has greatly changed the character of those who take charge of this work. Formerly they came from undesignated holes, somewhere on the east side. Little was known of them. They spoke for one dump or for two, then called in their friends to help. Now they are listed on the telephone book and do dump-picking on a wholesale scale.

How The Work Is Done.

They themselves pick no more, but hire others to do the work. And the actual pickers no longer are entitled to what they collect. They yield it all up to their employers and receive wages for their work. The contractors amass the salvaged material, sell it, and from the proceeds pay the city its fee.

The business has become so well organized that, though sub-contracts may be let, only one man is responsible to the city for picking and trimming the dumps of Manhattan. Another man has entire charge of the dumps in the Bronx. A Brooklyn firm, with a contract of long standing, devotes itself entirely to the refuse of that borough. It even makes final disposition of the residue, a job managed by the city for Manhattan and the Bronx.

When the wagons begin to come in at the dumping wharves, the work of picking has already begun. The driver must see that rubbish, ashes and garbage are stacked separately in his wagon. The most promising stuff, from the pickers' point of view, is usually piled at one end. The pickers go over this hurriedly and pass it on to the sorters. Through the other stuff they search more carefully, digging out anything worth keeping and tucking it away in their big bags. Garbage alone they are forbidden to take.

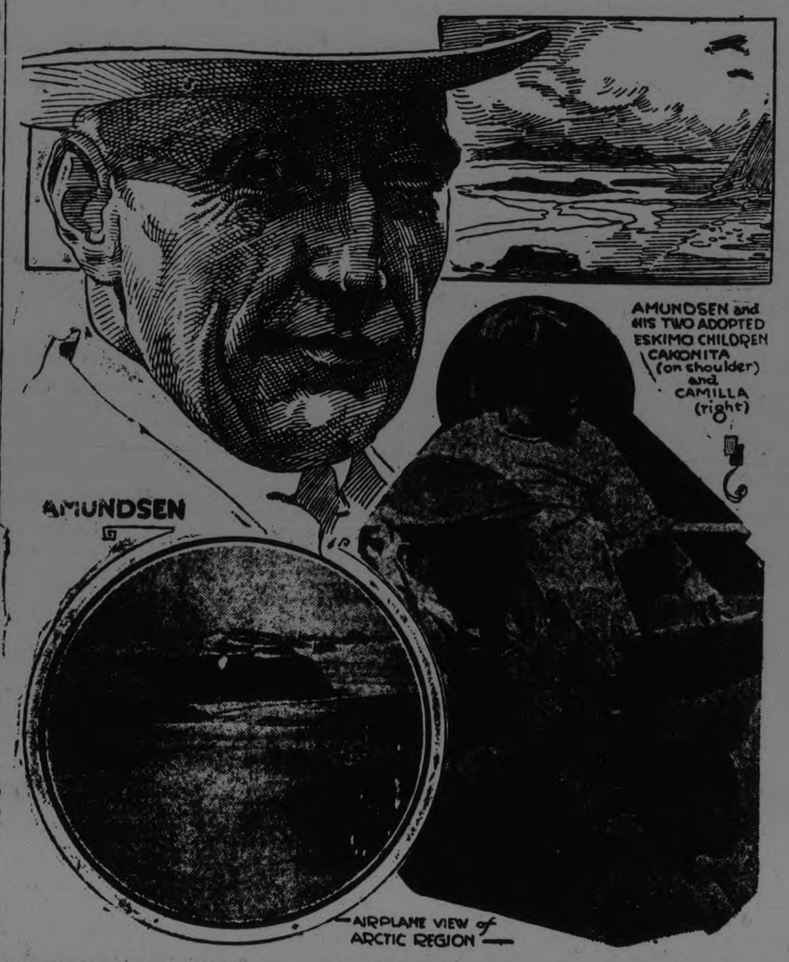
In the sorting quarters of the wharf are bags, barrels and boxes full of all sorts of things. Bottles are to be seen in heaps, even milk bottles, all destined to be sterilized and utilized again. There are heaps of discarded iron [illegible] and worn and twisted old springs, set aside to be sold to junk dealers. They bring a very good price. Then there are boxes of old hair mattress stuffing, worn felt hats, shoes and overshoes, broken umbrellas, unrecognizable rags, discarded magazines and old paper scraps.

The prize finds are big cardboard packing boxes. These are pressed by machinery into bales, tied and sold at a large profit. Formerly wooden crates were valuable, but not longer, since the order was issued to crush them in the wagons so as to save space. There are other finds by no means lightly esteemed, such as bits of jewelry and table silverware. These are not infrequently found, but never in the contractor's piles—the picker pockets them.

The masses of stuff stay on the wharves until the customers of the contractor arrive to haul them off by wagon, truck or boat.

Many men live comfortably on what New York throws away. Some 200 are employed at the dumps, and others are employed in other capacities by the contracting companies. Many are the paper companies and junk dealers, too, who depend in a measure on this source of cheap supply. Also, the city reaps its benefits, netting some $900 a week for the picking privilege in Manhattan and $888 for that in the Bronx. It has to pay the Brooklyn firm for the final disposal of refuse 78 cents a cubic yard for ashes and 17 cents for rubbish, but from this debt is deducted $4,000 a month, the fee the firm owes the city for the right to keep what it likes.

WOMAN WHO WAITED FOR AMUNDSEN



BY HAAKON H. HAMMER
Associate of Raold Amundsen and Arctic Explorer
(Copyright 1925, by H.H. Hammer.)

The silent, desolate reaches about the north pole, where frozen night extends to the bleak limits of the arctic horizon, almost caught Amundsen in their secret embrace.

But there is one secret the arctic cannot hide.

And that is the story of Amundsen's romance.

This woman has been waiting for him to come [illegible] his bride.

The two agreed, this year, that the last supreme effort, the flight to the north pole, was his first duty. Afterward would come peace and happiness.

So he went north, bearing the picture with him.

There may be but little of romance up there in the tremendous wastes of arctic ice and snow, and yet Amundsen may have drawn his inspiration from a faded picture.

Always the Picture

And if Amundsen had been conquered by the elements he loved and was resting in an unmarked grave somewhere in the icy wilderness, then we may be sure that by his side would have been a picture of a beautiful woman in a beautiful garden, picking a rose.

Amunsden is 55. When we used to ask him why he was a bachelor he would reply that he had never had time to get married. And that was the truth.

To please his mother, he began his career as a medical student. After her death he followed the call of the sea and soon became an expert in arctic navigation.

In the years that followed he went to the antarctic on the "Belgica," went to the northwest passage on the 'Gjoa,' cruised about the northern coast of Canada and finally went to the south pole.

Amundsen's Charm.

During these adventures he acquired an iron reserve that is relaxed only before his intimate friends. But to them he is a man of affectionate, gentle charm.

To go shopping holds a peculiar fascination for Amundsen. He attributes this himself to the fact that he has spent so many years in desolate regions where he has no opportunity to spend money, so whenever the opportunity presents itself he revels in the pleasure.

He will see a nice looking shirt in a shop window and immediately go in and place an order for at least two dozen. The same with ties, yes, and even the jewelry.

If he spies something which he [illegible] find some excuse for making it a present to a friend.

Two Eskimo Girls.

In his guardianship of the two little Eskimo girls, Cakonita and Camilla, Raold Amundsen showed himself to his friends from an entirely new side. His life had been too busy to fondle children and here suddenly he was an adopted father to two little girls 4 and 9 years of age.

The youngest one was his special favorite. He would play with her for hours and would attend to her every want with the utmost sacrifice and devotion. These children had never enjoyed the advantages of civilization, which greatly added to his task.

But it must not be taken, from this, that Amundsen always had a big supply of ready money. In fact, the reverse is true.

Only nine months ago Amundsen was forced to do through bankruptcy and in the last years immediately preceding this event Amundsen had struggled against poverty.

A Time of Poverty

I met Amundsen in Seattle on his return from Alaska in Septemb. 1923. His plans for a flight from Spitzbergen to Alaska had failed and for the moment he was practically destitute.

He had been forced to borrow a shirt from the chief engineer of the steamer which had taken him down and a pair of socks from a sailor, but his spirits were high.

I had just returned from Spitzbergen, where I had taken an expedition for Amundsen's relief, and my financial position was but little better.

The utmost economy was necessary and Amundsen, my wife and I rented a small three-roomed apartment in Seattle, Amundsen occupying the "bedroomette" and my wife and I occupying the sleeping couch in the living room.

Rug Brings Rent.

We raised the first month's rent by selling a polar bear rug, a previous present from Amundsen, and my wife took charge of the housework, while Amundsen, who is an excellent cook, attended to the culinary needs of the establishment.

Here the plans for the 1924 flight were laid. The "object to the end" was our chief concern, the actual method of financing was of least importance as long as the goal was attained.

The 1924 expedition failed by a hair's breadth to get under way. Then came bankruptcy for Amundsen, but never a sigh of despair, never a moment's wavering in the pursuit of his plans, and now he is back with his story.

Any financial gains he may make through his achievement will go toward reducing existing liabilities, but money will mean little to Amundsen compared to the wonderful knowledge that he could not be beaten by fate.

COBOURG NEWS

COBOURG, June 19.—One of the prettiest of June weddings took place Wednesday afternoon at the home of the bride's mother, Chapel Street, when Edith Gertrude, daughter of the late Albert Throop and of Mrs. Throop, Cobourg, was married to Mr. George Gilbert Wicks, of Cobourg. The bride was given away by her elder brother, Mr. Kent Throop, of Peterboro.

The ceremony took place before an arch of greenery and fragrant spring bloom, and was performed by Rev. R. F. Stillman. The bridesmaid was Miss Eleanor Rolls. There were two flower girls, Elva, daughter of Mr. Kent Throop, Peterboro, and Dorothy Troop, daughter of Mr. Ernest Throop, Cobourg, both nieces of the bride. Mr. Bert Wright was groomsman, and received as a souvenir of the happy event, gold cuff links. The groom's gift to the bride was a platinum and diamond bar pin, and to the bridesmaid a platinum pin; to the flower girls he gave silver mesh bags.

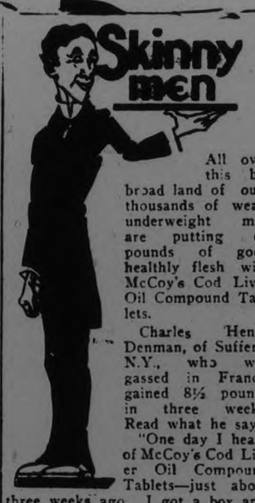
The young couple received a great [illegible]

The Sunday school class in the United Church, of which the bride is a member, met at her home and presented her with a miscellaneous shower. Another shower was given for the bride at the home of Miss Eleanor Rolls, and Mrs. Harry Irvin entertained and gave a cup and saucer shower for her. The members of Mr. Wicks' class presented many beautiful gifts, that told of [illegible] and regard.



All over this big broad land of ours thousands of weak, underweight men are putting on pounds of good healthly flesh with McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

Charles Henry Denman, of Suffern, N.Y., who was gassed in France, gained 8½ pounds in three weeks. Read what he says:

"One day I heard of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—just about three weeks ago. I got a box and started to take them. Since then I have taken two more boxes, all but 16 tablets.

The result is wonderful—never since I was gassed have I been so strong and felt so good. I have already gained 8½ pounds.

For weak, run down underweight nervous men, women, children. 60 tablets—60 cents.

Warne Drug Co., McDermid & Jury, Jas. Lynch and Bond's Drug Store sells lots of them. "Get McCoy's, the original and genuine."

UNIQUE REQUESTS MADE OF STATIONS

Wedding March at Proper Time—Tuning Note for Fiddle.

CINCINNATI, O., June 19.—Radio has forced broadcasting stations to become a combined information, first aid and general utility service.

The variety of requests sent to any station tells this.

One of the most freakish collections of unique requests is exhibited by station WKRC here. They cover a general range from calling for a child specialist to seeking a recipe for home brew.

"Most of the freak requests that come in are of the type usually experienced by every broadcasting station," says Clarence E. Ogden, owner of the station.

"Every studio director has received requests for announcing missing sons or daughters, wives or husbands; deaths, weddings, lost or found merchandise; the dates on which church fetes or bazaars, picnics or dances will be given by the Young Ladies' Group of Such-and-Such church.

"Any number of telephone calls are received every night wanting to know who won the last race at Laurel, Tia Juana or Latonia; whether New York took the last game from Chicago, how the stock market was at closing or any number of other items which they could read in their daily newspapers.

"The best letter, and one that we are keeping, came from an old Kentucky mountaineer who operated a one-tube set. It seemed as though he was quite a fiddler, but no one living within miles of him had a [illegible] any other musical instrument, and his [illegible] was out of tune.

"Anyway, this old Kentuckian wanted to tune his fiddle and he requested that on the night mentioned we have Miss Yelia LeMarr, WKRC's musical director, promptly at 9 o'clock strike "G" on the piano, repeating it at intervals for five minutes. Thus, the fiddle could be properly tuned.

"We mailed him a tuning fork the next day.

"One request for us to play a wedding march came from another little town in Kentucky and we did it. We have requests for recipes for cooking and home brew, how to take grass stains out of white pants, cures for sun burn and others too numerous to mention.

"The best thing a broadcasting station can do is stick to its primary duty—that of entertaining the public and do it to the best of its ability."

NOISE HINDERS BABIES.

LONDON, June 19—Baby specialists here say that noise and turmoil often have a serious effect on the growing child. They have found that children with exactly the proper food often fail to thrive in noisy parts of the city. After taking them to a quieter place, the health of the babies has improved.

The London County Council has appropriated $6,000 to be used in taking school children to theatres to see Shakespeare [illegible]

EARLY DOURO HISTORY

COBOURG, June 19.—In view of the coming centenary of Douro Township it is interesting to note that Mrs. Stewart, who, with her husband, and her sister, Mrs. Reid and the latter's husband, took up the first land grants in Douro, gives indisputable information in her "letters" which were later compiled under the name, "Our Forest Home," that missionary work among the Indians of the Rice Lake and adjacent district, was begun before the year 1825. She tells of a journey made from Cobourg, to which place they came to secure supplies from a store left by a Mr. Henry and of coming upon a camp of Indians, who were singing hymns and conducting religious services. Rev. Anson Green, one hundred years ago, in his intinerant was on the Coburg circuit, preached also in some scattered homes in Smith Township and at the home of a Mrs. Thompson in Monaghan. He followed a winding Indian trail through the woods and more than once got lost.

The conversion of Peter Jones, an outstanding figure in early missionary work in this district, led to whole tribes being drawn to embrace Christianity. The work among the Indians of this district beagn probably about 1822. It was then that Elder Case, the veteran apostle of Indian evangelism, wrote to a friend, "I have led several offers of five or ten dollars towards sending them a missionary." He brought the importance of missionary work before the annual conference, and thus was the work begun.

The story of the conversion of Peter Jones is interesting reading. It was at a camp-meeting, not in this locality, but farther west, that Peter Jones and his sister Mary, the first-fruits of Indian missionary labors were converted. Peter Jones in his autobiography, tells the story as follows: "In June 1823 I attended the Ancaster camp-meeting, anxious to see how the Methodists worshipped the Great Spirit. The encampment—about two acres, enclosed with a brush fence—the blazing fire-stands, the great gathering, the blowing of the horn, the singing, praying and preaching impressed me deeply. I began to feel very sick in my heart." To conceal his emotion he withdrew into the woods, and it was there that two ministers found him. They took him back to the prayer-meeting and later Peter Jones publicly acknowledged his faith in the religion of the pale-face. This led Elder Case to exclaim, "Now the door is opened to the people." It was at the conference held at Picton in 1824 that the Methodist Church in Canada was formally organized for missionary work

An Indian Feast of Thanksgiving.

E. Sanderson in his "First Century [illegible]ethodism in Canada" describes an [illegible]n feast in these early days when [illegible]erings of the fruits of the earth, were made to the Great Spirit. He says, "There was a great collection of corn, potatoes, pumpkins, melons, squashes and twelve deer. The women were busy cooking. The itinerant preachers were asked into a long temple, where many Indians were seated around the fires. There were singers with deerskin drums. Two young men kept the doors and threw hemlock brush on the fires, filling the temple with smoke to drive out evil spirits. Then the old chief rose up rattling a turtle shell and said they had come together to thank the Great Spirit for ripening their fruits. Singing, dancing and beating of drums followed, with processions and wailing noises all night. In the morning they ate the soup and meat that had been prepared. The festival lasted for several days."

The Rice Lake Circuit.

In 1826, a new circuit was formed which was called the Rice Lake circuit. It was comprised of Otonabee, Monaghan, Cavan, Smith and Emily townships. It was placed in charge of George Bissell, a young minister. A large number of Indians from this district attended a camp-meeting at Adolphustown in 1925, taking with them their "women, children and kettles." Before the meeting closed, twenty-one adult Indians and ten children were baptized. Among these was Peter Jacobs, who had been sent to school in Belleville to be educated.

Many Rogues Yet.

Peter Jones speaking in the meeting said: "You white people have had the Gospel many years; suppose you read the Bible sometimes. Some very good people, but many very wicked—get drunk, tell lies, break the Sabbath. These Indians have the Good Book very little while, can't read, but they become good people right away. They no more get drunk, no more tell lies. To us, seems very strange—you so many years have missionary, so many rogues yet."

Peter Jones at Rice Lake.

In January 1827 Peter Jones invited the Indians of the Bay of Quinte district. He went north from Cobourg and travelled through Monaghan and Cavan, and, we are told, instructed many of his people, the Indians, and built a place of worship. Early in May that year he visited Rice Lake, carrying Place, Belleville and Grape Island. He assisted in building a mission house on the island and was cheered by Elder Case, who administered the sacrament to about ninety Indians and baptized twenty. After spending two weeks in this work, they left to attend the quarterly meeting at Cobourg, when about seventy Indians came in from Rice Lake, forty-four of whom were baptized by Elder Case. After some weeks at Rice Lake, ploughing, fencing, planting and holding meetings, Mr. Jones left for Port Hope where about one hundred Mud Lake Indians awaited him.

The Papoose At Church.

This reference by historians to the work of Peter Jones at Rice Lake no doubt refers to the beginning of missionary work on the Alderville Indian Reserve. The widow of a missionary at Alderville, who resided in Cobourg a few years ago, told of seeing the Indians come to a quarterly meeting service in the old Hall's Corners Church, near Cobourg. The squaws carried their babies on a board strapped to the back, and at the services it was not unusual to see a row of boards to each of which was attached a papoose, set against the interior back wall of the building. But if Indian customs of one hundred years ago, seem peculiar to us, no doubt the whites had customs just as curious and interesting.

Peter Jones, who is stated to have been a student in a school at Belleville at the time of his conversion at an Adolphustown camp-meeting, was known to the Indians as "Pahtehsega." He and John Sandy, known as "Shahweendias," were among the early students at Upper Canada College, afterwards Victoria University, and went forth from this school of learning and Christian culture to minister to the Indians of Rice Lake and in other parts of Upper Canada. Upper Canada College opened its door to students of both sexes at Cobourg about 1837.

PIT PONIES PASS DAYS IN SUNSHINE

Veterans Come to Surface After Twelve Years in Mines.

NANAIMO, B.C., June 19.—(Canadian Press).—A number of veteran pit ponies, mules and horses are now basking in the light of day and the green pastures of the surface after twelve years of continuous service underground in the workings of the Western Fuel Corporation here. The strike of the company's miners presented the opportunity for a "visit outside". While a great majority of the animals have served several years below the surface, it was the first vacation in the great out-of-doors for some of them since 1913 when the last strike occurred.

When the mines closed down a week ago the animals were hoisted from their darkened underground stables and driven to a large pasture field. At first they appeared hypnotized with their good fortune but this soon disappeared and with a whinny of delight and a flick of the hind legs they scampered over the broad green fields, rolled in the luxurious grass, and then after the first exuberant outburst, grazed contentedly for the first time since their young days. They are willing to join the underground strikers in lay-off of indefinite duration. To the animals of the mine only is a coal strike welcome.

RICHARD HALL & SON

The FLAPPER WIFE

by Beatrice Burto

THE STORY SO FAR:

GLORIA GORDON, beautiful Flapper marries DICK GREGORY, a struggling lawyer. Her idea of marriage is fun and fine clothes . . . . but no work or children.

She refuses pointblank to do her own housework, and hires a maid. But Dick has to let the maid go, because he can't afford to pay her wages. Gloria has swamped him with debts for her clothes and a new automobile.

She becomes infatuated with STANLEY WAYBURN, an actor. She lends him money, and finally, when he leaves town to go to New York, Gloria follows him. He spurns her, telling her he has just married a Russian actress. Then Gloria tries to land a job as a chorus girl and fails. Discouraged, she comes home to Dick.

He takes her back, but not as his wife. One night Gloria leaves him to work late at the office with SUSAN BRIGGS, his secretary. While Gloria is at home alone, the house is robbed. Dick doesn't get home until almost morning. Gloria wonders if he was with Miss Briggs all that time. But next morning she learns that he was at the house of DR. JOHN SEYMOUR, who had killed himself because of the love affair that existed between his wife MAY and JIM CARWE.

Gloria goes to Dick's office to tell him about the robbery, and to make one last attempt to win him again.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

The minute Gloria told Dick she was through with him she was sorry.

She was not through with him! She was just beginning to be interested in him as she had never been before in all her life.

Hoping that he wouldn't take her at her word, she found herself breathlessly waiting for his answer. It came.

"All right, Gloria," he said. "And this time, it's for good. Remember! No coming back!"

Gloria couldn't speak. With her little head held high, she marched past him, into the kitchen.

The steak was burning in the frying pan. Gloria took it from the stove, and put it away in the icebox, steaming hot as it was. She tossed the bread-tray with the bread on it, back into its box. The asparagus and salad went into the garbage can.

"If I can't be his wife, I won't be his cook . . . that's a cinch!" she thought to herself.

She stood at the screen door looking out into the yard. There was a strong smell of boiling fruit in the air. Mrs. Donberg, next door, must be responsible . . . . It was the season for preserving.

Suddenly Gloria saw the beauty of the common lot . . . of a woman working for a man, and him for her. Of their children. And their little homes and backyard gardens. . . . It was a precious thing, the every day kind of love that Dick had once offered her. And that she hadn't had the wit to accept!

Tears scalded her eyes, and ran down her cheeks.

Blinded by them, she felt her way upstairs and into her own room. She packed her over-night bag.

* * *

Dick was waiting for her in the hall when she came downstairs. She looked up at him with red-rimmed, swollen eyes.

"I'll come back tomorrow to pack my trunks," she said, "I'm going home to Mother's, now."

"No," he objected. "We'll do this thing decently. I'm not going to let you run crying down the street tonight . . . . We won't give the neighbors any more to gossip about than we have to! You go upstairs to bed, now. And we'll talk things over tomorrow morning."

"Talk what over?" Gloria asked. "You want me to go . . . and I'm going. What is there to jabber about? I'm sick of all this talk, talk, talk!"

She drew a long sobbing breath.

"There are a good many things we've got to discuss," Dick said. "Selling the house, and the furniture . . . things of that kind."

Selling the house! And the furniture, too! . . . Ah, Dick must mean business then! He really must be through with her . . . eager to rid himself of her!

She looked around her at the bright, cheerful house with its cream-colored walls, its blue rugs, and the yellow curtains that looked as if sunshine were always pouring through them.

"I—I don't want to go away from my house!" she said in a whisper. She couldn't trust her treacherous voice.

"Oh, rats!" Dick exclaimed. "You've never stayed in this house long enough to care for it. Six months from now you'll have forgotten you ever lived in it . . . with me!"

Gloria had no answer to that. She went back up the stairswith lagging [illegible]

She locked herself in her room and went to sleep. When Dick knocked on her door in the morning, she did not get up.

"There's no use in our talking to each other," she called wearily. "We'll only have another row . . . .Goodby."

To Gloria's disappointment, Dick went without saying another word. She lay, listening tensely to his retreating footfalls.

Her nerves shook to the sound of the front door closing behind him . . . to the purr of the little car rolling out of the yard.

And when it had died away in the distance, she got up and dressed, slowly and uncertainly.

* * *

Mrs. Gordon was washing the breakfast dishes when Gloria opened the screen door that led into the clean, sunlit kitchen from the back porch.

"Well, forevermore! Where are you going, bag and baggage?" She looked down dubiously at the over-night bag Gloria carried.

"I'm not going anywhere. I've arrived," Gloria answered. "I've come home."

Her mother scalded the silverware. "Speaking of arrivals," she said, "your cousin, Lulu's baby is here at last! It was born last night at the hospital . . . My goodness! After a while all the 'famous birthplaces' of presidents and authors will be hospitals, I suppose! . . . . I've always said I'd love to see the place where George Washington was born. Or did he just live at Mount Vernon? . . . . No, I guess he was born there, wasn't he?"

Gloria set her bag down on the well-scrubbed floor.

"Mother!" she cried. "I've come home! I've left Dick!"

Her mother laid her dish towel down on the drain board.

"Tell me," she said, "did you leave Dick when you went to New York a few weeks ago? Everybody said you did . . . . I couldn't believe it. I was sure you'd have told me if you were separating . . . . But then, girls don't tell their mothers things the way they used to when I was young. I suppose I'd be the last one to hear it if you ever did leave him."

Gloria shook her head with exasperation.

"I'm telling you right now that I have left him!" she said. "I'm never going back to him! I've come home to stay here with you and Dad, if you'll let me."

Mrs. Gordon took off her glasses. "I can't see a thing with those things on," she said. "You go into the living-room and lie down. I'm going to make you some tea. You look peaked . . . ."

Gloria took her bag upstairs to the little room that had been hers for so many years of her life. It was beautifully clean, but depressing in its shabbiness.

She thought of her room at home with its soft, brilliant cushions, its chaise longue and the taffeta that draped the bed and windows.

With a heart like lead, she went downstairs. On the living room table stood a tea tray.

* * *

Mrs. Gordon came in from the kitchen with a plate of hot toast in her hands.

"You eat some of this toast that I've made for you, too," she said. "And then tell me how you happened to leave Dick."

Dick?"

"There isn't much to tell. He said he was through with me . . . . So what could I do but pack my bag and get out?" Gloria asked.

Mrs. Gordon sat down in her old armchair. "Now, Glory, that's not the truth," she said bluntly. "I know Dick too well to believe that tale . . . You probably told him you were through with him. Didn't you?"

Gloria thought, for a moment. "Yes I believe I did," she said. The whole affair was blurred in her mind by her own unhappiness.

"Well, then," her mother went on, "You've got to go back to Dick. Marriage isn't like a hat that you can wear for a while, and then throw away for a new one . . . ."

"I don't want a new one," Gloria answered miserably. "I don't ever want to see a man again!" She slipped to the floor and laid her head on her mother's knees.

"Nonsense!" Mrs. Gordon said. "You and Dick have just had some sort of a little spat or other . . . . You know, you're not an easy person to live with, Gloria! You fly up at nothing. . . . I often say to your Dad, 'Gloria isn't like either of us. She must take after old Aunt Fanny!" She had a tongue if ever a woman did."

"I knew you'd say it was my fault if Dick and I ever had a bust-up." Gloria answered resentfully. "Everybody thinks Dick's perfect. . . ."

"No, he's not perfect. But he's the sort of man I should have liked to have had for a son . . . if the good Lord had seen fit to send me one," her mother went on. "Dick's a pretty nice young fellow, Gloria. And you're going to regret it if you leave him!"

Gloria shook her head. But she knew that her mother was right. She was regretting it, already.

"What you ought to do is to go straight back home, and settle down to make Dick some sort of a wife!" Mrs. Gordon said suddenly. "I suppose it's partly my fault that you don't know how to cook or take care of a house . . . that you have to have a maid. I should have made you go into the kitchen and work right along with me, when you were engaged to Dick." "I haven't any maid. Dick let Ranghild go," Gloria answered. "I've been doing my own housework since I came back from New York. . . . ."

"Ah, hah! So that's it! I knew there was a nigger in the woodpile somewhere!" her mother exclaimed. "You don't like to do housework, and you've been quarreling with Dick about it!"

"I have not!" Gloria jumped up from the floor. "He's in love with his stenographer, if you want to know! And he treats me as if I were his old maid aunt!"

Placidly Mrs. Gordon picked up the tray of dishes and went out into the kitchen with it.

"Oh, I guess it's not as bad as all that," she said comfortably. "A man doesn't wait till he's thirty to marry the wrong woman."

* * *

She laid her hands on Gloria's graceful shoulders.

"And even if he were in love with his stenographer," she said solemnly, "your job would be to win him back . . . .'For better, for worse,' Gloria. That's marriage. It's no bed of roses."

Gloria stood as [illegible] a statue. In her ears she could hear her own voice repeating the words after the minister, as she had stood in that very room on her wedding day— . . ."For better, for worse, for richer, for poorer . . . till death do us part."

Ah, there were other things that parted two people who had once loved each other . . . misunderstandings, pettiness. . . .

"All right, I'll go home!" Gloria said suddenly. "By jinks, I'll make things turn out the way I want them to! If it kills me!"

Her mother laughed at her fierceness. "It won't kill you," she said. "It'll be the saving of you, Baby. You haven't been a real wife yet, to Dick. You've just been playing at it."

"Clothes last longer when washed properly"— says Mrs. Experience, who tells how to wash them.

"Some women actually rub holes in clothes trying to get them clean with harsh, ordinary laundry soaps, which are only half soap anyway. No wonder they say 'Washing is so wearing on clothes'.

"The easiest way I've found to wash clothes—easiest on clothes and easiest on myself—is by using Sunlight Soap. No boiling or hard rubbing is needed—the pure Sunlight suds penetrate through and through each fabric, loosening dirt and dissolving grease spots. Then in rinsing, all dirt and soapy matter just runs away.

"And as every bit of Sunlight is pure, cleansing soap, it lathers generously, does not fade anything washable and is far more economical. Sunlight keeps your hands nice and soft. Levers, Toronto make it."

LAWN SOCIAL SEASON OPENS NEAR MADOC

MADOC, June 18.—One of the first lawn socials of the season was held Tuesday evening on the Anglican church grounds at Queensboro. Owing to the cool weather not as large a crowd attended as the heat of the previous week led the ladies in charge to anticipate but all those present report a very enjoyable evening. A good program [illegible] including by Rev. Mr. Sexsmith of Queensboro and Rev. Mr. Redding of Bannockburn. The latter also gave one or tso selections on the zylophone and assisted with the accompaniments for the singing. James Aylesworth of Madoc, in his usual good style, rendered a also on the cornet accompanied by Mrs. Aylesworth. Cake, sandwiches and hot coffee made up for the chilliness of the atmosphere, after which warming influence many patrons were induced to test the ice-cream.

SHOWER TENDERED TO MISS E. FALLIS

Pleasant Social Event at the Home of Mrs. H. A. Fallis.

MILLBROOK, June 18.—Mrs. H. A. Fallis, Fallis Line, was hostess for a pleasant social event on Tuesday evening, a miscellaneous shower being held at her home in honor of Miss Evelyn Fallis, whose marriage to Mr. E. Armstrong takes place on Saturday of this week.

Thirty-five guests were in attendance, and the rooms were made most attractive with an abundance of the flowers usually in evidence at this season.

Two little girls, Verna Fallis, and Mary Ball, entered the drawing-room carrying between them a beautifully decorated basket, the orange blossoms with which handle and ribbons were entwined, giving an appropriate bridal effect.

Daintily embroidered linens, fine china, cut glass, and kitchen utensils, were among the contents revealed as the bride-to-be opened the numerous parcels which filled the basket to the brim, giving tangible evidence of the esteem in which Miss Fallis is held by a large circle of friends.

The surprise of the occasion made it difficult for the guest of honor to voice her deep appreciation of the kindness which had chosen so pleasing a manner of expressing itself, but her reply was made in a few well chosen words.

Mrs. A. J. Henderson poured tea, and four young girls, Margaret Armstrong, Doreen McGee, Muriel Ball, and Verna Fallis, were most attentive in looking after the wants of the guests during the refreshment hour.

The hostess was the recipient of many warm expressions of gratitude for the pleasant social occasion provided, as the guests left for their respective homes.

MILLBROOK NEWS

MILLBROOK, June 18. — Nearly thirty of the young people of the community enjoyed a social gathering on the lawn of Mr. W. G. Hetherington's home on Monday evening, croquet and lawn bowling, using carpet balls for the latter game, being played until darkness compelled an adjournment indoors.

As president of the Young People's League, Miss Estelle Hetherington welcomed the guests, and Rev. F. H. Howard gave a most interesting talk on the Shepherd Psalm.

Music, and other pleasing features, were enjoyed before the gathering finally dispersed.

Congratulations are being extended to Town Clerk L. C. Russell, who brought his bride home on Monday evening. The marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Russell took place in the Park Street Baptist Church, Peterborough, on Thursday of last week.

Mrs. G. Falls, of Port Hope, who was called here on account of the illness and death of her mother, the late Mrs. T. Forsyth, is remaining for a further visit with her sisters, Mrs. G. F. Harrington, and Miss Ethel Forsyth.

The J. B. Hall Lodge, A. F. & A. M., No. 945, will attend divine worship in the United Church on Sunday, June 21, at 7 p.m. Rev. F. H. Howard will preach. On account of the visit of the Masonic brethren, the proposed special young people's service has been postponed until a later date.

Miss Eileen Higgs was the guest of Mrs. G. E. Burnham, and Miss Phyllis Richards over the week-end.

Mrs. G. Raymes, of Brighton, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Richards for a few days the latter part of the week. Her neice, Patsy Richards, accompanied Mrs. Rames as far as Peterborough on the return trip on Saturday. Patsy will remain with her aunt, Mrs. G. McKim, for a visit.

Miss Doreen McGee, of Peterborough, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. S. Fallis, Fallis Line, at present.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Burnham, and daughter, Dorothy, of Peterborough, were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Burnham.

UNION MEETING AT MILLBROOK

Elders Elected By United Church and Stewards Chosen.

REPORT GIVEN.

MILLBROOK, June 18.—The first public meeting in connection with the United Church, an important and well attended gathering, was held on Tuesday evening, Rev. F. H. Howard, and Rev. G. S. Gervan being in charge, the latter conducting the opening devotional exercises.

The report of the committee on union appointed last spring was read by the secretary, Dr. A. Jemison, the other members being, Messrs. H. W. Johnston, T. H. Aiken, P. Stinson, Revs. Gervan and Howard.

The pastor explained the object of the gathering which was the election of the elders, who compose the session and have the spiritual oversight of the congregation, and the committee of stewards, who have charge of the finances of the local congregation.

Mr. Howard expressed his personal pleasure in the "spirit of harmony prevailing among us, showing we are of one mind, we have seen one vision, we are out for one purpose, and we have met to plan means for carrying out definite unity."

Mr. Gervan read the list of names, representing about eighteen families, who are joining the United Church at Millbrook, having formerly been members of the local Presbyterian congregation. Other names are to be added.

On motion of T. H. Aiken, seconded by W. E. Ball, it was decided to have ten elders as members of the session, and on motion of W. Fred Fallis, seconded by G. E. Burnham, to have seven men on the committee of stewards.

A. Jemison, W. G. Hetherington, J. Larmer, and E. Burnham were appointed scrutineers, R. Larmer and David Gervan supplying the members with ballots. The elders elected were: D. A. Jemison, J. Whitfield, H. W. Johnston, W. Fred Fallis, G. E. Burnham, T. H. Aiken, P. Stinson, J. A. Brown, H. A. Earle, W. E. Ball.

The committee of stewards includes: M. McDowell, Jas. Might, L. Larmer, L. W. Smith, W. G. Hetherington, J. L. Byam, and W. H. Coombs.

The basement was attractively decorated with flowers for the social hour, the tables being so arranged that groups of ten, or more, could gather round each. A committee of the Ladies 'Aid served the guests, who evidently enjoyed the opportunity of becoming better acquainted, praticularly with those coming in from a sister congregation, and not accustomed to worship in the building being used as the United Church.

Rev. Jos. and Mrs. Wilks, Rev. G. S. and Mrs. Gervan, Rev. F. H. and Mrs. Howard were in the vestibule and cordially welcomed all comers, continuing what was evidently a pleasant duty during the hour of social intercourse.

SEEK DAMAGES AS ROADS WERE BAD

Suit Against King in Cobourg for Death in Highway Accident.

COBOURG, June 19.—Four civil actions comprised the docket that came before the Honourable Mr. Justice Meredith, Chief Justice of the Court of Common Pleas at the non-jury sittings of the Supreme Court of Ontario, which concluded its sessions here Tuesday.

The case that awakened most interest was that brought by Mrs. Margaret Mary Kilen, residing in Belleville, against His Majesty the King, for $30,000 damages. The plaintiff is the widow of Egon Dezso Kilen and sued as executrix and in a personal capacity because of the death of her husband, from injuries received by the upsetting of an automobile in which they were driving on the Provincial Highway, between Port Hope and Bowmanville. It was alleged the roads were in bad condition. The action was dismissed without costs. Mrs. Kilen also asked for $2,000 for personal injuries, besides the $30,000. The counsel were Ponton and Ponton for plaintiff and E. Bagly for defendant.

Settled Out Of Court.

Jory vs Luke et al was settled out of court. This was action over a promissory note for $4,480 and was brought by John H. H. Jory of Bowmanville against W. J. Luke, Whitby and H. Boys, King township, York county.

Whelan vs Boyler.

The plaintiffs, or part of them at least, reside in Dubuque, Iowa and thedefendant at Port Hope. All are nephews and nieces of the late Edward Boyle of Port Hope. Plaintiffs asked that probate of the will, which had been granted, be revoked and for a declaration that the late Edward Boyle, was not of sound mind or memory at the time he signed the will.

The action was finally settled between the parties and it is understood that the nephews and nieces share in the estate. W. J. McMahon, Port Hope, for the plaintiffs; Kerr and Cochrane for the defendants.

Judgment For Plaintiff.

In Porter vs Fee, it was decided that judgment be entered for the plaintiff for conveyance of the lands in question. This was a dispute over a sale of land in Hope township in which the plaintiff asked for specific performance. D. H. Chisholm for plaintiff, F. D. Reilly for defendant.

TWO SMALL HATS FOR SUMMER

Two decidedly summer chapeaux are these that have resisted the impulse to widen the brim and become picturesque. The smaller model is of coarse straw in orchid color, trimmed with ribbon of the same shade. The larger model is of natural colored straw trimmed with white ribbon cartwheels. For summer sports they are highly desirable.

HIGH HEELS

Out of Popularity and Low Heels Are More Comfortable.

Some chiropodists claim that high-heeled shoes are correct and fitting for women.

But when it is noted that the shoe heel is an invention of man, and that Nature has furnished our feet with flat heels, the chiropodists' argument loses weight.

A person may become so accustomed to high heels that a change to low heels will cause some discomfort. This is the explanation for the complaints from women last year about the arches in their feet when they attempted to wear the low-heel shoes that were in vogue.

It is not advisable to make a sudden change in the style and shape of shoes at any time.

A laced shoe is preferable to a buttoned shoe. The laces permit the shoe to be drawn snug about the instep, giving support to the arch.

If a person has a tendency to turn on his ankle it is best to wear high laced shoes.

Low shoes are growing popular for the year round. And this is good for most persons. Low shoes permit the air to reach the foot. Also they give more freedom to the arch muscles, permitting them to develop.

If low shoes were worn from childhood there would be no weak ankles.

DANCES.

Mrs. Rose Harris, an inmate of the Orthodox Jewish Home for the Aged at Cleveland, was born in 1819, but when her 106th birthday came she danced the ancient Hungarian dance—the Czardas—with more spirit than any other inmate present. Incidentally, she was still dancing, when the others, tired, had quit.

Jumper Frocks

NEW YORK, June 19.—(United Press).—Georgette jumper frocks have become the popular outfits for warm days. Georgette is exceedingly cool and since fashion demands rather tailored frocks this summer, the two-piece georgette is both modish and practical.

Purple in deep violet cast is the outstanding of the colorful shades in New York at present. Many women are choosing georgette jumper frocks in this royal shade. One attractive model, which, by the way, costs but fifteen dollars at one of the small shops, is made of purple georgette with a front pleated skirt attached to sheer China silk. Its jumper extends to the hips and has long rather full sleeves, which finish with narrow cuffs tied in bow knots at the wrists. The neckline is cut Vshape in front and the collar is a straight strip of the material extending in scarf ends The attractive thing about this model is a side pocket on the lower portion of the jumper which is covered with violets of the exact shade of the frock.

Flower pockets by the way, are a new trimming note on simple frocks. An ecru georgette jumper frock has tiny yellow primroses covering the two pockets. A pink linen frock made on simple lines has a string belt made entirely of flat pink roses. In most cases the filowers used on frocks are of cotton rather than silk and of the exact shade of the frock. A few models, however, use contrasting colors, as where a blue georgette has pockets of violets.

As summer approaches we see pastel shades overshadowed by more vivid ones. Bright greens, reds and yellows are colors we see much of. Evening shades continue along pastel tones whereas the more brilliant colors are noted at country clubs, resorts, on the street and about the home.

PLAYING SECOND FIDDLE

Less Prominent Instruments Are Just as Important as Others.

Young students of musical instruments would be wise to remember a saying of Schumann's: "If everyone played first violin no orchestra would be got together." The less prominent instruments are just as useful as those in the limelight. To excel, nowadays, as a performer on the more popular instruments—the piano and the violin—means exceptional gifts and a vast amount of work. The high standard which used to be reached by only a few, now is reached by many, for the simple reason that ever so many more than used to study those instruments now do so. There is far more room at the top for players of other instruments, and if the student would give his thought to the viola, or the 'cello, among the stringed instruments, or to one of the various woodwind or brass instruments, he would be more likely to command a prominent place.

HOME TOWN RECIPE.

A recipe for graham bread that has proved very popular with all who have tried it is furnished by Mrs. J. N. Welbourn, 218 Reid street:

6 cups graham flour.
2 cups brown sugar.
½ lb. raisins or dates.
2 teaspoons salt.
2 teaspoons soda.
4 cups sour milk.

Bake for half an hour in a moderate oven.

Cynthia Grey Says:

The world has heard a great deal about revolutions in the last few years.

There was the Russian Revolution, the upheaval in Germany, and recently the Bulgarian revolt.

But I wonder if men ever realize the Women's Revolution that has been going on around them for the last 20 years!

I wonder if they stop to think that bobbed hair is not a frivolity, but a badge of freedom. I doubt if it ever occurs to them that short skirts stand for Liberty, just as much as the red hat of the French revolutionists stood for it!

Women's clothes are more than costumes today. They are uniforms . . . to work in!

A few years ago there was just as much freedom in women's dress as there was for them in their daily life.

They wore tight corsets, bustles, false hair and "rats," high-heeled shoes in which it was difficult to walk. The woman who discarded her corsets and wore flat, comfortable shoes was termed "peculiar."

If a woman worked outside her home, all she could do was to teach school or make clothes. Any other kind of labor was called "unwomanly."

Today women do just as they please. There is nothing that men do that they aren't getting ready to do in the world of business and polities.

Florence Allen is a supreme court judge.

Miriam Ferguson is a govenor. Janet Scudder akes her place among the world's foremost sculptors. Anne Nichols is the most successful play-producer living! . . . And so it goes!

Women have freed themselves from sex-slavery.

And they have done it so cleverly, so quietly, so cunningly that while men were still wondering what it was all about . . . it was done!

Women go to the polls and vote as a matter of course, not only here but in England, where Mrs. Pankhurst freed her country-women.

The American constitution no longer class the mothers of the land with "children and idiots," as it once did . . . and not so long ago, at that!

In 1909, H. G. Wells wrote a book about an English suffragette who was thrown into prison because she wanted to vote.

And these were some of the thoughts he put into the suffragette's brain, as she lay in prison:

"A man can kick . . . his skirts don't tear.
A man scores always . . . everywhere.

. . . The men score always, everywhere.
"For men have reason, women rhyme
A man scores always, all the time."

Wells wrote that only sixteen years ago! Only yesterday!

IS THIS YOUR BIRTHDAY

SATURDAY, JUNE 20—If today is your birthday, one of your greatest faults will be going to the extreme in almost everything you undertake. When you become angry you fly into a violent rage. Likely as not, the next day you will go to the other extreme in trying to be kind and sympathetic with someone. Strive for the "happy medium." If a woman, you will like a gay life in society. You probably will marry young.

CODDLY BABY FINGERS BEAT MODERN FADS

"Be a Woman" is Message of Madame Schumann-Heink.

ISMS FALL DOWN

Mother of Eight Children and Opera Star Imparts Wisdom.

BY HORTENSE SAUNDERS

NEW YORK, June 19.—"Be a woman."

Those three words constitute the message of Madam Schumann-Heink to women who are trying to find themselves in politics, public life and men's jobs.

"Don't expect to find happiness by deserting the fireside and the nursery," she cautions. "Don't believe that any number of isms can compensate for the lack of cuddly baby's fingers, or that any cults can bring the joy that comes from making a home for your man."

This beloved singer, 64, whose rich, contralto voice can still thrill the sophisticated and who has just signed up to appear next season with the Metropolitan opera, is the mother of eight children, six of whom are living.

Everyone knows the story of how she was left a widow with this brood to support and how, to provide them with bread and butter, she became a great artist.

And you cannot doubt the sincerity of her voice or be unmoved by the suggestion of tears in her fine, kindly eyes when she assures you earnestly that it is not her career, but her children who have brought her happiness.

"Happiness," she said. "That's what we all want, men and women alike. It is the most priceless thing we can give or receive. And we find it doing the thing that lies nearest us. Women, particularly find it in service.

"Only the dissatisfied woman wants to leave her home to compete with men in their man made world. Not having found happiness at home, she is not apt to find it in a larger, but less sympathetic circle. So she takes her dissatisfaction with her and spreads it wherever she goes.

"We would get the idea that women generally were a band of dissatisfied neurotics, beating their wings against insurmountable bars if we believed the current literature and credited the theories advanced by these modern women who have sought an escape in the outside world.

"But this is not true. The majority of women, thank God, are satisfied wives and mothers and are carrying on the race in spite of fads."

Men, she admits, aren't perfect, but it is a woman's job to produce a better race of husbands before she does anything else in the way of civic reform. She believes women never will exert the influence in politics or in public life that they can through the home.

"Mothers today, who deplore the younger, jazz-made generation should only realize," she went on, "that they are the offspring of a race of women who tried to find a new solution to an old problem and who weren't satisfied to be the feminine side of the human equation."

Though she has the spirit and enthusiasm and has had the success the modern woman craves, Madam Schumann-Heink glories in being an old-fashioned woman. She wears her iron gray hair piled high on her head in a topknot after the fashion of years ago. She doesn't attempt to achieve the modern sylphlike figure, wears sensible shoes and ankle-length skirts.

She doesn't think about keeping young because she believes there is beauty and dignity to age. To be healthy, she says, she eats plain food and keeps her mind free from morbid and cynical thoughts.

If properly cared for a permanent magnet will retain the property of magnetism for several years.

SPIDERS LOVE MUSIC

LONDON, June 18.—Do spiders enjoy music? A London organist has noticed that every time he starts to play the organ a spider swings down over the keyboard by a single thread of its web.

As soon as the music stops he disappears. Either very soft or very loud music also causes the spider to disappear.

During a concert at Leipzig, a spider seemed to like violin music. During two violin solos, he dropped down from a chandelier by its web, but went back up again when the violin music stopped.

Very few persons increase in height after they reach 21.

ONCE UPON A TIME — JACK THE GIANT KILLER. V — by W. J. ENRIGHT.

When the camp girls discovered me, out at dawn, and came rushing out, I had to make some explanations, so I told them about Whippoorwill and that he had departed in haste at their sudden coming.

And this early morning fuss resulted in much talk at the breakfast table. I could see by the swell meal they made especially for me, bacon and eggs and all, that they expected me to deliver the goods. I was just beginning to get alarmed, when somebody suggested that they form a bird club called "The Noscarems, the No-Scare-'ems." I thought to myself: "Well, if I can ever get them quiet, we may have some fun."

There was an old half sunken log raft down on the shore. I had been out on it, looking into the rushes and saw a bittern, standing like a statue in the midst of the bullrushes. So I asked the camp, "Who is game to trail a bittern?" "I am," said everybody. Sometimes in Canada we call this a crane, but it should be called bittern, and it is yellowy-brown and white striped, long legged and long beaked, wades in the rushes, eating frogs and young fish, and when frightened, stands like a statue, looking for all the world like a bunch of rushes.

Well, we got out on the raft, seven of us, and the rest in boats. The raft was in the lead, floating slowly to the place, so that the bird would be sure to be undisturbed.

We got there, some forty of us, silently but surely. We rested at the edge of the rushes and saw the bittern strike and then swallow a small fish.

The rotten old waterlogged raft may have been built for six, but not for seven. It slowly went down and settled in three feet of water. The bittern went up with a hoarse croak, all wings and legs. We all saw the bittern though.

The newly founded "No-scare-'em" Club was off to a terrible start.

JOSEPH CAILLAUX, CAT OF FRANCE, LANDS ON HIS FEET ONCE MORE

By MILTON BRONNER.

PARIS, June 19.—The Cat has returned to French politics.

Joseph Caillaux, central figure of many a French drama, with nine physical and nine political lives, has been called upon by his country to lead it out of a maze of internal strife.

He has stood up in duels, been shot at and survived. He has been mobbed and beaten into insensibility by semi-insane political opponents and survived.

Eight times he has been crushed in politics. Now he is calmly preparing to lead his ninth political life, as minister of finance.

Caillaux's life has been the most wonderful, romantic and most sensational in modern history.

Born in 1863 at Le Mans, he was trained for the law, but he hankered for politics and soon got into the game.

His father had been conservative minister of finance under the premiership of the Duc de Broglie, but the younger man joined the radical socialists of which he was afterwards the leader.

Inherited Finance Knowledge.

He inherited from his father a knowledge of financial problems and in time was acknowledged to be the best authority on the subject in the republic.

At 25 he was made governmental inspector of finances. Ten years later he was selected deputy in the Chamber of Deputies for the Department of Sarthe and held this seat until 1919. He was minister of finance in four cabinets and was prime minister two years.

In 1914, fatal year for the world, Caillaux became the object of verbal thunderbolts hurled at him by Figaro, a powerful Paris paper, edited by Gaston Calmette.

Every day editorials were published dealing with some phase of Caillaux's career. His personal, political and business life was sought for flaws.

Paris rang with the gossip that Calmette had in his hands a document so gravely compromising that even he hesitated to use it.

On March 16, 1914, Caillaux was in the Senate debating his bill providing a tax on incomes, a measure responsible for the majority of his enemies.

Wife Shoots Editor.

On the same afternoon Madame Caillaux, simply dressed in black, entered the offices of the Figaro to see Calmette. Without a moment's hesitation she drew a revolver and shot the editor to death.

She was locked in prison on a murder charge. Caillaux resigned his post. His career seemed ended.

War was closing in on France, but scant attention was paid to world politics. The whole topic of conversation was the Caillaux drama.

She was Caillaux's second wife. When she married Caillaux in 1911, Poincare, afterwards French president, had acted as her witness at the civil ceremony.

The trial was like one drama after another. There were enough sensations to provide material for a dozen novels.

Caillaux's evidence was in reality a speech for the defense. In the course of it, looking at his wife, he said of her:

"Never have I found happiness more complete than in my union with my wife. She is the most tender, the most diligent, the best informed companion one could wish to have and we lived and still live in the closest intimacy of soul."

Assumes Blame.

He said he had been warned that the Figaro was going to print his private letters, among others, his love notes to his present wife. He told of having threatened to kill Calmette if the letters appeared.

"I accuse myself," he said dramatically, "of not having seen the ravages made in the heart of my wife by this terrible campaign and of not having noticed the effect upon my loving wife of my threat with regard to Calmette."

It developed during the trial that the letters were always carried by Calmette on his person and that one of the bullets that had taken his life had ploughed directly through them.

On the eve of war she was acquitted of the charge.

In 1915 Caillaux was sent to South America on a government mission. His enemies whispered that he was pro-German. They whispered he had been on friendly terms in South America with people hostile to France.

He returned to Europe and paid a visit to Italy. It was rumored he had made defeatist talks in Rome.

In 1917 army secret service men arrested a number of men, prominent among whom was Bolo Pasha. They were accused of having relations with the enemy, of securing German money and financing in France pacifist movements.

France reeled with excitement—she had the enemy at her doors outside and she had the enemy inside working through paid agents.

Caillaux, too, was charged with having dealt with the enemy. The charges were supported by claims that in homes of all persons arrested were found letters from Caillaux.

Brought to Trial.

The chamber voted away his immunity from arrest and prosecution. He was brought to trial before the Senate sitting as a high court in February, 1920. His enemies were clamoring for his head. While he had been in prison, some of the men with whom he was said to have corresponded had been executed.

On April 23, 1920, he was acquitted of treason, but found guilty of the minor charge of holding relations with the enemy calculated to harm France and her allies.

The sentence was three years of imprisonment, ten years interdiction of the right to vote or hold office and five years interdiction to live in Paris and certain others of France.

As he had already been in prison for nearly three years, he was at once dismissed and went to his home in Mamers.

His enemies are still active. In March, 1921, when he and his wife went to Grenoble, where he was to lecture, the students at the university tried to mob him. Last May when he was in Toulous a band of Royalists set upon him and badly beat him.

It was know nthat one of the first acts of the new government of the Left would be to grant Caillaux amnesty and thus throw open the way to him for renewed political activity.

After a spirited debate in 1924, the Senate voted amnesty by 169 votes to 105.

The same body which condemned Caillaux thus handed back to him a new opportunity in life. And all France is excitedly waiting to see what he will do with it.

SEESAW AND SEE-SAWING UP AND DOWN GEORGE STREET

See-sawing up and down George street I saw Jack McHardy, and he was wishing all the people who are entitled to prizes won at the Made-In-Peterborough Fair would claim them .....Saw many youths in military garb very friendly in Chinese restaurants .....Saw Warden H. B. Rye and was shortly afterwards told he is much appreciated as leader of the County Council, for which perhaps his exceeding ready wit is somewhat to thank .....Saw a load of coal being emptied into a cellar, and despite the warmth of the day did shiver in anticipation .....Saw Sergeant Dannard and he told me of arrangements made with Rotary to take over his young cops, so the Rotarians had better watch out or the cops 'll get them .....Saw Gus Hay, just returned from Los Angeles, and he says there's no place like home .....

They say Gus went into a restaurant there and asked for coffee without cream. The waiter answered, "Sorry, Mr. Shiner, we ain't go no cream, so you'll have to take your coffee without milk." .....

Talking about snaps, I read somewhere that at Plum Island, in Sheepshead Bay (look it up in the atlas) is the world's shortest ferry. At low tide the island is only two rowboat lengths away from the main land, but the ferryman gets five cents from each passenger .....

UNFORGETTABLE MOMENTS
(4)

That day on the river .....The glistening sheet of water .....The trees dipping their branches ..... The breeze tempering the heat of the sun .....The singing rod..... The whipping line .....

I shall never forget it That was the day my canoe upset.

Why Indian? any chance by omitting it. The letter is perfectly innocuous, at that. The writer simply wants the word Indian dropped from the language, that's all. "Indian," he says, "properly means 'Native of India,' and the American aborigines should be called 'The Red Race'." So far as the American Indians are concerned it seems to be only a matter of sentiment, which perhaps few of them share. But there is a real reason of practical convenience, too.

The English language has no word for "Native of India," except "Indian," and the native Canadian race is called "Red Indians." In Canada we are inclined to call the natives of India "Hindus," but a Hindu is only one sort of a people of India.

Maybe the nameless member of the Red Race who wrote The Examiner had this in the back of his mind.

Another good reason why the C.N.R. shouldn't put noiseless engines on this route. One drowned out the sound of the thunderstorm on Thursday morning.

A LINE-O-TYPE.

A League of Nations committee has proposed, the British railways and others have approved, and nobody in principle opposes, a scheme for a thirteen-month year, each month to have exactly four weeks, with an extra New Year day, not belonging to any week, at the beginning of each year, and an extra "leap day" in the middle of leap years. The new month, "Sol" would come between June and July.

Thirteen Months

Such a calendar would be much simpler and more convenient than any now in use, and would hurt nobody, unless it is a few who fear they might have to pay thirteen months' wages or rent, at present rates.

The main hold-up will be inertia.

The old changes in the calendar were made by emperors and popes, who could issue orders. Any new change will have to be made by popular consent of a democratic world—and it's pretty hard to get the world unanimous. The nearest approach to unanimity seems to come in less constructive things, like war.

YOUR GARDEN

OBSERVATIONS IN PERENNIAL BORDER

There is always room for improvement in the perennial border and indeed a constant adding of material and changing of groupings is one of the pleasures of ownership.

Although there is bloom in the border throughout the season, this is the month of a riot and one of the best times to study effects. Do not be content to trust to the memory, however, or nothing much will be acomplished. Use a note book and make notes freely but also use garden labels with notes on them, placed in the spots to be improved.

Try increasing the size of the clumps, endeavoring to reduce the number of scattered speciments, although these should not be entirely eliminated. Work out a system of bold clumps to suit your particular needs and the size of your border.

The seasonal display should extend the entire length of the border and a good deal of ingenuity is required to achieve success in this respect.

The grouping of plants is a fascinating occupation which will be productive of a great deal of enjoyment. Quite a number of plants are not appreciated alone but when grouped with others they appeal strongly and one changes his mind about discarding them for another season. The Hardy Heliotrope or Valerian placed among the Anchusas enhances both. The Evening Primrose (Oenothera Fruticosa) looks splendid with Bleeding Heart growing above it. Yellow Allyssum, Phlox Canadensis and Pink Silene make a splendid combination of simple elements. The Pink Oriental Poppy (Mrs. Perry) also combined with the Anchusa, Iceland Poppies and Henchera, Boltonias, hardy Asters and Chrysanthemums all make groupings, to mention but a few. There are an endless number to work out to suit everyone's fancy if the gardener will but observe and try them.

Various color schemes can be worked along with the idea of grouping and each can be made to supplement the other.

MY EUROPEAN EXCURSIONS
By Edwin Robert Petre

NOW [illegible] OPENED WEMBLEY

As I listened to the opening speeches of the Duke of York and King George last month at the opening of the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley, I almost regretted that I had not stayed at home and listened to them with the millions on the radio. The hailstorm came down on our umbrellas so loud that it was difficult to listen. But at the close there happened one of those little incidents that mean so much in England. When the royal landau drove up for the King's departure, it was noticed that the hood was closed Though the weather still threatened, the King ordered it down, to the delight of the crowd who cheered with a whirlwind of cheers.

THE RESURRECTION OF WILLIAM TELL

Every time I come to Altdorf by Lake Lucerne and open my Baedeker I am distressed to learn that "the legend of the national hero of Switzerland is destitute of historical foundation." The story of the famous archer shooting the apple from his son's head on the spot where his statue stands today, always seemed too uniq for a legend. This year I was therefore glad to learn that the recent researches of Prof. Karl Meyer of the University of Zurich have, on the basis of new documents not previously consulted, re-established his historicity. Although the Swiss are glad to hear it, they never have accepted Baedeker's opinion, and most Altdorf visitors like myself have preferred to differ too.

FROM GUN METAL TO CHURCH BELLS

One of the most beautiful scenes I have witnessed of recent date and one significant of the new era of peace in Germany was the consecration of the new bell of Cologne Cathedral, which is to take the place of the old "Kaiserglocke" melted down during the war. The new bell, weighing about 25 tons, was led through the streets, hidden in evergreens and flowers. The streets were lined with hundreds of school children and when the first six notes were struck upon it, all the bells of the city pealed a welcome. In this picturesque Rhine region the new bell will help everyone to forget the last dark decade and "ring in the new."

THE FRENCH HORN.

The French horn, one of the most expressive of the instruments of the orchestra, has developed out of the old hunting horn, which in order to be carried by the hunters on horseback, used to be bent into spiral rings, so that he might slip it over his head and be rested on one shoulder. Its old French name was cor de chasse, and the Germans still know it as the Waldhorn or forest horn. The addition of valves has made the chromatic scale possible to an instrument which at first was only capable of the natural notes of its tube. If the spirals of a French horn were straightened out the instrument would be 17 feet long. That is why they and the spirals of other brass instruments remain spirals. The instrument could not be used otherwise.

NEXT CONVENTION TO BE IN BRAMPTON

Managers and Matrons of Homes Re-elect Kitchener Man as President.

SARNIA, June 19 (Canadian Press).—Brampton was chosen for the 1926 session at the sixth annual convention of the Ontario Association of managers and matrons of homes for theag ed and infirm here yeterday. H. W. Martin of Kitchener, was re-elected president by acclamation, and his associate officers for this year were all re-elected. Discussions today favored an effort to enlighten the general public on the work of caring for the aged and infirm by a publicity campaign between the municipal committees and the managers of the institutions. Twenty-five delegates are in attendance. The convention closes today at noon.

ADDING BEAUTY TO THROAT LINE

Summer Frocks With Low Necks Necessitate Care for Throat.

HOW IT'S DONE

A lovely throat is truly a possession of which any woman can be proud.

Like so many other beauty points, our throats come in for added attention with the advent of warmer weather. This is because they come into clearer view than they have been all through the cooler months. Of course, our throats are more or less exposed all the time, at present, because of the easy cut of the fashionable necklines. I am most thankful for this, as the old high, tight collars did much to squeeze the neck from true beauty, and to leave dark marring stains upon its whiteness.

But when the warmer weather comes, there is no longer the top coat which buttons across the throat and hides any defects from view, at least during the time one is out of doors. All of the frocks worn indoors reveal the lines of the neck, of course. This is true though the Winter months, but is more than ever true in warmer weather.

All the dainty Spring and Summer frocks I have been seeing in the shops have necklines which are most revealing and most effective when the neck of the wearer is a pretty one.

On the other hand, a well-cut neckline on a frock adds to its charm not at all when the neck is ugly.

Now, first of all, you can do much to lend theillusion of perfect proportions to your neck by choosing the necklines of your frocks most carefully.

If your neck is long and thin, avoid the V neckline, which only serves to add to its apparent length.

On the other hand, if your neck is short, the V neckline is the most flattering possible, as it helps impart the long line which so many women are anxious to have. If your neck is short, do not make the mistake of affecting rounded necklines cut off close to the base of your throat, as they make it appear shorter. This round, fairly high neckline is ideal for the long thin neck.

Of course it is well to change the appearance of your neck by being careful in your choice of necklines. It is better, at the same time that you are choosing your necklines carefully, to be doing some real beauty improving on your neck itself.

Massage is excellent to correct the too-fat or too-thin neck. If your neck is too full and bulges in places where it should not, what you should do is to massage it with a light, rotary motion of your three middle fingers.

Strange to say, the same movement which reduces a fat neck will also fatten a thin scrawny one, especially if the massage movement is followed by a generous application of nourishing skin food. You will find cocoa butter, also, an excellent agent for fattening the thin neck. This is rubbed into your neck nightly, and left on so it can soak thoroughly into the tissues.

Also, it is very important to be sure there are no dark marks or stains to mar the beauty of your neck. Lemon juice is excellent to remove dark stains and restore your skin to lovely whiteness.

A Twenty-Five Cent Start In Life

(Reproduced by Special Permission from MacLean's Magazine's Wembley Issue of June 15th.)

The sun of early May lighted the broad St. Lawrence with spring radiance on a morning twenty years ago, and touched with dazzling white the deckworks of an inward bound Atlantic liner. Her decks were crowded with British immigrants who, after watching, eager-eyed, the unfolding vistas of the mighty river, were turning now to the bustle and confusion of landing at old Quebec.

Inconspicuous among the roughly-clothed throng, with its mountains of battered and rope-fastened luggage, was a seventeen-year-old English lad. Of medium height and build, there was little to distinguish him from his fellows unless, perhaps, a certain erectness of carriage, the clean run of chin and lips, and a pair of exceptionally direct blue eyes. The total assets of this newcomer to Canada's shore were, fifteen shillings and unbounded—though unspoken—confidence in himself. With these frail tools A. E. Dawson, now Vice-President and General Manager of the Toronto Casualty, Fire and Marine Insurance Company, and one of the most widely known insurance men in Canada prepared to carve for himself a niche in the economic life of the Dominion. That was on the tenth of May, 1905.

At Lakefield.

Two days later young Dawson got off the train at Lakefield, north of Peterboro, Ont., —up in the Stony Lake district. He got off there because that was as far west as his fifteen shillings, expended on a railway ticket at immigrant's rates, would carry him. In his pocket was a quarter of a dollar.

Now a quarter of a dollar, whether expressed in terms of cents or pence, doesn't go very far toward keeping life in a hungry, growing boy, who is starting life in a strange land, without home or friends. But it happened that one of Mr. Dawson's strongest characteristics, then, as now, was to go after what he wanted. He wanted a job.

After some hours of dusty hiking along the country roads about the town, stopping at farms and wherever there was likelihood of employment, he met a man on a milk wagon. Dawson stopped him and stated his case. The other gazed quizzically down on him.

"No—" he said at length, "I don't need help, but—jump on. Mebbe my brother could use you. I'll drive you over."

They drove for four miles back along the way that Dawson had come. At the farm the brother also favored the applicant with a calculating glance.

"Need a man? Well, mebbe yes, and again mebbe no," he said enlighteningly. "What's your name?"

"Dawson."

"Where are you from?"

"London, England."

"Humph! What have ye been used to doing?"

"I left school before I was twelve, and got a job as a printer's devil."

"What good's a printer's devil on my farm?"

"I chucked that to go farming. I worked for a farmer and cattle dealer for three years—until just before I came out here."

"M-hmm-m. When did you land?"

"Two days ago."

The farmer smiled. "What made you come out?"

Young Dawson hesitated. Here was something that had been close to his heart; a mirror turned to the golden dreams of his boyhood, fostered by railway station posters showing the hundreds of acres of waving grain, the broad fields soaking in the prairie sunshine, and the words of glowing promise for those who sought their fortunes in the Canadian West. Ever since he remembered anything he had wanted to come. That was it.

"I wanted to come," he said.

The farmer understood, somehow.

"I'll give you ten dollars a month to stay until after the fall plowing," he said.

So Dawson got his first job in Canada.

Start in Peterboro.

When the snow flew, and his contract was fulfilled Dawson went to Peterboro, a few miles south, and secured work with a contractor, laying foundation stones for a house, at a dollar and a half a day. He didn't like it as well as farming, but it was a job, he was independent, and opportunity, he felt, was just around life's corner.

One afternoon while hard at work he was approached by a neatly dressed man of agreeable manner who introduced himself as Thomas Mark, the Peterboro agent for the Manufacturers Life Insurance Company. A certain policy, which he named and explained, was the one thing certain to put young Dawson on the high road to success. Dawson was interested from the start—not so much in the policy as in the details of it and the other man's method of presenting them. A thought leaped into his head, and, as his prehensile brain reached out and grasped the fundamentals of what the insurance man was saying before the other was quite done, he felt a mental stimulation which he had never before experienced. One thing at a time, however—and he was supposed to be working.

"I've got to get this job through," he told the other, "but if you like I'll meet you at six o'clock tonight, and we'll talk it over some more."

Shortly after the other man had gone Dawson's employer came around to see how the work was progressing and the young man told him of the agent's visit. The contractor snorted.

"Don't you put your good money into no insurance schemes, my boy," he advised. "You steer clear of them fellows or they'll skin you. Put your money into houses! That's what I did and look at me. Build and be rich—that's my motto. You do what I tell you and never mind these fancy schemes."

Dawson grinned to himself. He couldn't build very extensively on what remained from a dollar-fifty a day nor would it buy much insurance. However, that didn't prevent him from thinking what he would do if he had the money.

At six o'clock he met the insurance man. As a result of his thought during the afternoon Dawson was able to discuss the proposition with a soundness of opinion and intelligence that caused the other considerable astonishment.

"Good heavens, man!" he said at length, "you're wasting time laying stone. You ought to be out selling insurance!" Probably it did not occur to either of them that young Dawson was laying a foundation in a double sense, but the remark crystallized what had been in the boy's mind for most of the afternoon.

"Do you think I'd have a chance?" he asked.

"Come and see me in the morning and I'll give you a start," the other told him.

So Dawson took his first step up.

His First Prospect.

Primed with figures and facts, and certain that he had mastered the fundamentals of his new venture young Dawson, then eighteen years of age, set out to conquer his little world. Like many another adventurer before him the road to success was by devious and sometimes inglorious by-paths. One of these led him to his first "prospective prospect," a farmer whom he knew, a few miles north of Peterboro. The farmer was forking manure, and much too busy to talk. Dawson thereupon put into action his first deliberate application of psychology to business.

He greeted the farmer and then—no, he didn't talk insurance; he grabbed a pitchfork and set to work on the manure pile, and they toiled together amid the steaming mess. After a bit there came a lull in the work and they sat down to rest. Then Dawson canvassed his prospect with all he had in him. The man was interested, but—"I guess I'll get this job done afore I think of it," he decided.

So it continued throughout the morning; Dawson wielding a skilful fork and canvassing his man between times, until, by noon, he felt the thing was sure. The farmer was a canny soul, however, and did not intend to capitulate—at least, not until the job was done, and with such efficient aid it would be finished by sun-down.

It is significant that it did not occur to Dawson to quit. All the long afternoon the performance was repeated; work and canvass—and at four-thirty he signed up his man.

"He got a good day's work out of me, he said many years later," "but I got the business, and that policy is still in force."

Northumberland County.

From this beginning the young man progressed in quick strides, and before he was twenty years old was appointed general agent of Northumberland County for the Manufacturers' Life, becoming, thereby, the youngest general agent in Canada. In 1910, Thomas Bradshaw, now general manager of the Massey-Harris Company, but then manager of the Imperial Life, asked him to go to the Soo to organize the Algoma district. He did so, and his first stroke of business was productive of one of those unexpected and rather amusing turns apparently inseparable from the insurance game, and illustrative, too, of the folly of letting appearances count, without closer investigation.

He went one night to a little house away up in the north country. It was a frame dwelling, drab and lonely looking, and altogether a most unlikely prospect. The owner admitted him, however, and the interior provided his first surprise. It was furnished simply, but in excellent taste, and was spotlessly clean. Dawson was invited to a seat, and commenced to discuss life insurance with the man and his wife.

The Three Climbs.

In the course of an hour his client bought a $2,000 twenty-year endowment policy, the premium on which was $102.

"Wait a minute," he said, and disappeared upstairs, returning shortly with $102 in currency which he handed to Dawson, and for which he got his receipt.

Discussion then turned to insurance in general, which brought out that the man had no protection against fire on either house or contents. Dawson agreed to secure him cover in a company for which he occasionally did business, and said that the premium would be about twenty-one dollars.

"Wait a minute," said the client and again climbed the stairs. He reappeared with the money in bills, and once more took a receipt.

By this time the man and his wife were full of the subject, and the insurance man turned the conversation to Sickness and Accident policies. After some consideration the man decided he might as well make a job of it, and for the third time he mounted the stairs to his apparently inexhaustible cache, and brought down the amount of the premium—sixty dollars in bills. It was a profitable evening's work.

The man was a good risk, intelligent and industrious, but, probably because of the rather unpromising appearance of the exterior of the house, he had been entirely passed up by the insurance profession.

Dawson's work in the Algoma district was so eificient that the following year he was given charge of the Saskatchewan branch. His next rise was when he was brought to the head office at Toronto to superintend the education work of the Imperial Life, and in 1914 he took command of the Central Ontario branch of the company.

Night School in Peterboro.

Mr. Dawson recently was asked how he had overcome the handicap of an inadequate education. His reply was characteristic.

"I went to night school in Peterboro," he smiled, "and in addition hired a high school principal to coach me at night for thirty-five cents an hour. In that way I was able to get my senior matriculation."

His conversation proves him a wide and acquisitive reader, whose analytical mind rejects pedantic husks and goes direct to the kernel of knowledge within. He has a sense of humor, however, which forbids too serious consideration of life, and is a hearty advocate of linking human qualities with business. That he can tell a joke against himself is evidenced by the following:

"On one occasion (he relates) I closed a rather large risk with apparent ease, the only question being, not whether the man would take insurance, but which policy he would select. This finally being decided I proceeded to make arrangements for medical examination. The man stopped me.

"'If it's all the same to you,' he said, 'I'd prefer to be examined by my own doctor.'

"I was curious. What for?" I asked.

"'Well, it's this way,' he explained. 'He knows my case, because he's been treating me in and out of hospital for lung trouble for the past two years.'"

Effective Team Work.

Mr. Dawson is not a believer in playing a lone hand if there is a better way of securing business. Insurance, as well as misfortune, makes strange bedfellows, and the successful insurance man is the one who bends men, circumstances and environment in the way he would go. Many years ago, Mr. Dawson undertook to initiate an out-of-work professional entertainer in the mysteries of selling life insurance. The man was a likeable sort of fellow with an extraordinary fund of experience, but no training as a salesman. So they planned a bit of team work, in which each should do what he knew best, and one day they arrived in the village of Apsley, which then was the centre of a thriving logging district.

During the day the men were too busy to be canvassed. At night, however, when they were ripe for a little recreation, Dawson's companion put on a show and entertainment in the bunkhouse. There was an attendance of twenty-five or thirty lumberjacks, and with the enthusiasm of their kind, soon were in high good humor. That was Dawson's chance. He wound up the evening talking insurance and between them they wrote considerable business.

"We got more experience than profit out of that little venture, however," Mr. Dawson observed drily, when relating the story, "for they were unstable fellows, mostly, and very few of them kept up their policies."

He was more successful on another occasion when, at some point in his territory he ran into Pete Ferguson of the Dominion Life, who was covering the same ground. They decided to work together for the afternoon and tossed a coin to see for which company they would canvass first.

Pete won, and they visited the prospect together. After a couple of hours of canvassing and friendly chat they closed the case for a $2,500 twenty-year endowment policy. The application was signed and the cheque made out and handed over, payable to the Dominion Life.

Then, Dawson told the new client of the unusual circumstances surrounding the canvass, and called on his friend Ferguson to aid him in extolling the good qualities of the Imperial Life. This he did, and the man, again a prospect, was so amused by this unique situation of competing agents working together, that they had little difficulty in signing him up for a similar policy in Dawson's company.

The Steady Advance.

The story of young Dawson's advancement was not altogether one of success in writing policies in all circumstances. While an opportunist, who never let a chance slip by, this alone was not sufficient to give him largeness of business vision and the executive ability which he now possesses in so large measure. He was ambitious always, but restrained his ambition to a certain definite path, and a certain definite policy in following it. He made a point of cultivating the acquaintance of older men—men who had experience behind them—and he found that they were always glad to give, freely, the fruits of this experience to those who sought. He spent as much time as he could manage with men in high executive positions. He questioned them, watched them, imitated them where he could put their methods into practice, and in this way absorbed invaluable information on the executive and administrative side of insurance. This had the additional effect of giving him the right angle on the larger aspects of the business, so that instead of stunning his mentality against the immensity of it, or following the devious by-paths of day-to-day routine, he came to view it from above: from a position where he could mould the business instead of letting it mould him. All of which brought him to a parting of the ways.

With C. H. Ackerman.

The summer of 1921 found him in a financial partnership with Lt.-Col. C. H. Ackerman, of Peterboro, and he became the organizing spirit of the new all-Canadian insurance company then being formed under the name of the Toronto Casualty Fire and Marine Insurance Company. This company received its license to commence operations in the fall of that year with Dawson as vice-president and general manager. Surrounding himself on the executive of that company with men of the calibre of G. Larratt Smith, M. A. Mackenzie, F. I. A., and W. W. Evans, he proceeded to pilot the company on a thoroughly successful course, and in 1924, in the third complete year of its history, his company competing against one hundred and eight other companies writing automobile insurance in Canada, came out second from the top, outdistancing all others but one.

The term "a human dynamo" is one which, through misuse, has fallen much into disrepute. It must be resurrected, however, for it is the only way in which adequately to describe this progressive young man. He is a general all round sportsman. He plays hard, works hard, and imbues his staff with the same indomitable energy and hard driving force which is within himself, yet does it in such a way that there is no loss of zest. "Personality," he says, "is the sum total of one's talents, driven by the steam of will power."

And that is Dawson.

He has little use for the quitter.

By that he means, not the man who honestly has tried and failed but the man who lets go before the final moment. He says:

"I have had men come in and lay down their rate book and supplies, disheartened and discouraged. Unable to prevail upon them to continue, I have let them go their way, yet I have been absolutely certain that another ounce of effort would have carried them over the top. It is a narrow thread indeed that separates failure from success—and yet they are poles apart in their effect. But it is the bull dog sticker that wins. That's why the Anglo-Saxon is the top dog to-day. He isn't especially brilliant, but how he can stick!

The Qualities that Win.

What qualities should a good insurance man posses?" Mr. Dawson once was asked.

"My ideal salesman," said he, "and by that I mean not only the insurance man, but every salesman—is satisfied; satisfied with himself and with his job. He appreciates that there are limits to the concessions and benefits his company can offer his prospect and to himself. He believes that his particular job justifies his existence and constitutes him a good citizen. He has his 'blue' spells but he over-rides them and tries again. He is careful in dress and speech and his manner of speaking carries a finality which breeds confidence in him, because behind his words is the driving force of a sincere nature—which all men will recognize. He plays square and recognizes the other fellow's right to a living. The force and quality of his personality are felt from within, not impressed from without. He is friendly with all and has a quality of making his prospect feel important without flattering him, by a just deference to his opinion. He has sufficient knowledge of psychology to know that women are controlled by feeling and men by logic, so that in a canvass he pictures benefits for the wife and combines his pictures with figures for the husband. Finally he meets failure with exactly the same smile as success."

A. E. Dawson is still a young man, but he has gone a long way in a few years. One day, when he was 19 years old, he sat on the ground with his legs in a post hole, and canvassing four brothers (they were digging the post holes) sold them each a thousand dollar policy. He then followed this up by canvassing their relatives until he had sold 29 members of that one family each a policy of one thousand dollars. The qualities shown thus early make it more easy to understand why, at thirty-seven he is manager of a large, successful Canadian business.

Asking a man to what he attributes his success is a risky thing. It may earn a rebuff, and on the other hand it may start a train of reminiscence that drags through hours and leads nowhere. With Dawson I once chanced it.

"What had most to do with your progress?" I asked.

He grinned.

"There is an old yarn in the insurance game about two representatives who were talking over their experiences. One was prosperous looking, and the other rather seedy. Ever hear it? Well, the seedy one told with a great deal of indignation of how badly he had been treated by a prospect and ended by saying that he had never been so insulted in his life.

"The prosperous one scratched his chin in a puzzled way, then said: "It's a funny thing, Tom; I've been in all sorts of places looking for business, and I've been kicked out, cursed out and thrown out—but insulted? Never!"

KIWANIS GATHER AT SAINT PAUL

Thousands Will Attend the Ninth Annual Convention Opening on Monday.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 19.—Five thousand cheering Kiwanians, crowded in scores of long-coached special trains, hundreds of automobiles, and a number of Great Lakes steamers, are hurrying toward this city, where the 9th annual convention of Kianis International opens Monday.

The north and south, the east and west, will join hands here in a few hours. Speeding over the country's network of steel rails are delegations from all over the United States. Hundreds of Canadians, also members of this big service organization, are crossing over the border-line forming the vanguard from the far north to herald Canada's representation. By to-morrow evening St. Paul will be packed with Kiwanians from every conceivable place over the North American Continent, assembling for the 4 days' meeting.

"Kiwanis is coming to St. Paul, bringing with it all the enthusiasm which has resulted from the superb accomplishments of the 94,00 members in the 1,380 communities, towns and cities in the United States and Canada, since our convention in Denver last year," stated Victor M. Johnson, of Rockford, Illinois, president of Kiwanis International, today.

"This is to be the greatest convention ever held by Kiwanis, and will be the most successful," remarked International Secretary Fred C. W. Parker, of Chicago.

Both officials have been in the city for the past week getting the stage ready for the unique celebrations that will entertain the visiting thousands of members during the coming week.

MARMORA PERSONALS

MARMORA, June 19.—Mr. Brock Leonard, who has been at Marmora C.N.R. station for some months, has left to do relief work. Mr. Brophy has taken his place.

Miss Campbell, principal of the Continuation School, went to her home near Smith Falls on Tuesday night. She presides in Stirling at the Departmental Examinations next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McInroy motored to Belleville on Tuesday.

Mrs. T. McIntroy, Sr. was called to Gilmour on Tuesday owing to the death of her brother, Mr. John Dafoe.

Mr. George Kerr visited Peterborough on Tuesday.

Mr. Thiberger returned on Monday after a pleasant holiday in Montreal.

Miss Lawra Foley and Miss S. Shannon were visitors to Peterborough on Tuesday.

Mr. Adam McGarvey who has been on the sick list, is recovering.

Mr. W. J. Cottrell made a business trip to Peterborough on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Emmorey, with Mrs. Orvil Trumble, motored to Peterborough on Tuesday.

Rev. Mr. Horwood of Camborne was a visitor at the Methodist parsonage on Monday.

Miss Young of Cobourg is visiting Mrs. Richard Campion.

Miss Sauve and Miss Longmore returned to their homes on Tuesday.

Some people are so absent-minded they forget to tell the truth.

Whites of Eyes Tinged With Yellow? Muddy Complexion? Your Liver is Out of Order!

Mrs. Wm. Bourque, Fox Creek, N. B., writes: "I have been troubled with my liver for a long time, and was so bad I could not do any work. I had severe pains in my stomach that were so bad, at times, I could hardly stand them. My tongue became coated; I had a bad taste in my mouth, especially in the morning; the whites of my eyes were tinged with yellow, and I had a muddy complexion.

I had read a great deal about MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS. so decided I would try a vial, and after taking three of them I was greatly improved and felt more like living, and I can now do my own work without any trouble."

ABE ORPEN PAYS IN NICK OF TIME

$32,000 Due For Tax on Wagers Last Fall at Long Branch.

TORONTO, June 19. — (Canadian Press.)—The Provincial Treasury was enriched yesterday afternoon to the extent of over $32,000 by the receipt from Abe Orpen of the proceeds of the five per cent. tax on wagers at his race meet at Long Branch last fall. The money was paid by Mr. Orpen under protest and arrived at almost the last moment at which Mr. Orpen could choose between withholding it or not opening Long Branch track tomorrow. About $2,000 of the payment represented interest charged by the government.

CAMPBELLFORD NEWS

CAMPBELFORD, June 19.—Miss Dorothy Linton is relieving in the Union Bank while members of the staff are on holidays.

Mrs. T. M. Johnston, of Peterborough, and friend, Miss Jessie Jeffries, of Detroit, spent the week end at the home of the former's father-in-law, Mr. James Johnston, Queen street.

Mr. Ingram, of the Union Bank staff, is on vacation.

Mrs. R. Williams is at the home of her friend, Mrs. A. Mills after spending some time on professional duties at Meyersburg.

Seymour West Women's Institute.

The annual summer meeting of the Seymour West Women's Institute was held at Bethel church on Wednesday afternoon, June 17th, with the President, Mrs. George Vanvolkenburg, in the chair. The song, "O Canada," was nicely rendered by a number of young ladies, after which the meeting was opened by the singing of the "Institute Ode," followed by the Lord's prayer.

Members of Norwood W. I. were present and an address of welcome was tendered them and the speaker, Miss Iva Langton, by Mrs. Charles Macoun.

An excellent programme was then given as follows:

Instrumental solo by Miss Mary Stewart.

Reading, "A Neighbour," by Mrs. McMillan.

Solo—Miss Brown.

Reading, "The Woman that the World Sees"—Mrs. Portway.

Miss Iva Langton gave a most helpful address on "The Institute as a factor in the community. Feeding the family for health. The food value of milk and its products."

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Miss Langton for her very excellent address, on behalf of the Institute, by Mrs. David Stillman.

A very dainty lunch was then served by the ladies and a happy social hour was spent by the large number present.

TRIP BOOMED WORK.

OBERRAMERGAU, June 19. — Orders for carved wooden images and other objects of art have increased greatly at the headquarters of the Oberramergau players, since the visit of Anton Lang and some of his associates to America.

MISS M'CARTHY TELLS KIWANIS OF NEWSPAPERS

"The Newspaper Game" Was the Subject of a Most Interesting Address.

IDEAS RULE WORLD.

A Realization That Comes Early As One Witnesses the Conflict.

"The newspaper game" for it is a game, was the subject chosen by Miss Kathleen McCarthy, of The Examiner, when she spoke to the members of the Kiwanis Club at their luncheon today. "Perhaps," said Miss McCarthy, "this is because it is so uncertain, and because there is an element of interest in every phase of newspaper work. A reporter is pitchforked into as many different situations in a day's round as a player in a ball game."

Miss McCarthy told of all the chances and events of a reporter's life. A reporter has to sympathize with a mourner in one hour and with a happy bride in the next. A political meeting of one party is followed by one of another party.

The human equation, said Miss McCarthy, is what makes the game interesting. One early comes to a realization that it is ideas that rule the world, not actions. "This is not for publication" is a favorite expression with some people, and then they say something that is interesting or which no self-respecting reporter would write. The people that don't want their names in print are usually the ones that are most annoyed when the name is left out.

The reporter is often taken for someone else. Sometimes, occupying a prominent position, he or she is taken for a candidate for election or a prisoner at the bar. Miss McCarthy said that she had received words of sympathy from the officiating clergyman at the funeral of a corpse which she had never seen before.

The press is often the target for attack from people who are annoyed at something or other, and sometimes these tirades are delivered when the speaker is unaware of the presence of a reporter.

One of the greatest trials of a reporter, according to the speaker, is printers' errors, such as putting wrong letters in or assembling lines together that belong to entirely different articles.

The humors of newspaper life were ably described. The mistakes of reporters and correspondents, whose words sound different to what they are intended to imply, brought forth much laughter from the Kiwanians.

Miss McCarthy closed by reciting the creed which was framed and hung on the wall of The Examiner Office by Kiwanian E. G. McKeeley shortly before he left for the last time.

A hearty vote of thanks was moved by Mayor Turner and seconded by H. Dickin, who congratulated Miss McCarthy on her interesting address.

Kiwanian Dickin was the booster for the day, and the prizes were won by Kiwanians Henderson, Huffman and Weber.

BETHANY PERSONALS

BETHANY, June 19.—Mr. W. Rowan has started making cement blocks for the erection of a kitchen to his new home.

A large number attended the lawn social at Cavan on Monday evening at which the Junior lads played another baseball game and were the winners.

The local Orange Lodge proposes holding a concert on June 24, at which the famous Jimmie Reid, entertainer, will provide most of the programme.

The Junior Room of the local school has been closed owing to the measles epidemic and will remain closed till after midsummer. Miss O. Nelson, teacher, has returned to her home at Mono Road.

Alvin Porteous, young son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Porteous, met with a painful accident on Friday evening last. He was playing in the yard of his Aunt's, Mrs. Thorndyke, home, when a horse which was pasturing in the field nearby knocked him down, and it was not known till some time after that the little fellow's leg had been broken.

Mr. Whitesides has started to excavate the cellar for his new house which he is erecting in the west end of the village.

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church is holding its annual lawn social on the lawn of Mr. P. C. Brown, on June 26. The play, "Turning the Trick," so well delivered by the Ebenezer people, will be given in the evening. The Bethany Band will also furnish music during the evening.

Class Picnic.

One of the largest picnics held from Bethany for some time was held on Wednesday afternoon, under the auspices of the Young Men's Class of which Mr. Donald Lowes is President. About 75 people motored to the beautiful Lakeside Park, Oshawa. Baseball and soft ball were indulged in, after which the ladies prepared a most sumptuous supper.

Mr. Geo. Dawe of Roseneath is the guest of his brother, Mr. F. C. Dawe.

Mr. Gerald McCartney has left for Regina, where he has accepted a position in a hospital.

Mrs. Wm. Rowan and Miss S. McMullen, who are camping in Chemong Park, paid a flying visit home on Wednesday.

Mr. Wm. Porteous of Millbrook spent a few days this week with his brother, Mr. Jno. Porteous.

ANNUAL PICNIC OF ST. PAUL'S SINGERS

Choir Members and Friends Had Good Time at Cobourg.

The choristers and friends of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, to the number of eighty, held their annual picnic yesterday afternoon to Cobourg. Cars were provided by members of the congregation and left the church at two o'clock.

Arriving at the lakeshore town, the choristers chose sides, without regard to numbers, and engaged in a game, or games, of baseball, with Sheriff F. J. A. Hall as the exacting umpire. He carried out his duties like a veteran; and at the final inning, the score could not be reckoned. But the folks had a great game!

About six o'clock the group repaired to the hall of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, where supper had been prepared by the Ladies' Aid. This was one of the most enjoyable features of the outing, the edibles being of the daintiest description, allowing of a clean sweep being made. These ladies know how to "tickle the appetite," and St. Paul's choir can do the rest.

Dave Moore had the "onerous" duties of chairman after supper, and was an expert at calling on others to "say a few words." Those "called upon" were Messrs. James Dutton—who in a reminiscent Assembly vein, regaled his hearers with doings during last week — William Madill, T. C. Elliot, and Sedgewick, who all referred to the pleasure of visiting St. Andrew's, Cobourg, as one of the Presbyterian family, and asked the company to accord cheers to St. Andrew's church ladies for their kind service and attention to detail, even to the table floral decorations, which were pretty.

With song and story the time passed, and ultimately the choristers visited the pavilion, where a pleasant time was spent.

Thanks are due the car owners for the transportation afforded.

A game to the death was sponsored by Martin B. Chenhall, Dave Moore, T. C. Elliot and Sedgewick, as the final feature—the end of the most successful picnic in the history of St. Paul's choir.

WHAT KIND OF DOG IS HERO OF RACE TO NOME?

Balto is Pure Siberian and Not Malamute as Supposed.

Balto, canine hero of the most remarkable frontier exploit of the last decade, and Gunnar Kasson, indomitable driver of the team that ran the last thrilling lap of the perilous race with death to Nome carrying the precious diphtheria serum, have recorded their historic race in film. "Balto's Race To Nome." The picture has been secured by the Royal theatre and it will be shown there beginning Monday.

What manner of dog and man is it that made this race about which a nation exclaimed in wonder?

Gunnar Kasson is a typical frontiersman. Six foot two in his wairus hide boots, lean-limbed, two hundred odd pounds of bone and sinew, he is of the type that wrested the West from the wilderness; of the breed that shouldered axe and rifle and hewed Kentucky and the middle west from the dark forests. His type led the gold-rush to California and was in the van of every wagon train that plodded into Oregon and later braved the rigors of Alaska in the first gold rush to the Klondike and the treasure laden sands of Nome.

The sled dog is a figure less familiar in frontier history but without which the conquest of Alaska would have been impossible.

Balto is a pure blooded Siberian who, until after the present exploit, never had seen any world except the limited sphere bounded by the scraggly growth about Nome.

He is six years old—the prime of a carrying dog's life—is a brownish black and was endowed by nature with white stockings.

Unlike the malamute, which is half wolf, the Sibcrian has an unswerving affection for his master and turns a friendly eye toward all human kind. Only when his master, or the load he is carrying, is threatened with attack will he uncover his sabre-like fangs and emit the ominous snarl that usually is sufficient to drive away any enemy.

Balto was the "shaft dog" of the team—the dog nearest the sled. When the blinding blizzard stopped the lead dog, Kasson substituted three other dogs but each refused to break trail or face the killing storm. Kasson then took Balto from his position, harnessed him at the head of the line—and Balto, the smallest dog in the outfit—bored into the storm, found and held the trail and literally dragged the exhausted team into Nome.

If a Hindoo dies on the banks of the Ganges River and partakes of a drink of the river water just before death, he believes he is exempt from the necessity of returning to this world after death.

FINANCIAL NEWS.

General Upward Turn On Toronto Stock Exchange

TORONTO, June 19. (Canadian Press).—Interest in the traction issues continued on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day, and the market as a whole took an upward turn. Atlantic Sugar and Brazilian were leaders and Atlantic Sugar advanced 1 3-8 at 29 5-8. Brazilian improved a half point at 56 5-8, transactions in these issues being around the 700 share mark. The feature was the gain of 1 3-8 by Dominion Canners Preferred at 107½. Twin City, though comparatively quiet, led the advance with a three point gain at 61. Winnipeg was fractionally easier.

Mining Shares Active On Standard Exchange

TORONTO, June 19. — Canadian Press. — Trading on the Standard Mining Exchange was fairly active in the mine stocks this morning with transactions numbering 133,385 shares. Hattie preferred advanced a half to 7½ while Preston was active at 9, an advance of 3-4. Cons. W. D. Lake was steady at 14 and Crown Reserve closed 1-2 higher at 30½. McKinley Darragh showed strength at 30, an advance of two points. Vipond was 1 point higher at 108.

Copper Mines Led In New York Operations

NEW YORK, June 19 (Canadian Press).—Buying operations in Wall Street were extended to new fields with the copper shares responding readily to bullish professional activities. Announcement that 100,000,000 pounds of red metal has been sold at higher levels this week was effective in lifting the prices of these issues 1 to 2 points on a large turnover. Sugar company stocks extended their gains as buying was promoted by an improved trade position. Southern Railway assumed the leadership of the carrier issues, sparting up two points on the prospects of an early court decree favorable to common stock holders. Motor shares continued to give a good exhibition of group shares, although Pierce Arrow issues reacted on the denial of a recent merger and dividend rumors. General Railway Signal was another weak spot, dropping 5 points before noon.

Call money renewed at 3 3-4 per cent.

Wheat Prices Advanced After Black Rust Report

CHICAGO, June 19 (Canadian Press)—Wheat scored new advances in prices here today after a set back that was due to an unexpected decline at Liverpool ensuing. Fresh upturns here were based largely on the report from one of the foremost crop experts in the country that the chances are fully our to one for serious damage from black rust in North Dakota and the east half of Canadian spring wheat belt. The report said that fifty per cent of the wheat fields from Wilmar, N.D., to Grand Forks, N.D., have water standing in them. Opening quotations 1 1-2 to 1 7-8c lower. July 153 1-2 to 154 and September 151 5-8 to 152 were followed by a slight further decline and then by a rise to 155 7-8 for July and 153 1-2 for September. Corn and oats were governed by the action of wheat. After opening unchanged to 3-4c lower September 108 5-8 to 110 the corn market sagged a little more and then rose all around to well above yesterday's finish. Oats started at 1-4 to 5-8c decline, September 50 1-8c. Later the market showed moderate general gains.

Provisions reflected an upturn in hog values.

PEPALL WILLING TO FACE TRIAL

Will Return Alone Now That Extradition Fight Has Been Lost.

APPEAL DISALLOWED.

TORONTO, June 19. (Canadian Press).—A special despatch from Los Angeles, California, to Toronto to-day says:

"Andrew H. Pepall, arrested here on January 23 last at the instance of the Ontario Government on charges of embezzlement, false pretences, larceny and bribery in connection with the tax-free bond scandal, has lost his fight against extradition.

"Word has been received from the Department of Justice at Washington that Pepall's appeal against the adverse decision of the court here last April has not been allowed.

"Pepall, it is understood, is willing to return at once to Canada without escort to face the charges against him."

OBTAIN FIAT TO SUE PROVINCE

Township of Tiny Will Demand Payment of School Grants.

MONEY IN COURT.

TORONTO, June 19 (Canadian Press).—Having obtained a fiat to sue the province for certain separate school grants, the Township of Tiny in Simcoe will launch an action which will have the effect of settling the claims of several townships for funds voted by the legislature as school grants, but withheld by the government on the ground that the grants had not been earned. The total withheld is said to reach nearly half a million dollars, although the sum involved in the present action is only $700.

The issue dates back to 1920, when Attorney-General Raney claimed that certain separate schools had failed to comply with the regulations, and therefore had not earned the grants. The money was paid into court. This practice has since been followed.

GIVE NOTICE OF TRADE TREATY

Tariff Concessions Made By Canada and Australia.

MANY ARTICLES.

OTTAWA, June 19. (Canadian Press).—Hon. J. A. Robb, Acting Minister of Finance, has given notice of a bill to authorize the conclusion of a trade treaty between Canada and Australia.

The tariff concessions in the treaty are provided in three schedules. The first two give British preferential and intermediate tariff rates granted by Australia to Canada on certain goods. The third gives Canada's concessions to Australia.

In the first named category, Australia grants to Canada British preferential rates.

Canadian newsprint and printing paper will, under the treaty, enter Australia free of duty. There will be reduced rates on Canadian fish, textile, gloves, typesetting machinery, typewriters, adding machines, corsets, iron and steel tubes, goloshes and vehicle parts. Canada in return gives special rates on Australian fresh and canned meats, lard, tallow, beeswax, eggs, cheese, butter, canned vegetables, dried fruits, honey, sugar, glue, essential oils, fruit, pulp and eucalyptis oil.

BRITAIN LOSES SHIP BUILDING

Committee of Owners and Workers Discusses Problem in Edinburgh.

REMEDY SOUGHT

A joint committee of employers and workmen, representing the Shipbuilding Employees Federation and the shipyard trades unions, has been meeting in Edinburgh with a view to discovering ways and means to remedy the shipbuilding situation in Great Britain. According to advices received by Bankers Trust Company of New York, from its British Information Service, these meetings have been brought about because of the fact that large orders for ships for British owners, have, within the last few months, been placed on the continent. The joint committees are endeavoring to discover a method by which this competition can be met. Mr. S. F. Mulberion, managing director of the Tyne Iron Shipbuilding Company, in an address at the launching of the ship "Redriff," advanced the idea that an import duty should be put on vessels built abroad for British owners, claiming that the British government should not allow English money to go abroad while British workmen were starving. Another British authority on shipbuilding said, "It is a serious matter for our shipbuilding industry, that orders for British ships should be going abroad. It is more serious to know that until by some means, not easily arrived at, shipbuilding costs in this country can be reduced to a level with those in Germany and Holland,—and just now we must add, in France—there is danger of additional orders leaving our shores. The exasperation of British builders and their working staffs over this diversion of orders so much needed at home, can be well understood and indeed regarded with whole-hearted sympathy. It is idle to blame shipbuilders for placing their orders abroad after they have shown their reluctance to do so and have, in fact, taken every possible step to keep their work at home. The initial cost of a ship is a vital consideration to ship owners today. It may decide as it often has done, whether he shall build or not build" * * * "The remedy is not that which Mr. Mulherion propounds; an import duty on British ships built abroad would not only be in direct contravention to the considered and established fiscal policy of this country, but it would fail to effect a permanent recovery in our shipbuilding trade. The only remedy, and the remedy which must be found, is to build ships as cheaply as our rivals."

By implication, this rather indicates that the real underlying difficulty in the situation is that the wages paid to workmen in the shipbuilding and shipping trades are too high and will have to be reduced if foreign competition is to be met.

Every Night

Let's all take a peek in most any real home, where a youngster is running around. The thing you will see, if you'll let your thoughts roam, in your own little home can be found.

The time is at nightfall, and prayer's have been said. The youngster is getting undressed. The parents are glad that it's going to bed, for with quiet they'll shortly be blessed.

Both mother and dad get a big goodnight kiss, and the little one's quickly tucked in. The grown-ups sit back in their evening-time bliss and at sewing and reading begin.

What peace and what quiet! What cause for a sigh! The tiny tot's sleeping, they think. And then comes a voice from the bedroom nearby, "Will someone please bring me a drink?"

POLITICS MIXED WITH PREACHING

Anglican Church Rector Finds Dissention in Congregation and Protests.

GETS THREATS.

MILLBANK, Ont., June 19 (Canadian Press).—Alleged participation in local politics upon the part of Rev. Ernest Jacques, rector of Grace Anglican Church, is held as primarily responsible for certain dissension which exists in the congregation. The matter came to a head recently when the cleric declares he was called over the telephone and threatened with violence unless he resigned. In this connection Mr. Jacques has made a public apology to U. C. Crawford, one of the church wardens, who he admits he had in error accused of having made the threat over the telephone. He adds in his declaration, however, that he will tolerate no further annoyance from certain unspecified members of the congregation, and that he will make an example of the first offender caught.

KNOX CHORISTERS VISIT SOUTH BEACH

Annual Picnic Was Most Enjoyable and Amusing Affair.

Knox Choir's annual pnicnic was held yesterday, cars conveying the choir and friends to South Beach. A goodly number left the church at 2.30, driving through Lakefield, and on arrival they at once organized a real snappy baseball game, all participating with keen zest after the bracing drive; swimming too was indulged in, the water being very comfortable despite a little breeze.

Around 6.30 half a dozen more cars swept into the grounds bearing a merry crowd—the second contingent—and all sat down on the grass to do justice to a wonderful supper which the Ladies' Aid had very kindly prepared. When the "debris" had been cleared away there were more games, baseball and French tag, this latter in a mammoth circle with several runners at once, resulting in many laughable casualties, and then the races were run. In these events, details were hard to get, as the decision generally seemed to be that "all had won" but Miss Dorothy Gillespie and Mr. Harry Wood seemed to be the fastest present, with Mrs. Davis a close second. The evening was closed with a short impromptu dance—the party re-embarked—and silence once again brooded over hill and lake.

Altogether it was a wonderful party.

SUMMER SCHOOL

Bay of Quinte Section Opens at Bobcaygeon on July 20.

The Bay of Quinte Summer School will be held at the Agricultural Park, Bobcaygeon, on the chain of the Kawartha Lakes, July 20th to 27th, 1925. Conducted as a "real camp," the School merited much praise last year, and promises the same this year. The special features of the School are: The study of the Bible, Missions and methods of work among young people. Prominent Bay of Quinte ministers and Miss Winnifred Pearce will act as leaders in Study Groups and morning and evening worship periods, while in Mission Study, Miss E. Batstone, of China, Rev. F. W. Anderson of Port Hope, and Rev. G. S. Gervan of Millbrook have offered their services.

We are inviting the co-operation of all congregations of the United Church of Canada, within the bounds of the Bay of Quinte Conference.

Any information concerning the School may be secured from the President, Rev. R. H. Rickard, Northport; the Secretary, Rev. J. E. Glover, Cambray, or the Business Manager, Rev. A. C. Hie, Bobcaygeon.

CRUEL PRACTICE

O.M.A. Out With S.P.C.A. to Save Dogs From Running Boards.

Carrying dogs on the running board of motor cars has been deplored by the Ontario Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and in combatting this practice the co-operation of the Ontario Motor League has been promised.

The practice has been described as a particularly cruel one, whether the dog is tied to the car or not. In both instances a number of animals have been killed, either through being jolted off in the pathway of traffic or strangled by the chain which held them to the car.

While those who indulge in the practice may draw some cheap attention to their car, a little thought will convince that aside from the cruelty involved, having a dog ride [illegible] running baord of a car is [illegible] as the bat[illegible] girl pasters on the windshield, and shows a like degree of intelligence on the part of the owner.

SAYS MISSING LINK HAS NOT BEEN EVOLVED YET

BY LARRY BOARDMAN

WASHINGTON, June 13—Scientists searching for the "missing link" are looking in the wrong direction.

Man has not yet attained the "missing link" stage!

He will reach it only when his actions are governed by reason instead of emotion

Then, and not until then, he will start breeding out his monkey characteristics.

These are the conclusions of Dr. William Jasper Spillman, of the National Academy of Sciences and U.S. Department of Agriculture.

He explains—and tells the possible future of the human race—as follows:

"Man emerged from the irrational animal stage when he started using stones and clubs just as he found them. This was his first step.

"About 4,000,000 years later he took his second step—chipped an edge on a stone and used it for a tool.

Began to Make Tools.

"It was 500,000 years before he took his third step. Then he diversified his 'hand stone' and shaped it into at least five different tools. Sometime during this period, which lasted about 100,000 years, he discovered how to make fire.

"Then came the fourth step, which started some 20,000 years ago and ended about 15,000 years later.

"During this period Man made one of his greatest advances. He learned to make polished stone and then bronze implements, developed pottery, invented the bow and arrow, domesticated all the animals which could be domesticated except the horse, and, most important of all, learned to grow plants from seeds.

Kept Untruths Alive.

"This advance was stopped with the invention of picture writing, which enabled Man to put down and perpetuate untruths and thus prevented him from making any progress in the direction of truth.

"He learned much about navigation, invented the alphabet, and developed various philosophies, but his next real advance did not start until the period of the four greatest discoveries in the history of the world—

Copernicus discovery that the earth is round.

"Corpenicus' discovery that the solar system.

DR. WILLIAM J. SPILLMAN

"Discovery by geologists that the earth is old—not just a few thousand years, as was formerly believed, but many hundred billion years.

"And Darwin's discovery that Man is a part of Nature not a different being.

One More to Take.

"The advance by Man which started at this period continued until the World War.

"Now I believe, we are again at a standstill. Our handicap is that we are controlled entirely by our passions and emotions—and we probably won't advance again until we reach the point where we are guided purely by reason.

"That period—if it ever comes—will be the half-way mark in our development. We will then order everything form government to race propagation along scientific lines—and we will breed out our monkey characteristics just as we now breed out undesirable characteristics in blooded cattle.

"In this age of reason there will be no nations as we now know them—only divisions of the world for local administration. Governments will be necessary in these divisions only to levy taxes for education and public improvements.

Our Universal Tongue.

"There will be one world language, entirely phonetic, its alphabet based on basic sounds, its words having broad meanings shaded by prefixes and suffixes, and no exceptions in its grammar—so simple that every child of three will know it perfectly.

"There will be no wars and no crime. All controversies will be settled and eliminated by reasoning out the truth—which we will be able to do.

"Whether we will ever reach this stage is, of course, problematical.

"The Caucasian race—fundamentally emotional, and therefore self-destructive—will never reach it.

"The Chinese race, much less emotional and with far greater reasoning capacity, has some chance.

"Again, the Age of Reason may be reached by some race so far undeveloped—or it may never be reached at all."

WORLD'S CHAMPION MINIATURE WRITER

John Spears Has Contributed Unique Collection to British Exhibition.

VICTORIA, B.C., June 19.—(Canadian Press). — Living quietly at Cowichan Bay, on Vancouver Island, is John Spears, said to be the world's champion miniature writer with pen and pencil. He has just contributed a unique collection of handwriting specimens to the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley.

Spears has written twelve thousand one hundred and twenty-five words on the back of an ordinary postcard with an ordinary pen and naked eyesight. This is equivalent to about two whole pages of a newspaper. The entire alphabet he wrote in a space which can be covered from view with the head of a five-cent piece. The Lord's Prayer was written on a space no greater than the diameter of a common lead pencil, done in both pen and pencil. He has also written a book of ninety pages, containing nearly 10,000 words, each sheet of which could be covered by a postage stamp.

"I must have marvelous eyesight and a steady hand," said Spears in attempting to explain his talent. Most of his work was done some years ago, but he retains much of his craftmanship even now, although he cannot even read some of the things he wrote in his youth.

Spears was born in England but came to this country forty years ago, and has spent most of his days farming.

C.O.B.L. PRESIDENT COMPLIMENTS CLUB

On having Enough Policemen— Threatens Suspension if Any Repetition.

OSHAWA, Ont., June 19 (Special)—President C. M. Anderson, of the Central Ontario Amateur Baseball League, to-day mailed the following to "Shiner" Johnston, manager of the Peterboro Baseball Club, acting on the umpire's report as sent in by George Sullivan, of Kingston:

"The umpire's report of the Peterboro - Belleville game says: 'Pitcher Whitehouse of Peterboro used indecent and abusive language to the umpire and was put out of the game.' 'Holyman was insolent on the same occasion.' 'Wolfe, the player put out at third, was suspended from the game for crabbing.'

"I wish to commend the Peterboro Club for having sufficient police protection, which probably prevented serious trouble. At the same time the players must be made to understand that this sort of thing will not be tolerated, and the next player indulging in these tactics will have his certificate cancelled. This applies not only to the above players but to all players in the League. I trust this warning is all that will be necessary, and that the balance of the season will be free from incidents of this nature."

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

ALLA NAZIMOVA IN "MY SON"

Edwin Carewe's picturization of "My Son," which opened yesterday at the Capitol Theatre, is a mighty achievement for the First National director.

Nazimova plays the starring role and gives to the portrayal a finished quality comparable to the finest screen work. She plays the role of "Ana Silva," a Portuguese fisher woman who loves three men. Tony, her son, she loves most of all, for he is the image of his father. The drama that comes into the lives of Tony and his mother, brought by Betty Smith, a flippant flapper from the city, is vivid and compelling. The audiences at the local showing were held spellbound by the acting. Especially by the last reel were they affected. In that fast-moving bit of action they saw a mother turn tigress and fell him with an axe handle rather than see her son become a thief.

Jack Pickford plays the name role and proves D. W. Griffith's statement about him: "Jack Pickford is the most natural actor that ever walked in my studio," the "old master" said.

Carewe produced and directed "The Bad Man," one of the greatest artistic pictures of last year. He also made "Madonna of the Streets," but we feel that in "My Son" he tops them both and places himself among the foremost of our American screen directors.

One can scarcely believe that the picture is eight reels long, it grasps one so.

AT THE REGENT

"RAINBOW TRAILL" IS A STIRRING STORY

Picturesque frontier life, in towns where gun play was a daily exercise, and bullets settled arguments instead of words, is vividly visualized in "The Rainbow Trail," Tom Mix's latest William Fox starring [illegible] playing at the Regent Theatre.

"The Rainbow Trail," one of Zane Grey's pulsating and dramatic narratives of the old west, is another of that famous author's works to be transcribed to the screen by the noted Fox western star. It follows "The Last of the Dunnes" and "Riders of the Purple Sage."

Profusely scattered through the picture are many new Mix thrills. Lynn Reynolds, veteran director of western dramas, noted for his thoroughness and realism, directs Tom Mix in the latest Zane Grey story.

Anne Cornwall, George Bancroft, Diana Miller, Lucien Littlefield, Mark Hamilton, Carol Halloway, Fred DeSilva and Steve Clemente are cast in the other major roles in support of the western star.

Tom Mix and Zane Grey!

The screen's most picturesque western star and fiction's most brilliant narrator of western life, again combine in motion pictures.

The dynamic Mr. Mix has already portrayed two-fisted characters of Zane Grey's in "The Last of the Duanes" and "Riders of the Purple Trail," at the Regent Theatre.

Tom on more comes to the fore with a vivid interpretation of the historic frontier westerner, adding to the fictional qualifications of the story the daring and fearlessness for which he has been [illegible] noted. Exterior scenes for "The Rainbow Trail," were made in the beautiful Yosemite Valley.

Lynn Reynolds, long associated with the western star in the capacity of director, held the megaphone in this one, too.

Anne Cornwall plays the leading role opposite Tom Mix and George Bancroft, Diana Miller, Carol Halloway, Lucien Littlefield, Fred DeSilva and Mark Hamilton are cast in strong supporting roles.

AT THE ROYAL

NEW THRILLS IN NEW HOOT GIBSON PICTURE

Rides, Fights and Romance in "The Hurricane Kid."

Hoot Gibson, Universal's premier Western star, stages a new brand of thrills and sensations in his latest picture, 'The Hurricane Kid' now playing at the Royal Theatre. Gibson is seen in a desperate running fight on horseback, at breakneck speed, in a thrilling race and other exciting adventures, and one of the spectacular features is the capture and breaking to the saddle of a wild horse. Dangerous trails in the lower Sierras are the locale for much of the action.

The story was directed by Edward Sedgwick, who is responsible for "The Sawdust Trail," The Ramblin' Kid" and other outstanding Gibson successes.

Marian Nixon, a noted screen beauty, is seen in the leading feminine role, and others in the cast are Violet La Plante, a younger sister of Laura Le Plante, the noted star; Harry Todd, the character comedian; William A. Steele, Fred Humes, Arthur Mackley, and the full force of the Universal Ranch Riders.

A notable animal star makes her debut with Hoot Gibson in the new picture. This is Pal, his famous "Golden Mare," a pure Palamino, said to be the perfect specimen of this Western horse.

"Pal" has been in training for months. An interesting episode is a romance between the horse and her wild mate to parallel the romance of the human actors in the story. This is staged together with the capture of the wild steed after a thrilling chase, and the scenes showing her broken to the saddle.

Will Lambert wrote the story especially for the star, and his beautiful, spirited mare.

AMATEUR NIGHT PLEASES

Last night at the Royal a crowded house greeted Hoot Gibson's latest Western feature, "The Hurricane Kid." And the added attraction was Amateur Night. Mr. Harris officiated and opened the program with a request number, "The Trail to Home, Sweet Home."

Scotty, Peterboro's champion shoe shiner, offered a novelty "musical shoe shine," and a burlesque mind-reading act with Mr. Harris.

Little Dorothy Cooney sang "I Don't Want to Play in Your Yard" and a sailor dance. E. Forbes, autoharp and mouth organ; Earl Winterman, two songs and a recitation.

Everything went over with a bang and the large audience seemed to enjoy it all. Mr. Harris closed with "Rebecca from Mecca."

New novelties were announced for next week, one of them being Community Singing.

To mark the advent of the white race in Ontario, there is to be unveiled at Orillia on Dominion Day a monument to Champlain, which for artistic excellence and imposing proportions will be without superior in Canada. The figure of Champlain, reproduced above, is twelve feet high and weighs three and one-half tons. It will stand atop a forty-five ton boulder, at either side of which will be large side groups representing "Christianity," shown above, and "Commerce." Vernon March, the brilliant young English artist, is shown at the extreme left in the picture of "Champlain." The great explorer made his winter headquarters at the Huron capital Cahiague, near Orillia, on his journey of discovery into Ontario in 1615.

PUBLIC SCHOOL SHIELD IS WON BY QUEEN MARY

West End Schoolboys Stage Garrison Finish To Beat King Edward.

SCORE 6-5.

Sowden Struck Out Fifteen and Scored the Winning Run.

A garrison finish in the seventh when they scored three runs before a man was out, won the final game in the Public School Baseball League for the Quen Mary team by the score of 6 to 5. This victory gives the Queen Mary School the shield emblematic of the championship of the league.

The game was a see-saw affair. The boys from the south end scored first. Then the Queen Mary boys collected enough runs to give them the lead. A batting rampage in the fifth, when they batted right around, scored four runs and put King Edward in the lead. The sixth was scoreless but in the seventh the Queen Mary team scored three runs and called it a game.

It happened like this. Cripps, who had been pitching good ball, became generous and walked Dormer, the first man to face him. Crary found one right in his groove and laid a double down the left field foul line, scoring Dormer ,who had stolen second and third. Sowden sent a fast one between Pugh and the first sack and Crary scored the tying run. Sowden stole second and third and on the play at third, Miller dropped the throw. Sowden flashed in, beating a good throw from Solmes, who had backed up the play and the season had reached the end.

Sowden was directly responsible for his team's win. Besides scoring the winning run, he pitched masterly ball, striking out fifteen batters in the seven innings. He was especially effective with men on the bases and seven of the enemy were stranded. He was given excellent support by his catcher, Hall, and the other members of the team. They committed only two errors, one of which figured in the scoring.

Cripps also pitched a fine game. Seven of the opposition carried their bats and only eight hits were made off his delivery. His catcher, Battle, held him up well, and the other players gave good support. Four errors were made, but all come at inopportune moments and helped in the scoring. The players also showed rather poor judgment on fly balls, although Steer, Austin and Solmes all made nice catches.

Austin and MacDonald were the sluggers. Each had two hits in three official times at bat. Austin had a slight edge as his first blow was for two bases. Solmes and Sowden also connected safely twice, but each appeared four times.

The scoring opened in the first inning. Austin, first man up, greeted Sowden with a double to left. He stayed on second while Battle was striking out and took third on a passed ball with Miller up. Miller went out on a slow roller to White, and Austin scored on the play.

The lead did not stay with the same team long. Dormer was safe when Solmes missed his grounder. Crary also hit to the shortstop, who threw past Austin trying for the force out, and the runners took second and third. Sowden doubled over Steer's head in centrefield and the two runners scampered home. Sowden tried to score on Hall's single, but a good throw from Moffat, relayed by Austin, readed him at the plate.

In the fourth the Queen Mary boys added one to their lead. Jones TWO—PUBLIC SCHOOL .... was safe when Miller's throw pulled Pugh off the bag. He took second on a wild pitch, and third on Merritt's infield out, to score on a short passed ball.

Next inning King Edward School jumped into the lead. Steer and Battle singled and Austin walked, filling the bases. Sowden tightened up and fanned Pugh and Miller but Cripps helped his own cause with a single to centre, which Clarke let get away, so that the batter was enabled to take second. This produced the necessary two runs to tie the score, and then Solmes dropped a fly back of second to pile up a two run lead. No more runs were scored until the winning counters were chased across in the ninth.

Campbellford Versus Dummer At Oval

Gordon Cup Tie Between Two Outside Teams.

To-morrow's soccer bill includes a Gordon Cup tie between Campbellford and Dummer united at Nicholls Oval. Kick off at 3 o'clock. Referee, Alex. McKinley. Linesmen, McGregor and Ogden. Last year Campbellford were eliminated in the first round. This is Dummer's first year in this series.

The local C. G. E. team travel to Cobourg on Saturday afternoon to play against the Toronto C.G.E. team at the annual excursion and sports that will be held there, for the Director White Trophy. It is a hard game and the local boys will have to do their utmost to retain the cup they now hold.

PETES EXPECT TO CHECK ROUT BY A WIN HERE

Hope to Beat Oshawa Tomorrow and Hold on to Second Place in Race.

DAINTY TO PITCH

Motorists Pinning Their Faith on Veteran Southpaw to Beat Petes.

Manager Johnston and his Petes declare that the slump of the local crew, who have dropped three games hand running after winning four in a row, has gone far enough and they expect to stop the rout by beating Oshawa here tomorrow. Second place and possibly a tie for first will be at stake and both teams are determined to bring home the bacon.

Tomorrow's game at Riverside Park is called for 3 o'clock sharp with Colling of Belleville officiating behind the bat and Sullivan of Kingston on the bases.

A number of Oshawa fans will motor to Peterboro for the game and many enthusiasts from out of town will swell the attendance, as the game is expected to be one of the liveliest tilts of the year.

Oshawa will pin their faith on Duke Dainty while Manager Johnston's selection has not been made yet. Heckman may get the assignment if he feels fit tomorrow. Hardill may go back on the strength of his fine showing in Oshawa or Whitehouse may be invited to try his left-handed stuff on the Motorists.

It should be an enjoyable tussle.

NORTH DOURO WON

Beat Centre Douro 16 to 5 and Indian River 20 to 9.

Before one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed a ball game in North Douro, the local team defeated Centre Douro in a soft ball game by the score of 16 to 5. Both teams played well, but North Douro fielders supported their pitcher who not only pitched a steady game, but knocked out the only home run of the game.

Line Up.

North Douro—Martin Coughlin, c; George Heffernan, 1b; Ray Walsh, 2b; Ed. Kennedy, 3b; Gerald Condon, ss; Chas. Towns, p; Ed. Allen, lf; Will Towns, m; Will Whiffs, rf.

Centre Douro—J. Garvey, c; J. O'Connors 1b; J. Maher 2b; H. Allen 3b; M. McCue ss; L. Maher, p; R. Heffernan lf; F. Sullivan cf; H. Ayotte, rf.

Umpire at plate—F. Kennedy.
Base umpire—Jer. Mahoney.

North Douro Wins Again

In an exciting game of soft ball, North Douro defeated Indian River by the score of 20 to 9, on the Sweeney diamond on Tuesday. The game, despite the score, was hard fought, the breaks going with the winning team. North Douro's infield played a snappy game. The visiting team's outfield was weak. Lineup:

Indian River—Everett Sloane c; Frank O'Brien, p; Fred Fitzgerald 1b; Alex. Carlow 2b; Alex. Carlow, 2b; Laurence O'Brien 3b; Rollie Tedford ss; Leonard Kennedy, lf; Will Floyd cf; Jer. Mahoney df.

Umpire at plate—H. Kennedy.
Base umpire—Will Hayes.

SPORT GOSSIP AND COMMENT.

Tomorrow's game with Oshawa should be a real snappy affair, for the winner takes possession of second place in the league race in any case, and if Belleville should beat the Ponies in Kingston this evening will move up into a tie for the leadership. With so much hinging on the result, it will be a merry tussle all through, and both teams will be at full strength for the fray. Dainty will do the heaving for Oshawa and expects to make his record three wins in a row. Manager Johnston has not announced his gunner for tomorrow, but it would not occasion much surprise if he shot Jeff Hardill right back at the Motorists, who were lucky to beat the youngster on Wednesday.

* * * * * * * * * *

Umpire Geo. Sullivan will be back at Riverside Park for tomorrow's fixture, working on the bases, while Ken. Colling of Belleville will call the balls and strikes. The fans would be well advised to forget last Saturday's game and give the Kingston official an opportunity to think that a Peterboro crowd can be fair-minded.

* * * * * * * * * *

You have got to hand it to Chief Kidd of Belleville. In the riot that followed Wednesday's victory over Kingston when Quinn, the Kingston catcher, was knocked out cold by a Belleville player and had to be taken to the hospital, and there was a general mix-up, the former member of the Peterboro police force waded into the melee and with unerring precision managed to select a Kingston fan out of the gang and arrested him. That's what you might call good judgment in a pinch.

* * * * * * * * * *

The winning streak of Cairns, the Ponies' southpaw, was broken on Wednesday, the left-hander being credited with the loss of the game to Belleville, as the winning runs were scored off him in the eleventh.

* * * * * * * * * *

The slump of the Ponies and Petes is to be explained by two different causes. The Petes' offensive is slowing down and they are not getting runs as freely as in the early games. The Ponies, on the other hand, seem to have fallen to pieces defensively. In their last four games the opposition has scored 40 runs off the Pony pitchers.

* * * * * * * * * *

The Central Ontario League race is one-third over, each of the teams having sixteen games left to play. With the first and second teams at the end of the schedule to play off for the championship, it will be seen that all four clubs are very much in the running.

* * * * * * * * * *

Oshawa will make their first appearance of the season here tomorrow with much the same line-up as last year, although Ted Saunders, former Kingston player, is at first base and "Toots" Ward, formerly of Peterboro, is at third vice Micky Murray, drafted by the Galt Terriers. Alger, in right field, is another newcomer to the team. Otherwise the personnel is identical with that of the 1924 Motorists.

* * * * * * * * * *

Quinn, the youthful Kingston catcher, must think he is breaking into a rugby league instead of a baseball loop. Last Saturday at Oshawa Tyson piled into him at the plate and started a mix-up, and on Wednesday Quinn was knocked out by a Belleville player in a melee. Some of the rough-riders should be given a holiday for a game or two. The fans are paying to see ball games, not personal combats. —F. D. C.

PETERBOROUGH C. O. B. L. AVERAGES.

The latest batting averages of the Petes, covering all the Central Ontario League games played to date, leaves Herb. Wolfe still leading the squad with the handsome average of .450 for five games. Legon, after going hitless for two games, grabbed two safeties in Wednesday's fixture with Oshawa and is second place with a .400 average, while he leads in total number of hits and in run-getting. Harrison, Heckman and Rose are the other Petes within the charmed circle, Rose hitting an even .300. Harrison is the only member of the team to hit safely in all the games played, and also leads in total bases with seventeen, his string consisting of a homer, two triples and seven singles.

MONTREAL MEN IN MAJORITY

Six of Canadian Eleven Which Meets Americans June 27.

FIVE TORONTO MEN.

NEW YORK, June 19. (Canadian Press).—William T. Tilden II. and Vincent Richards, America's first and second players in the national tennis ranking, and rivals of several years' standing, will battle for another title Sunday afternoon. By winning their semi-finals matches in straight sets yesterday, they qualified for the final round of the Metropolitan clay court championship, Tilden scoring an impressive victory over Jack Wright, the Canadian star, 6-3, 6-2, 6-1, and Richards eliminating the Spanish Davis Cup player, Manuel Alonso, 6-4, 6-4, 6-1.

Tilden had fought Wright, a worthy foe, recently at Orange, the Canadian having carried the champion to a 14-12 score in one set, but yesterday he never allowed his opponent to become threatening and was master of the match throughout.

CLOSE MATCHES.

Hard and Exciting Games Featured Play In All Series.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 18. Canadian Press. — The weather was very cloudy and windy at the start of the day's play but cleared later on and the full programme was run through and there were many very close and exciting games.

The singles were brought down to the semi-finals and the four left in are all Toronto players.

Leroy Rennie, Toronto, disposed of Milne in straight sets, and then defeated C. W. Leslie of Montreal, 6-2, 6-2. He played magnificent tennis throughout the day. Ar. Ham, of Toronto, playing very attractive tennis, defeated H. F. Wright of Ottawa and then defeated A. J. Belliveau, Rideau Club champion, in straight sets, and meets Leroy Rennie in one semi-final. Innes Taylor, Toronto, was beaten by E. D. ..id, of Montreal, who later in the day was put out by Glibert Nunns of Toronto in two very close sets. R. Carlaw of Toronto, playing in great form, defeated the Montreal hope, M. Rainville, much more easily than expected and the.. had a hard through set match with J. McDougall. Gilbert Bunns of Toronto, went through to the semi-finals of the junior events. He had a hard match with B. Sharpe and meets young Hugman of Ottawa, in the esmi-final.

Miss M. Bremner defeated Mrs. Hugh Macdonnell, of Toronto, in a close game. Miss Phoebe Grierson, stroking with superlative ease, defeated Mrs. Macfarland, and Mrs. E. F. Coke of Toronto, playing her best game put out the promising young Toronto player, Miss Ethel Henderson after two sets of hard hitting tennis.

In the men's doubles, McDougall and Wawsdorth covered themselves with glory by winning two fine matches; they defeated Belliveau and Stewart in three ding dong sets, the middle one going to 15-13.

Later in the day they won a hair-raising match from K. F. Wright and R. Quain of Ottawa; this puts them into the semi-final where they will meet the very strong team from Toronto of A. Ham and Leroy Rennie.

In the other half Condon of Ottawa, and E. A. Purkis of Toronto, defeated the Montreal team of Beaubien and Wayland in straight sets. Then in the round before the semi-final they won a very interesting match from Innes Taylor of Toronto, and E. Taschereau, Ottawa.

T. Brown and L. Brown defeated the Montreal pair, Leslie and Rainville, in two hard fought sets, full of exciting rally play. The Browns will play Purkis and Condon in the other semi-final.

In the ladies' doubles Mrs. Coke and Mrs. Macdonnell of Toronto playing perfectly together, defeated Mrs. Macfarlane and Miss Steers in straight sets. Mrs. Dexter of Winnipeg and Miss Henderson of Toronto, did well to defeat Miss McDougall and Miss Quain.

Some very good matches in the mixed doubles featured the day's play Miss M. Bremner and R. Quain won a very close game from Miss Barnes and Heppinstall. Mrs. Coke and A. Ham of Toronto, a very strong team, defeated Miss N. Bremner and Sharpe, only losing two games. Miss Billing and M. Rainville of Montreal, won a desperately fought game from Mrs. Macfarlane and Capt. Chambers of London. Every set was a deuce one and the game lasted an hour.

Miss G. Galley and L. Fontaine of Montreal, gave a fine exhibition and defeated Miss Macado and L. Beaubien of Montreal.

The semi-finals, in all events, will be played to-morrow.

In the semi-finals of the ladies' singles, Mrs. C. F. Coke, of Toronto, plays Miss P. Grierson, of Ottawa, and Mrs. H. F. Wright plays Miss M. Bremner.

BASEBALL SIMPLIFIED

What is the object of the infield fly and why is it necessary that first and second or first, second and third be occupied and there be less than two out for the rule to be operative?

The infield fly was placed in the rule book to prevent the making of double plays by purposely trapping or dropping a fly ball.

With runners on first and second, or the bases filled, it would be an easy matter to pull a double play on a fly to the infield. The runners must hold their bases to avoid being doubled if the ball is caught; by trapping it the infielder has the runners at his mercy.

The rule is not operative with first only or first and third occupied, because there is really no chance for a double if the batsman runs out his hit as he should. Under such conditions taking a chance on trapping the ball couldn't possibly result in more than one out. Thus it would be a foolish play.

Less than two must be out for the rule to be operative, because with two down, there would be no object in trapping or purposely dropping the ball, therefore it must be caught regardless of the runners on the bases.

The infield fly as now interpreted properly protects the base runner when there are runners on first and second or first, second and third and less than two out

The moment the umpire declares infield fly, the runners know the batsman is out, which removes the force and permits them to advance at their peril as on any other fly ball that is caught or missed.

MASSEYS TROUNCED BY CAN. PACKERS

James Got Four Goals, Foster and Buchan One Each.

Cool and effective mid-field play resulted in the C.P.C. trouncing the Masseys, 6 to nil, in a junior league game, last evening, at King Edward Park. The losers have a good defence, with the exception of the goal-keeper, who needs a rest. Their forwards lacked combination at the proper moment and slow in front of goal.

The game was late in starting. Masseys' trotting out many new faces to junior circles. They were [illegible] stages, more especially when Hodgson shot at the goal-keeper instead of giving gentle touch through. C.P.C. responded against McDonald's charge but offsides robbed them. A break away on their left resulted in James connecting with his head four yards out. McDonald ran out to clear but he witnessed the ball roll between the posts. Dilatory play by their defense, a few minutes later allowed James to head in below the bar, from a cross by Mitchell, for the second goal.

Masseys went down into C.P.C. territory to test the full backs, that never faltered. Buchan sent Foster away on the left wing where he lobbed a high shot through the goal-keepers outstretched arms. Half-time, C.P.C., 2; Masseys, 0.

Half-Time.

On resuming, Masseys with O'Halloran now at centre, had Montgomery on the ground stopping a low ground shot. Quick as a flash, the C.P.C. forwards peppered their opponents' goal at the other end without success. Brown missed an open goal after beating C.P.C. fullbacks. After 10 minutes play, James made it four on right wing centre. The continuous pressure by the C.P.C. forwards let James add to his tally. Then Buchan's long shot deceived the goal-keeper for the last tally, two minutes before the finish. Full time, C.P.C., 6; Masseys, 0.

Masseys—McDonald, goal; Hotston and O'Halloran, backs; Underwood, Westlake and Roberts, halfbacks; Dossett, H. Walker, Hodgson, Brown and R. Walker, forwards.

C.P.C.—Montgomery, goal; A. Downer and Grant, backs; Cross, Buchan and Laidlaw, half backs; Mitchell, Gore, James, J. Downer and Foster, forwards.

Referee—Wm. Rickard.

ABANDONED PLANE

Members of the party, the Social Demokraten says, intimated that Amundsen would hasten to beat other Arctic expeditions now en route or preparing to take off for the northlands.

Lincoln Ellsworth, American colleague of Amundsen on the daring aerial venture, was deeply affected by the news of his father's death, which occurred two weeks ago in Italy. He announced that henceforth he would devote his fortune to exploration.

Director Tommesen, of the Norwegian Aircraft Association, was advised from Oslo that Amundsen reached a point 180 kilometers from the Pole when he landed and made observations. One plane was afterward damaged.

Other advices explained that the craft was caught in the ice after landing and had to be abandoned.

LOW SCORE IN COUNTY CRICKET

Nottinghamshire Compiled 273 to Beat Worcestershire's 271.

PLAYED TWO INNINGS.

LONDON, June 19. (Canadian Press). — Nottinghamshire defeated Worcestershire by seven wickets in a county cricket championship match which concluded yesterday. Worcestershire made 161 runs in their first innings and 110 in their second. Nottinghamshire scored 173 runs in their first innings and 100 for three wickets in their second.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER THORON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans

Rushing the club at the turn of the back swing is such a common mistake among golfers that all average players would do well to understand that the turning of the club from the top of the back swing is the danger zone of the swing. More shots are ruined right there, I dare say, than at any other common point in the swing. If the turn is rushed what happens is that the club is actually started down before it has finished being taken up. This invariably makes the clubhead arrive late at the ball and the "incurable slice" results again. There is a moment of pause and poise at the top while the club seems to stretch out as though it were made of rubber. Then it recoils, and you go forward with it.

MOSS IN LAWNS.

This flowering plant in lawns is disfiguring and a sure indication that all is not well. It is generally a sign of acidity or poor drainage and the best remedy is to apply air slaked lime on the surface at the rate of 6-10 lbs. per square rod or 12-15 lbs. per four hundred square feet. Scarify the surface with a rake first to remove some of the moss. If only due to acidity the lime will suffice, but if due to poor drainage this should be attended to by tile drains. If the ground is in very bad condition, it should be dug over and some fertilizer added with a rather heavier application of the lime. It should then be sown again with a special mixture of grasses that will stand fairly dense shade rather than the regular mixtures. Various satisfactory mixtures are on the market but if one wishes to mix his own the following is recommended. Kentucky Blue Grass 40 per cent. Wood Meadow Grass 40 per cent. Various Leaved Fescue 10 per cent. Crested Dogs Tail 10 per cent.

In moderate shade or in the open one or two applications of the lime dressing should suffice but under dense shade a yearly treatment and partial digging may be necessary. A top dressing of rich loam and a light to the efficiency of the treatment.

Hints For Motorists

Engine Noise And Engine Power

Don't Sacrifice Too Much To Stop Valves From Clicking

IN THE CASE OF ENGINES other than some of the very latest ones, a very large factor in the operative noise is the clicking of the valve mechanism and in order to secure the utmost quiet there is a common tendency among mechanics and motorists to reduce the clearances between pushrods, valve stems and rocker arms altogether too much.

Valves Must Seat Fully

It may be a very worthy ambition to try for these "Silent Knight" effects in adjusting poppet-valve actions, but it often produces very bad results, for every engine must have sufficient clearance allowed in each of its valve actions so that full seating of all its valves will be assured, even though the parts are hot and expanded. If too small clearances are provided, very silent valve operation will result, but some of the valves may hold open slightly, when they should be tightly closed, especially when the operating parts become very warm.

Power Loss From Incomplete Valve Closing

Too tight push-rod adjustment is often responsible for diminished engine power for the very obvious reason that, with any of its valves holding open even slightly, there is serious loss of charge during compression strokes and of effective pressure on the pistons during their power strokes.

Burned And Carbonized Exhausts

If any exhaust valves are prevented from entirely closing because of insufficient clearances between their operating parts, burning gases will leak past them during power strokes, burning their faces and seats and rapidly increasing the rate of leakage and carbon deposits are likely to be formed and baked upon these surfaces, so as to hold these valves open still further.

Missing From Exhaust Valves Holding Open

If these effects are carried far enough missed explosions may result, for exhaust gas as well as fresh charge will be drawn in during suction strokes, and the charges may become too lean and foul to be ignitable.

Verifying Valve Clearances

Specifications as to valve-stem clearances are to be found in every instruction book and these should be checked up whenever a readjustment has been made.

"DON'T TROUBLE TROUBLE"

T. D. M writes: Just after driving my ——— car up a long grade, on second, I noticed that my oil gage showed no pressure and coasted the car down to a nearby garage I found the pump was not working, but soon got it into operation. Since then there seems to be nothing wrong with the engine, such as knocking. Do you think it is necessary to take it down and inspect all bearings, etc.? Unless it is, I shall not do it, as it is quite a job.

Answer: No, you better let the engine alone, so long as it does not knock and it has as good compression as ever, in all cylinders This engine has splash lubrication and there was doubtless a considerable amount of oil available for lubrication for sometime after the pump stopped working. Moreover, an engine with all its wearing surfaces well smoothed down by use, will usually run for some little time, without serious results, upon the oil films existing between wearing surfaces. We don't believe your engine was damaged at all by this lubrication failure, which you met in a most judicious manner.

STEERING DEVICE TROUBLE

J. A. J. writes: After taking up play in the steering column of my ——— car, the hand wheel is ¾-inch lower than formerly and this leaves the spark and throttle levers in an inconvenient position to operate. What is the remedy for this?

Answer: Correction of hand-wheel play in this gear is effected by slightly tightening the thrust-bearing at the upper end of the screw-and-nut housing. This adjustment is usually a matter of but a few thousandths of an inch and the fact that your wheel is so much lower raises a suspicion that something is radically wrong, perhaps that the thrust bearing has failed. You better have the entire steering device inspected by someone thoroughly familiar with its construction. The spark and throttle levers are fastened to their tubes by adjustable clamps, but we should not advise trying to re-position them by re-setting these clamps. We don't know what has caused your trouble, but certainly it is something that warrants immediate investigation.

HURSTWOOD WON.

Hardwicke Stakes at Ascot Won By Tattersall's Horse.

ASCOT, England, June 19 (Canadian Press). — Somerville Tattersall's Hurstwood won the Hardwicke Stakes for 2,000 pounds sterling, with extras, run here to-day. Madame Calmann's Tournesol was second, and Lord Rosebery's Plack third. Seven ran.

Why are the American people so far ahead?

Wherever world-travellers come together, the amazing comforts of Americans are sure to come in for discussion. Why is it that the average American lives like a king?

To be sure, he has more money to spend than any other person in the world, but then he insists on spending it to bring better living to himself and family. Who knows what a subtle, but influential, part advertising plays in putting the American people ahead?

Advertising, by showing us new and better things, keeps us from being satisfied with "well enough."

Advertising, by making us want more, wakens the springs of action within us to get more. American advertising is a pretty substantial explanation of American advancement.

GARDEN PARTY A GREAT SUCCESS

Good Patronage at Well Equipped Booths at Orphanage Social.

WILLING WORKERS.

The postponed social and garden party held under the auspices of St. Vincent's Orphanage yesterday afternoon and evening was quite successful. There was a good patronage of the supper tables, where delicious home-made cooking was served, and of the different refreshment booths.

The fncy work booth, where Mrs. Tom Turcotte was in charge last evening, was supervised by Mrs. N. Daly, Mrs. J. McNeely and Mrs. W. O'Brien. Mrs. P. J. Doris had the soft drink sale, with Mrs. J. Grisdale and Miss Mercier; Mrs. John Lnch, Mrs. T. McQuillan and Mrs. M. LaPlante had the sale of ice cream, and the supper was in charge of Mrs. D. Hummel and Miss Croft. The candy sale was in charge of the Misses Josie Collins, M. Rose and Margaret O'Brien, and the fish pond was supervised by Miss Annie Simon's, assisted by the Misses Agnes Burns, Josie Lynch and Hannah Fraser, with active little helpers in Jim White and Francis MacPherson. Dorothy Anthony and Mary Gallagher had the doll ticket sale, Mrs. W. Young was in charge of the prize tickets, and Messrs. F. Fairen, T. McQuillan and Frank Lynch were attendants at the gate.

Expect Alberta Coal In Spite Of Western Rumors

TORONTO, June 19 (Canadian Press.—Hon. Charles McCrea, Ontario Minister of Mines, stated today that he had heard nothing concerning the rumored cancellation of the experimental shipment soon to be made of coal from Alberta to Ontario points. The reports in Calgary to the effect that the shipments, totalling 25,000 tons, will not be made were received with surprise by the Department of Mines, under which the fuel controller, J. A. Ellis, operates. Mr. Ellis at present is ill in Ottawa.

NO MOVEMENT STRIKE AREA

Quiet To-day, But Grocery Store Looted and Burned Last Night.

MURDOCK LEAVES.

SYDNEY, N.S., June 19 (Canadian Press)—The Cape Breton industrial situation marked time today. Hon. James Murdock, minister of Labor, left today for Ottawa. While president J. E. McLeod of district United Mine Workers, would make no comment on Mr. Murdock's statement of last night, it was presumed that the miners' executive was busy conferring and drawing up questions for submission to the membership in the referendum as outlined by the minister.

A small grocery store owned by John C. McLeod, of Florence, was looted and burned through the night by a crowd of men. Wm. Whalen, Michael Walsh and Albert Smith appeared in stipendary court at Sydney mines this morning for preliminary hearing in connection with the recent raiding of the British Empire Steel corporation store there.

Michael Walsh was committted for trial. The cases of William Whalen and Albert Smith, held on similar charges, were adjourned until Monday.

STRONG PROTEST.

Meighen Protests Introduction of Important Legislation at Session's End.

OTTAWA, June 19. (Canadian Press).—A strong protest against the introduction of important legislation in the "dying hours of the session" was made by Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Opposition leader, when Hon. J. A. Robb, Acting Minister of Finance, to-day moved that the House of Commons consider the terms of the Australian trade agreement to-morrow.

FEWER DEATHS IN SANITARIUMS

Tuberculosis Patients Who Get Proper Treatment Have Better Chance.

RATE DECREASES

MINNEAPOLIS, June 19 (Associated Press).—Persons afflicted with tuberculosis are 15 times more liable to die than persons who do not have the disease, according to a statement made before the National Tuberculosis Assocation this morning by Dr. Louis I. Dublin, statistician of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. Dr. Dublin pointed out that at least 800,000 persons have passed through the tuberculosis sanatoria of the United States in the last ten years, of whom close to 600,000 are still alive and showing the benefits of reduced mortality in their respective communities.

"The conclusion to be drawn, therefore," said Dr. Dublin, "is there are 6,000 less deaths a year from tuberculosis in this group of patients who have had treatment in sanatoria than if no sanatorium beds were available. The chances of longer life for patients who have been to tuberculosis sanatoria and received proper treatment are considerably greater than for those who do not receive such treatment.

'A tuberculosis death rate of 50 for each 100,000 of population by 1930, approximately one-half of that at the present time will, I believe, be found to be not far from the actual figure in that year."

Coffee is believed to have been grown first in Abyssinia. It was not a native of Brazil, which now furnishes two-thirds of the world's coffee supply.

UNEASINESS GROWS IN LONDON AS RUPTURE IN CHINA WIDENS WAR PROPAGANDA SPREADS

Russian Internationale Calls on Chinese to Overthrow Imperialistic Powers.

PASSION INFLAMED.

Peking Government Said to be Aiding Anti-Foreign Strikers With Money.

LONDON, June 20. — Canadian Press. — Growing uneasine s w s manifested in the published co. - ments and news reports here, due partly to the breakdown of the Shanghai conference, and partly to the attitude of the central govern - ment at Peking, which is said to have given monetary aid to the anti-foreign strikers.

The Times sees in the latter report ground for increased anxiety. In its editorial comment it characterizes the general situation as disquieting. Editorial expressions of other papers are similar in tone.

Crisis Acute.

The Morning Post's correspondent at Tientsin telegraphs his paper as follows:

"Foreigners are convinced that the crisis is at its acutest stage. Chinese passion has been inflamed to a most menacing pitch by an orgy of anti-foreign propaganda throughout the country which seems to be wholly in the hands of agitators.

"It is strongly suspected that the movement will take a revolutionary complexion and that the extremists will ride into power on a wave of anti-foreign psychosis.

"Attempts are being made to seduce the troops but these hitherto have been without much success.

"Unless the feeling calms it will be impossible to arrive at an agreed settlement on the immediate issue since the Chinese commissioners are not likely to accept responsibility in view of the attitude of the mob.

"The position is such that it behooves the powers to lose no time in preparing for an extreme emergency."

Communist Urge.

MOSCOW, June 20. Canadian Press. — The headquarters of the Russian Peasants' Internationale today appealed to the Chinese women and peasants to "overthrow the imperialistic powers, demand abolition of foreign jurisdiction and summon a Chinese revolutionary assembly."

Rumor Spreads At Races 'Queen Alexandra Dead'

LONDON, June 20 (Canadian Press)—Among the brilliant society crowd at Ascot just before the final day's racing opened on Friday a rumor spread that Queen Mother Alexandra was dead, that the racing was to be abandoned and that the whole court would go into deepest mourning.

Thousands of persons believed it until King George and Queen Mary in the state carriages drove down the course and the racing proceeded.

The rumor also gained currency in London and a statement was issued on Friday night that Queen Alexandria took a drive during the day at Sanringham and is in her usual health.

Canadian Canoeist Wins Wager By Crossing Sea

NAPLES, June 20. (United Press).—Ten thousand lire has changed hands, as a result of the successful crossing of the Tyrrhenian Sea by Lieut. Smythe, the Canadian canoeist, who is demonstrating his prowess throughout Europe.

The Marquis of Guglielmon bet Smythe 10,000 lire that he could not cross the turbulent sea from Rome to Genoa in his canoe. Smythe agreed, and on Friday he collected his money.

COUNCIL WOMEN SHOW APPROVAL SUNDAY BATHING

Appoints Committee to Interview City Council on Adverse Ruling.

LAST MEETING.

Suggestion Made That Juries Should Have 25 Per Cent. Women.

The Local Council of Women held its last regular monthly meeting until September, in the green room of the Y. W. C. A., on Thursday afternoon. Several matters of interest were discussed. A letter from Mrs. Parsons of Ottawa was read regarding the holding of a Memorial Service in common with other Councils, to commemorate the unveiling of a memorial window in England, to the nurses who fell during the Great War. A committee was appointed to make arrangements for a meeting on Wednesday evening next, composed of Mesdames A. Stevenson, C. J. Snider and the Misses L. Jobbitt and M. Deyell.

A resolution from the National Council regarding the personnel of a jury being composed of at least 25 per cent. women, in cases involving women or children, was referred to the affiliated societies for their consideration, to be reported on at the September meeting.

The matter of the bathing beaches was discussed at some length, the majority of the ladies showing themselves in favor of having them open and properly supervised. A committee was appointed to interview the Council regarding this matter.

Mrs. F. A. Hodgson, appointed at the last meeting to interview Market Clerk Stocker with regard to conditions at the market, reported that Mr. Stocker was quite open to any suggestions with regard to bettering matters there.

A letter from Ottawa regarding Kiwanis work among backward children, was also discussed.

DEPOSITORS MEET.

Will Consider Action of Senate in Reducing Reimbursement Grant.

TORONTO, June 20 Canadian Press)—A meeting of the Home Bank depositors' committee is being held today to consider the situation following the motion of the Senate last night in reducing from $5,450,000 to three million dollars the amount the government will use for the relief of depositors of the defunct institution.

Federal Election Day Declared Half Holiday

OTTAWA, June 20. (Canadian Press). — The afternoon of federal general election day is declared a national holiday under a clause proposed by A. W. Neill, Independent member for Comox-Alberni, and adopted by the House of Commons in committee last night. The committee was considering a bill to amend the Dominion Elections Act. Neill's amendment was adopted on a committee standing vote, 54 to 32. All Conservative and Progressive members present and a few Liberals supported the Neill amendment.

Surprise and Regret Expressed in Alberta Over Railway Action.

EDMONTON, Alta., June 20. (Canadian Press)—Confirmation has been received by the Alberta Government to the effect that the Canadian National Railway had seen fit, in view of the pending freight rates investigation, to withdraw its arrangement for a trial shipment of 25,000 tons of Alberta coal to the Toronto market. The confirmation was received in a telegram from Premier Greenfield to Acting Premier Hoadley. Mr. Hoadley has asked Premier Greenfield to send forward the details of Sir Henry Thornton's letter to the Premier, setting forth the reason for the action of his company.

Naturally the announcement was received with surprise and regret by the Provincial Government officials, since it practically sets at naught the three years the Government has put forth to bring this trial shipment about. Keen regret was expressed by Government members, not only on account of the conclusion of the business which would have given work to the idle coal mines in certain districts, but also on account of the many people in Ontario who had been interested in the trial shipment and who were looking forward to receiving the coal.

NEW BEER LAW IS DIABOLICAL

Worst Thing Ever Done in Province, Says Drury of O.T.A. Amendment.

TOLD PROGRESSIVES.

LINDSAY, June 20. (Canadian Press).—The most diabolical thing that has ever been done in this province, said former Premier E. C. Drury here last night at the Progressive party mass meeting, in reference to the act of the Ferguson Government increasing the strength of beer.

DELEGATION WANTS RELATIONS SEVERED

Chinese Students Ask Government to Break With Great Britain.

PEKING, June 20 (Canadian Press).—Chinese delegates representing 48 colleges today sent a deputation to the Minister of War and the Foreign Minister, demanding that the Chinese Government immediately severe relations with Great Britain.

Lid Put On Teapot Dome Court Decision Says O.K.

CHEYENNE, Wyo, June 20 (Canadian Press).Teapot Dome rightfully belongs to Harry F. Sinclair, Mammoth Oil Company, T. Blake Kennedy, United States District Judge, decided here today.

Government charges of collusion, scandal and fraud in the leasing of the Dome by former Secretary of the Interior, Albert B. Fall, to the Mammoth Company were buried deep under a voluminous legal decision when Judge Kennedy completely upheld every act in the process which resulted in the granting of the big Wyoming oil field concession to Sinclair.

Counsel for the government, Albert D. Walton, U. S. District Attorney, announced after the decision that an appeal would be taken.

AS STANLEY MET LIVINGSTONE IN HEART OF AFRICA—WOLLAN GREETS AMUNDSEN IN ARCTIC

Hardy Captain of Whaling Cutter Recognized Explorer and Brought Ready Aid at Critical Time — Plane Towed Part Way.

TERRIBLE TEST AS ICE JAWS FASTENED ON PARTY'S PLANES

Equipment Discarded in Last Effort to Regain Civilization—Two Nearly Drowned—Return One Hour Before Search Party Booked to Leave.

OSLO, Norway, June 20. — Canadian Press.—Capt. Rouald Amundsen and his five fellow explorers will have an enthusiastic welcome when they arrive here within the next few days on their return from their Arctic trip. Published non-copyright accounts of the fliers' experiences, say they encountered fog soon after starting from King's Bay Spitzburgen, on May 21st. Rising above the mists they held to their course for because half their gasoline was exhausted. Then when it seemed they had found safety in a piece of open water where the seaplanes alighted, they were suddenly confronted with catastrophe. The ice closed in, jamming both machines.

Without immediate means of transportation, stranded amid a limitless waste of water and ice, the circumstances were such as to cause dismay, but Amundsen and his party proved equal to the emergency.

With the greatest exertion of muscle and determination they succeeded in dislodging one of the planes although the effort cost 24 days of exhausting work during which their rations were rapidly disappearing and prospects of safely returning dwindling accordingly.

At length discarding all the equipment they could spare and with only enough gasoline to take them back—provided they had no further trouble—they trusted themselves again to the air heading for Spitzbergen, all in the one machine. Over miles of icefields, without a trace of land, the plane flew southward, sometimes encountering the dreaded fog, but always keeping on until the explorers were able to land safely on the shore of the northeast part of the Spitzbergen archipelago.

Dramatic Meeting.

Scarcely had the machine alighted when almost as if by arrangement the Norwegian sealing boat Sjoeliv home into sight. The captain and crew of nine of the little 12-ton cutter had heard the droning of the seaplane's engine miles away, but supposed it belonged to a patrol expedition out to scan the wild coast for the missing explorers.

The surprise and gratification of the hardy seamen when they discovered their mistake must have equalled that of the castaways, who thus saw salvation at hand.

Captain Woollan speedily recognized Amundsen, notwithstanding a month's growth of hair covering his usually clean-shaven face, and they exchanged cordial greetings.

The explorers were soon aboard and welcomed with the utmost hospitality, although the sudden addition of six hundry men made big demands on the Sjoeliv's small larder, and there was not much to eat and drink but seal beef, eggs and cider.

A hawser was passed to the plane and the voyage to King's Bay was begun as speedily as possible, Amundsen being anxious to get there in time to forestall the departure of the patrol expedition which he was told was about to start out to seek him.

Plane Abandoned.

There was a small mishap, the hawser breaking. This repaired,

Fleas Aren't Animals Decide Staid British Lords After Lengthy Debate On Act Regulating Shows

LONDON, June 20 (United News).—After lengthy debate, the House of Lords has decided that trained fleas are not trained animals within the meaning of the act regulating the performing of animals.

The Lords went further, and decided that fleas could not be trained at all, and then wound up the argument by deciding that fleas are not animals.

Exhibitors of tropes of trained fleas protested at being subjected to the Act which regulates the care and handling of horses, dogs, monkeys, etc., in performances. The exhibitors themselves admitted that the fleas could not be trained.

MANY PICNICS HELD IN CITY PARKS FRIDAY

Life Looks Rosy to Normalites Who Had Excursion Without Rain.

SCHOOLS PROMINENT.

Juvenile Population Had Its Day Off and Adults Went Along.

An epidemic of big picnics occurred in Peterboro yesterday. Fully fifty per cent of the juvenile population and a very large number of the adults must have been occupied yesterday with the business of stowing away picnic goodies; engaging in the gentle pastime of running three-legged races and batting the ball.

The Farmers' Picnic at Jackson Park, the Normal School picnic, and the picnics of the Home and School Associations of the Queen Mary, the Central, the Queen Alexandra, and the King Edward schools, made up the list of half a dozen of such events that took place in the city and its environs yesterday. The Farmers' picnic, enlivened by speeches from visiting orators, is treated of in another column.

Central School

The annual picnic of the Central Home and School Association was a great success, as were all the other school picnics, in fact. Over five hundred children, with about a hundred and fifty of their mothers, gathered in Victoria Park for the event, and consumed countless quantities of ice cream and about fifty gallons of lemonade. Each child was given a free ice cream cone. Sports in the afternoon were in charge of the teachers, with K. S. Wightman and O. Steer as special

KIWANIANS ARE TRAVELLING TO GREAT MEETING

Five Thousand Will Gather Next Week in St. Paul.

BIG PROGRAMME.

Main Feature Will Be a Midsummer Ice Carnival.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 20.—The four corners of the North American Continent will join hands on Monday. The north and south, east and west, will meet in the land of ten thousand lakes when five thousand Kiwanians from the United States and Canada will convene here next week at the huge municipal auditorium for the 9th annual convention of Kiwanis International.

A pageant of glorious novelties, addresses by men of national prominence and leadership, as well as the accomplishment of the annual business of the Kiwanis civic organization, the reports of committees and the election of International officers, will fill the 4 convention days with strenuous activity.

Saint Paul has been anxiously waiting 12 months, ever since it was given recognition and choice at Denver in 1924, for the dawn of festivities. And after a year's planning by that club, the city's acme of preparation was reached today. Saint Paul is transformed into a realistic, resplendent banner municipality, decorated for the occasion of entertaining its visitors from all over the North American continent. While its welcome has been echoed across the continent and heralded during the past months, the pilgrimage of travelers to this mecca city started only yesterday.

Like of old, yet in modern style

Member Waxes Facetious On Subject Of Election

Alfred Speakman, the principal speaker at the U. F. O. picnic last night, expressed ihmself as being delighted by the beauty and charm of Jackson Park, and by the kindly consideration he experienced among the people here. Asked if he believed there was a possibility of an early election, he said: "I don't know. I haven't seen the papers today."

He added: "I have not yet met a single man in the House who could speak with certainty on the subject."

INTEREST TURNS TO LEGAL SIDE OF MINE STRIKE

Parties Are Considering Suggestion of Murdock in Secret.

HOLD INQUIRY.

Attorney General Orders Public Investigation of Miner's Death in Clash.

SYDNEY, N.S., June 20. (Canadian Press).—With a suggestion of Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, aimed at bringing about the settlement of the wage war between the British Empire Steel Corporation and their coal miners in Cape Breton being studied by parties concerned and their deliberations being kept secret, the legal aspect of the struggle assumed the centre of interest to-day with the announcement last night from Halifax that the Attorney-General was about to institute a public judicial inquiry into the death of William Davis, the miner who was shot and killed in the clash at New Waterford on Thursday of last week.

IRISH RUN ARMS INTO MOROCCO

French Announce That Principal Blockade Runners Are Irishmen.

AIDING RIFFIANS.

PARIS, June 20. (Canadian Press).—It was said to-day at the French Ministry of War that information received there indicated that Irish blockade runners are the principal conveyors of contraband arms to Abd-el-Krim's Riffians, who are fighting the French and Spanish in Morocco. Announcement was made yesterday of a joint Franco-Spanish blockade of the Moroccan coast to prevent arms reaching the warring tribesmen.

Health Association Took Record Sum At Big Fair

The secretary of the Peterboro Health Association Mr. E. J. H. Vanston, announces the net proceeds of the recent Made-in-Peterboro Fair, as being $3900 net. This is the largest amount realized by the Association in their various annual events. Last year's total was $1720.

Can't Keep Bees On Farm Of 3 Acres Says Judge

KINGSTON, Ont., June 20. Judgment was given yesterday by Judge H. A. Lavell, in favor of the plaintiff, John Buck, against R. Orser, in connection with the bee case, which was heard in county court last week. The plaintiff had applied for an injunction restraining the defendant from keeping bees on his premises. Judge Lavell ordered the bees to be removed to such location as would not cause interference with the plaintiff. He doubted very much if they could be kept on a three acre farm.

In his judgment Judge Lavell stated that the bees need not be removed until November 1st, but if they are not removed the defendant must pay the plaintiff $50. In addition the plaintiff was awarded $200 for personal injury received from the bees.

SPLENDID SPIRIT SHOWN WHEN CITY DWELLERS MEET FARMERS IN PICNIC AT JACKSON PARK

CO-OPERATION.

G. A. BRETHEN, M.P.
whose address at the U.F.O. picnic yesterday was full of the kindly spirit of co-operation.

No Rampant Politics Preached, But Only Mutual Co-operation.

TWO DISAPPOINTMENTS

Excellent Address Cut Short By Rain—Robert Forke Not Present.

Two disappointments were experienced last night by the organizers of the U.F.O. picnic held in Jackson Park. One was the non-arrival of Robert Forke, M.P., the leader for the Progresisve group in the House of Commons, who was detained at Ottawa in the consideration of important measures at present before the House. The other arose from the fact that his substitute, Alfred Speakman, M.P. for Red Deer, Alberta, was compelled by a steady downpour of rain to bring a powerful and inspirational speech to a premature close.

Earlier in the evening the clouds hung ominously over Jackson Park, but the imminence of a shower had little or no effect on the gaiety of the assembled crowd. Threading their way through the merry-makers could be seen numerous men who loom large in the life of the city. G. A. Brethen, M.P. for East Peterborough, was there, Alderman Roland Denne, representing the Legal and Reception committee; J. Wells Fraser and Leon Frazer, President and Secretary respectively of the Chamber of Commerce; J. J. Duffus, past president of the Chamber of Commerce; Vincent Eastwood, of the Royal Bank; Joseph Wearing, W. H. Kidd and Bert Manning. It was a farmers' picnic, but most of the arts and crafts were represented.

The distinguished guest of the evening, Mr. Speakman, cast all the dignity of law-making aside as he stood by heartily applauding the gladiators in a fiercely contested game of ball between a team of married men, captained by Hancock father and one led by Hancock son, in which the old men trimmed the rising generation to the tune of 21-9.

Between the speeches were sand-

M'MILLAN TOLD TO PLANT FLAG IN THE ARCTIC

Governor of State of Maine Would Like Title To Land.

DISCOVERY FIRST.

"Authorizes" Explorer to Act and Depend on Federal Government.

SOUTHPORT, Maine, June 20. (Canadian Press).—Governor Ralph O. Brewster, of Maine, last night authorized Donald B. MacMillan, who sails for the Arctic to-day to claim any territory he may discover in the Polar regions for the State of Maine.

He made this announcement at Newagen Inn at a dinner in honor of the explorer, which was attended by many persons prominent in the State and national affairs.

Governor Brewster himself arranged for the dinner, and in view of recent press despatches announcing Canada's attitude toward the United States in the matter of claiming any territory discovered by the MacMillan expedition, his announcement was heard with keen interest.

"By the well settled principles of international law," said Governor Brewster, "discovery is the primary incident in a claim to any land. If the question shall ever arise as to its title ample constitutional provision is made for its determination by the constitution."

"There appears to be nothing in the constitution over this state or nation in derogation of this inherent right of sovereignty of claimed land which it shall discover or explore.

"If the question shall arise with foreign countries there amicable adjustment in accordance with our constitution is assured by the peaceful experiences of a century with our neighbors on the north.

"The flag of the State of Maine may be planted on this territory which there is much to indicate may exist in that great space. It will then remain for the Federal Government to decide whether or not it will recognize and protect our rights."

ESCAPE DROWNING.

Miss M. J. Coveney and Her Nephew Clung to Upturned Boat.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 20. — Miss M. J. Coveney, accompanied by her nephew, Clarence Coveney, narrowly escaped death from drowning on Wednesday morning near their home at Bradley Bay.

Miss Coveney, who is a dressmaker in town, after spending the night at her summer home, Bradley Bay, was being rowed to the mainland about 6.30 a.m. by her nephew, on her return to town for the day's work.

Suddenly the boat sprang a leak and seeing their danger both shouted for help. In the meantime, Clarence had the presence of mind to upset the boat and both clung to the upturned boat, until Allan Coveney, hearing their cries for help, hailed a passing truck and quickly they procured another boat and rescued Miss Coveney and her nephew, who seemed none the worse for their experience, the former returning to town to assume her duties as usual.

SENATE AMENDS HOME BANK BILL

Reduces Amount To Be Used to $3,000,000—Pay 35 Per Cent.

MANY EXCLUDED.

OTTAWA, June 20 (Canadian Press)—After all day deliberations of the Senate Committee yesterday the Home Bank bill was amended and received its third reading in the Upper House. The bill widely differs from the measure passed by the House of Commons. In fact, during the Senate discussion it was termed a new bill. The main changes are: "The total amount of reimbursement is reduced from $5,150,000 to $3,000,000. Deposits not exceeding $500 are to be reimbursed outright to the extent of 35 per cent. of the claim, without investigation by a commissioner.

Claims for reimbursements on deposits of more than $500 will be heard by the President or a Puisne Judge of the Exchequer Court who, as commissioner will make awards, not exceeding 35 per cent. of the deposit, in cases where "special needs" are proven. The following are excluded entirely from the "benefits of the bill": directors of the Home Bank, Senators and members of the House of Commons, the Government of any province, city, town, county, municipality, parish, school board, educational institution, or other similar corporation or institution, any corporation, association, society, partnership, club, friendly or mutual benefit society, religious or church corporation, labor association or similar organization or association.

BOY STRUCK BY AXE IN WOODS

Boy's Back Cut in Peculiar Manner, Taking 36 Stitches.

AXE BOUNCED UP.

LINDSAY, June 20.—(Special.)—A distresing accident occurred near Allsaw, Haliburton county, a few days ago, Henry Blair, son of Joseph Blair, being the victim.

The boy was assisting a number of men peeling the tan bark in the bush when the axe became wedged in the top of a log that was partially balanced over another. A falling tree struck the other end of the log in which the axe was fastened, causing it to bounce up, and, falling on the boy's back, it made a terrible incision. A doctor was called by telephone, and the wound required over three dozen stitches. The injured boy lost a great deal of blood, but is making good progress towards recovery.

PORT HOPE'S BIG DAY.

Port Hope Dominion Day Committee are again trying to live up to their slogan, "Bigger and better than ever." Here's a rough sketch of the program for July 1st.

Afternoon—Three horse races, two ball games, vaudeville acts, daylight fireworks.

Evening—More vaudeville, the Peterboro' Male Choir of sixty voices, community singing, and the most wonderful display of fireworks ever presented in Port Hope.

Music for the day will be supplied by the Kilties Band of Cobourg and the band of the Ontario Regiment (Oshawa), by permission of Lieut.-Col. Chappell and officers.

Watch for further particulars next week. 1d-145-1136.

"BRINGING UP FATHER" — Geo. McManus

SPLENDID SPIRIT

wiched several pleasing interludes. The band played ear-haunting melodies, Miss Phylis Moore, a pretty, fair-haired, blue-eyed little daughter of the land rendered two recitations, "Pop" and Somebody Said It Couldn't Be Done," in great style.

Co-operation Stressed.

Co-operation was the keynote of all the speeches. Mr. Fraser, of the Board of Trade, in a brief address, said picnics were great institutions, especially on the outskirts of a town or city. They gave the city dweller a chance to mingle with his brethren of the country. He was born in the country. He loved the people who lived and worked there and he understood some of their problems The organization with which he was associated held itself ready to be of assistance either to individuals or to such bodies as the U.F.O.

G. A. Brethen, M.P.

G. A. Brethen, Progressive M.P., spoke of the pleasure afforded him by the invitation extended him to join the farmers of this district in their outing. His pleasure would have been augmented if he could have had with him Mr. Forke, the leader of their party in the House of Commons. When the chairman of the local branch of the U.F.O., Mr. E. A. Scott, asked him to secure home speakers for the occasion he did not anticipate having such a difficult task. He thought the session would have ended today, but as was not unusual towards the end of the session, some very important legislation was introduced which kept Mr. Forke at Ottawa. For the last three days they had been wrestling with the great problem of freights. Indeed the night before he had thought that he himself would be unable to attend this gathering. He liked the spirit of Mr. Fraser's speech. The spirit of co-operation was what was needed. The sporit of co-operation should be more alive among the farmers than it was. He liked the sight of old and young playing together.

There was nothing better, not even speeches from M.P.'s for bringing people closer than playing together.

The great problem confronting us was how to get to understand each other, how to work and play together. In the republic to the south President Coolidge after examining conditions in the West had stated "No complicated scheme of relief, no government fixing of prices, no dipping into the national treasury can be of permanent relief. Only co-operation could help the farmers."

As a Canadian citizen, continued the speaker he wanted to see co-operation among all classes; to see all people getting to understand one another better than before. In this respecet such clubs as Rotary and Kiwanis were performing an invaluable service. We must attempt in every way to reach out and get in touch with all ranks and all classes. Much had already been done along these lines. Speaking of co-operation it seemed as if in these days they were trying everything else. He was reminded of the boy in his first pair of long pants They seemed far too long as did all first pairs of long pants. The boy went to his mother and asked her to cut a piece off the pants. But mother did not see the necessity of doing this. Then he went to sister but she also refused. Finally he took the scissors and sliced a piece of each of the legs to have the pants ready for Sunday. Soon afterwards his mother relented and shortened the pants. Then sister changed her mind and she also cut off a piece. When the boy put on the diminished pants on Sunday he said sadly, "What we want in this house is less operation and more co-operation." And after all we are only one big family and need more understanding of one another.

Economy Needed

"We hear often expressions of dissatisfaction at the number of our young men and women who are leaving for the United tSates. In the United States the cost of living is lower than it was. Here the reverse is true. There was a reason for that, added the speaker. We were in a great war and had done our share. The United States were also in the war but were over two years late in entering. During that time the States earned vast sums of money. Another factor to be taken into consideration was the great building boom in that country. Between 5 and 6 billion dollars had been spent in building.

At Washington the administration had gone in for a policy of economy. This year a 400 million cut in taxes had been made, not by talking, but by saving every penn... In fact some business men had complained that Coolidge had gone too far The people had caught the spirit of economy to such an exten. that business was being hurt. In Canada we talked economy, but did not practice it. The people had to insist on economy, not merely for the other fellow but for themselves. How did the farmers get through the trying times they had experienced? By carrying on, using the old binder instead of buying a new one. There might have been lots of good reasons why they should go in for the expense. Lots of things were good in themselves, but had under certain circumstances. If we were going to reduce the national debt we must reduce municipal, provincial and dominion expenditures—we must practice in public the common sense we apply to our private affairs. The public must not ask for more expenditure but for less.

The law of co-operation had extended back. The individualist was of no use in the farm; he was no use in the House at Ottawa. This law, as old as the hills, was the one they must strive to follow.

Alfred Speakman, M. P.

Dusk had settled and the fringes of the semi-circle of listeners seated on the grass under the arch of fir and spruce and maple, were scarcely visible when Mr. Speakman began his address. He expressed his gratification at being invited to come among the farmers of Peterboro and enjoy the fresh air which was such a pleasing contrast to the hot air he had been accustomed to of late. He paid a rare tribute to the abilities and rectitude of character of Mr. Brethen.

Let the People Judge.

He would try to tell them some of the objectives of the Progressive Party, at least his interpretation of those objectives, for the real objective of the party was not yet formulated. He would speak without partizan feeling, without attacking any man, for every movement must stand on its own merits, must cast reflections on no man, must state its case, and let the people judge.

The Progressive movement was founded on Economics, on the science of living and of financing the country. It realized that if the country was to emerge from the slough of despond and reach the high ground, men would have to put politics in the background where they belonged, and place the country first. He liked the tone of the speeches of the preceeding addresses. Both stressed the principle of co-operation. What was cooperation? One of the simplest words in the English language, yet one of the least understood and certainly one of those least put into practice. It simply meant working together. Men can do by working together; what they could never do locally or individually. Few of us had followed the path of co-operation and even those of us who partly understood it, had not followed it very far.

Country Drifting

The Progressive movement came into being through the consciousness that the country was drifting. When they saw expenditure exceeding income, when they saw the income swallowed up in interest charges, they realized the old parties had failed to grasp the fundamental principles of economics, in failing to curb the expenditure of the nation.

The movement rose on the land. They who drove the plough and milked the cows knew that this could not go on. They formed co-operative groups; they entered politics to put agriculture on its feet. They formed United Farmers' organizations in every province, at first little clubs and local associations efficient in the local sphere. Soon they found a method of banding the strength of their organizations in the different provinces into one body in the House.

Their objective began and ended with co-operation. They sought to obtain a parity of exchange in the values of the farmers' purchases and sales. They had become so used to times of depression that it was at first difficult to realize they had definite causes, and these causes could be removed. They were not due to lack of production, neither were they due to lack of consumers. A remedy was to put exchange in its proper relationship. If the farmer had to exchange 3 hours of labor in return for what had cost 1 hour of labor in the factory, it was easy to see that he suffered in the exchange. The farmer was suffering as a result, while the factory worker also had his output decreased, his wages lessened and his standard of living lowered.

They must also endeavor to bring producer and consumer together and eliminate the enormous costs of distribution. They had to think internationally in this matter, as their produce went all over the world.

They must trade on equal terms where they bought and where they sold.

They had a vision of what might be accomplished by the Progressive method.

Rain Interrupted.

Here the downpour of rain increased in volume, and the speaker was obliged to hurry towards the end of his speech.

He hoped they would realize that the wild men from Alberta were simply human beings, striving towards an ideal. They had been called Bolsheviks, and many other things, but they were just like the U.F.O. in Peterboro, meeting together in an effort to help their country and to unify every province in Canada.

Sports Winners.

Sports during the evening yesterday included a very exciting pick-up game of softball by two opposing men's teams, a game of horseshoe pitching, and a programme of races, which included the following events: Girls, nine years and under: Phyllis Moore and Frances Sanderson. Girls, under twelve years: Dorothy Roland, Phyllis Moore and Olive Hancock. Girls, under fifteen years: Katherine Roland, Jean Irwin and Lillian McGregor. Girls' three-legged race: Olive Hancock and Gertrude Barnard, Phyllis Moore and Lillian McGregor. Young ladies' three-legged race: Dorothy Roland and Katherine Roland. Margaret Mann and Beatrice McGregor. Ladies' race: Katherine Roland, Beatrice McGregor and Margaret Mann.

Messrs. E. Scott and Harold Lewis were in charge of the races.

A public meeting wil be held on Thursday evening, June 25, to be addressed by Dr. Low, Regina, Dr. J. G. Fitzgerald, Toronto, and Hon. Dr. J. M. Uhrich.

The Saskatchewan medical association will hold its annual dinner, followed by a round table conference, in the evening of June 23.

MILLIONS SPENT.

Ruperts Land and Northwest Territories Cost $122,000,000 in 55 Years.

OTTAWA, June 20. (Canadian Press), — Expenditures, including immigration, by the Federal Government on administration and development of Rupert's Land and the North-West Territories total $122,758,806 since these territories were united to Canada under Imperial Order-in-Council in 1870.

A return to the order of the House of Commons tabled yesterday shows also that receipts from sales of land in these territories total $28,780,250 and from other revenues $32,251,288.

MAY STEM TOBACCO.

Bill Passed To Provide For Licensing of Canadian Growers.

OTTAWA, June 20. (Canadian Press). — A bill to provide for the licensing under Government regulation of growers or their representative to stem Canadian raw leaf tobacco passed all stages in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon.

HONESTY SHOWN IN CONNECTION WITH $80 FIND

Campbellford Girl Goes To Court To See Owner Gets Money.

MAN IMPLICATED.

Suspended Sentence Is Given After Restitution Has Been Made.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 20.—Miss L. Murphy, organist in St. Mary's Church, while on the streets recently, dropped a velvet handbag containing a purse in which there was a roll of bills. Miss Murphy advertised her loss in The Examiner last Tuesday. The bag was picked up on the bridge over the Trent River by Miss May Kilpatrick, who, accompanied by a girl companion, was returning from her work in the Mills of the Campbellford Cloth Company. The girls opened the bag, and seeing that the purse contained a large sum of money which they did not take time to count. Miss Kilpatrick carried the bag to her boarding house where in the presence of her landlord and his wife the roll was counted and was found to contain seven tens and two five dollar bills. The advertisement in The Examiner helped to trace the owner and the girl's landlord took possession of the property, promising to see that it was delivered to the place called for.

On the following day Miss Kilpatrick ascertained that the purse was still in the landlord's possession but that the money was missing. Feeling himself responsible for the property which she had picked up the girl reported the affair to Police Chief John Brown, who at once started an investigation. When he questioned the landlord the latter told him that he had turned nearly all the money over to a friend whose name he refused to give. The bag and purse had been returned to the place mentioned in the advertisement but instead of the $80, all the money found in the purse was two one dollar bills and some silver.

Warrant Issued.

Chief Brown then had Miss Murphy lay an information and a warrant for the landlord's arrest was issued by Magistrate Payne and the man was arrested on a charge of theft. When brought into court he still stuck to the story that he had given nearly all the money to a friend and declared that he could not get it back. He offered, however, to get the money from his father, enough to make restitution to Miss Murphy as well as to pay the costs of the court, about $10.

Accompanied by Chief Brown the defendant went out to his former home in Percy Township and succeeded in obtaining $90 from his father. When he had paid $80 of this to Miss Murphy and had settled the costs he was allowed to go on suspended sentence. After a severe lecture from the magistrate. The defendant appeared unable to realize that there was anything irregular in appropriating money that had come nto his possession as this sum had.

The honesty of the girl who picked up the bag and by whose efforts the restitituion to the owner was made possible is one of those incidents in police matters that justifies the belief that there are still people of principle left in the world.

KIWANIANS ARE

of every mode of travel, by rail, water and automobile, they are headed toward the north. Arrivals are expected early tomorrow morning, when official registration begins.

94,000 Signify Unison

Monday night, ninety-four thousand members in 1400 towns and cities wide spread over the continent will meet simultaneously with the convention here to observe the "All Kiwanis Night" program. A fellowship moment of silence to express unified consciousness of devotion to Kiwanis ideals is a part of each of the club's program. This will be the largest simultanious meeting ever held in the world.

Governor Theoodre Christianson, of Minnesota, Mayor Arthur E. Nelson of Saint Paul, Frank W. Matson, president of the Saint Paul Gavel club, Emil E. Theurer, governor of the Kiwanis district of Minnesota-Dakotas and Rosser J. Willis, president of the Saint Paul Kiwanis club, will give the addresses of welcome. Edmund F. Arras, of Columbus, Ohio, immediate past International president, will make the response.

Victor M. Johnson, of Rockford, Illinois, president of Kiwanis International, will give the main address of the evening. The programme will be broadcast from station WCCO at Saint Paul.

Mid-Summer Ice Carnival

A mid-summer ice carnival, a novelty even in this northwest country, will be staged on Wednesday, June 24, in the great arena, especially constructed for the show. Dog-sleds, hockey games and champion skaters, will give the thousands of visitors a unique sight. The President's ball and reception, an annual event, is scheduled for next Tuesday evening at the coliseum. Another reception and tea in honor of Mrs. Victor M. Johnson, wife of the president, will be held on Monday at the state capitol building.

Speakers at the convention sessions are:

Dr. J. L. Taber, of Columbus, Ohio, Master of the National Grange whose topic is, "The Farmer's Pathway Ahead." United states Senator, Frank B. Willis, of Ohio, will speak on, "Kiwanis—Its Ideals and Opportunities."

"Moulding Public Opinion" is an address to be given by G. Lynn Summer, president of the National Association of Advertising, Scranton, Pa. Roe Fulkerson, of Washington, D.C., nationally know humorist and editorial writer, will give a comic sketch entitled, "Joe Bush."

Hon. Charles A. Dunning, premier of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, New York City, are also on the speaker's program.

The annual election of International officers will be held on Thursday, June 5, the final day of the convention.

MEN AND HORSES

How closely related is man to the more intelligent of the animals is seen in many of the ailments to which both are prone and the remedies to which they answer.

Doctors and veterinarians are oftentimes surprised to learn of the similarity of their methods of handling the ailments of man and beast.

Sprains, burns, scalds, scratches and many other minor injuries, many everyday ailments, too in men and animals take the same course, and both answer immediately to the same treatment—Absorbine Jr.

Absorbine was first discovered by a very close student of the horse, W. F. Young, and by him, devoted to its cause. Its very exceptional benefits, however, were promptly seized upon for the human race and, in a milder form, the preparation is sold all over the continent today as Absorbine Jr. It is used for men, women and children everywhere as a positive germicide—a germ killer—and a prompt and certain healer of all hurts. It is useful not only for all the purposes served by ordinary liniments and embrocations, but as a mouth-wash and for anything else where a germicide is needed. Don't wait until you need it. Get it in the house today. $1.25 at your druggist's.

GREATER CARE.

In Selection Of Immigrants —Encourage Teachers To Teach Foreigners.

WINNIPEG, June 20. (Canadian Press).—Greater care in the settlement of immigrants was urged in a report submitted at yesterday's session of the Western Canada district convention of Kiwanis Clubs. An effort should be made, the report said, to encourage graduates of normal colleges to volunteer for service as teachers in the foreign communities.

Claim Federal Act, Forbidding Use of "Presbyterian," Unconstitutional.

MONTREAL, June 20 (Canadian Press).—Claiming that the Church Union Bill as passed by the Federal Parliament is unconstitutional in its provision for the organization of religious bodies outside of the United Church under any name but the Presbyterian Church in Canada, principal D. J. Fraser, of the Presbyterian College, stated yesterday that the Continuing Presbyterians would go on under that name.

"We hold that we are the Presbyterian Church and naturally have a right to our own name," he said.

Dr. Fraser declared that the question would probably have to be decided by civil courts.

PADS OF MONEY

NEW YORK, June 20.—A New York broker gets new currency and then sends it to his stationer to be made up in pads. He says this is the most convenient way to keep the money from being mussed up.

REFORESTATION.

The County Council of Victoria has been discussing the question of reforestation, and it is possible that at the November session some definite action will be taken along this line as the idea has been very favourably received by members of Council.

This is a policy which the Peterboro County Council would be well advised to consider seriously, in view of the generous assistance that is given by the Ontario Government to municipalities which embark upon a programme of reforesting waste lands.

There are numerous tracts of such land in various parts of the county that could easily be made revenue-producing by means of an intelligent and progressive scheme of reforestation.

The Ontario Forestry Branch will provide without cost enough trees to reforest two acres each year, but municipalities wishing to embark on a more ambitious plan can secure an additional supply at the rate of $4.00 per thousand trees.

Several counties in Ontario have made considerable headway with their programme of reforestation, but so far, although the matter has been talked and has been before the Peterboro County legislators on several occasions, no progress has been made in this section of Ontario.

FIREMEN'S PENSIONS.

The Ontario Fire Fighters' Association at its annual convention in Kitchener unanimously approved of a suggested firemen's pension act to be brought before the Legislature at its next session making it compulsory for all towns and cities to provide a superannuation and pension fund for their firemen, half of which would be paid by the firemen and the other half by the municipalities.

The idea of a retiring allowance for firemen with long service records is sound.

It would undoubtedly tend to popularize the occupation of fire-fighting and ensure for the municipality continuity of service in its fire department.

It can be claimed, too, that a man who has given the best years of his life to duty that is oft-times dangerous deserves something from the community he has served when the time comes for him to retire.

In spite of all that, it is doubtful, however, if the Legislature would pass the act in the form suggested.

The compulsory feature of the measure would unquestionably cause it to be held up, and probably the best that could be expected for the present would be the passing of an enabling act authorizing municipal councils to provide firemen's pensions if they saw fit to do so.

IMMIGRATION FALLS OFF.

Immigration into Canada during the last fiscal year showed a considerable decrease from the total of the previous year, the figures being 111,362, as compared with 148,560.

It would be interesting to know what percentage of those among the 111,362 new Canadians who entered this country as farm labourers or farmers are now actually engaged in agriculture.

According to some authorities, the majority have drifted into the cities, preferring to take chances on securing industrial employment than to remain on the land.

If such be the case, there is reason to feel gratified that there was a falling off in the total of immigrants, because the conditions in industry are not such as to welcome an influx of industrial workers on any large scale.

Canada's need may be more people, but just at present that need is not felt in centres of industry.

Eventually, and that before long, it is hoped it may be possible to throw the doors wide open and invite the world to come in, but that time is not yet—so that the decrease in immigration will not cause much worry.

The falling off is not nearly as serious a matter as is the loss of native-born Canadians represented by the drift across the line.

THE SALE OF POPPIES.

The report of the Senate Committee to the effect that the sale of poppies on Armistice Day has been commercialized, and that in the past three years the Dominion Command of the Great War Veterans' Association profited by its transactions in the purchase and sale of these artificial flowers to the extent of $25,148.15, will have a very disquieting effect upon the public.

It was generally believed that the only persons who profited through the sale of the flower of remembrance on Armistice Day were the returned soldiers who might be helped by the local branches of the G.W.V.A. and the disabled ex-service men who found employment in the manufacture of the poppies.

That there was any middleman's profit was certainly not realized by the people generally.

The wearing of poppies was a sentimental idea that appealed to the public as a fitting remembrance on Armistice Day of the unreturning brave; the practice should be continued, but under somewhat different circumstances.

The suggestion of the Senate that the commercialization of the sale of poppies be eliminated by having the Provincial units of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment utilized for the distribution of poppies throughout the several Provinces, may perhaps solve the problem.

At all events some plan will have to be adopted that will restore confidence in the Armistice Day sale; otherwise it might as well be abandoned in view of the revelation made by the Senate Committee's report

CRIME AND ITS CAUSE.

People in the United States are irritated over criticisms leveled at the administration of justice in that country, says the Hamilton Spectator. It is not surprising, for there has been a great deal of fun poked at the seemingly inept methods which prevail. No perceptible improvement takes place; in fact, from the point of view of bringing criminals to justice, the situation seems to grow worse rather than better. Instead of concentrating on this effort, however, the apologists are taking up the ineffective line of argument that, after all, conditions in their country are no worse than elsewhere, that an increase of crime since the war has been a universal experience. One writer goes so far as to deny that there has been any increase. Another, in the Saturday Evening Post, analyzes Great Britain's post-war record. The Mother Country, he asserts, is suffering from the greatest crime wave in its history—or at least since the records began to be kept accurately 67 years ago. He speaks of commercial frauds, and attributes the increase in crimes of robbery, whether with or without violence, to the use of the motor car and other modern contrivances. More candid is the opinion of Mr. Charles Evans Hughes that in the United States "criminal processes are too dilatory, juries are too indulgent, judges are too lenient in sentences."

It is not fair to pretend that the records of the United States compare with those of Great Britain. The Winnipeg Tribune point out that the annual average of cases of supposed murders in England and Wales for the years 1918-22 was only 103. In 1913 the number fell to 100 (apart from 45 cases of infanticide and deaths from illegal operations). "This, for a population of nearly forty millions," declares the Tribune, "compares distinctly favorably with the murder record of the city of Chicago alone, where, with a population one-eighth as great, there is an average of almost one murder per day." When it comes to the question of bringing the murderers to book, and of securing their punishment when caught, the position in the United States simply does not compare with that in Great Britain.

As to the cause, moralists attribute it to a diminishing respect for religion, and in this they are no doubt right. What the world is suffering from, and especially the New World, is a frenzied cult of wealth. Means do not count so long as the money is secured. And for this attitude society at large is to blame. Until the emphasis has been placed upon true values, no great improvement can be looked for. The only remedy is a return to the old standards of honor.

DO WE NEED ANOTHER FLAG?

One thousand dollars for the best design for a distinctly Canadian flag is the offer made by the Native Sons of Canada at Vancouver. If the design is not approved by the Government of Canada to the extent of being officially sanctioned, the award is split to $500.

The Native Sons of Canada is, as the name indicates, a simon-pure Canadian organization, aiming to develop a distinctly Canadian feeling among the natives of this country. That in itself is a commendable ambition. As far as the Advertiser can learn, this society seeks to make it possible to break down provincialism in Canada, so that we can better appreciate in Ontario what is in the minds of the people in British Columbia, and vice versa, so that in this way there shall be a Canadian public opinion on matters of larger public interest. That, too, seems commendable.

But what about the flag? At present we have an emblem with the Union Jack in the corner, then a big red background and a Canadian emblem in the other corner. That is really a marine flag. In more common use is the Union Jack, the flag that can be found on the seas of the world and fluttering in lands that are stretched pretty much all over the earth. We do not know whether this Vancouver society seeks to supplant the British flag with the new one, or to fly them both. That is a point they should have covered.

We do not know to what extent there is a demand for a new Canadian flag, but we do feel that the old Union Jack is a mighty fine old emblem for which we have never been called upon to apologize.

Of course, we were taught in school that it is made of a combination of the flags of England, Ireland and Scotland, and all that was and is very interesting. But as youth leaves behind the days of school, and starts to look around the world, to weigh the methods and ideals of men and nations, the technical formation of the flag really does not amount to much after all. The things for which it stands, freedom, a high and unfaltering sense of justice, a desire to deal fairly and evenly with other nations—these things bulk larger in the adult mind than the story of the flag as we had it in school.

That is why so many people in Canada have come to honor and revere the Union Jack. They have lived under it; our older people have seen representative government established under its folds, have found here freedom to come and go, and all the time felt the protection of that old flag. They have come to know what religious as well as personal liberty means where the Union Jack flies; they have seen planted here a system of justice whereby a man is guaranteed a fair trial, and where he is considered innocent until his guilt has been fairly established. Canadians have seen councils established in townships, counties, villages, towns, cities, Provinces, and for the whole Dominion, and have observed that these have full power and liberty to function as Canadian institutions.

Looking farther afield, Canadians have seen the whole might of Britain placed at the disposal of one lone subject to whom an injustice was being done in some far-removed corner of the world, and we have noticed there was no call for vengeance, no desire for bloodshed—all that was asked was plain justice and freedom for the subject who pointed to the old emblem and said, "That is my flag." And Canadians hallow and revere the memory of her own sons who followed that same old flag in South Africa, and even more so when they fought and fell for it when the mad Emperor of Germany had sprawled the of path of war across the face of Europe. It was there that the sons of Canada stood shoulder to shoulder with men from Britain, sons who had sprung from the same loins, held by a common purpose, and brave for a common battle.

Yes, the Union Jack means much to the people of Canada. If it had failed us or deceived us we might well begin to search for something better. In the meantime, Canadians can't entirely suppress a pardonable little thrill when they see the grand old emblem unfolded to the breeze.—London Advertiser.

A THOUGHT.

THE LARGER LIFE

There is a beauty at the goal of life,
A beauty growing since the world began,
Through every age and race, through lapse and strife,
Till the fair human soul complete the span
Beneath the waves of storms that lash and burn,
The currents of blind passion that appall,
To listen and keep watch till we discern
The tide of sovereign truth that guides it all,
So to address our spirits to the height
And so attune them to the valiant whole,
That the great light be clearer for our light,
And the great soul the stronger for our soul,
To have done this is to have lived, though fame
Remember us with no familiar name.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, June 20.—The cattle market opened on Monday this week with about 1,400 left over stale cattle on hand. With fresh receipts of 2,400, making a total offering of about 3,800 cattle, the market was not too heavily overloaded, except that the stale were draggy and not wanted, at least not so long as there were any fresh to draw from. The moderate supply of desirable cattle gave a slightly firmer tone to the market generally. There was a good export demand for the heavy cattle, prices in this section averaging 15c to 25c higher than a week earlier. Rogers and Maybee took about 600 cattle in Monday's market, and continued buying smaller lots during the week. Export prices ranged from $7.50 to $8.25 for the heavy fat steers, with one or two small lots, extra choice, going up to $8.40. This firm's export shipments for the week were about 1,800 cattle, including the cattle bought in the country. Shipments by the H. P. Kennedy Co., and one or two outside smaller buyers, made up a total of about 2,300 export cattle shipped east from this market this week.

Export buyers announce that space will be available and that there will be a good market for export cattle next week.

Since Monday's opening market, when the heavy carry-over of stale butcher stuff made trade in this section rather draggy, except for fresh choice cattle, the situation has steadily improved. The stale cattle were worked off, holders making judicious concessions as to prices, and by Wednesday's close the whole market was cleared of all offerings. Prices for good to choice butcher stuff, light and handy weights around 800 to 900 pounds, got back to levels prevailing before the recent hot weather spasm, the choicest offerings going up to $7 and $7.50, with a few extra special small lots up to $7.75. Choice light butcher heifers, fetching $7.25 to $7.50 and medium $6.50 to $7. Common butcher stuff ranges from $5.50 to $6.25.

Choice fat cows, butcher, $5.25 to $6, a few going up to $6.25.

Good butcher bulls, $4.75 to $5.50.

Calves higher this week, advancing from $8.50 at opening to $9.50 at close. Stocker trade quiet. A lot of inferior quality western stocker stuff going very slowly at from $4 to $5.

Sheep and lambs steady. Choice spring lambs firm; common not wanted.

STERLING RATES.

MONTREAL, June 20. (Canadian Press). — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday as follows:

Sterling demand, $4.85⅛.

Sterling cables, $4.86.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, June 20. (Canadian Press).—There was no improvement in the foreign demand for Canadian grain here yesterday, and business generally was reported very quiet for export account. The tone of the spot market for oats was stronger in sympathy with Winnipeg and prices for car lots were marked up 1 to 1¼ cents per bushel.

There was practically no change in the local egg situation, prices for all grades being fully maintained, with a fair amount of business passing in a wholesale jobbing way, but the trade in car lots was reported rather quiet owing to the fact that dealers were not disposed to operate freely at the present level of prices for storing purposes. The receipts were 2,130 cases, as compared with 2,267 for the same day last week, and 2,829 for the corresponding day a year ago.

The receipts of butter yesterday were 9,149 packages, as compared with 8,172 for the same day last week, and 6,905 for the corresponding day a year ago. A steady business continues to be done for export account, but the demand is reported to be principally for small lots, and in consequence the volume was not large. The domestic demand was somewhat limited owing to the fact that buyers seem to have ample supplies on hand for the present to meet their immediate requirements and are not disposed to operate for the future at the present level of the market. The tone of the market was reported steady and prices were unchanged.

The receipts of cheese were 7,327 boxes, as against 11,270 for the same day last week, and 10,613 for the corresponding day a year ago. There was some business reported to be passing over the cable, but the volume was small and this, coupled with the lull in the demand from local operators for supplies, has created a much easier feeling in the market, and spot prices were reduced ½c to 5-8c per lb., with sales of Western No. 1 white and colored at 19½c per lb., and Eastern No. 1 white and colored at 19¼c per lb.

EGG MARKETS.

OTTAWA, June 20. (Canadian Press).—The firm undertone prevailing on the market at the present moment is attributed to the recent export sales. One car of prairie provinces eggs offered, extras 30 3-4c, firsts 29¼, seconds 25 f.o.b. Yorkton, Sask.

Toronto steady, prices delivered, extras 32, firsts 29, seconds 24 to 25.

British Columbia eggs steady, paying country points extras 35, firsts 33.

Nova Scotia dealers paying delivered at country points, extras 27, firsts 25, seconds 20. Jobbing extras 32, firsts 30, seconds 27.

Chicago spot 29 3-4, June 31¼, December 35¼.

New York, extra firsts 34, firsts 31½, December 36 3-4.

CHICAGO CATTLE.

CHICAGO, June 20. (Canadian Press).—Cattle receipts 2,000. Better grades fed steers active, firm at week's advance; yearlings mostly 15 to 25c higher; in-between grades predominating; small packing yearlings 11.40; best in load lots 11.25; mixed offerings 11.00; no big weight steers offered; some 1,190 pounds averages 10.85; 1,260 pound weight at 10.60; most fed steers and yearlings 9.00 to 10.75; plain native grassers below $8.00.

Hog receipts 23,000; desirable grades active, ten cents higher; common and medium kind little changed; bulk good and choice 225 to 340 pound butchers 12.90 to 13.15; top 13.25; desirable 180 to 210-pound average largely 12.75 to 13.05; bulk 140 to 150-pound weights 12.50 to 12.75; packing sows largely 11.60 to 12.00; estimated holdover 8,000.

Sheep receipts 6,000; fat lambs weak to 25c lower; natives mostly 25c off; sorting severe; six doubles good and choice Californias 15.50, sorted about sixteen per cent.; bulk desirable natives 15.50 to 15.75; cull lambs largely 10.00 to 11.00.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, June 20. (Canadian Press).—Big speculative buying and higher prices for wheat yesterday followed a report from a leading crop expert that chances are fully four to one for serious damage from black rust in North Dakota and the eastern half of the Canadian spring wheat belt. Closing quotations on wheat were strong, 3-4 to 2 7-8 cents net higher, July 156 1-8 to 156½, and September 155¼ to 155 3-8, with corn unchanged to 3-4 cents up. Oats at ½ to 1 1-8 cent gain, and provisions showing 12 to 27 cents advance.

Highest prices of the day in the wheat market were current at the close. Weakness that prevailed in values here at the outset was ascribed to an unexpected decline at Liverpool, but Chicago traders soon turned their attention chiefly to prospects of black rust development both sides of the Canadian boundary.

Corn and oats sympathized with wheat strength.

Cocoanut trees do not produce a paying crop until ten years after planting.

NO TRACE OF STOMACH TROUBLE FOR SEVEN YEARS

Health restored by "Fruit-a-tives".

Mrs. LAURA ALFORD

"For years I was a martyr to Chronic Constipation and Dyspepsia. I tried various Cathartics, salts, and so-called vegetable laxatives, but without relief. Finally I decided to try "Fruit-a-tives", and in a short time found they were all that is claimed of them. They always act naturally, never causing griping, or nausea, nor having that weakening effect which so many other laxatives have. I have been using "Fruit-a-tives" now for seven years and have never had a trace of constipation or stomach trouble since." —Mrs. Laura Alford, 28 Florence St., Ottawa, Ont.

"Fruit-a-tives" contain the health-giving properties of fruits combined with valuable tonics. 25c and 50c at all dealers.

FAIR TO GOOD BUSINESS SEEN BY CREDIT MEN

Reports From East and West Indicate General Upward Movement.

WEATHER HELPS.

West Has Brighter Outlook Than in Many Years Past.

WINNIPEG, June 20. — Canadian Press. — The weekly report of the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association Limited, reads:

Halifax: Wholesalers report fair business being done and retail trade satisfactory.

St. John: Wholesale trade reported good and retail trade reasonably satisfactory. Collections good.

Montreal: Trade conditions remain about the same as reported last week and collections continue fair.

Toronto: Wholesale, snatches of hot weather have cleaned out the wholesalers of certain lines of goods. This has considerably helped volume and business on the whole is not too bad. Farming conditions Ontario are quite good. Collections for the most part are fairly good but in some lines of business quit slow. Employment: There is a marked increase in the number of employed.

Winnipeg: Business generally fair. Improved crop outlook is materially affecting prospects for future sales, and a steady improvement is expected. Collections fair to good.

Regina: Conditions in wholesale trade are reported quiet. Retail trade slow but improvement looked for with improved weather conditions. Collections quiet.

Calgary: Business generally continues of a very satisfactory nature, with an improvement in sight concerning collections. Prospects are very much better than for many years.

Edmonton: Wholesale and retail trade fairly well maintained. Collections fair. Prospects for splendid crop very bright at this time.

Vancouver: Wholesale: Fairly good conditions reported in the boot and shoe trade; also groceries. Hardware reported to be good and dry goods fair. Collections all lines fair. Retail trade fairly good with collections slow.

LONDON STOCKS WERE VARIABLE

English Rails Showed Tendency to Renew Strength in Week.

OTHERS DOWN.

LONDON, June 20 (Canadian Press Cable).—The most interesting feature about the stock markets this week has been the moderate but unmistakeable renewal of strength in all varieties of home rails. The revival is traceable to several causes.

Viscount Churchill, chairman of the Great Western Railway Company, while alluding frankly to the unsatisfactory conditions with regard to the coal traffic, makes decidedly more favorable comment on the chances of the passenger and general merchandise receipts making a better showing.

Again, remarks made by Charles Cramp, secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, have probably tended to reassure stockholders in railways. "You cannot force your shipping and general products on other countries by means merely of a strike," he says. "As a nation we live by our exports, and we are too prone as trades unionists to think business begins and ends between our employers and ourselves."

The Great Western Railway Company is offering its stockholders £6,000,000 five per cent. redeemable preference shares at 95, which makes a high yield nowadays for trustee security.

While home rails are stronger, gilt-edged stocks present a striking contrast, being weak under the influence of the talk of a new loan with the stringency of short term credit provoking fears of a rise in the bank rate. Many of the leading stocks have touched their lowest point of this year.

Three proposed loans for South Africa, West Africa and East Africa have been postponed indefinitely, doubtless on official prompting from London, for it is evident that a great proportion of the recent new commissions from overseas have still to find a permanent home.

Some new domestic issues of substantial character are expected immediately, notably over £3,000,000 six per cent. preference shares in the Union Cold Storage Company, and considerable amounts for sugar and cotton flotations.

In Melbourne this week, representatives of all the Australian States except New South Wales, which has just had a change of government following the general election, decided that for any new money required by the various state governments in the ensuing year, the Commonwealth government should act as sole borrower, and that during the period of the conversion of the war loan which falls due next December, no other public borrowing should be undertaken by Australia. In the meantime the loan requirements of the Australian States will be looked after temporarily by the Commonwealth.

TWO TO HANG FOR SLAYING

Murder Arose Out of Hijacking of Schooner Beryl G.

TWO KILLED.

VICTORIA, June 20. — Canadian Press. — One of the most sensational murder trials in the annals of the British Columbia courts, was concluded here yesterday when Mr. Justice Morrison sentenced Owen B. Baker and "Si" Sowash, alias Harry Frederick Myers, to be hanged on September 4th, following their conviction by the jury after slightly more than one hour's deliberation, on a charge of murdering Captain W. J. Gillis on the deck of his own boat, Beryl G., near Sydney Island, on September 15th last.

Gillis' son was also murdered.

Before sentence was passed Baker affirmed his innocence, and in response to the usual question: "Have you anything to say?" declared in even tones: "All I have to say, sir, is the evidence I have given in this court was the absolute truth."

Sowash had nothing to say.

The "hi-jacking" of the schooner Beryl G. and the murder of Gillis and his son was discovered when the Beryl G. was found adrift with the decks blood stained. All the men concerned were later arrested in the United States.

DEBONAIR YOUNG AMERICAN SELECTED WRONG DISTRICT; COMMITTED TO STAND TRIAL

Chief Brown Escorted Him to Cobourg Under Two Charges.

"DR. W. H. COUNTS."

The Principal Witness Was George Grills, of Seymour —Answered Ad.

(By a Staff Reporter)

COBOURG, June 20—"Dr." W. H. Counts, the debonair young American, made a poor choice of territory when he selected the Campbellford district as the field for his exploitations. The coils began to close around him soon after his arrival and before he had been in the vicinity three hours he was on his way to Cobourg Jail under the escort of Chief Constable Jno. Brown, and the resident of Seymour Township whom the "doctor," according to his own confession had marked as his victim, was left at home unruffled in feelings and with his bank account still intact. And now the "doctor" after lying for two weeks in jail, finds himself still in confinement after a hearing Friday before Police Magistrate Floyd, awaiting trial in a higher court on the dual charge of conspiracy and with attempting to obtain money on false pretenses. Lewis Gabel, a companion on his travels, and whose arrest followed closely on that of the "doctor" is also held for trial on similar charges. Andrew Klein, of New York, who it appeared by the evidence had done nothing more serious than drive the others around in a sedan car bearing an American license number, was discharged and lost no time after his release in starting for his home in New York.

The defendants were well represented at the hearing, Col. F. D. Boggs, K.C., representing Klein and Gabel and A. R. Willmott appearing on behalf of "Dr." Counts

Seymour Man Was Marked

The main witness against Counts was George Grills, a well known farmer of Seymour who answered an advertisement in a newspaper inserted by Counts who invited applications for the position of manager of a chain store which he alleged he proposed to establish in Campbellford. In reply to his application Mr. Grills, who is a personable and prosperous appearing farmer, who would by no means look out of place in a business situation received a personal visit from the "doctor" who explained his proposition in detail.

The "doctor" said he represented the Chain Stores Company of British Columbia and that there were already 320 branches in existence. Others were to be established in every town in Ontario including Campbellford and Mr. Grills was offered a salary of $35.00 a week with a commission of 15 per cent on the net profits. As security, and to obviate the necessity of giving bonds, Grills was to make a deposit of $500 cash with Counts, this to be returned to him if he ever left the employ of the company. A contract containing these conditions was signed in duplicate by both parties.

Payment Held Up

Counts, it seems was courtesy itself and there was no undignified haste in his negotiations. When the matter of putting up the money was broached Grills said he would have to go to the bank to get it and the "doctor" told him not to hurry but to meet him at his hotel in Campbellford in the afternoon. This was on June 2nd.

Posted By Banker.

When Grills went to his bank—the Standard— in Campbellford, he applied for information, as his suspicions had been aroused by the oily tongued stranger, to Manager J. A. Stewart, asking that official to search the records to see whether such a company as the British Columbia Chain Groceries really existed. Mr. Stewart could find no mention of such a concern in the commercial agencies, and with his suspicions thus confirmed, Mr. Grills decided to drop the matter.

Chief Takes a Hand.

Chief Brown then stepped in to make an official investigation. In his evidence in the police court yesterday, the Chief repeated his story of the arrest of "Counts" after he had invited him to his office and questioned him closely, the story which was given in The Examiner at the time. Counts finally admitted that he was engaged in a false scheme. This was after the Chief had sent a telegram of inquiry to the Chief of Police at Vancouver, who replied that neither Counts or his company were known there. A warrant was then issued for Counts and he was taken to Cobourg.

Where Gobel Comes in.

Klein and Gobel were arrested the next day by Provincial Constable Cousans on the highway between Cobourg and Port Hope, as they were travelling in Klein's car. Both were in jail here ever since until yesterday when Klein was discharged.

In his evidence yesterday Mr. Grills said Gobel came to his home with "Counts" who interviewed him as "Mr. White, manager of one of his stores in British Columbia, but whose health had failed, and who was now travelling with Counts in an effort to regain his former vigor. Grills swore that when he questioned "White" on this point the latter confirmed Counts' statement, and added that the business was prosperous.

This was the only link in the chain of evidence to connect Gobel with the affair.

"Counts" however, took the stand and gave both his comrades a clean bill. Klein was his chauffeur, hired in New York to drive him to Montreal and through Canada and knew nothing of the business in which his employer was engaged. Gobel, he swore, had gone with him to Grills' house merely for company, and was not aware of the nature of his errand.

A Peterboro Witness.

Chris. Graham of the Empress Hotel was brought from Peterboro to identify the three men as guests who spent several days in the hotel. They were known in that city by the names which they gave to the police when arrested. Other witnesses were newspaper publishers in this district who had inserted advertiements for Counts calling for applications as managers of his mightiest chain stores.

A Port Hope Case.

Mrs. Louisa Ough of Port Hope had answered Counts' advertisement and with her he had made slightly better terms than he had with Grill, as by his bargain he was due to receive a security deposit of $600. Mrs. Ough, however, was promised a salary of $50 a week, and five per cent. on the profits.

This case was heard yesterday after the Grill's matter had been disposed of, and again Counts was held for trial. There was, however, no evidence to convict Gobel with this deal, and he was discharged so far as the Ough case was concerned.

Horses, Gambling and Liquor.

"Counts," who refuses to give his real name or the location of his home in the United States for the sake of his family, is evidently a young man, who so far in life has escaped manual trial. He is a young fellow of good appearance and address, arrayed in fashionable summer attire. His evidence was straightforward, and not once did he attempt to parry a question or to equivocate. He seemed indifferent as to what happened to himself so long as his companions were allowed to go free.

"Klein and Gabel," said Counts, "were the victims of circumstances. It was their misfortune that they happened to be travelling in my company.

Gabel is an auto mechanic, an American by birth, but for the past 12 years has been living in Montreal. He went overseas with the first Canadian contingent, and served until the spring of 1919, save for a brief interval when he was discharged and sent back to Canada in 1916. As soon as he recovered his health he re-enlisted and returned to the front. During his service he won the Mons star and other decorations which were exhibited in court yesterday, as well as a letter of commendation from G. H. Ferguson, chief traffic officer of the C.P.R. at Montreal.

Both Klein and Gabel look like intelligent and respetcable mechanics.

AND NOBODY WAS HURT.

Leon Duray, auto race driver, was the principal in a freak accident at the Altoona (Pa) races. The rear axle of his speeding machine broke, parting the differential and letting the rear end of the car drag along the track. By a lucky chance, he was uninjured.

BELLS UNNEEDED.

Discussion of Improvements To Be Made in Parliament Buildings.

OTTAWA, June 20. (Canadian Press).—When estimates for expenditure on public buildings in Ottawa were being considered by the House of Commons yesterday afternoon, Sir Henry Drayton (Conservative, East York) criticized the expenditure this year of $63,330 on a carillon of bells for the tower of the Parliament Buildings. He thought there was no immediate need for the expenditure and that it could be postponed.

Hon. Dr. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works, explained that the bells could be installed now, while the tower is in course of construction, more cheaply than later on. The cost of putting in the chimes would be much higher if installation was put off until some future date.

Dr. King explained that the sum of $338,000 had been spent on the buildings last year.

"How many bells will be installed?" asked C. G. Coote (Progressive, MacLeod).

Dr. King replied that there were 53.

"Who is going to ring them?"

The Minister said that no one had been engaged yet.

Sir Henry Drayton declared that this country could not afford to spend money for "pure luxuries." A part of the vote was for lighting, the expenditure being $30,000. The lighting in this building was better than most of the ratepayers of Canada had in their houses, he declared.

Mr. Coote thought too much money was being spent for cutting stone.

No Light In Senate.

Dr. King explained that there were no electric light fixtures in the Senate at all. As far as their cut stone work went, there was a great deal yet to be done around the building which would not even be touched this year.

D. M. Kennedy (Progressive, West Edmonton) protested against the temperature in the Commons chamber. The sum of $12,000,000 had been spent on the building, and now the chamber was so hot in warm weather that members could hardly remain in it.

Mr. Coote suggested spending a little less on ornamental lighting and a little more on improving the acoustics and the temperature.

Not Much Comfort.

Donald Sutherland (Conservative, South Oxford) said it wasn't much comfort to the people of Canada to have a beautiful building at Ottawa, if they couldn't afford to live, in Canada.

W. A. Boys (Conservative, Simcoe seats in the Commons chamber, possibly in a semi-circular way, so as to improve the acoustics. He did not think there was much chance of hearing well in as large a chamber when the Speaker was at one end, and members away off at the other.

"That has been considered," said Dr. King. "The estimated cost of the change is $50,000. I thought we should back away from it."

DOCTORS ARE TO MEET IN REGINA ALL NEXT WEEK

Canadian Medical Association and Kindred Bodies Hold Annual Meetings.

NOTED SPEAKERS

Medical Leaders Will Deliver Addresses on Important Points.

REGINA, Sask., June 20. (Canadian Press).—Medical men from all parts of the Dominion are gathering here for the annual convention of the Canadian Medical Association, to be held next week, from June 22 to 26. At the same time will be held the annual meetings of the Saskatchewan Medical Association, the Western Branch of the British Medical Association, the Canadian Protective Association and the Canadian Radiological Association.

What are expected to be the features of the convention are the addresses by H. W. Carson of London, England, Dr. ohon Amyot, of Ottawa, Ont., and Dr. Helen MacMurchy, also of Ottawa. Mr. Carson speaks on the surgical treatment of gastric and duodenal ulcer, a development that has been provocative of much discussion and argument. Dr. Aymot's subject is the relation of the profession to the public and Dr. McMurchy speaks on Maternal Mortality.

Monday and Tuesday the council of the association meets, and the Saskatchewan association also holds its meeting. The real programme of addresses by doctors noted in their respective specialties commences Wednesday.

The address of the retiring president, Dr. J. F. Kidd, of Ottawa, will officially open the convention Wednesday morning. The first procedure will be the installation of Dr. David Low, of Regina, as the ATTACKED BEFORE.

Members Said Items Were Election Pledges in Northumberland.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 20.—(Canadian Press.)—Expenditure of $50,000 on Harbor improvements in Escuminac, N.B., was voted by the House of Commons yesterday. The item was debated some time ago, and was stood over. Opposition developed from some of the Progressive members and from the leader of the Conservative Opposition. Right Hon. Arthur Meighen said that the expenditure was not justified and that eventually the government would have to spend a very large sum to carry out the implied programme at this small harbor.

There was considerable debate before the item came to a vote. U. G. Snowball, Liberal, Northumberland, defended the vote and gave the House a review of the work being done there. The item eventually carried an amendment by D. F. Kellner, Progressive member for Edmonton East, that the item be reduced by 49,000, being defeated, 77 to 32. Robert Forke, Progressive leader, and about a dozen Progressive members, voted with the government. All the Conservatives voted against the government. An item of $25,000 for a wharf at Mill's Point, N.B., then carried "on division," no division actually taking place. Both these items were stood over when an attack was made in a previous committee on the ground that they were to be spent in fulfillment of election pledges. When both votes had been declared carried, Hon. H. H. Stevens, Conservative, Centre Vancouver, remarked "that pays for that by-election," referring to the Northumberland by-election of last year.

MURDOCK SEES STRIKE ENDED IN TEN DAYS

British Empire Steel Corporation's Proposition Forwarded to Union Locals.

SOME DOUBT.

Miners' Representatives Find One or Two Points Impossible to Ratify.

SYDNEY, N.S., June 20 (Canadian Press). — The British Empire Steel Corporation's proposition for a settlement of the present tie-up in the Nova Scotia fields has been forwarded to International President John L. Lewis at Indianapolis by the District 26 Executive of the United Mine Workers, and went last night to the various local unions of the province.

The Corporation's proposals were given to Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, by Vice-President J. E. McLurg on Wednesday and handed on by the Minister to the miners. The Minister then left for Ottawa yesterday, leaving behind him the opinion that the strike "can and should be settled within ten days."

The only official comment on the Corporation's proposals so far made was contained in Mr. Murdock's statement in which he quoted the miners' representatives as finding therein "two or three proposals which appear almost, if not entirely, impossible of acceptance."

Mr. Murdock offered that he or E. McG. Quirk of the Labor Department would come to Cape Breton whenever their services might be required. The opinion was expressed here in responsible quarters that Mr. Murdock or Mr. Quirk would come here prior to an actual settlement.

A Referendum.

Mr. McLeod, district president, U.M.W., was silent on the subject of a referendum which Mr. Murdock indicated the miners would hold on the Corporation's proposals. For the present the only step taken to learn general opinion is the forwarding of the proposals to the heads of the local unions. It is understood that President Lewis' opinion as to the constitutional correctness of the proposals would be desired before any vote would be held except for any which the local unions might take in meeting.

There are various speculations here as to what the Corporation offers. These concern possible abolition of the check-off by which the company collects union dues, abolition of company stores, some decrease of wages and blacklists. However, there is no official announcement and there appears to be a desire to leave the situation unprejudiced by forecasts which might distort facts.

Ontario is calling you

Good Fellowship and Good Roads await you at every turn

Thousand Islands—looking across the St. Lawrence, from Gananoque. One of the beauty spots of Ontario as sketched by the well-known Canadian artist, C. W. Jefferys, O.S.A., A.R.C.A.

Do you long for the open country—the rolling farm lands—the lakes and streams—the unspoiled woods? You will find them all in your own Province—and all within easy motoring distance from almost every point.

The highways are calling you. If you live in town or city, you will be surprised at the extent of the good country roads and the fine condition in which they are kept.

It is not necessary to stick to the provincial highways. The county roads in most parts of the Province are maintained in excellent condition, and lead to spots none the less beautiful though not so well known.

See Ontario this summer. Get acquainted with the people and the beauties of your own Province, both in town and country. You will find good roads and good fellowship everywhere in Ontario.

These roads were built with your money and that of the other people of Ontario. Take a pride in them. Do not needlessly destroy them by reckless driving. Remember they are yours to use, not to abuse; yours to enjoy not to destroy.

To protect them from needless wear and tear, the law provides a speed limit of 25 miles an hour. This speed limit also protects you and other motorists from accident on the highways.

Your co-operation in obeying the law is confidently looked for by the Government. This co-operation is in your own interest, because the damage which is done by excessive speed must be paid for by you and other users of the roads.

An advertisement issued by the Ontario Department of Highways to secure the co-operation of motorists and truck drivers, Automobile Clubs, Good Roads Associations and all other public spirited bodies, in abating the abuse of the roads of the Province.

COUNTY COUNCIL WON'T CARE FOR BOUNDARY ROAD

Map Submitted By Department Shows Lansdowne Street in Red.

IS CITY STREET.

Report of Roads Committee Occupied Council Friday Morning.

At the resumption of County Council busin ss yesterday morning it was announced that the Finance Committee had decided to repeat last year's grant of $100 to the Blind Institute.

The Council then went into Committee on County Roads, Mr. Coughlin, chairman of the Committee, read the following report:

Gentlemen:

I had not intended making a report at this, the June session, had it not been for the change in affairs. The change I refer to is this:

The Highway Dept. requested the attendance of your Warden, chairman and supt., May 29th last at the Department.

At such meeting a map was produced indicating the roads that the department desired retained in the system, the balance to revert to the townships.

We succeeded in having the following roads reinstated, the same being among those deleted:

The road leading from the Hastings road through Asphodel and Otonabee to the Norwood road.

The road leading from Lakefield, through Douro and Dummer to the McCracken's Landing road.

You will also notice at the instance of your representatives the department has straightened the road from Warsaw to McCracken's Landing road, thereby evading a jog that did not apepar to accomplish anything.

Roads Added.

You will also notice an addition from the Bensfort bridge in Otonabee to the road leading to Keene, which is to be in lieu of the abandonment of the Wallace Point Road, and also that the road connects with the county road in the other county I think it is now possible to get Bensfort bridge jointly a county road.

You will also notice that the 4th line running west from Chemong Road to Fowler's Corners (Smith) has not been marked with the red line, but I presume it is the intention of the department to make the road a Provincial Highway judging by the dotted line on the map.

You will also notice another short addition from the boundary between Dummer and Asphodel south to the Norwood road.

The roads that the department desire retained are marked red.

Lansdowne Street.

But the road from the Locks Bridge west to Park street on the south boundary showing red does not appear dotted as other new additions, consequently I do not think the department intended such addition.

However lest such should be the case I would respectfully point out that the road from the east through Otonabee reaches the city at Lansdowne street (east end) and the road from the west and south through Monaghan reaches the city at Lansdowne street (west end), then why assume a road practically across the southern boundary of the city?

As stated a road must first be assumed by the County Council as a County Road before the same can be assumed by the Sub-Area Commission as a Sub-Area Road. And if the by-law be passed as it is, then this piece of road or city boundary will be assumed by the County, but it is your duty to instruct the Warden and Clerk to interwrite the desired omission. The by-law states, "those roads marked red" although as stated I do not think nor can I imagine the Department meant such to be assumed by you. This Council or Warden up to the present has not attempted to dictate to the Sub-Area Commission what roads to assume or how to conduct the work having too much respect for the dignity of the Commission from an individual standpoint as well as the powers vested in such body corporate. But it is the duty of this Council to oppose any addition that such Council may deem an infliction on the County at large, that is County roads. It may be advisable to agree to certain eliminations from the now existing system which is altogether a different thing.

City's Request.

Do not forget the deputation from the city who waited on the Department last winter, with a view to have all the work stopped on Sub-Area roads for five years, nor will you forget the resolution that followed in the City Council the appointment of the city member on such Commision, namely: "That he be requested to appoint a third man also from the city." Now such third appointment being a resident of the city you may naturally wager that where two are a majority this practically city street would be adopted by the Commission.

I wish it clearly understood that I cast no reflection on the present Sub-Area Commision but rather commend their operations in carrying on work as did their predecessors, the same having the distinct approval of the Department and of those who travel said roads.

We believe that the Department is endeavoring to bring about that, that is in the best interest of the county and I sincerely trust that a satisfactory solution will be accomplished.

Before the adjournment for lunch Mr. Middleton, on behalf of the U.F.O., extended an invitation to the Council to attend the U.F.O. picnic held in Jackson Park last evening.

PETERBOROUGH COUNTY COUNCIL

The County Council on rusuming their labors after lunch yesterday went into committee on the House of Refuge. Mr. J. F. Breckenridge, the chairman of the committee, presented his report as follows:

It is not customary to make a report to Council at this, the June session. Conditions not being the same as usual and certain restrictions having been placed upon the board at the January session last, I am convinced that in due courtesy to the Council a special reference should be made with regard to what has transpired since such January session.

As you will remember, the board was authorized to dispose of all stock and if possible rent the land, retaining sufficient for garden and field vegetables.

In conducting such sale of stock we decided that the place could not get along smoothly without at least one horse, consequently we retained the one most suitable for single work.

In our attempt to rent the land referred to, we were unable to get an offer that would look like business when we considered that produce must be drawn off the premises, leaving the same bare from a standpoint of fertility for subsequent years.

The minute of a meeting is at your disposal deciding to again come to the Council with regard to the matter.

I observed in the newspaper a report of the grand jury re House of Refuge signed by the foreman. The same is appreciated, especially from the fact that there are no funds assisting the maintenance of the institution save county rates paid by county ratepayers, and the foreman. Being an alderman of the city, will ever have the gratitude of the county council for the unsolicited advice given.

All matters pertaining to the Refuge matters will be, I trust, thoroughly discussed and dealt with in an intelligent manner by the Council.

Buy a Cow

Some discussion followed as to ways and means of reducing the working costs of the institution. Mr. H. B. Rye suggested the purchase of a cow to relieve the House of Refuge of the necessity of buying milk. Mr. Smithson, while believing it to be impossible to work profitably with hired labor the land attached to the House of Refuge, advocated the building of a barn. This, he thought, would enable the board of management to rent the land. Mr. Breckenridge stated that the highest offer of rental hitherto received by the board was $250, which was refused as being insufficient. For this sum it was stated the proposed tenant wished to have the use of the machinery belonging to the institution.

Mr. Coughlin move and Mr. Scott seconded, that consideration of the question of building a barn be deferred until the November session of the Council. A motion, proposed by Mr. Lillico and seconded by Mr. Strickland, that the board of management be authorized to build a root house for storage of potatoes and vegetables, was carried unanimously.

A letter was received from the superintendent of the House of Refuge intimating his resignation and asking to be relieved of his responsibilities as early as possible. This was accepted and the board of management were authorized to appoint a temporary successor pending the appointment of a permanent superintendent.

Assessment Report.

On the motion of Mr. Coughlin, seconded by Mr. Smithson, the report and recommendations of the standing committee on equalization of assessments was read by Mr. Scott, chairman of the committee, as follows:

Report of the standing committee on equalization and assessment, June, 1925. Your committee beg leave to report as follows:

1.—That all the municipalities comprising the County of Peterborough be assessed for the purpose of county rates at the value set forth in the schedule hereto annexed, and that such shall be the equalized assessment for the year, 1926.

2.—That this council is willing to the final equalization of the assessment, in case of an appeal made by the county judge.

Mr. Coughlin moved and Mr. Smithson seconded the adoption of the report. This was carried.

Roads and Bridges.

Mr. Middleton then read the following recommendations on roads and bridges;

That the rebuilding of South Squaw River bridge be left in the hands of Messrs. Warden, Chairman and Mr. Parker.

That the rebuilding of Newell's Bridge be left in the hands of Messrs. Warden, Chairman and Mr. J. Scott.

That the rebuilding of Depot Bridge be left in the hands of Messrs. Warden, Chairman and Lean and R. Scott.

That the rebuilding of Douglas' Bridge be left in the hands of Messrs. Warden, Chairman and Hawthorne.

That the matter re Cunningham's Bridge be left in the hands of Messrs. Warden, Chairman and Lillico.

That the sum of $50 be granted to Galway to repair Sheehan's Bridge.

That Devell's Bridge (Otonabee) be assumed by the county.

That the Reeves of Otonabee have Armstrong's Bridge repaired.

That Pollock's Bridge (Belmont) be assumed by the county.

That the Engineer report as to conditions re Brown's Bridge (Belmont).

That the matter of grant to Chandos be referred to the Finance Committee.

These recommendations were agreed to by a unanimous vote.

Finance Committee.

Mr. Curtis chairman of the finance committee brought in the following report.

That Lakefield High School be granted $800 special grant.

That the sum of $100 be granted the Institute for the Blind.

That the following grants be made to the various Agricultural Societies, the same to cover all such grants for the current year, viz., Peterboro West $600, Peterboro East $250, Lakefield 150, Galway $150, Otonabee $150.

That a grant of $100 be made to the city towards the upkeep of Victoria Park.

That the Children's Aid Society be paid the sum of $800.

That the G.W.V.A., Peterboro, be paid the sum of $150.

That the G.W.V.A., Lakefield, be paid the sum of $100.

That Burleigh and Chandos Townships be paid the sum of $100 each, to be expended on their boundary road.

That a ten-dollar gold piece be donated to the gentleman having the largest family attending the Old Girls' and Boys' Reunion at Douro on the second day of such gathering.

Mr. Curtis appealed for a grant of $600 to the Public School at Havelock, which he stated was the largest and best attended public school in the county. This was held over.

To Rescind Grant?

Mr. Anderson moved and Mr. Middleton seconded, that the grant of $600 to Lakefield High School be rescinded and that the Council avail themselves of the latest amendment to the Education Act, which enacted that the county bear 50 per cent. of the high school cost of each pupil, the local municipality bearing the other 50 per cent. Mr. Strickland, Reeve of Lakefield, in opposing the resolution, explained that Lakefield had lately been compelled to spend over $6,000 in additional fixtures and conveniences to the school. So far as he knew, Lakefield had never before asked for a special grant and were not likely to do so again, but he asked the Council to maintain the grant allotted in the report to enable Lakefield to get out of their difficulties.

Mr. Curtis thought that if the amendment to the new Act was adopted Lakefield would benefit to the extent of between $800 and $1,200.

Mr. E. A. Peck, County Solicitor, gave a brief resume of the latest amendment to the Education Act. He stated that the idea underlying the amendment was to ensure the village ratepayer getting his children educated as cheaply as does the town dweller.

A motion sponsored by Messrs. Smithson and Middleton, that grants be distributed giving Lakefield $600, Havelock $500, Norwood $400, and Ennismore was lost on a vote.

The following committee was appointed to work with Mr. Peck drafting a new by-law dealing with the High School under the amendment. The chairman of the committee, the Warden, the Reeves of Lakefield, Norwood, Havelock and Ennismore.

A proposal to make a grant of $25 to the Poultry Association was defeated.

FREEDOM TO 700 BIRDS

LONDON, June 20—The foremost champion in England of freeing animals and birds from captivity is the Duchess of Portland.

Recently she and her husband visited a market where birds were for sale. The duchess induced her husband to buy 700 of them. She took them home and then released them from their cages.

Often when she sees a man abusing a horse, she stops and gives him a lecture against cruelty to animals.

RIKSHAS PROTEST BUS

NO PAVING FOR HASTINGS NOW

Villagers Asked Too Late for Grant From County Council.

PAVE NEXT YEAR

HASTINGS, June 20.—The proposed paving of the streets of Hastings has been laid over for another year. The deputation sent by the Council to the United County Council at Cobourg presented to the above what Hastings was proposing to do. Owing to the Council having distributed all the levies for this year it was not possible for them to get the grants.

The Council has decided to repair the streets here and have had the streets graded. All the refuse has been taken away from the main streets and the holes have been filled with gravel. In place of the usual oil which has yearly been put on the streets, this year they will be treated with a preparation of Calcum Chloride and ten tons of Dowflake has been ordered for immediate shipment. The preparation is said to have the appearance of sugar. It is claimed that it will keep down the dust, preserve and make good roads.

AGED MEMBER JOINS UNION

James Stevenson of Hastings Will be 92 in November.

SAW THREE UNIONS

HASTINGS, June 20.— James Steevnson, Sr., is the oldest member of the Methodist Church, Hastings, which entered the United Church of Canada on June 10. Mr. Stevenson will reach his ninety second birthday on November 11 and is characterized by his forward and out ward look on life and the future of the church, having taken part in the three Unions, those of 1874 and of 1883 of the Methodist bodies and in the greatest of all Unions in the history of the Christian Church when the Presbyterian, Congregational and Methodist Church became the United Church of Canada.

Mr. Stevenson is still hale and hearty and of keen intellect, attending the morning and evening services at his own church, Hastings, at the inaugural services when Rev. Soolmon Cleaver, M.A., D.D., was the speaker of the day.

The pastor and congregation extend congratulations to Mr. Stevenson, hoping that he might be spared for many years with his optimistic views and joyous outlook of the future of the Church.

THANKFUL MOTHERS.

Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets for her little one she would use nothing else. The Tablets give such results that the mother has nothing but words of praise and thankfulness for them. Among the thousands of mothers throughout Canada who praise the Tablets is Mrs. David A. Anderson, New Glasgow, N.S., who writes:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets for my children and from my experience I would not be without them. I would urge every other mother to keep a box of the Tablets in the house. "The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach; drive out constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers and make teething easy. They are sold by medicine dealers, or by mail at 25c box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Don't Buy Coal!

See Fess--Holden Morgan Automatic Oil Burners

NOW is the time to come to a decision on the oil burning question. Don't buy coal and tie yourself up to another winter of old-fashioned heating with its endless troubles and discomforts. A little consideration of the possibilities of oil heating will prove highly interesting.

Fess Oil Burners of Canada and Holden Morgan Limited (Oil Burner Division), Canada's two outstanding oil burner manufacturers, have amalgamated their manufacturing and selling departments. This means that the public can now choose from the widest and finest selection of oil burning equipment made, installations having every known safety device. We have been appointed to their exclusive agency here.

The Beauty of a Uniformly Heated Home

One of the greatest joys of Fess Oil Burning equipment is their "controlability". With one of these burners in your cellar you can keep your home at the exact degree of heat you want! If you want more heat, you simply set the thermostat (heat regulating thermometer), which is located in the living room or hallway, at the temperature you want, and in a very short time your house is at the desired heat. This temperature is maintained until you again adjust the thermostat.

No trotting up and down cellar stairs. No shovelling, no shaking, neither is there dust, dirt, grime and soot. On top of all this, in large homes it is not necessary to employ a furnace man.

Superior to Coal in Every Season

Particularly in Spring and Fall and in the mild spells of Winter would you appreciate a Fess equipment. It is so easily controlled, effects the heat change speedily and with no discomfort. And on bitter winter days a Fess Heated home can enjoy Florida warmth, while coal heated homes are often barely comfortable.

Safety:

All Fess equipments have been approved by the Hydro Electric Commission and accepted by the Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association. The entire line of Fess equipment, which is the largest and most complete manufactured, has been tried out under severest conditions and has proved its worth for all cases, both in homes and commercial institutions.

Fess Automatic Burners are inside installations, very neat, clean and quiet. Fess Holden Morgan Automatic Burners are outside installations and have a clean record of perfect performance.

The first household oil burning equipment in North America was installed by the Fess Company in Toronto in 1916. This lead is being maintained today.

Made in Canada

These equipments are simpler in design, more dependable in action, have every protective device, are triple guaranteed and yet cost no more than foreign-made burners. There are distinct advantages in dealing with the powerful Canadian concern behind this product.

Made in Canada! No duty! Full value for your dollar. Convenient terms if you desire them. Come in for a demonstration.

Walter P. Chrysler

Master Car Builder Perfects Four-Cylinder Results

The contributions Walter P. Chrysler has made to the higher development of the four-cylinder automobile can be justly compared to the revolutionary advances he made with the Chrysler Six.

This master car builder had the vision of a finer four than the industry had yet known, finer in performance and finer in riding qualities.

He had the vision of a four that would offer the motorist these new and better results at a cost for operation and maintenance below anything yet attained.

Back of Walter P. Chrysler's vision were achievements that had already made him the foremost figure in the industry. Back of vision also were resources, experience and skill second to none. Under his inspiring direction they were applied to the development of the new good Maxwell, just as they had been applied to the creation of the Chrysler Six.

Mr. Chrysler's whole-hearted devotion has gone into the continued perfection of four-cylinder results, his genius is applied enthusiastically to the task.

Consequently the four has always developed side-by-side with the Chrysler Six.

Motor car buyers can always be sure of this: Whatever cars Walter P. Chrysler identifies himself with, whether fours or sixes, they offer advantages in engineering, performance, riding qualities and values to be found nowhere else.

Mr. Chrysler will make an important announcement next week. Watch for it.

We are pleased to extend the convenience of time-payments. Ask about Maxwell's attractive plan. Maxwell dealers and superior Maxwell service everywhere.

LET US SUPPLY YOUR VACATION NEEDS

The FLAPPER WIFE

by Beatrice Burto

THE STORY SO FAR:

GLORIA GORDON, beautiful Flapper marries DICK GREGORY, a struggling lawyer. Her idea of marriage is fun and fine clothes . . . . but no work or children.

She refuses pointblank to do her own housework, and hires a maid. But Dick has to let the maid go, because he can't afford to pay her wages. Gloria has swamped him with debts for her clothes and a new automobile.

She becomes infatuated with STANLEY WAYBURN, an actor. She lends him money, and finally, when he leaves town to go to New York, Gloria follows him. He spurns her, telling her he has just married a Russian actress. Then Gloria tries to land a job as a chorus girl and fails. Discouraged, she comes home to Dick.

He takes her back, but not as his wife. One night Gloria leaves him to work late at the office with SUSAN BRIGGS, his secretary. While Gloria is at home alone, the house is robbed. Dick doesn't get home until almost morning. Gloria wonders if he was with Miss Briggs all that time. But next morning she learns that he was at the house of DR. JOHN SEYMOUR, who had killed himself because of the love affair that existed between his wife MAY and JIM CARWE.

Gloria goes to Dick's office to tell him about the robbery, and to make one last attempt to win him again.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

The doorbell rang loudly through the little house.

"That must be your Aunt Dorcas," said Mrs. Gordon. "She said she'd stop in for me on her way to the hospital to see Lulu's baby . . ."

Gloria groaned.

Aunt Dorcas was a born gossip. She told everything she knew for the pure joy of seeing the look of surprise and interest dawn in her listeners' eyes.

"Now, Mother, please don't tell her anything about this trouble between Dick and me," Gloria begged. "If you do, it'll be all over town by dark!"

But she knew it was useless to ask her mother not to tell Aunt Dorcas anything. She was wax in the hand of Lulu' mother.

Aunt Dorcas was a large blonnde. She had the nose of a Roman senator and the blue, inquiring eyes of a child. She turned one of her cheeks to Gloria to be kissed.

"Well, my dear!" she said briskly, "Lulu beat you to it, having a baby! And she's a year younger than you are, at that!"

Gloria laughed. "She's been married for two years, though," she said, "And I haven't been . . . And anyway I should think you'd be furious with her for making you a grandmother at your age . . . only forty-four! And you don't look a minute over thirty-five, does she, Mother?"

Aunt Dorcas beamed.

"Wouldn't you like to come along with us to see the new baby, my dear?" she asked, flattered.

"I would. . . . I'd love to," fibbed Gloria, "but I've got to go home."

She ran upstairs to get her hat and over-night bag.

"Been here all night?" Aunt Dorcas asked sharply. Her eyes were fixed on the little bag.

"No," Gloria answered reluctantly. She shot a warning look at her mother

"Gloria and Dick had a little quarrel," Mrs. Gordon said blandly. "And I've been talking her into going home. 'Bear and forbear' I say. That's the only way to get along with a man, isn't it?"

Aunt Dorcas shook her head. "Well, I don't know whether it is or not," she replied. "I never did think much of this young Gregory. I may as well tell you I alaays thought he was something of a snob . . . and if I were Gloria I wouldn't take any back-chat from him! She's just as good as he is any day in the week!"

"I haven't taken any back-chat from him," said Gloria. "The whole thing's been my own fault. . . . And it isn't anything that matters, anyhow. A tempest in a teapot!"

Her aunt snorted. "No, I guess nothing's the matter when you pack up and come home!" she exclaimed. "I should say that something was very much the matter! . . . Well, are we ever going to start for the hospital, Libby?"

Mrs. Gordon hurried upstairs. "There's a pie I baked, all wrapped up for you on the pantry shelf, Glory," she called downstairs. "Tell Dick I sent it to him."

Gloria tucked the pie carefully into one side of her bag. "I'd love to stay here and visit with you, Aunt," she said, "but I've just got to go home . . . ."

"I think you're very foolish to go home. If you've quarreled with your husband make him come here after you!" Aunt Dorcas spoke her mind. "You take my advice . . . . I'll bet your mother's been telling you to knuckle down and go home. That's the way she's been all her life . . . afraid to say 'Boo' to a goose! But what's it ever got her, eh? Nothing, so far as I can see!"

She tapped her foot angrily on the floor.

"She thinks she has a great deal," Gloria said softly, "And she and Dad really are happy in their way . . . ."

She kissed her aunt on her florid cheek where a tiny network of veins was beginning to show. She drew a sigh of relief when she escaped, at last, from the house and from Aunt Dorcas.

* * *

On her way home Gloria stopped in at a store on George Street, and bought herself a house-dress. It was a soft, pretty thing with frills around the neck and sleeves.

She had a sudden vision of herself in it when Dick should come home that night . . . and there she would be, with dinner ready, the table set, the house clean! Wouldn't he get the surprise of his life, though!

Unless he had a heart of granite, that certainly ought to melt him . . .

And let's see, what would she have for dinner? Dick liked lamb chops and fresh peas. She'd have them. She guessed. . . . No, even Mother Gregory had said that it was quite a job to shell peas.

Gloria bought canned ones and a can of beets. And she saw some potato salad in a delicatessen she passed. So she bought that, too. It would save her going to the bother of cooking potatoes. . . .

Then there was the pie her mother had given her. Why, she wouldn't have anything to cook but the meat! Anybody could warm up canned vegetables.

"How long do you fry lamb chops?" Gloria asked the butcher as he wrapped them up for her.

"'Bout fifteen minutes, lady," he said. "Depends on how you like 'em, rare or well done."

How did Dick like his meat cooked? . . . . Gloria didn't know. Well, she guessed she'd take a chance and fry them slowly for twenty minutes.

At six o'clock that night she put them on the stove. The peas and beets were in their kettles. The potato salad was heaped high in a bowl on the dining-room table.

Gloria's heart swelled with honest pride as she looked around the house. It was in what she called perfect order. There was a roll of dust, like a gray mouse, here and there in a shadowy corner . . . but no one would notice that, she was sure.

She went upstairs to her room to put a little powder on her nose. She decided that she needed some more rouge on her cheeks . . . and more gloss on her fingernails.

* * *

Suddenly Gloria sniffed the air. . . . What was that queer smell? . . . The meat! The chops were burning!

She flew down to the kitchen. It was filled with smoke. The sputtering fat in the pan had caught on fire. It was blazing.

'Here's where the house goes up in smoke!" Gloria thought with terror. She lifted the red-hot pan from the stove in her bare hands.

Then she ran out doors with it, and threw it down on the grass. It hissed fiercely as she turned a spray of water from the garden hose on it.

Gloria was so excited that she did not hear Dick drive into the yard. It was only when she turned to go back to the house that she saw him watching her from the driveway.

"What have you been doing, having a bonfire?" he asked.

Gloria burst into tears. She ran over to the car to show Dick how she had burned her hands.

"No," she sobbed. "I just burned up all the chops . . . and I'm all blistered, too! . . . Oh—ooh, I meant to have such a good dinner, too . . . ."

"I didn't expect to find you here at all," Dick said calmly. "You said you were going to leave me, last night, you know."

Gloria hung her head. "I know I did, "she said in a tone so low that Dick divined rather than heard her words, "but I changed my mind."

Dick studied her for a moment with half-lowered lids. Gloria thought she even detected a gleam of amusement in his eyes.

"Well, never mind about that," he said. Run upstairs and get your hat, and I'll ake you downtown for dinner. I'll wait here for you. Hurry."

Gloria put the fire out under the vegetables on the stove, and took the potato salad away.

She made a paste of baking soda and water to smear on her burns.

In the old days Dick wouldhave done it for her, without doubt. He would have been filled with distress and pity . . . and he would probably have kissed the blistered hands.

Now he didn't seem to care. He was utterly indifferent to her. And the thought was all the harder to bear because Gloria knew that she had brought all this on herself . . . Dick's indifference and aloofness.

She had helped to build the wall that rose between them, mountain high . . .

* * *

She put on a sage green sports hat and went out to the automobile.

"Darn shame about your hands," Dick muttered as she got in beside him. Gloria said nothing.

"Where do you want to go to eat?" he asked.

Some demon in Gloria's brain prompted her answer. "Let's go to the restaurant where you and Miss Briggs eat," she said wickedly. "By the way, how is Miss Briggs behaving herself these days?"

"As usual . . . perfectly," Dick said. "Hasn't she told you she loves you yet?" Gloria raised her eyebrows in feigned surprise. "I thought that would be the first thing she'd do!"

Dick didn't answer. But he drove the car down Charlotte street to the little restaurant.

It was a silent meal that they ate at the little corner table where the two of them and Susan Briggs had dined only a few days before.

The waiter had set their coffee down before them before either spoke.

"What's become of your rings?" Dick broke the silence that had hung, like a smoke-screen between them. "Your wedding ring and your diamond?"

Gloria felt herself redden. "I—sold them when I was in New York," she faltered. "I had to have the money."

Dick looked down at her hands, curiously, but said nothing.

"I hated to do it," Gloria went on, feeling that she ought to say something. "But I didn't have a dollar to pay my hotel bill. I don't suppose I'll ever have another diamond like the one in my engagement ring will I"?

"Not from me," Dick answered shortly

Gloria leaned across the table toward him. Her eyes were soft and bright with unshed tears. And her voice trembled when she spoke.

"What difference does it make that the rings are gone . . . when the marriage they stood for is gone?"she asked. "You don't love me any more."

RESORT OPENED BY SOCIAL EVENING

"Trent Valley Lodge" Held Formal Opening Party Wednesday.

HASTINGS, June 20.—A social evexening was spent at "Trent Valley Lodge" on Wednesday, when a large gathering was present to open the summer season. A baseball game was billed for the afternoon between the American Tourists and the Indian Boys of Alderville, but owing to the non-appearance of the former team the game was decided as a win for the Rice Lake lads.

Crowe's Orchestra from Alderville provided splendid music for dancing and the Alderville Brass Band was present and rendered some splendid music.

Guests registered at Trent Valley Lodge, a summer resort and tourist house on Rice Lake a few miles from Hastings are:

NO ONE WEDS THERE

WASHINGTON, June 20 — The marriage license clerks and parsons in four American counties had a very lean year in 1923, the census bureau reports. In Grant county, Kansas, Muno county, California, Dolores county, Colorado, and Owyhee county, Idaho, not one marriage license was issued.

MANY TOURISTS.

License Plates From Many States Have Been Seen in Lakefield.

LAKEFIELD, June 20.— The signs of summer tourist traffic are already apparent as motor car licenses of various states are appearing and one sees motor tourists with their baggage going through each day. A motor car which had been tranformed into a light truck went flying down Queen street one afternoon this week with an outboard marine engine fastened to the tail board. Doing the unconventional thing constitutes one of the charms of summer.

WEDDING BELLS.

BURROWS—ALLEN.

LAKEFIELD, June 20.—A quiet but pretty wedding took place in Peterboro on Wednesday morning when Miss Helen Allen was united in marriage to J. Grant Burrows, son of Dr. and Mrs. Burrows of Marlbank. Rev. C. S. Reddick of Lakefield performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Wagar of Lakefield attended the happy couple.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom left by motor car for Toronto. They will visit Niagara Falls and Buffalo and on their return they will reside in Marlbank. Mrs. Burrows is a sister of Mrs. Wagar.

The Tobacco of Quality

A girls' summer camp is no place for a man! I have found that out.

Why I ever let myself be persuaded to take that camp of girls on a bird hunt is more than I can understand. I was fooled by the name of their new bird club, maybe, for they called it "The No-scare-'ems."

I began to think after a while, that they should have called their club "The Go-scare-'ems," or the "Splash-and-yell" bird club, for somebody always seemed to be falling into the lake, just at a time when I had found some shy bird to show them. However, a girls' camp is maybe more interesting than the birds I went to show them.

We had all sunk on a waterlogged raft, in the morning, while looking at a bittern in the rushes, and had returned to the camp, for a rest and some hot coffee. It was about ten-thirty when we assembled again.

My reputation as a bird-man was in grave danger, for it is the most difficult thing in the world to go out with a big crowd and find wild life to look at, but they had foolish faith in me and I had lost so much of my wits, that I was almost ready to try and show them a kazoozoo-pink-eyed-waddler, if they had demanded it.

Well, the "No-scare-'ems" bird club of the girls' summer camp, with myself leading, but away in the rear, started out to see wild birds.

The place where this camp was located was far in the Laurentian Hills, north of Montreal.

I knew that wild life would show itself, sooner or later, if I could only keep the girls quiet. I began to wish I had help.

Not far away was a French Canadian farmhouse and a small lad in the yard, a boy about twelve years old. I went to him, much as a sinner would go to a judge, and asked his help in finding wild birds.

"Sure, I'm glad for do dat," says the lad, "you want for see nice loon wid one, two, maybe some more little one?"

Did we want to? Why ask?

We all started across the nearest hill and wood to a small lake not much bigger than a mill pond.

Sure enough there on the water was a common loon such as we see at Muskoka or almost anywhere Canadian summer resorts floating at ease with one little one beside her.

She at once moved majestically out from shore and the "No-scare-'ems" moved down to the shore like the roar of many waves. The French lad winked at me and grinned. "That's very bad for see dose loon she's plenty scare." The loon went away over to the other side of the water.

To make sure of seeing it close I stationed all the girls at the one end of the lake and told them to all get settled. Then the lad was to go to the other end and wade into the lake and force the loon over to where we were in hiding.

One big girl got out on a leaning tree well hidden by cedar branches but over the water and rotten. I was going to find fault with that point of view but was so glad to see everybody settled and quiet that I let well enough alone and as it worked out perhaps it was best.

We were all settled there in hiding on the shore for almost half an hour and I must admit that the "No-scare-'ems" meant business.

The mother loon and her young one were by this time convinced that the boy alone was to be watched so they drifted and swam closer to us every minute.

We could make out that sharp bill the black and white checked back and the peculiar collar markings on the neck and the velvety sheen of the feathers of the neck and head. We watched the mother dive and teach the little one to do so. Whisperings began and I had to turn my back on the loon and hold up my finger for absolute silence looking every girl square in the eye and they all looked so thrilled and so silent and serious. A real crowd of good sports game silent and motionless. I was thrilled by their eagerness.

However they had to live up to their name since they had made such a noisy start with the first birds they had seen but in this case it was not only purely accidental but possibly fortunate for the heavy girl out on the overhanging log took too big a breath or something for in the dead silence with the mother loon and young one quite close there was a creaky snapping sound and this big healthy girl camper on the end of the tree was deposited in the lake not far from the loons.

Imagine the howls of laughter the startled loon the wet girl on the shore and the lad hollering questions in French.

The old loon took the first line of defence and dived under then thought of her young one and came up to defend it. She rose up almost out of the water fairly sitting on the top of the water on her tail and beat the water into a foam and lather so white that it and her breast were one. She was doing her best to scare away the "No-scare-'ems".

And "The No-scare-'ems" Bird Club of the girls' summer camp departed from the lake in one wild and merry chase back to camp scaring everything within five miles or more. My name was saved we had really seen something. I packed my little bag and left with my reputation battered about a bit but still unbroken.

YOUR GARDEN

PRUNING SHRUBS

Those shrubs that have bloomed early in the season and during this month may be pruned as soon as they have finished flowering. The pruning of shrubs at this time of year will include nearly all the Woody Spiræas except Sorbifolia the Lilacs Honeysuckle Rugosa roses Viburnums Weigela Forsythia Flowering Currants Kerria Barberries and the Flowering Crabs.

Just how much pruning is necessary will depend on the age and condition of the shrub but do no prune just for the sake of keeping the pruning shears busy.

Young shrubs will require a thinning out of the branches and the removal of any crossing or irregular growths. Right at the start the oldest wood should be constantly removed to allow the younger wood to develop favorably. Also this younger wood should be shortened back judiciously to prevent it from becoming leggy (showing bare stems with all the leaves at the top). If this system is religiously carried out your shrubs will attain a ripe old age still compactly well branched and not tall top heavy and bare of smaller branches at the bottom.

On the other hand if shrubs have been neglected for some time they will need drastic treatment by way of renovation. All the old wood should be completely removed to the base and the younger wood should be jthinned to a few of the strongest shoots. A surprising amount of wood may be removed from a very dense badly neglected shrub and it will look as if completely ruined but will soon recover and make a good shrub. In pruning honeysuckles and Japanese roses in particular one may be misled by the age of the wood and find a goadly quantity of well-grown shoots on an old limb. Therefore the branch one is contemplating removing should be traced to the young growth before a final decision is made. Very old Honeysuckles Mock Oranges and Lilacs which have reached a stage of legginess at which they must be propped or tied up may be practically renewed by the removal of the old wood and the growing on of the strong young shoots. As mentioned before however it is much the better practice to give a regular pruning when needed rather than to neglect and renovate shrubs.

In all operations of pruning study each kind and endeavor to preserve the natural graceful form of the shrub rather than prune to a flat top or rounded form so often seen. Sheared and trimmed shrubs are all right in hedges and very formal gardens but on the average lawn the natural growth is much more pleasing. A certain amount of balance and the shortening back of some extra vigorous and ambitious shoots are of course permissible. Avoid above all things cutting off the lower branches which cover the base of the shrub. Also in cutting drooping branches take into consideration their load of bloom or fruit and their position when the weight is released. Drooping branches over the lawn may interfere with the lawn mower for a time but great care should be exercised in pruning them for the convenience of mowing. In certain cases sucker growth will be produced which may be thinned and made to aid in replacing old wood. Do not attempt to make the shrub "tidy" and consequently unnatural. Certain shrubs as the Japanese Barberry the Wayfaring Tree the Japanese Lilac and others will naturally take an oval or rounded form and consequently will not require pruning but only the removal of old wood.

In addition the flower remains of the lilacs should be removed before the seeds have formed so that there will be no drain on the shrub in the unnecessary production of seed. The earlier this is attended to the better and the stronger will be the following season's buds.

THIRD READING CANTEEN BILL

Senate Makes Amendments and Sends Back to Commons.

CUT OUT CLAUSE.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 20 (By Canadian Press).—The Bill to provide for the disposal of the canteen funds was given the third reading in the Senate yesterday afternoon with an amendment eliminating the provision for a veterans' bureau to be established at Ottawa, and a vote of $100,000 for that purpose. The canteen fund consists of the sum of approximately $2,300,000. The Bill provides for provincial boards of trustees for the disposal of the funds in the provinces, and for the sum of $50,000 to be given to the United States Red Cross, and $50,000 to the British United Service's Fund to be used for especially meritorious cases among Canadian exservice men in those countries. The Bill, which had already passed the Commons, will be referred back to the Lower House with the Senate amendments.

TRAGIC DEATH OF LANCASHIRE LADS

Had Only Been Out From English Homes a Few Weeks.

COBALT, June 20 (Canadian Press).—The tragic deaths of two Lancashire lads, neither of whom had been out from England more than a few weeks, are reported from Kirkland Lake and Timmins.

Mercer Bentley, 17 years of age, Kirkland Lake, was drowned when a canoe capsized. The body was recovered

At Timmins, James Harris Roberts, out from the Old Home only two weeks, was killed at Hollinger Mine when he stepped off a moving car under ground and was struck by another car. Another drowning accident is reported from Lake Expanse, in Quinz region, the victim being young Quebec fire ranger named Angus Link. He was paddling along in a canoe which upset.

NEARING A BREAKDOWN.

A Condition That Calls For a Reliable Tonic.

Many women give so much of their time to the cares of their household that they neglect their own health and sometimes reach the verge of a breakdown before they realize that their health is shattered. Often the heart palpitates violently at slight exertion, the stomach fails to digest food and discomfort follows. The nerves become weak and headaches grow more frequent. The body grows weak and they are always depressed. This condition requires immediate treatment with such a reliable tonic as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which enrich and build up the blood, carrying renewed energy to eevry part of the body. The value of Dr Williams' Pink Pills in a run down condition is proved by the following statement from Mrs. Alex McInnes, Bowsman River, Man., who says:—"About a year ago I had a serious illness which left me very anaemic. I was not able to get around to do my work; in fact I could scarcely walk. I was troubled with palpitation of the heart with the least exertion. One day a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as they had done her much good. I followed this advice and took the pills for some weeks when I felt as well as ever. I have since been able to attend to all my household duties. The dizziness and palpitation have left me and I bless the day I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They are just the medicine for those who are weak and rundown."

You can get these pills from any dealer or by mail at 50c a box from The Dr. Williams' Medcine Co., Brockville, Ont.

COL. CONSTANTINE COMMANDS COLLEGE

Instructor in Artillerly Will Succeed General MacDon-

OTTAWA, June 20, (Canadian Press).—It was announced yesterday by Hon. E. M. MacDonald, Minister of National Defence that Lieut.-Col. C. F. Constantine, chief instructor in artillery at the Royal Military College, has been appointed commandant of the College in succession to Lieut.-General Sir A. C. MacDonell, K.C.B., the appointment to become effective on August 1 next, when the retirement of the present commandant is to take place.

WHEN FRYING FOOD

Food to be fried should be as dry as possible and not very cold.

Why Thin, Pale Girls Are Unpopular

It is a well-known fact that thin, pale or sallow, poorly-developed girls, with dark circles under the eyes, and who always appear tired and listless, do not attract friends. Yet in thousands of cases these conditions are due merely to the lack of pure, red blood, rich in health-giving iron. By simply getting sufficient iron into their blood, these girls may quickly have the blooming cheeks, ruddy lips and well-rounded forms that make other girls so attractive and so popular.

But be sure that the iron you take is organic iron—Nuxated Iron—and not the old-fashioned liquid medicines or pills made from mineral iron that often injured the teeth and disturbed the stomach. Nuxated Iron contains organic iron, like the iron in your own blood. Try it for two weeks and notice the strength you gain. Money back if not improved. At all good druggists.

ARGUE QUESTION OF SUNDAY VOTE

Charging That Vote on Union Will Transfer Property, Cite Lord's Day Act.

JUDGMENT TO-DAY.

WINNIPEG, June 20 (Canadian Press).—Judgment was reserved by Mr. Justice Dysart until Saturday morning in the injunction proceedings against the James Presbyterian congregation to prevent a vote next Sunday on the question of transferring the church property to the United Church of Canada.

A. A. Fraser, who appeared for the plaintiffs, argued that any proceedings on the Lord's Day were illegal. Arguments were brief, as by consent of counsel, the point to be decided was limited to the simple question of whether or not the Sunday voting dealt in any way with the transfer of the property.

E. K. Williams, K. C., for the defendants, maintained that the vote would only determine whether or not the St. James congregation would decide to remain out of the Union. If it did then the property would remain with the congregation.

A LINE-O-TYPE.

What do you read in the Examiner? What do you read first, and what do you read last, and what do you like to read best of all?

"I would like to be editor of a paper just for one day," said Judge Kates of Cameden, N. J. And a good lively enterprising paper stepped right up to the front and named Judge Kates editor — just for one day.

It's Your Funeral

What would you do with your paper if you were editor? Be honest about it. Not if it was somebody else's paper and you just happened to edit it for a little while for fun, but if it was your own and you had to make a living by it —what would you put into it and what would you leave out?

What did you and your family talk about last night after you had read the Examiner?

Were you interested in the speech of the uplifter who was telling you what ought to be somewhere, someday—did you talk over the news from the next town about somebody you knew—did you talk about the war scare in China, the strike in Nova Scotia—or about the little events around the city?

When you met your old friend the other day and stopped her to talk did she tell you that the Smiths were living together just as happily as ever, and were you excited to hear the news, or did she say, "Did you hear that the Browns are going to get a divorce," and were you interested in them?

It is really better news to know that the Smiths are happy—it's a better world for you when you know that—but is there really any great news about it?

How many times did you ever hear of Ypres—before the Great War. You probably never knew there was such a place until the Canadian soldiers got into battle for it. Ypres in its peace and prosperity, Ypres in its quiet beauty and rich comfort was no news—you couldn't fill up a newspaper with descriptions of it—and get people to read those descriptions.

But the minute the big guns began to boom in its vicinity, the minute the Canadians entered the line and the town came under shellfire—Ypres became news.

News is something new—something out of the ordinary—something different. How long do you suppose people would read your paper if you never printed anything in it except the nice, good, comfortable things that everybody knows?

Newspapers are the looking glass of life.

If you want to see pretty things in your mirror you must put on a pretty hat and dress when you stand in front of it.

The looking glass is not to blame when you are bilious.

Agnes McPhail, perhaps because of her sex, is allowed to indulge many verbal indiscretions that would not be allowed a politician who wore male attire. Time and again she has denied reports of her addresses, until the practice has become almost common. On one occasion she even denied an interview given the Examiner—not in details, but as a whole. And she rides serenely onward in the consciousness of the power of her sex —maybe.

Apology Needed

But her utterances of Thursday surely affect too great a body of people to be allowed to pass unchallenged, and were heard by too many people to allow denial of their utterance. Speaking at Wallace's Point on the occasion of a Farmer picnic, she said: "I don't think the invasion of Belgium caused the last war." No quarrel there. She is stating self-evident fact. The war had started, or there would have been no invasion. But she goes on: "We thought so then, and some of us think so now." How stupid! Why line up others with herself, if she is in that category, which, with typical perversity, she denies before saying it. "We cannot read the authentic reports of authorities in power at that time and believe that the Belgium invasion was the cause of the trouble, nor doubt that if the staying out by England from the squabble would have saved Belgium, that she would still have gone in." Leaving out the superfluous "thats" and bringing the statement down to bald fact, Miss McPhail declares that England was seeking war and would have gone in on some other excuse.

That will disappoint a few thousand Canadian soldiers who fought through the war on the supposition that they were battling for a principle, and would not have enlisted, merely for the pleasure of taking part in a "squabble." Right here in Peterborough are mothers and fathers mourning sons whom they gladly surrendered in the strength of a great sacrifice for the upholding of the sacred things of life. And widows and children remember with pride the husband and fathers who died in the firm belief that the cause of humanity demanded their services and lives.

Were we all wrong? Did England deliberately plunge us into a bloody war on an altogether unworthy pretext, entirely foreign to the spirit of the British race?

It is poor solace, a poor presentment of politics, and a very disheartening message that Miss McPhail brings to a district that did so much in the Great War.

We do not like to think that she is right, and much less do we like to think of Canada's woman member of Parliament publicly deriding the sacrifices made on so high a moral plane.

Miss McPhail may deny, but she should this time apologize.

* * *

What with poppy scandals and being told by a woman that there were no principles behind their fighting, the war veterans are beginning to realize the horrors of war.

DO THEY CONFLICT?

Two Stories of Man's Origin; From the Bible and From The Encyclopedia.

From the Bible, King James version, the second chapter of Genesis.

AND the Lord God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul.

And the Lord God planted a garden eastward in Eden; and there he put the man he had formed. . . .

And the Lord God took the man and put him into the Garden of Eden to dress it and keep it.

And the Lord God commanded the man, saying, Of every tree in the garden thou mayest freely eat; but of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil thou shalt not eat of it; for in the day that thou eatest thereof, thou shalt surely die.

And the Lord God said, It is not good that man should be alone; I will make an help meet for him.

And out of the ground the Lord God formed every beast of the field and every fowl of the air; and brought them unto Adam to see what he would call them; and whatsoever Adam called them, that was the name thereof.

And Adam gave names to all cattle and to the fowl of the air and to every beast of the field; but for Adam there was not found an help meet for him.

And the Lord God caused a deep sleep to fall upon Adam, and he slept; and he took one of his ribs and closed up the flesh instead thereof;

And the rib, which the Lord God had taken from man, made he a woman, and brought her unto the man.

And Adam said, this is now bone of my bones and flesh of my flesh; and she shall be called woman, because she was taken out of man.

SIFE appears to have been a necessary and inevitable result of inorganic or cosmic evolution.

It came into being on our planet in the most natural way as soon as the temperature of the originally superheated planetary mass became sufficiently lowered, and the gaseous matter had become condensed into a universal sea.

It arose by the action of physico-chemical laws, through what we call spontaneous generation, the materials for the formation of the first bit of living protoplasm being ready at hand. . . .

After the earth became stocked with even a few comparatively simple forms, the selective principles in nature began to operate resulting in the preservation of the fittest. . . .

The proof of man's origin from some other primate is now past dispute.

In fact, no scientist now doubts man's descent, less directly from all lower forms of life and more immediately from a common ancestor with the anthropoid apes.

Anatomically he presents no absolute differences from the anthropoid apes except in the organs of speech.

He passes through the same embryological phases as the higher mammals. Man's origin from some mammal is strongly attested by the presence in his body of a large number of vestigial characters, which indicate an ancestor that went on all fours.

At first man was a social being; his erect posture, large brain, hands, were so well adapted to carrying out the suggestions of his developing intellect that he was the first toolmaker and worker in stone, bone and wood' and the first being to tame other animals and to cultivate the soil.

These qualities enabled him to dominate all other animals.

NICKLE—DUNLOP.

KINGSTON, June 20 (Special to The Examiner).—At one o'clock this afternoon, the marriage was solemnized at the home of the bride on Stuart Street, of Grace Isabel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Dunlop, and Major W. M. Nickle, eldest son of Hon. W. F. Nickle, Attorney-General of Ontario. The house was beautifully decorated with flowers and the ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. D. M. Gordon, principal emeritus of Queen's University. The bride was given away by her father, and was attired in a gown of ivory brocaded flat crepe with guadets of ivory chantilly lace. Her court train was embroidered in bow knots in seed pearls, and she wore a veil caught to her hair with orange blossoms. Her bridesmaid was Miss Anella Minnes. Mr. Douglas Nickle, brother of the groom, was best man. Miss Lois Taylor, daughter of Principal Taylor of Queen's University, played the wedding march. Major and Mrs. Nickle left on an extended trip to the Pacific coast.

HOGAN—GALVIN.

The wedding took place at six o'clock on the morning of Thursday, June 18th, in the Church of Our Lady of the Rosary, Detroit, Mich., of Mary Lillian, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Galvin, 745 Water street, Peterboro, and Michael Edward Hogan, of Detroit, formerly of Peterboro.

The bride wore a charming ensemble suit of poudre blue silk Lengaline, trimmed with grey fox fur, with poudre blue picture hat, grey shoes and stockings, and bouquet of sweetheart rosse.

The bridesmaid, Miss Maudie A. Ash, of Detroit, wore a navy ensemble suit, with hat, shoes and gloves to match, and carried a bouquet of spring flowers.

The bridegroom was supported by William P. McIntyre of Detroit.

During the nuptial mass, instrumental music and vocal solos were rendered by Mr. F. Hollister, organist of the church.

After a dainty wedding breakfast had been partaken of Mr. and Mrs. Hogan left for an extended honeymoon trip to Chicago and Duluth.

They will reside in Minneapolis.

McCULLOUGH—HALL

On Thursday, June 18, at Waterloo, Iowa, by the Rev. McDonald, Phyllis Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. F. Hall, to Thomas McCullough, son of Dr. T. P. McCullough, both of Peterboro.

OLD ENOUGH TO BE NEW

Where do all the different styles come from, we often wonder? On the stage Blanche Yurka wears a shawl wound around her head in the fashion of the Norwegian peasant woman. She decided the same idea would make a chic new style, since the Norse women have been wearing it for centuries, so she wound a shawl around her head and appeared at the Belmont race track the other day. And now a new style has started. It is called the Gina turban, after the character Miss Yurka plays on the stage.

JAZZ CAUSES KNOCK KNEES

Every Evil Since War Laid at Feet of Popular Music.

THIS IS LATEST.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Jazz has been blamed for practically every evil since the war, and now comes a new accusation.

"It is ruining the legs of the American girls," says Peggy Fortune, motion picture actress whose perfectly formed legs caused Florenz Ziegfeld to choose her for a place in the Follies Chorus of "Pretty Ladies," a new picture which has the first beauty chorus in the films.

She says that nearly 90 per cent. of the girls of this continent have imperfect legs.

"Although the American ankle may be trim and shapely," the fair Peggy says, "the leg as a whole is losing its perfection and becoming distorted in shape, and this is the reason—jazz dancing has a tendency to make bulging and knocked knees, because so much or it is done with the feet flat and the knees bent

Become Slouchy

'Instead of the grace, ease and poise the figure acquires through classic dancing, a slouch and an ungraceful carriage is the result of too much syncopation"

She believes this also injures the arch of the foot and destroys the graceful curves of the leg.

The perfection of her own legs is the direct result of avoiding jazz dancing, and sticking to the classical type, Miss Fortune says.

"Classic dancing," she says, "not only helps to keep the legs trim, but corrects imperfections and helps develop a graceful carriage and a perfect figure.

"Dancing instructors tell me that classic dancing even straightens bowed legs if one begins to study when the bones are still young.

Figures Prove It.

"Learn to dance on the ball of your foot and let your body move in harmonious rhythm, instead of the jerky, staccato of the Charleston or other "jazz" measure. Once you acquire the technique of really beautiful classic dancing, you will never fall a victim to jazzmania."

Her contentions seem to be substantiated by the result of the contest which provided the 30 beauties for the chorus. Out of the hundreds of girls who applied at the casting director's office, not even 10 per cent. of them could be submitted to Ziegfeld for the final selections.

When the girls finally were assembled, it was discovered that most of them were classic dancers who had spent years learning correct exercises and perfect rhythm.

HEDDA HOYT TALKS ABOUT THINGS THAT INTEREST THE BUSY WOMAN OF 1925

Panty Frock

NEW YORK, June 20 (United Press)—A new tennis frock is being shown by a Fifth Avenue firm which promises to be popular this summer. While this frock is designed for grownups, it is fashioned after the child's panty frock being made of cotton print with matching panties. Usually the background is white with vividly colored designs. Neckline is rounded, sleeves and skirt are short and a narrow string belt extends about the hips.

The bathing suit also follows the trend for printed fabrics. Cretonne suits in the gayest of colors are numerous among the summer models. They are made in dress types with separate bloomers which may or may not match the suit. Plain materials are often used for the trunk or bloomer portion. Perhaps the prettiest cretonne bathing suit is the one which has a black background with vivid floral design. This is made with black sateen bloomers and neckline, armholes and bloomer ruffles are piped in bright green sateen. A green sash or tie may be added as color contrast.

Warm weather has brought out many tulle dance frocks which are simple little affairs with ruffled skirts or with apron fronts trimmed in ruffles. Needless to say, skirts of such dance frock are short and hosiery and satin slippers match the frock.

Light tannish flesh hosiery is the most popular shade these warm days. Even with light colored cotton frocks, one sees flesh-toned stockings worn with blond satin shoes. At nearby resorts where white shoes are worn with summery frocks the flesh-toned stocking is the accompaniment to the white shoe.

Straw hats are at last replacing felts and satins. Small and large shapes of horsehair, often trimmed in velvet, are increasing in numbers on Fifth Avenue.

WHISPERS.

The noblest remedy for injuries is forgetfulness.

Adam was not born. Probably that's why he never wrote poetry.

A cynical old bachelor says that marriage is an institution for the blind.

The man who patronizes a fire sale is very apt to get some red-hot bargains.

Necessity is a good thing to make a virtue of—if you have no better material.

After a shirt has been to the laundry about a half-dozen times it is pretty well done up.

The golden rule should work both ways, but most men who are willing to do as they would be done by want to be done by first.

POCKET PLACED IN FRONT.

For no good reason, the pocket is usually placed at the side of a frock, so there is considerable novelty to this one which is placed directly in front. The dress is of navy blue crepe embroidered in heavy gold thread. The vestee is of tan chiffon.

Cynthia Grey Says

If you are a June bride, let me say this to you:

You have just signed the most difficult contract in the world—your marriage license.

You have promised not only to love, honor and obey a man—but to fascinate him to the end of his days, to boot!

And oddly enough, very often the first 365 days of married life are the hardest.

The honeymoon ends, and you and your mate see each other in the hard, white daylight of reality Each of you has to face the Cold Facts of life once more.

Your husband goes back to his job, and to the bleak necessity of keeping two people instead of one.

You begin your lifetime task of being a wife. You are going to find out that being a wife means not only being a sweetheart, but a cook, a mother, a laundress, an economist, and a parlor entertainer, besides.

You will have to be not only a good mate, but a good skipper, too. For many a marriage would have gone upon the rocks in the beginning but for the hand of the wife, steering it into safe harbor.

There comes a time when Jealousy and Boredom creep into married life.

You may discover that Friend Husband is casting an envious eye upon his bachelor pal, Charlie Notwed. Or that he plays tennis too often with Gladys Gladeye, who makes a specialty of flirting with the married men.

Don't let such trifles disturb you. It is natural for all of us to want harmless friendships. But I mean friendships. Not flirtations.

Above all don't make the mistake of crying and scolding. It won't do anything at all except to alienate your husband.

Be a friend to your husband instead of a bodyguard. Trust him out of your sight. For every married man who deceives his wife, there are a thousand whose lives are open books.

Remember that. It is the unexciting truth.

It isn't the "other woman" who wrecks marriages, except in rare cases.

Little quarrels and petty jealousies are the things that spoil the beautiful relationship between two people.

See to it, June Bride, that every day of your married life is a happy one. Then you won't have to worry about holding" your husband. No one runs away from happiness. It's the one thing that all of us want more than anything else under the sun.

LIPS PEELED IN OLD LONDON

Best Dressed Woman at Savoy Was Lady Mountbatten.

BEAUTY AIDS.

The best-dressed woman in London lunched at the Savoy one day last week with the Duchess of York.

And all of the women who sat near her table, stopped eating to stare at Lady Louis Mountbatten's lips.

For the story had leaked out that she had had two top layers of skin removed from them, leaving them a bright cherry-red. . . . brighter than any lipstick! And now smart London is having its lips peeled!

Some one says that every woman who uses a lipstick, eats three or four inches of it every year.

I wonder how many tons of face powder, rouge and false hair are bought and sold annually. The beauty business must be one of the world's largest industries, I'm sure.

The other day I attended a tea and all around me the girls were discussing one thing . . . their beauty.

"I ate nothing but lamb chops and raw pineapple for a week and I took off five pounds!" declared one young flapper, who was like a willow wand.

"—my sixth permanent wave, and my hair's ruined!" wailed another.

"It's waterproof, and it stays on even when you go in swimming," said another, exhibiting a box of paste rouge.

In my old-fashioned soul I began to wonder if that was all the young things had to think about . . . their looks. Were they letting their minds go to seed while their bodies bloomed?

The girl who is "beautiful but dumb" is seldom a success . . matrimonially or otherwise. People tire of a beautiful face, and good looks disappear when the wrinkles come, anyway.

But a good brain is always a delight, just as the moving, living sea is eternally fascinating.

Every day dozens of letters come to me from girls who want to know what will make their lashes longer and their cheeks rosier. But not oftener than once a week does anyone ask me for a list of the newest books.

And the chances are that such letters are from older women who have learned, by experience, that the seven points of beauty aren't half so important as a keen mind that works like a well-oiled machine . . . sharply, quickly and constantly.

STRAWBERRIES LED FARMERS' MARKET

Were of Good Quality and Sold Up to 25 Cents a Box.

Strawberries were the main offering on the farmers' market this morning, at least in the open section. The berries were of good quality and were priced variously, from two boxes for 35 cents to 25 cents a box for extra large, red samples.

Eggs were up a little in price, some dealers getting 32 cents, others asking 30. Butter was selling at 37 and 38 cents a pound. Little ducks were 40c a pound. Live chicks of the barred rock and white leghorn variety were 15 cents apiece.

Old potatoes were selling at 18 and 20 cents a peck, in small quantities. Onions and rhubarb formed the basis of the supplies on the carts. Little pigs were $7 each.

HASTINGS PERSONALS

HASTINGS, June 20.—Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Fowlds and daughter, Mary, motored to Montreal where they are visiting friends.

Miss Lillian Montgomery has returned home after spending her vacation with friends in Toronto.

H. T. Lambert, who has been so seriously ill, is slowly regaining his health.

John Burgess and son Ward, of Norwood, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Gernion on Thursday.

Miss K. Gallagher, of Warkworth, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. A. U. Bailey.

Mrs. S. Scriver has returned home after a visit with relatives in Toronto.

HE KNEW BETTER.

The son of a lawyer at Morbihan came to Paris for his studies. Asked how he liked it he said:

"The streets are so dangerous at night!"

"Why don't you carry a revolver?"

"What! And have it stolen?" — Sans Gene, Paris.

ONCE UPON A TIME — JACK THE GIANT KILLER. VI — by W. J. ENRIGHT.

Kingston 11, Belleville 9 - Reading Now Second - Yale Beat Harvard

PONIES WON IN GAME FEATURED BY HARD HITTING

Defeated Belleville 11-9—Cherry and Batstone Hit Homers.

KOEN'S GOOD GAME.

Four Errors Aided Kingston Score—Cairns Relieved Gallagher.

KINGSTON, June 20. (Special). —In a game that was featured throughout with heavy slugging, the Kingston Ponies won over Belleville here yesterday before the largest crowd of the season by the score of 11-9. The Belleville team showed a wonderful improvement over their first appearance here, and they proved mighty dangerous all the way and especially in the last inning. They hit another batting streak as they had done in the sixth inning and they severely threatened to walk home with the game, putting over four runs, but Halbert, by a sensational scoop, threw Gover, who batted for Post in the ninth, out at first and the game was over.

Hughie Koen went the route for the Belleville team, and turned in a fairly good performance. He was touched for two home runs, one by Cherry and one by Batstone. He had but two strike-outs to his credit, and was touched for thirteen hits all told, but they were all dangerous ones. Belleville had four errors behind Koen.

Gallagher started for Kingston, and a singular fact about the first three innings was that the first man up in each frame reached third base. Gallagher pulled himself out of the hole in the first two chapters, but Belleville sent their first run over the plate in the third inning after Koen, who had opened with a triple, scored on a hit by Ross. Gallagher went along swimmingly until the sixth inning. The first four men up got safe hits, Hagerman's three-bagger being one of the four. He was relieved by Cairns, who finished the game. During his tenure of office Gallagher had three strike-outs, suffered an error on a bad throw to first, and had ten hits marked against him. Cairns, who finished, struck out four and was touched for seven hits. Belleville secured seventeen hits all told. Arniel caught his first game for the Kingston team, and turned in a creditable performance. Quinn was not quite recovered from the mauling he received at Belleville. Hagerman did the catching for Belleville, W. Mills being in left field. The two teams broke even in the matter of errors, each having four chalked against them. The new bleachers were in use for the first time behind the plate, and made a great improvement to the ball park.

RENNIE TO MEET NUNNS TO-DAY IN TENNIS FINALS

Nunns Also Plays in Finals For Ontario Junior Championship.

CHAMPION WON.

Mrs. H. F. Wright Will Meet Mrs. E. F. Cooke in Ladies' Finals.

OTTAWA, June 20 (By Canadian Press)—Glorious weather and a series of close and exciting matches featured the fifth day's play in the Ontario Lawn Tennis championships The men's open singles were brought down to the final—Le Roy Rennie, Toronto, defeated A. Ham, Toronto, by three sets to one. In the first two sets Rennie played like a whirlwind and ran through Ham very quickly 6-1; 6-2. He led in the third set 4-1 when he seemed to soften his game a bit and Ham pulled up to win the set 7-5. In the fourth set, Rennie, after the rest, put a bit more speed in his returns and won the set 6-2 and the match. In the other semi-final Gilbert Nunns, the Junior champion, defeated his club mate, N. Carlow, after three closely fought sets — the last one going to 9-7. Nunns was driving beautifully and he defeated Hugman, of Montreal, in the semi-final of the Junior. He has two finals to play today.

In the ladies' singles, Mrs. E. F. Coke, won a desperately close match from Miss Phoebe Grierson, who served quite a number of double faults. In the other semi-finals, Mrs. H. F. Wright, (the present champion, defeated Miss Muriel Bremner in straight sets.

LeRoy Rennie and Art Ham, of Toronto, won much more easily than expected from Wadsworth and McDougald. The latter pair showed the effect of their two very hard matches yesterday and did not play up to their usual standard. In the other semi-final of the men's doubles T. and L. Brown defeated A .E. Purkis, of Toronto, and E. Condon, Ottawa. The latter pair took the first set after which the Browns got going in earnest and won the next two fairly easily.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Wright were just a little too good for Miss G. Henderson and Purkis, Toronto, in the mixed and won after two very close sets. Mrs. Coke and A. Ham, Toronto, were very good in their match against Miss Bremner and Quain which they won in straight sets. Mr. and Mrs. Dexter of Winnipeg did well. They defeated Miss Rykert and Condon, a very strong Ottawa team, after two closely fought deuce sets. Mrs. Dexter played very well. The finals in all events will be played today. The finals in the Junior and the semi-finals of the mixed in the morning.

The weather was lovely yesterday and a very large gallery attended

FIFTH STRAIGHT WIN FOR YALE.

YALE VARSITY CREW—INSET, COACH ED LEADER.

HARVARD VARSITY CREW.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 20. (Canadian Press). — Yale's Varsity crew defeated Harvard's first eight over the four-mile course on the Thames River yesterday by a boat length and one-half, and for the fifth successive year the Blue triumphed over its traditional foe from Cambridge. The victory in the feature event of the day after Blue freshmen and junior crews had won their races easily in the forenoon gave Yale a clean sweep of the 58th dual regatta in the history of the series which began in 1852. The tally of that classic series now stands: Yale 31, Harvard 27.

The time yesterday, among the best in the history of up-stream racing on the Thames, was: Yale 20:26; Harvard 20:32 2-5.

The crimson senior eight, after the start was delayed an hour, got off to a fine start shortly before six o'clock eastern standard time. With a high stroke, smoothly carried out, the Harvard shell shot to the front and at the half-mile was a full two lengths in the lead. The Yale coxswain never allowed the stroke of his boat to go above 32.

Harvard supporters cheered madly as they saw their crew hold its lead to the half-mile flags, but there the Yale stroke began to tell. The crimson men let down on the stroke as they entered on the long grind and the Blue crept up. At the mile the lead had been cut down somewhat, half a mile further on Yale had picked up three-quarters of a length. On the way to the two-mile flags the Blue shell overtook the Harvard boat and gained a twelve-foot advantage.

Harvard had shot its bolt too early in the contest and the Blue gained with apparent ease until at the fifth half-mile the lead had grown a full length. On the next stretch to the three-mile flags open water began to show between the rival boats.

The Harvard men still had fight in them and a sprint on the next half-mile picked up some of the loss. The crimson boat hung on the stern of the other craft doggedly fighting for inches, but there was too much power in the bulldog. In the final half-mile Yale raised the stroke slightly and sprinted home, winner by about a length and one-half.

SPORT GOSSIP AND COMMENT.

The signing of the veteran shortstop, "Deacon" Scott, by the Washington Senators is the most interesting event of the week in big league baseball. Harris, the youngest manager in the majors, has surrounded himself with well-seasoned material, and Scott's purchase at the waiver price is another proof of the reliance the Senator leader puts in veterans. The Deacon has been in the world series with Boston and New York—and he may be in there again next fall with Washington.

Apparently De. Cherry and not Cairns should be charged with the defeat in the Kingston-Belleville game on Wednesday. The winning run was scored with Cairns in the box, but Cherry had put the run on the bases, and tha practice is to charge the retiring pitcher with the counters scored by men who got on bases during his tenancy of the rubber.

The Examiner's prediction that Duke Dainty would do the bulk of Oshawa's pitching despite the newcomers on the staff is being verified. The left-hander is back doing his two-game-a-week stunt now.

* * * * * * * * *

Next week's schedule calls for Peterboro to invade Belleville on Wednesday, while the Kingston Ponies will be here on Saturday. Wednesday's game is the only away-from-home game for the homesters in the next two weeks, as the following week Oshawa will be here for the Dominion Day fixture and the Ponies will pay a return visit on Saturday, July 4th. With four out of the next five games, counting today's fixture, on the home lot, the Petes should improve their position in the race.

TIE AT DELORO AGAINST PICTON

Score Deadlocked at Five All in Seventh, and Darkness Prevented Break.

MARMORA, June 20. — Cool, cloudy weather prevailed for the first home game of the Deloro team when on Thursday they were again opposed to Picton. A crowd of over 250 witnessed the game. Picton started by scoring two runs in the first innings, which were made on errors. In their half, the Smelters secured one. In the second frame, Picton was robbed of a score by a fine peg home by the centre fielder, Ada. A neat double play by Picton prevented runs in Deloro's half. In the third innings, Picton failed to add to their lead. Then Deloro, through a two-bagger by Johnson, and hits by Ada and Quinn, brought Deloro ahead by one run. In the fourth, Picton got another two runs. The next scoring was done in the sixth, when Deloro came through with two tallies, made possible by a clout from Ada which sent him to the keytone sack, and brought in Seal and Hughes. In the seventh, Picton drew level by a lone counter. The tie remained unbroken and was not extended beyond the ninth on account of darkness.

Picton had Croft on the rubber and Deloro had Seal and Lamoureaux. Collins of Belleville and Jack of Deloro were umpires.

Score by innings:

INSIDE Ggolf

By CHESTER THORON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans

In the golf shot there is a great difference between merely looking toward the ball and actually seeing it while the clubhead goes through. The player must school himself to see the ball just before he swings at it and during his swing through it before his shots will come off as he wants the m to. Failing to see the ball with anything more than a vacant hypnotic stare at the white blur that represents the ball ruins many a golf shot. Get your focus fixed on the ball then address and swing without undue haste and without undue delay. You avoid delay because the eye muscles tire quickly and will not maintain a direct focus more than a few seconds. That is why it is well to look away from the ball, then back to it while addressing, two or three times, though be careful each time to fix the focus so that the ball is actually seen, not just stared at.

Boosters

I'll lay you a bet you're just human enough to like to be praised now and then. That's true of the meek-like and also the gruff, and it's true of both women and men.

When somebody tells you that some friend has said a word that's a compliment quite, they're feeding you praise that you like to be fed. Be fair and admit that I'm right.

No matter how far you may slip in your work, it seems you can always come back, and switch to new life from the small run of shirk, if you just get a slap on the back.

The real inspiration that comes to a man is really the work of a friend. He clears up your doubt; makes you KNOW that you can. It's the praising that helps in the end.

Give credit to boosters whose credit is loosed and give you ambition to try. But say, after all, if your family can boost—well, you must be a regular guy.

K. C. JUVENILES BEAT KIWANIS

Masterson Had 11 Strikeouts and Guiry 9 in Seven Innings.

HITS WERE SCARCE.

Masterson's eleven strikeouts had a great deal to do with the 6-2 victory obtained by the Knights of Columbus Juveniles over the Kiwanis Juveniles in a good game at the Sacred Heart grounds last night. Masterson allowed four hits in the seven innings and was almost invincible in the pinches. Lewis and Guiry worked for the Kiwanis boys and allowed only 5 hits, but the team made 3 errors behind them which aided the south end bunch in scoring 6 runs. Guiry had 9 strike outs. The teams:

K. of C.—Masterson p; Kennaley c; Starr 1b; Rishea 2b; Smith 3b; Walton ss; Bannon lf; Austin cf; Archambault rf; Calladine, Swanger, Grady, subs.

RAYBESTOS WIN ANOTHER GAME

Fans at Exhibition Park See Some High-Class Fielding Plays.

Kennedy's wildness gave Raybestos an early lead in their game with Murray St. last evening and Manager Coursey's team won handily by 10 to 0. The game was brimful of sterling plays, Lundy especially distinguishing himself with a pretty running catch of Rogers' long fly while Ward and Butcher showed some nice work on foul flies. Batten who is playing a great game at third for Raybestos did some nice fielding at the difficult corner. Fleming, the Baptists' centrefielder and White in left field handled six chances without a slip.

The fans saw Howard Kirn return to the mound to loosen up. The dean of local hurlers showed enough to warrant trouble for Raybestos in future games. Not all the fans noticed Kirnie's ruse in the fourth when he broke one of his own baseball rules by hitting the first pitched ball for a safety. Turned grooved one taking it for granted that the batter would not swing.

Manager Coursey added a thrill by breaking into the game in the seventh with a three-base clout to right. The Raybestos pilot started to stretch it into a homer and when sandwiched between third and the plate accomplished another feat when he beat Johnny Ward in a sprint back to the bag.

MILLBROOK LOST TO BETHANY 4-2

Best Game of Ball Season in the North Durham League.

best ball game of the season, played locally, in connection with the North Durham League, took place on Friday evening between eBthany and Millbrook, the former going home with a victory of 4-2 to their credit.

In the first three innings neither side scored a run, Bethany leading off with one in the first half of the ourth, and again in the irst half of the sixth. But Millbrook evened the score when they came back with 2 in the second half of the sixth.

The growing darkness was a handicap, but the game was decided in the first half of the seventh, when Bethany got in two more runs. Millbrook had two men on bases in the last half, but succeeded in getting neither home safely; lacking a good hit.

The line-up was:

Bethany—C. Staples, p; T. Staples, c; B. Riley, 1b; H. Neales, 2b; R. Stples, 3b; G. Staples, ss; W. Price, cf; K. Dawe, lf; R. Johnston, rf.

Millbrook—F. Russel, p; A. McCorry, c; E. C. Richards 1b; C. Larmer 2b; Ross Edmunds 3b; C. Nattrass, ss; H. Lancashire cf; R. Hutchison lf; R. Shaw, df.

Russell struck out 10 men, and walked 2. Staples struck out 8, and walked 3. J. Cathcart umpired the game, his decisions not always giving satisfaction.

The score by innings was:

Bethany	0001012—4
Millbrook	0000020—2

The grand stand was well filled with fans. Bethany brought a goodly number of supporters to root for them, and Millbrook fans will doubtless be well represented when the return game is played on Thursday, June 25.

HASTINGS BEAT FRANKFORD 25-6

Visitors Had Star Players on Casualty List, But Tried Hard.

GOOD SPORTS

HASTINGS, June 20. — The Frankford Baseball players were guests of the home team in a Northumberland game on Wednesday afternoon.

The game at times was snappy, but the visitors had an off day, two of their pitchers having been on the injured list.

Stevenson, the local pitcher, went the full nine innings and outside of the fourth was never in trouble.

Frankford sent a large delegation of rooters who did their part well and they also showed they could take defeat in a sportsmanlike manner.

The score was twenty-five to six in favor of the locals.

The line ups were:

Frankford—Fraser, p; Lawrence, c; Hatrick, 1b; O'Malley, 2b; McLeod, 3b; Finnigan, ss; James, rf; Waddel, lf; Simmonds, cf.

Hastings—Stevenson, p; N. Scriver, c; Herrington, 1b; Cruikshank, 2b; A. Lemoire, 3b; J. Gould, ss; A. Cassidy, rf; P. Lemoire, lf; Lloyd Scriver, cf.

Umpires—F. Munn of Frankford at the plate; W. Wellman, Hastings on the bases.

JACK MINER WOULD BLAZON CANADA GOOSE ON NEW FLAG

Typifies Righteousness, Justice, Self Sacrifice and Purity, He Says.

TELLS STORIES.

Famous Bird Man Relates Experiences and Offers Proof.

KINGSVILLE, Ont., June 20 (Special).—If we are to have a new flag, as stated by the Canadian Press, I say by all means lets its outstanding colors remind us of Righteousness, Justice, Self-Sacrifice and Purity, and I am absolutely sure that there is no creature living that possesses more of these qualifications than our Canada goose. Now I am not writing from almanac history, but from personal knowledge gathered from intimate study of these Godly principled creatures—our Canada geese.

At about two years of age, he selects a mate and pairs off with her for life. I have never known them to even make an application for divorce. During the incubation period of twenty-eight or thirty days, he stands on guard, never farther than two rods from his sweetheart and constantly guarding and watching for any approaching enemy. As soon as the young are hatched, he keeps on the opposite side of them from their faithful mother, keeping their downy little babies between the parent birds. But he will leave his family for her and her only and, although he is not built for fighting (his ever watchful eyes and intelligence are his dependable defence), yet he will fight anything from a mouse to a cart horse in defence of his loved ones, grabbing his antagonist with his beak and holding fast while he delivers unbelievably heavy blows with the first joint of his powerful wings.

Collie Dog Lost.

On one occasion a collie dog attacked one of my ganders while he was guarding the nest and believe me for about a minute hair and feathers both flew, but the gander won out. I noticed blood on the black legs and feet later, but paid little attention to it. In about a week he appeared to be lying down a great deal, so I strolled over to him and an odor aroused my curiosity. I at once overpowered him and found the end of his back bone was bitten off My heart throbbed with pity when I saw his conditions. I hurried to the house for help and medicine. We poured turpentine into the decaying hole and fully a spoonful of fat maggots rolled out. I then brought him water and food but he couldn't stand up. To the delight of my whole family, he eventually recovered. Remember, he was dying at his post in defence of his mate. Yes, he was gradually being eaten up alive.

As to their purity of character, I once had a broken-pinioned goose come here. She was either a widow or an old maid, I don't know which. At any rate, she seemed to be unable to control nature and built a nest between my two pair of nesting geese. These two nests were exactly one hundred and twenty feet apart, her nest being about sixty feet from each, but if you went near her both ganders would leave home and attack you. If you went near one of the nests, one gander only would fight you, the other staying at home attending to what he apparently considered his own business. This occurred for two years in succession. The lone goose laid four eggs the first year and five the second. I let her set fully a week longer than necessary and then I broke her eggs. They showed no signs of fertility whatever, while every egg in the two nests occupied by the mated pairs hatched both seasons. In other words, she lived a perfectly virtuous life under the protection of these two mated ganders.

Goose Comes Home.

The Canada goose is a great lover of his home and, if not molested, will come back to the same spot and nest year after year.

On October 3rd, 1917, six wild geese, four young and the parents, dropped in the pond by my house. They had evidently been disturbed at James Bay as they were here three or four weeks earlier than usual. In about three weeks we managed to get the whole six under the net. On cornering them up the gander gave me battle. Hence he was the first one to have a tag clamped on his leg. I took him to the door and let him go. He only flew about twenty-five feet away and as I caught No. 2 he came back flapping at the net to get after me. Noticing his faithfulness and love for his family, I recaught him and clamped a tag on his other leg. But remember he did not leave the net until the last one of his family was liberated. For his faithfulness we named him Sir John Moore, after a self-sacrificing general I had heard father talk of. In December they migrated and on March 1st, 1918, I got a letter from Mr. Linden Archibald, Kennedyville, Kent Co., Maryland, U. S. A. The letter read as follows:

"I killed a goose with a tag on its leg with the above address on one side and a quotation from the Bible on the other—'no good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly'."

The very verse of Scripture we put on the tags the six geese took aay with them. Mr. Archibald kindly returned the tag and a few days later, March 19th, as we were sitting at the breakfast table, one of my boys spoke up—"Father look, look out there!" and sure enough there was Sir John Moore standing on the corn pile with a bright aluminum tag on each leg. Best of all he had four of his family with him. Here he had been in the firing line for over three months with no other defence than his shrewd intelligence and had lost only one of his family.

"Silly Old Goose."

Yes, I know there is a saying: "the silly old goose," but remember all superior creatures are criticized by their inferior enemies. As proof of this, let me say that it is through the "silly old goose's" ability to outwit the human race that there is one living. His flesh is the very choicest as a delicacy, hence he is pursued by all classes of hunters more than any other game bird we have on the American Continent.

In conclusion, let me invite our Government officials here to my home and I will introduce them to our model Canada goose. If this cannot be arranged, I will go to Ottawa, free of charge and put on a public lecture in any suitable building, providing our Government officials in authority will take the front seats. I will show two thousand feet of motion film and twenty slides, pictures that are not artificial, but taken from real life, for I know that if 5% of our Canadian people really knew our Canada Goose, the other 95% could not or would not keep him off one corner of our Canadian flag in full size.

Now let all interested Canadians write our Premier King and Right Honorable Arthur Meighen and keep our Canada Goose flying forever.

STOP AGITATION AGAINST WARS

French Government Will Arrest Communists, Even Deputies, who Endanger Security.

FIFTY ALREADY.

PARIS, June 20 (Canadian Press)—The French Government is resolved to put an end to the communist agitation in France against the military operations in Morocco, where the Riffian tribesmen under Abd-el-Krim have invaded the French protectorate.

It is declared that the Government stands ready to arrest the active communist leaders, whether deputies or private citizens, when their activities endanger the security of French soldiers or take the form of intelligence with the enemy.

Some fifty or more arrests have already been made in provincial towns especially garrisoned cities, during the last ten days.

MANY PICNICS HELD IN---

supervisors. Mrs. E. H. Howson, president of the Central Home and School Association, acted as general convenor Mrs. E. H. Bartlett had charge of the sale of ice cream, Mrs. M. Morgan of the lemonade, Mrs. M. Bennett and Mrs. R. Hood of the cake and sandwiches, and Mrs. C. Westbrook and Mrs. Chas. Stanton of the tea.

King Edward School

On the King Edward school grounds, the Home and School Association of that school had their annual picnic, with a splendid attendance. The usual programme of sports was run off, with plenty of competitors among those present. Each teacher took charge of her own group of children, assisted by parents. Mrs. J. J. Pollock, president of the Association, acted as general convenor and, with Mrs J. Reynolds and Mrs Roy Price, looked after the procuring of prizes, Mrs. J. O. Fife was in charge of the sale of ice cream, and Mrs. W. Andrews of the lemonade. The prize list for this school and for the other school picnics will appear in a later issue.

Queen Mary School.

Favored by the ideal weather conditions which prevailed generally yesterday, the Queen Mary School picnic, held under the auspices of the Home and School Association, on the school grounds, was very successful.

The attendance of pupils, ex-pupils, parents and friends was large and the picnic was generally regarded as one of the most successful ever held by this school. The various events were heartily contested, the competition throughout being of the keenest kind. Principal M. N. Clark, assisted by G. Wagar and Webber Turner, presented the prizes and looked after the sports programme. Cheers for the King, the Queen Mary School, and the Queen Mary Home and School Association, ended the proceedings. The president of the Association, Mrs. M. T. Breckenridge, acted as general convenor; Mrs. H. S. Huffman had charge of the sale of ice cream; Mrs. D. Cameron of the lemonade; Mrs. H. E. Connolly of the prizes; and Mrs. F. Worsencroft of the refreshments.

Queen Alexandra.

The Queen Alexandra School picnic, held at Nicholls' Oval, was an unqualified success. Games and races run off in the afternoon were in charge of G. H. Roper and the various teachers of the staff. An al fresco supper was served by Mesdames Manning, Northey, Staunton, Wood, Armstrong, O. Kingdon, Bradshaw, Ecobichon, Vance, Tewsley, Wearing, Helson, Boorman, R. D. Parnell, Wise, Vickers, Brumwell, Tedford, Lee, Telford, Manley, Ross, Touchburn, Hamilton and others, all under the direction of Mrs. R. C. Flitton, general convenor. The sale of ice cream was in charge of Mesdames Cheverill, Tremaine, Emerson, Giles, Morrison. Mrs. H. G. Walker, president of the Home and School Association, had charge of general arrangements. Attendants with the other pupils were the schol cadets, who marched in a body from the school to the grounds. During the afternoon, a presentation of a box of chocolates was made to Mrs. Karl Simpson by the ladies of the Home and School Association, in recognition of her energetic services as secretary of the society.

Normal School.

Escaping the usual unfavorable weather conditions which usually mark their annual picnic, the Normal School chose a very bright day for a jaunt on the water, taking the boat to Burleigh Falls where they stayed for about an hour, then proceeding to the head of the Lakes, and returning early in the evening. About two hundred and fifty of the students took part in the excursion.

DEATH OF VICTIM INCREASES CHARGE

Foreigner in Jail For Beating Barber May Face Trial.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., June 20. (Canadian Press).—Sent to jail recently for assault upon Edwin Scott, a barber of Fort William, Alex. Duga, a foreigner, faces the possibility of a more serious charge.

Scott was found dead in his bed yesterday. Friends intimated that he had retired early the previous night, following a complaint of pains which he attributed to the beating.

An autopsy has been ordered.

MOST OLD FOLKS REQUIRE A HEART AND NERVE TONIC

After middle age little sicknesses and ailments seem harder to shake off than formerly as the heart action becomes weak and uncertain and the nerves are not as steady as they were in the younger days.

Now is the time when all aged people who wish to maintain their health and vigor and retain their energy unimpaired should use

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS.

Mrs. M. O'Connor, Whitestone, Ont., writes:—"I have been troubled, most of my life, with shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart, and fainting spells. I was advised, by a friend, to try Milburn's H. & N. Pills, which I did, and at once found relief, and I have never had a really bad spell since. I am 80 years of age and I always keep them in the house, and feel that with their help I will see many years yet. I always recommend them to anyone who is suffering from heart trouble."

For sale at all druggists and dealers.

FRENCH CITIZENSHIP.

In 1924, 19,385 Foreigners Assumed French Citizenship Through Naturalization.

During the year 1924, nineteen thousand three hundred and eighty-five foreigners, among which were seven hundred and ninety-eight Germans, assumed French citizenship through the various methods of naturalization, according to advices received by the Bankers Trust Company of New York from its French Information Service.

The above number includes five thousand four hundred and thirty-two minors of whom four thousand three hundred and eleven were assigned to citizenship by their parents while one thousand one hundred and twenty-one retain their right to make a decision on the matter during the year following their majority. Taken as a whole, naturalization of all categories showed a decrease during 1924 of nine hundred and twenty-three as compared with 1925.

THEATRES

AT THE ROYAL

Country Store Night will be an added attraction at the Royal, Monday night. The usual worth while prizes will be handed out to the winners.

JACQUELINE LOGAN AGAIN OPPOSITE DIX IN FAMOUS FORTY PICTURE, "A MAN MUST LIVE"

Jacqueline Logan, who appeared with Richard Dix in "Manhattan," his first Paramount starring picture which was shown at the Royal Theatre but a short time ago, heads the cast of "A Man Must Live," Dix's second production as a Paramount star, which opens at the Royal on Monday.

The story is an adaptation by James Creelman of "Jungle Law" by I. A. R. Wylie. Miss Logan has the role of "Mops" Collins, whom Dix, playing Geoffry Farnell, World War veteran, reporter, etc., meets at a dance his regiment gives just before departing for France. "Mops" is a dashing, flashing young woman as Farnell remembers her this night.

But a year or so brings many changes. Jeff returns, penniless through the fortunes of war, and begins a seemingly fruitless search for work—any kind, for a man must live. He lands a job as a reporter on a scandlemongering sheet and his first assignment happens to be to get a "spicy" story of "Mops," again divorced. This makes about the third change of husbands for her.

Farnell finds "Mops" a mere shadow of her former self. She manages to eke out an existence dancing in a cheap cafe. She is ill and about to be taken away when Jeff arrives. He takes her to his rooming house and places her in the care of his landlady—all this despite the fact that he scarcely makes enough to keep himself going.

Remember Miss Logan's role in "The Light That Failed." Her "Mops" in "A Man Must Live" is infinitely more appealing.

Edna Murphy, George Nash, Charles Beyer and others appear with Miss Logan in support of the star in the production.

AT THE CAPITOL

"WAY OF A GIRL"
HERE NEXT WEEK
Eleanor Boardman in Leading Role of Robert Vignola Production.

Swift entertainment is promised in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "The Way of a Girl," which comes to the Capitol Theatre Monday, in that it contains both comedy and thrills, mixed in such close order that the fast pace is kept up without a letdown at any point in the story.

Adapted from the story, "The Summons," by Katherine Newlin Burt, "The Way of a Girl," tells of an impetuous, high-spirited young woman who is not satisfied with a commonplace existence, but seeks added thrills by attending prize fights, artists' balls, and by speeding and slumming, all the while dragging along her very proper and unexciting fiance, who suffers like a good Spartan in the hope that she will eventually get tired of such things.

The climax comes when she becomes the captive of a couple of two escaped convicts, and gets more adventure than she had bargained for.

Eleanor Boardman plays the role of the reckless girl. Her work in depicting the flappers of today is well known, but this is her first part along comedy lines.

Matt Moore, who has made a name for himself in roles of unnecessarily conservative young men, appears opposite Miss Boardman as the backward hero who carries a wallop when things become melodramatic.

AS STANLEY MET, ETC.

the voyage began again, but it was not destined that the seaplane which had carried the members of the expedition through so much danger should accompany them to their destination.

The weather became rough, and in order to prevent damaging or losing the plane, the Sjoeliv took shelter in Lady Franklin's Bay, where the night was passed. The weather still being bad the following morning, Amundsen decided to lay the plane ashore, for future salvaging. This was done, and the voyage continued without incident until King's Bay was reached, about an hour before the patrol expedition was due to start on its search. Onlookers assembled to watch the departure of the expedition saw the Sjoeliv approaching, but little suspected who was aboard, believing the vessel to be that chartered by press correspondents.

Exciting Scenes.

Their astonishment and excitement was great when it was discovered that the cutter really bore Amundsen and his companions. Watchers fell over one another in a rush to shake the hands of the returned voyagers whose safety had been discussed, with misgivings.

The full story of the expedition's adventures is still to be told, but the incident which has aroused greatest interest is the narrow escape from drowning of Dietrichsen and Omdasl who, while members of the party, were separated, fell into an ice fissure. Amundsen and Riiser-Larsen heard their shout for help and hastened to launch their canvas boat, but this proved impossible because of a coating of sharp ice on the water, which would have cut the canvas. Meanwhile Ellsworth came to the rescue of the imperiled men and succeeded in hauling them to safety.

Capt. Otto Sverdrup, Norwegian explorer, in an interview published here, sympathizes with Amundsen's disappointment at his failure to reach the Pole, but declares that "as a sporting performance, the journey was unique."

Capt. Sverdrup is not enamored of the idea of flying to the North Pole, which he says is evidently more difficult to reach than the South Pole, and still believes the best way to get there is with dogs and sledges.

"If people will try to fly there, they will have to gain more experience than they possess now," he said.

Dr. Skattum, president of the Geographical Society, believes that Amundsen's depth soundings confirm Dr. Fridtjof Nansen's view that there is no land at the Pole.

Around The City.

Richard McCracken, Toronto, and Stanley Knox, Keene, were brought before Magistrate O. A. Langley this week by Provincial Constable Maker and Fish and Game Inspector Carson, charged with using decoys in duck shooting on a Sunday in November. Both pleaded guilty and were fined $5 and costs.

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB SAYS A FAREWELL

Rev. W. Harold Young Was Guest of Honor at Function.

Last evening, at the home of Dr. J. E. Middleton, Monaghan Road, the Fortnightly Club gathered to make formal Club farewells to a departing Ex-President, Rev. W. Harold Young, on the eve of his leaving the city to take up the care of a pastorate in a larger, but no finer field than Peterborough. Peterborough has loaned many men, who were, or became, prominent in affairs, and never got them back. Which shows that Toronto appreciates a good thing when it finds out.

The Club is a local organization, numbering twenty, and was brought about at the suggestion of Rev. Mr. Yonge, who had been implicated in some such a coterie, while living in Montreal. Under his able influence Peterborough went Montreal one better, and the Club has held meetings, during the winters of the last four years, at the homes of members in succession, on invitation from the affable and capable matrons in charge of the households. It has been extremely good to be there, when so privileged, the Club bringing together a number of men, alternate Saturday nights to discuss, and confer on questions of the day, and often in lighter vein participtae in some consideration of information which a member might, for that evening, be willing to dispense. This all by way of explanation, for the Club frowns on publicity, though last evening came as an extra.

The proceedings, if such may be the term used, were entirely informal, beginning with an inspection of the ginseing root proposition which Dr. Middleton has in propagation on a strip of soil, for the last three years. The plant is esteemed a specific and used by the Chinese for potions for all sorts of ailments. It presents commercial possibilities, which Dr. Middleton did not entirely disclose, and the cultivation is somewhat erratic and unusual.

Inside the comfortable house things were very much to the liking of everybody. Member Robert Brown, the Caruso of the Club, obliged with several songs. When one member had spoken, Member Brown's song formed a fitting background for the next discourse. Variety is ever the spice of such an evening. Of those who, in feeling terms expressed appreciation of Rev. Mr Young and his service in the city, Mr. Alex. Mowat voiced the unanimous opinion, that as the Father of the Club he had made a distinct contribution to the good feeling and welfare of the city. As pastor of his church he had been par-excellence in his pulpit duties and in organization in the church activities and the church showed the influence both spiritually and temporally. His rare gifts, wisely applied, as would ever be the case, would carry Rev Mr. Young to the highest places in the ministry of the Union church. A formal resolution of appreciation was moved by the speaker and duly seconded, and put to the meeting by the presiding officer, Member H. G. Walker, the First President of the Club, but now in honorable retirement from such duties.

Others who spoke, all in praise of Rev. Mr. Young were Members E. Ingall, S. R. Armstrong, J. J. Turner and others. Member Ingall said that in all-round citizenship Member Young had distinctly excelled Many organizations in the city, outside his church had felt his touch and profited thereby.

A general favorite in social activities, a cordial and agreeable friend, an esteemed intimate with many, a delightful sense of situation and humor, all made up an attractive personality that rarely was found in one person. All these attributes fitted him in a rather unique way to draw to the things and movements with which he was associated, support and approvat and friendly assistance where desired. Member Turner ventured to say that the city was the better for the coming of Rev. Mr. Young. No doubt his pastorate in other fields would be equally successful and deservedly appreciated. Member Armstrong said good things of encouragement the club had received under Member Young's term as President, and the club would carry on and bring him back in the future to participate on occasion.

Member Walker said the club had been forrtunate in its membership, in its originator and patron, and in the happy relations that existed among the members. All of these good sayings Member Young acknowledged, saying that he had just experienced the most embarrassing half hour of his clerical life, a situation he might never again be asked to participate in, for there would be for him only One Fortnightly Club, that of Peterborough. For himself and for Mrs. Young their residence in Peterborough had been so happy and agreeable that he doubted if their lives could in the future be cast in pleasanter places.

The hostess, Mrs. Middeton, assisted by Mrs. Ingall and Mrs. J. J. Turner and Mrs. Young served refreshments, and after a neat expression of welcome and thanks from Dr. Middleton, the gathering dispersed.

FINANCIAL NEWS.

Easier Money Reflected In Higher Stock Prices

NEW YORK, June 20.—(Canadian Press.)— Satisfactory trade news, prospects for an extended period of easy money was reflected in higher levels for United Government bonds, and continued pool operations combined to lift stock prices moderately higher in to-day's Wall Street trading. Buying of railroad shares was stimulated by the good showing of Kansas City Southern, the first road to report earnings for that month with the activity in western carriers based on a growing hope for an upward revision of freight rates. Omaha preferred jumped four points upon the expiration of the time limit for an exchange into Chicago and Northwestern shares. Motor and accessory stocks advanced under the leadership of General Motors, which crossed 78 for a new high on the current move, although Pierce Arrow, prior preferred was an outstanding weak spot, breaking almost 15 points. Reports of large earnings by the packing companies lifted Cudahy and Armour of Deaware preferred to 1925 high levels. The closing was firm. Sales approximated 700,000 shares.

Exhausted His Disguises And Won On Forlorn Hope

NEW YORK, June 20 (United News).—Samuel Kupperman, a Federal prohibition agent operating along the Brooklyn waterfront, had tried every disguise from that of an affluent ward politician to a disreputable longshoreman, but had failed to gain entrance to the dock side saloons to purchase "evidence."

Yesterday, as a last resort, he dressed up as a policeman, with uniform, tick and badge. He made five arrests in three establishments.

Atlantic Sugar and Twin City Feature Trading

TORONTO, June 20. (Canadian Press). — Atlantic Sugar and Twin City featured the closing session of the week on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning, the busiest session for some time. Dealings in Atlantic Sugar amounted to more than seventeen hundred shares, but the price was steady, closing a quarter higher at 31½, after touching 31 7-8. Twin City continued its advance, registering a gain of 2½ points at 67. British Columbia Fishing was another prominent stock gaining 1" at 42, and Brazilian was fractionally stronger. Commerce softened a half at 203 and Canners Preferred 7-8 at 106 1-8.

Black Rust Reports Keep Wheat Prices On Upgrade

CHICAGO, June 20. (Canadian Press). — Influenced largely by chances that spring wheat will fail to reach maturity without serious impairment from black rust or other causes, the wheat market to-day made an early fresh advance. Profit-taking sales led to only temporary set-backs. Furthermore, Liverpool quotations showing that the United States wheat values are at present on a domestic basis had but little, if any, immediate effect as a deterrent to speculative buyers.

Chicago opening figures 1-8c lower to 1c higher, July 156¼ to 156⅞, and September 155 1-8 to 155¾, were followed by a moderate general downturn and then by a rise to 157 3-8 for July and 156 1-8 for September.

Corn sympathized with wheat. After opening at 5-8c decline to ¼c advance, September 109 7-8 to 110 3-8, the corn market ascended all around to above yesterday's finish. Oats lacked support. Starting at ¼c off to 1-8c up, September 51 to 51¼c, oats underwent a general sag.

In line with hog values, the provision market was firmer.

Prices Fluctuated In Quiet Session On Mining Market

TORONTO, June 20 (Canadian Press)—Trading on the Standard Mining Exchange was quiet this morning, transactions totalling 73,874 shares.

Columbus Kirk took slight drop to 3 3-4 while Argonaut advanced fractionally to 28 1-2. Hattie preferred was slightly higher at 7 1-2, also Tough Oakes at 34 1-2. Crown Reserve closed one point lower at 29 and Clifton also declined fractionally to 7 1-2 Lorainne was fractionally lower at 14 3-4 and Victory Silver opening strong closed one point lower at 17.

SAVES HALF DOZEN LIVES

This section of planking saved half a dozen lives when the Crystal, a pleasure boat, took fire off Atlantic City, N.J. Of the 31 who were saved, six clung to this bit of the boat's flooring until coast guards rescued them. Five lose their lives in the disaster.

SAFETY FOR TOURISTS

BY C. B. AUEL

The automobile camper will often enjoy giving a stranger a lift. There is a lot of satisfaction in helping out someone who will appreciate the help. Whether is be a straggling pedestrian along the road or a stalled motorist, the automobile camper should always give unselfish attention.

This attention, however, should be tempered somewhat with caution.

It is always best to assume that a person is honest and upright, but it pays to use discretion in picking up a stranger.

During the summer it is a well known fact that robbers lurk on the highways. These men have certain methods of operating which are likely to beguile the innocent automobile camper. The highwaymen sometimes use a stalled car as a decoy and sometimes a human dummy stretched out on the road.

These two decoys are usually effective in stopping the passing motorist, whereupon the highwayman steps out and holds the party up at the point of a gun.

One hundred families recently arrived from the Hebrides Islands to settle in the Canadian province of Alberta.

CROWD OF 60,000 AT ST. PETER'S FOR BEATIFICATION OF MARTYRS OF JESUIT MISSIONS IN CANADA

Five Were Slain by Huron Indians and Three by Iroquois.

RELICS IN ROME

Relatives of Father Jogues Among Canadian Pilgrims at Ceremony.

ROME, June 22—Exercises were held in St. Peter's Sunday for the beatification of eight members of the Jesuit Order who lost their lives in the 17th century at the hands of Indians while spreading the gospels on the North American continent.

Those honored were John De Brebeuf, Gabriel Lalemant, Anthony Daniel, Charles Garnier, Noel Charbanel, Isaac Jogues, Rene Goupil and John De La Lande. Five of them fell on Canadian soil under attacks from Huron Indians. The other three were killed in what is now the United States by the Iroquois.

Father Garnier is credited in history as having been mortally wounded by a Huron while the missionary was in the act of administering extreme unction to a savage converted to Christianity.

Large banners, painted by Prof. Polidir, decorated the main entrance of St. Peter's and others the interior of the Basilica. They were scenes of the main episode leading to the martyrdom of the eight missionaries. Relics of the martyrs were brought to Rome by the Rev. E. J. Devine. They were enclosed in an artistically carved case which will be presented to Pope Pius. It is a copy in silver of the monument erected to the martyrs in Canada.

Quebec Represented

A Canadian pilgrimage occupied special seats during the ceremony. Notable among the Canadians present were Monsignor Deschamps, Auxiliary in the Quebec Government, and relatives of one of the beatified priests, Father Jogues.

Sunday afternoon Pope Pius in a grand procession in which he was carried in the Sedia Gestatoria descended into St. Peter's which was crowded with 60,000 persons, and knelt and venerated the new beatified priests.

First American Martyrs

Pope Pius received Monsignor Deschamps, Vicar General of Montreal, in private audience Saturday. They had cordial conversation which dealt for the most part with the beatification of eight Jesuits. The Pontiff expressed gratification over the glorification of the first martyrs on the North American continent showing a thorough knowledge of the history of the priests.

He said he appreciated the participation of Canada in such an important event in history of the church through the presence in Rome of a Canadian pilgrimage. He inquired about affairs in Canada and the condition of Archbishop Bruchesi, voicing regret that the health of the Archbishop preevnted him from visiting Rome.

WEATHER

Sunday was the longest day of the year, and, according to the almanac, the first day of summer. The day was an ideal one—not too warm, and with a refreshing breeze. The highest temperature was 75 degrees. Last night the temperature went down to 44 degrees, the lowest point for several weeks. Weather conditions for the growing crops could not be improved upon. In every direction one looks scenes of beauty unfold themselves, and however lowering and threatening social, political and national conditions may seem, Nature at least shows a smiling and beneficent face.—W. P.

Movies To Record Life And Deeds Of Buffalo Bill

PRINCETON, N.J., June 22 (United News) — Moving pictures are to record the life and deeds of Colonel William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) the famous Indian hunter, according to Major General Hugh L. Scott, a friend of the frontiersman.

The project was launched after the fiftieth anniversary of the West Point class of '76 where it was made public that the picture would be made from the book, "The Last of the Great Scouts," written by Mary Allen Jester, niece of "Buffalo Bill."

UNIQUE CRUISER IS BUILT HERE

Peterborough Canoe Co. Builds and Fits Thirty Foot Boat.

FOR LAKE SAILING.

At the works of the Peterborough Canoe Co, an auxiliary cruiser, building to the order of Professor McKenzie, Toronto, and embodying some of the latest features of yachting design is aproaching completion.

The craft which is 30 feet by 9, is ketch rigged, has two masts—a main mast of 41 ft. 9 in., and a mizzenmast 22 ft. 6 in. high, and will have a sail spread of 600 square feet.

It is ballasted by a lead keel weighing 3500 lbs., and in addition has a large centreboard to aid in sustaining the wide spread of canvas. The centreboard can be raised or lowered from the after cockpit and does not come through the cock pit floor being housed entirely underneath the floor. Additional motive power is furnished by a 2-cylinder Kermath auxiliary motor, all the controls of which are in the cockpit enabling the cruiser to be handled entirely from the top.

Sleeping accommodation for four persons is provided, and for a small boat the equipment, with drawers, lockers and cupboards, is remarkable. Every inch of space is utilized to advantage.

A folding table, large enough for eight persons, is carried in a rack over the motor when not in use. Forward is placed a locker for the chain and anchor.

Although the vessel is intended for cruising in Lake Ontario and Georgian Bay it carries a fresh water tank to ensure a plentiful supply of drinking water when passing through canals and other places where the water is fouled.

No Skylights.

Differing from the ordinary ketch the vessel has no skylight. Long experience has taught the builders that it is practically impossible to make a watertight skylight Both light and ventilation are provided by 8 port windows, which can be opened or closed as desired.

The cockpit is self-bailing, any water shipped being allowed to run off through small holes around the sides.

The handle of the tiller is hinged, an arrangement which renders it adjustable to the height of the steersman, and marks an admiral's preventive of the sore back which comes from stooping over a rigid handle.

There is an abundance of mattresses and cushions.

The sails are being manufactured by J. J. Turner & Sons, Ltd

Premier Armstrong Says His Letter Was Private

HALIFAX, N.S., June 22 (by Canadian Press)—Premier E. H. Armstrong upon being asked Sunday if he desired to give out any statement regarding the publication of the letter purporting to have been addressed by him to a Saskatoon Methodist Church in reply to an inquiry regarding distress conditions in Cape Breton, said that since the publication of the letter he had not looked at his files and had no statement to make, save to say that if he did send any such letter, it was sent to a private individual in response to an inquiry, and its publication was a breach of confidence.

LONDON ENJOYS LUXURY OF SUN

Fourth Week of Glorious Weather—Twenty-Two Days Without Rain.

GRASS PARCHING

LONDON, June 22. — All London is celebrating the beginning of the fourth week of perfect weather — such an unusual occurrence that the pessimists are wondering if it will be paid for by a wintry July and August. With the exception of literally a few drops several days ago it has not rained for twenty two days, and as a result the much vaunted green grass of England is turning brown. The drought, as some newspapers now refer to this dryness, is widely discussed and the question is humorously asked by one observer if the words of the well known American tune regarding the lack of rain now so popular in London has a special meaning for Londoners.

The height of the London season was reached yesterday with the polo match between the United States and British Armies, and yesterday one of the most colorful features of the season—Ascot Sunday on the Thames—found thousands of gaily dressed men and women on the historic river or lunching and dining on its lovely banks.

Tennis enthusiasts, of whom there are legions in England, will have a two weeks feast beginning to-day at Wimbledon, and in addition there are golf championships, the horse show, two royal courts at Buckingham Palace, whereat a number of Americans will be presented, and the Royal Air Force Pageant.

At all these events Americans will be found in large numbers, as they were at the polo game to-day and at Ascot during the week.

Because of the uninterrupted sunshine women have indulged in a riot of color in contrast to the usual Conservative tones seen in London, an although there is some indication that the dry spell will be broken, the weather forecaster promises another heat wave next week.

HORSE INJURED

Keene Farmer Had Misfortune of Having Animal Hurt.

KEENE, June 22.—Charlie Wilson had the misfortune to have one of his horses badly injured.

Rev. L. S. Wight of Tweed was visiting Keene friends on Friday.

Jas. Shearer is busy renovating the house and lot owned by J. Thornton. Mr. Shearer will be occuping the house in the near future, moving from Lang, where he now resides.

The next ball game will be between Cognawaga and Keene, at Keene. Keene will play hard to break into the win column. They are in the cellar position at the present time, but will try hard to come out of their slump in this game. The game is called for six o'clock sharp on Tuesday evening.

Villiers and Drummond Station played a game of ball on Friday evening, the former winning 8 to 7.

LOCAL UNIONS REJECT PLANS FOR COAL STRIKE SETTLEMENT —MORE DEPREDATIONS OCCUR

Voluntary Expression of Opinion By Locals Is Against Proposition.

WINDOWS BROKEN.

First Aid House Entered and Drugs Taken—Blaze Controlled.

SYDNEY, N.S., June 22 (Canadian Press).—Local unions which held meetings over the week-end and rejected a proposition for the settlement of the Nova Scotia coal tie-up, proposed by the British Empire Steel Corporation through Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, were Mechanics, Birch Grove, and No. 1.1. in the Cape Breton area, and Springhill on the mainland. There are upwards of twenty local unions of the United Mine Workers in Nova Scotia comprising District 26.

More Depredations.

GLACE BAY, June 22 (Canadian Press).—Minor depredations were reported from some of the colliery districts over the week-end. An attempt was made to burn the old fan house at Old Hub Colliery, New Aberdeen, and at an early hour this morning New Aberdeen banking station was afire, but the blaze was extinguished before much damage was done. At New Waterford the First Aid house was broken into and practically all the dressings and drugs stolen. Windows were broken in other buildings.

UNARMED FARMER IS MANGLED BY BEAR IN DISUSED HOUSE

Hand Chewed Off and Body Mauled—Leaves Four Children.

USED AS LAIR.

Man Had Been Picking Rhubarb and Unwittingly Entered Bear's Den.

NORTH BAY, June 22 (Canadian Press).—Eugene Genereaux, an unarmed farmer, was mangled to death when he unwittingly entered the lair of a bear with two cubs in an old house a few miles from here yesterday. The blood spattered walls and the badly mangled body, with one hand chewed off, were discovered when a search party started out for Genereaux when he was found missing. Other evidence told the story.

Genereaux had gone to the neighborhood of the old house to pick rhubarb and had entered, laying the rhubard on the porch. It is conjectured, the bear, a famale, attacked Genereaux as he neared the Cubs, for there is evidence that the bear had been using the old house as a lair and had two cubs with her.

Genereaux, 38 years of age, leaves a wife and four small children.

PORT HOPE, June 22 — Raymond H. Craig, an employe of the Daily Times of this town, was drowned in Lake Ontario yesterday afternoon when the sail boat he was in with another companion capsized.

TRAIN THROWS MAN INTO MOIRA LAKE

Belleville Printer Standing on Bridge When Train Struck Him.

MADOC, June 22.—A serious accident occurred at Moira Lake on Saturday evening. Mr. Donohue, a printer of Belleville, with two friends had driven up from the city for a day's fishing. About 6.45 two of the men were standing on one of the piers about three feet below the railway track. while Mr. Donahue was above them sitting on the trestle work of the bridge. Noticing that the train was coming, he stood up to let it pass, thinking that there was plenty of room. He failed to see the the steps on the last coach projected some feet from the side of the car. The whole train had passed when these steps struck him on the side, throwing him into the lake. His companions immediately rescued him from drowning. The train stopped and brought him to Madoc and from the station he was taken to Dr. Dafoe's office. After receiving first aid he was removed to Belleville Hospital. The latest report regarding Mr. Donohue's condition is that he is seriously injured and his recovery is doubtful.

Hair Lotion Turns School Teacher's Hair Purple And She Takes Sunlight Cure On Board Steamer

NEW YORK, June 22 (Special by United Press)—Striking hair of purple or lavender glittered in the sunlight Saturday among the 600 tourist third class passengers leaving on the Cunard liner Laconia. It belonged to Miss Edith C. Symington, a St. Louis school teacher, who had gone to a hair dresser on Friday to have a permanent.

While getting the work done, Miss Symington said, she was advised to use a certain lotion guaranteed to keep the hair from turning grey, although holding doubts as to the results, she yielded to the persuasion and received the treatment.

Miss Symington awoke Saturday to discover that portions of her hair were of a most delicate lavender and others purple. When she informed the hair dresser she was instructed to remain in the sunlight which she was told would restore it to its natural color.

"I'll begin today," remarked Miss Symington to friends, and when she removed her hat she became the cynosure of all eyes.

Serious Illness Menaces Life Of Marshal Joffre

PARIS, June 22—The condition of Marshall Joffre, who had a chill Saturday, yesterday took a turn for the worse. It is reported his condition is serious.

Marshal Joffre was stricken at Louveciennes, four miles north of Versailles. He has a heavy cold. He has been in poor health for some time, and owing to his advanced age—he is 73 years of age — is feared, the veteran soldier may be fighting a losing battle.

No official communication concerning his condition was given out Sunday, but it is probable one will be issued today.

FRENCH CORRAL RED AGITATORS

Army Dispatches Seized in Raid on Communist Deputy's Home.

SHOW WAR PLAN

PARIS, June 22.—Many searches of the homes and offices of Communists throughout the country are being made by the police. Numerous arrests were made, most of them on the charge of distributing or posting seditious circulars.

At various places the residents are in a state of excitement, as at Carhaix, where handbills inciting to mutiny were posted even on the monuments to the war dead. At Macon, Albi and Lyons, the headquarters of the Reds, printing offices were raided and scores of judicial investigations have been opened.

The police and the Government's "safety" forces are declared to be organizing a general dragnet to sweep out the mass of foreign agitators who are sowing seeds of rebellion and preparing disorders. The authorities have been exchanging information with the British, who likewise are alarmed at the growing danger of Bolshevism, and plans are being considered to establish a sort of safety barrier around the two countries to keep out the seditious elments once they are thrown out.

Meetings are not be prohibited nor the Reds annoyed if they want to sing the "International," but troublesome parades that usually end in riots and the public rendition of Moscow's "Hymn of Hate" will be stopped.

The police declare they intend to enforce the law and strictly prevent the public preaching of sedition and the placarding of defeatist sentiments.

Important Documents.

The police raided the home of Doriot the Communist Deputy and that of his mother where he and his wife sometimes live and disclosed he was in possession of documents of extremist importance relative to Morocco, following which a Government complaint of theft against an unknown person or persons was lodged. There were several hearings by the judge conducting the case who simultaneously is investigating a similar charge of theft disclosed by Doriot's reading in the Chamber and subsequent publication in a Communist newspaper of a private letter from Vatin Perignon, Marshal Lyautey's assistant to a nephew of Marshal Lyautey. During the hearing Doriot claimed the letter came into his hands in a plain unstamped envelope from an unknown source.

The latest documents found at his mother's flat were far more important than Vatin Perignon's letter and included a complete offensive plan against the French for Abd-el-Krim's Army. Numerous official telegrams between French officers on the Moroccan front and many other documents Doriot was not qualified to have in his possession. He admitted ownership of the brief case and valise and the contents before the court, and it is expected measures will be taken at the Examining Magistrate's request to have him deprived of parliamentary immunity.

Deputy Marty will be the object of similar action, it is believed, due to an article which appeared in L'Humanite recently over his name urging soldiers to disobedience.

Documents found and recognized by Doriot have been sent to the Ministry of War because the matter involves national defense.

CANTON FOREIGN SETTLEMENT NOW HELD IN STATE OF SEIGE BY BRITISH AND FRENCH GUNBOATS

Approaches to Island Guarded by Foreign Forces—Martial Law?

BOYCOTT SPREADS.

Chinese Who Offended at Paris Legation Will Be Prosecuted.

CANTON, June 22 (Canadian Press). — Shameen, the artificial island which is Canton foreign settlement, today was in a state of siege.

Two gunboats, one British and one French, held commanding positions in the creek separating Shameen from the city. All approaches to the island were fortified with piled up sandbags and quick firing guns, testifying to the preparedness of the foreign forces for emergencies.

May Have Marital Law.

SHANGHAI, June 22 (Canadian Press).—It was reported today that General Chang Hsueh-Liang may declare marital law in Chinese districts adjoining the foreign settlement.

Widespread Plot.

LONDON, June 22 (Canadian Press).—Describing the situation in Hong Kong, where an anti-foreign strike is in progress, Reuter's correspondent today telegraphs:

"The fourth day of the Chinese strike finds Hong Kong witnessing a condition of affairs unparalleled in its history. Through secret organizations, financed from Canton, Chinese in British and foreign employ in the colony here have been intimidated in a manner which is dislocating shipping, commercial and domestic life.

"The strikers generaly admit they have no grievances against their employers, but have been terrorized by agitators styling themselves the 'Dare to Die Corps.'

"The result is that a senseless, frantic stampede toward Canton is occurring. On the other hand, the Hong Kong authorities are fully prepared to meet every emergency and are securing essential services.

Canton reports that a community kitchen has been established there for Europeans who are doing their own cooking. Marines operate the waterworks and unarmed volunteers patrol Shameen, the foreign section of Canton.

The Kwangtung Students' Association has issued a statement urging a boycott and strike, adding: "We must join the soldiers and fight the foreigners."

Boycott Spreads.

LONDON, June 22 (Canadian Press).—The boycott of foreign goods in China is rapidly increasing and is spreading to various centres of the country, according to information received in official circles here. Canton agitators are urging that the boycott, already applied against the British and Japanese goods, be extended to American —Minister of the Interior Schra-

NO NEW FLAG THIS SESSION

Premier King Has Orders to Committee Rescinded—Much Criticism.

ORDER IN COUNCIL.

OTTAWA, June 22. (Canadian Press).—Nothing will be done this year about the proposed new Canadian flag. Following the appointment recently of a committee of Government officials to consider designs for the national flag and submit recommendations to the Government, criticism has been made on the ground that Parliament should first have discussed the matter and decided what should be done. Premier King informed the House to-day that in view of this an Order-in-Council has been passed cancelling the instructions to the committee of officials and the committee is discharged. It is not likely that the matter will come up in the House this session.

FOUND IN BAY.

Believed Henry Aitken Suffered Attack of Cramps While Swimming.

HAMILTON, June 22 (Canadian Press) — Death came with startling suddenness yesterday to Henry Aitken, 50, Burlington Beach, his lifeless body being found in the bay a short time after he gone out to bathe.

It is believed he suffered an attack of cramps.

MADOC WON.

Ball Team Defeated Sulphide 15 To 8—Pitcher Good.

MADOC, June 22—Madoc Juniors played ball at Sulphide on Friday afternoon and on with a score of 15-8. Ken Tufts pitched a much better game for Madoc than even this score suggests. This is the second game Madoc has won from Sulphide, the first score standing 21-16. Although Madoc has not a senior team this year there is first class material among the Juniors who should develop into a championship team in a couple of years' time. Mr. Ryan acted as umpire in his usual capable manner at the Sulphide game.

TO REFUND TAX ON MOTOR GAS

Whenever Gasoline Is Used For Other Purposes Than Highway Traffic.

FORMS ISSUED.

Regulation 1, under the Gasoline Tax Act, provides:

"Where it is shown to the satisfaction of the Minister, that gasoline purchased or delivered in Ontario for use in Ontario was not so purchased for use in suppplying motive power for vehicular traffic on the highways of the Province, the Minister may, upon the application of the purchaser of such gasoline, remit the tax, or any part of the tax, paid by the purchaser, under the said Act."

Refund claims can be made on Form D-12 (which can be secured at the Chamber of Commerce) by purchasers of gasoline used for other purposes than motor vehicle travel on the highways, and forwarded to the Deputy Minister of Public Highways in duplicate not later than the 10th day of the month following the month covered by the refund claim.

The way bill, bill of lading, or sale note, showing separately the amount of the tax paid must accompany the amount of the refund claim and when passed by the Department, the way bill, bill of lading, or sale note will be returned with cheque.

FIREMEN KEPT BUSY FOR EIGHT HOURS

A Blaze in Freight Shed Brought Injury to Two of Toronto Brigade.

TORONTO, June 22. — (Canadian Press.) — Two firemen were incapacitated temporarily, and two-thirds of the city's fire fighting apparatus and firemen were kept busy for over eight hours yesterday by a blaze which broke out in the understructure of a freight shed belonging to the Kirkwood Steamship Line at the foot of Bay street. The injured men, both of whom stepped upon nails and suffered wounds, are Firemen William Mitchell and Hugh Smith. Damage to the building and contents is estimated at $60,000.

WELCOME TOURISTS.

Cards With Maps of City and Word Greeting Distributed.

Every tourist who enters the city, either from a different part of the province or from the United States, is handed a card, bearing the seal of the Corporation, and a message of greeting over the signature of Mayor Turner. The back of the card contains a map of the city, showing where the various highways enter and with the various parks and places of interest shown. The location of the Motor League headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce and the tourist camp at the Exhibition Grounds is clearly shown.

The message read: "The Mayor cordially welcomes you and your friends to the City of Peterboro, and suggests that you call upon the headquarters of the Chamber of Commerce and Motor League at the corner of George and Simcoe Streets (see may reverse side), where you can obtain information relative to the city and district, which may be valuable to you during your stay here."

A note at the bottom urges the recipients to see, without fail, the world famous Hydraulic Lift Lock and the Floating Bridge.

FASCISTI HOLD BIG CONGRESS

Hundreds of Black Shirts Gather in Roman Amphitheatre.

PRAISE FROM LEADER.

ROME, June 22. — (Canadian Press.)—Fresh from their triumphant midnight session in the Chamber at which the Fascist deputies earned Mussolini's praises for their adoption of the last of a series of measures intended legally to Fascistize the State, members of the Fascist party yesterday began in the Augusteo Amphitheatre a three-day national congress. Fascisti from all parts of the country, wearing black shirts and decorated with insignia and medals, convened scarcely nine hours after the adjournment of the Chamber in the great hall.

A LINE-O-TYPE.

Much confusion is caused in the city by the new pop tax. Some sellers put the stamps on the bottles and charge a cent extra, although the slip of paper only represents two and a half mills. Other's don't charge anything extra for the added decoration. Others fail to put any stamp on. And still others refuse to handle pop at all, in view of the added trouble.

Pop Tax

There are rumors of some who charge a full five cents extra, making a bottle of pop cost 10 cents straight.

Someone has made the astonishing discovery that blond auto drivers are more careless than brunets. Perhaps this is because they are more light headed.

Anyone who travelled the highway out of Peterborough yesterday must have noticed the large number of cars heading Rice Lake-wards. And at Bewdley he must have seen the hundred or more cars parked by the roadside while their owners disported themselves on the lake.

Where art thou?

And then he must have wondered what the hundreds who are without cars do with themselves on a warm Sunday.

They don't swim, because the City Council of Peterborough won't let them get decently into bathing costumes.

They don't sit in the park listening to a band concert, because the members of the City Council don't approve desecrating the Sabbath in that way.

And then one wondered where the members of the City Council were.

Ban Johnston has ruled that only a player in uniform can be used as a substitute in a regular game . . . This destroys the possibility of our ever being called from the press box to pitch for Frankie Whitehouse, wearing what practically amounts to the snappiest grey suit in the village.

HAIL AT BELLEVILLE.

White Frost During Night Very Noticeable—No Serious Damage.

BELLEVILLE, June 22.—(Canadian Press.) — White frost here during the night was very noticeable but reports of serious damage have not followed. Late on Sunday afternoon a heavy hail storm occurred in this district, but was increasingly heavy between Belleville and Sand Banks, 28 miles south in Prince Edward county.

DROWNED IN SIGHT OF RESCUE LAUNCH

Fisherman Was Unable to Cling to Canoe Any Longer.

PORT PERRY, June 22.—(Canadian Press.) — Unable to cling longer to a canoe which had overturned, while he was fishing in the lake with a friend, about seven o'clock Saturday evening, Hugh Miller, aged 28 years, of Mimico, sank to his death when a gasoline launch, speeding to the rescue, was about 200 yards away. The body was recovered an hour and a half later.

Kindly Treatment of Tourist Ensures His Return Another Year.

No one could now doubt the value of the American tourist trade to this country but it is only possible to increase this trade by a courteous treatment of the summer guests. Information should be supplied freely and willingly, otherwise the intending tourist will turn to more congenial atmospheres.

The following letter from a prominent American lawyer to the Peterboro Motor Club indicates the value of such consideration:

"—— two years ago I received such kind treatment from your hands while touring in your part of Canada that I am again requesting your assistance ——."

CAMPBELLFORD CHURCHES.

Rev. James Grier Preached at Anniversary of St. Andrew's Church.

LARGE CONGREGATION

Thank Offering Greatly Exceeded Sum Asked By Managers.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 22.—Rev. James Grier, formerly of Montreal, the new pastor of St. Andrew's Church, although he will not be formally inducted into the charge until Friday, preached the anniversary sermons on Sunday, and in the morning faced one of the largest congregations that has gathered in that edifice for many a day. There were gathered from different parts of the district people who had been absent or intermittent in their attendance for so long that their faces were almost strange to the regular worshippers. Another circumstance that shows the spirit of confidence that inspires the congregation as they begin a new era in their history was the matter of the special collection. The managers asked for a thank offering of $400 at the anniversary services and the amount contributed in the morning was $522, and in the evening $128 was collected, a new record for the congregation on such an occasion.

A Lasting Memorial.

"What mean ye by these stones," was the text chosen by Mr. Grier for his morning discourse, a verse taken from the story related in the fourth chapter of Joshua, which recounts the miraculous crossing of the Jordan by the Children of Israel and the means taken to commemorate the event. One man from each of the twelve tribes was named to select a stone, and these were piled up as a monument so that the succeeding generations, seeing them and in the words of the text asking what they meant, could be told the story.

A Later Day Memorial

Sixty-four years ago, the preacher said, the pioneers of the district piled up in faith and hope the stones of a Presbyterian place of worship, on the same site as that upon which the present church building stands. After 21 years the edifice in which the congregation is worshiping today was erected. Like the cairn of stones by the banks of the Jordan the church in Campbellford stands as a monument, but it is something more than a material landmark perpetuating the names and struggles of those who reared it and who maintained it with so much devotion during the early days of its history. The stones have a spiritual meaning and are silent witnesses of the goodness of the Creator fo His people.

In the evening, Dr. Grier preached from the words: "He is the God of Abraham, of Isaac, and of Jacob" and showed that as these generations in the early days received the Divine support, so the same blessing awaits the succeeding generations who will accept it.

A Page From History.

The late Rev. Dr. Robert Neill, who for 46 years was the revered pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Burnbrae, was the real founder of Presbyterianism in Campbellford, for the church here is an offspring of the one at Burnbrae. It was in 1861 that the local congregation was organized, and a modest church building erected. One son and two daughters of the late Dr. Neill attend the church here, one of the daughters, Miss Jessie, being a member of the choir. In the early days the services were held in the residence of the late Walter Govan, Seymour, and at the home of the father of James Allan, a member of the session for years, and who was on Sunday elected representative elder. The late Mr. Govan is represented in the present congregation by Mrs. William Hume, a daughter of one of the leaders in the church work, and by two other daughters, Misses Lilly and Agnes, who reside on the homestead. Andrew Govan, a son is on the board of managers; another son, Rev. A. Govan, is a pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Williamston, in Glengarry County, and a third son, John E., is a member of St. Andrew's.

St. Andrew's has been particularly fortunate in the past in the selection of its pastors, and a distinguished list of divines have occupied its pulpit.

The building was enlarged to its present capacity in 1890, and the alcove to accommodate the pipe organ and choir was added in 1902. The property, as it stands to-day, is regarded as one of the best in Ontario, outside the larger cities. The situation is ideal, and the manse is commodious and up-to-date. This building was erected in 1898 through the generosity of the late Mrs. Gibbs, who passed away in 1894, and who willed to the congregation a sum sufficient to clear off all the indebtedness and to build a residence for the pastor.

Commended the Choir.

William Pearson is organist and also leader of a large and well-trained choir. Before beginning his sermon last night, the choir having just finished an anthem, Mr. Grier spoke of how desirable it was to have the praise service maintained upon a high plane. He congratulated the congregation upon having an organist and choir capable of rendering such a splendid musical programme as that, which had been given both morning and evening. Miss Emma Meiklejohn was the soloist.

Prospects Are Bright.

The congregation takes up the work under new conditions with every confidence in the future. Mr. Grier, whose reputation as a successful pastor is already established, comes to the charge at the unanimous call of the congregation. He is a young man, full of zeal and vigor, and great things are expected of his ministrations in Campbellford.

Names of New Members Were Read at United Church Ceremony.

UNION CEREMONY.

Membership Rolls of Methodists and Unionists Tied Together.

The inaugural services of the United Church were most fittingly observed yesterday at both services, Communion being administered at the morning service, very large congregations being in attendance.

The names of those who had united with the Methodist Church during the year were read by Rev. Mr. Elliott, and also those of the Unionist group who had been members of the communicants' class conducted by Rev. Mr. McIntosh were also read. The membership roll of the former Methodist Church, consisting of 331 names, was presented by S. A. Maguire, and the membership roll of the Unionists, consisting of 110 names, was presented by W. H. Thompson. These were tied together with white ribbon by Rev. Mr. Elliott, who stated that they be united in the purest bond of Christian love and fellowship.

Rev. Mr. McIntosh chose as his text 1st Corinthians, chap. 11, verses 24 and 25, and St. Luke, chap. 22, verse 19, and when he had given thanks, he broke it and said: "Take eat, this is my body which is broken for you; this do in remembrance of me. And after the same manner he took the cup saying, This cup is the new testament in my blood; this do ye, as oft ye drink it, in remembrance of me." This right of remembrance, observed the speaker, is observed among Greeks, Roman Catholics and Protestants in every land, at the first institution of Communion, the night Jesus was betrayed, the surroundings were as simple as a puritan meeting house, no altar, no stately ritual. Guests were just ordinary folk, bearing no mark of culture. But they had given allegiance to the great call of Jesus of Nazareth. They were not perfect but they were not saying in a Phaasaical manner they were better than others. The host at the first Lord's table had identified himself with the proclamation of John the Baptist, who said "Repent ye and believe, the Kingdom of God is at hand." Jesus knew God had ordained the way of sacrifice and the Cross. The broken bread was to suggest His broken body. Bread is the essential thing on any table. Jesus said, 'I am the Bread of Life." The central thought in Jesus' life was the giving up of Himself. As He took the cup He had in mind the prophecy of Jeremiah, "Behold the day will come when I will make a new covenant." The pouring forth of His blood is the sealing of the new covenant. Those who have loyalty for Jesus and a desire to come into closer relationship come, as Jesus desires, as His first followers came.

Sunday School Session.

A special inaugural service was held in the Sunday School, when special music was rendered by the choir, under the able leadership of Mr. George Lucy. A most helpful reading was given by Mrs. R. W. Scott. The superintendent, Mr. G. A. Kingston, B.A., gave a splendid address on "The History of Three Uniting Churches, their leaders, etc., John Robinson, John Knox, John Wesley, John Calvin," after which Rev. Mr. Elliott gave a brief address on the great Union meeting in Toronto last week.

Evening Service.

Rev. Mr. Elliott, who preached the evening sermon, chose as his subject, "Backward and Forward," basing his remarks on words found in Phili. chap. 3, verse 13: "But this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind and reaching forth unto those things which are before." Thinking of the three denominations which have entered the United Church, each has a glorious past and it is profitable declared the speaker, to look at its past when thinking of the future if the United Church. Each has a strong belief in Christ or common religious experience.

The Congregational Church has as a most distinguishing feature her deep spirituality, her love of religious freedom and her catholicity of spirit.

The Presbyterian Church has always been a missionary church and she has always laid emphasis on an educated ministry."

The Methodist Church laid special emphasis on personal religious experience, Christian fellowship, testimony or witness bearing, distinctive feature of singing, evangelistic fervour and the developing of local or lay preachers.

These three great churches were not dying, but each was strong, but a spirit of Christian charity and a belief in Divine leading has moved the hearts of the great leaders. No desire for union to be strong, to overshadow other churches, was the desire.

These three churches have changed names but live on, and will carry on their spiritual life. Canada is the cradle of the new church, and it is the church's business to make Canada Christian and extend her work to foreign lands. This is no time for regretful weeping; the church must turn its face to the future with determination and every man face his task.

The choir under the efficient leadership of Mr. R. T. Cowell, A.R.C.O. rendered appropriate anthems, and the hymns, O God of Bethel, O, for a Thousand Tongues to Sing, The Lord's My Shepherd," etc., were all joined in heartily by the large congregation, each present entering into the spirit of this outstanding service.

BIG MAJORITY IN FAVOR OF UNION IN WINNIPEG VOTE

Eighteen Churches Gave Overwhelming Majority For Union.

11,000 VOTES.

Only 707 Were Cast Against Entering United Church of Canada.

WINNIPEG, June 22.—(Canadian Press.)—Eighteen Presbyterian churches in the greater Winnipeg district voted yesterday to enter Church Union. In most cases the majorities were overwhelming. Of a total of 11,000 votes cast, only 707 were cast against Union, according to the announcement last night by the committees of the Manitoba Presbytery which handled the voting arrangements. The committee was headed by Dr. J. A. Cormie, superintendent of Presbyterian Missions in Manitoba.

Honors Memory of Boer War Leader With Wreath on Grave.

PRETORIA, June 22.— (Canadian Press.)—The Prince of Wales yesterday morning placed a wreath on the monument of Paul Kruger, (Oom Paul) who was credited with being the soul of the policy that brought on the Boer war of 1899-1902.

BIRDS IN CHURCH.

Hastings Children's Service Marked By Unique Decorations Yesterday.

HASTINGS, June 22.—The annual Children's Sunday was observed in the United Church in Hastings on Sunday morning. The church was most beautifully decorated with flowers of many varieties and singing canary birds in cages were suspended from the ceiling at the front of the church, this adding much more beauty to the service.

A baptismal service was held, and five little ones were baptised by the pastor of the Church, Rev. M. L. Hinton.

Miss Georgina Beavis of Norwood gave a reading, "No Telephone in Heaven," and Master Willis Preston sang "God Sees the Little Sparrow Fall." "Jesue Wants Me for a Sunbeam" was sung as a chorus by the younger girls of the Sunday School.

Miss Mae Hinton gave a reading to the children, "The Little Baker Man."

The Cradle Roll was called and the superintendent, Mrs. J. M. Baker, took charge of same. Twenty-seven new members were added to the Cradle Roll of the Church this year, an increase over last year of seventeen. In all, there are fifty-nine members on the roll.

Certificates of membership and a pink rose bud was presented all the new members by the superintendent, and all other members received pink rose buds.

The choir rendered a suitable anthem, "Suffer Little Children to Come Unto Me."

FREE TRANSPORTATION.

A worthy missionary in India had the hymn "Rock of Ages" translated into Hindustani. On retranslation into English by a student, the first two lines bore this inspiring and illuminating aspect:

PETERBOROUGH COUNTY COUNCIL

Considerable difference of opinion as to the wisdom of continuing grants to the Agricultural Societies of the county, was manifested at the closing session of the County Council on Saturday. Indeed a motion was actually carried which made a reduction of almost two thirds in the sum voted for this purpose but this motion was later over-ruled and the grants were allowed to stand as first apportioned.

Mr. Strickland thought that more money came back into the county in prizes than was expended in assisting the societies. The farmers, he thought benefitted in several ways. They got the advantages of the grant, often got the money returned in the form of prizes and were benefitted educationally by the efforts of the societies.

Mr. Smithson also thought the council had done right in making the grants. He had seen young fellows from Keene attending the West Peterboro Societys Fair and he knew they were picking up valuable knowledge. As county council representatives they had often to do things that might not be popular with those who had sent them there. He supported the grants because while making them might be unpopular in some quarters he knew it was good business.

Practice Economy.

Mr. Scott on the other hand opined that the societies should stand on their own feet and now was the time to begin practicing economy. He was in favor of cutting away all grants, including even the regular annual grants.

In answer to a question Mr. Scott stated his remarks did not apply to the school grants.

Mr. Scott's motion failed to find a seconder.

On the motion of Messrs. Lillico and Coughlin, the grants were allowed to stand as embodied in the report of the Standing committee on Finance.

It was resolved, on the motion of Mr. Curtis, seconded by Mr. Smithson, that a committee consisting of the chairman of Roads and Bridges and the Reeves of the municipalities concerned approach the Department of Colonization with a view to obtaining assistance in the building of bridges in the colonization districts in the county.

A proposal of Messrs. Anderson and Hawthorne was carried authorizing the treasurer to pay 45c. a rod for wire fences where approved by the Superintendent of Roads after application by ratepayers.

Mr. Anderson moved and Mr. Scott seconded that a committee be appointed to consider the advisability of raising the County Registry Office to permit the utilization of the space as a basement, the committee to report at the November session of the Council.

By-laws were passed confirming the reports of the committees on County Roads, the House of Refuge, Equalization of Assessment and Finance.

Tax By-law.

The following by-law was also passed:

Whereas it is estimated that the sum of $67,295.57 is required for debenture liquidation current, schools and other county purposes as salaries, jurors, administration of justice in all of its forms and municipal expenses in all of its forms for the year 1925.

No Increased Salary

An application from the caretaker of the county building for an increase of salary from $950 to $1200 per annum was brought up. It was explained that the caretaker had voluntarily carried out certain work which did not really fall within his duties, thereby saving the council considerable expense. Finally it was decided to grant a bonus of $50 for the present year, for extra work done, the proposal to increase the salary being rejected.

Several small items, a request from the Sheriff for a desk phone and for paint to be used in the gaol; a request from the gaoler for a new lawn mower, the question of repairing the roof of the porch of the County buildings and repainting the boiler house were left in the hands of Mr. Smithson.

To Visit Ottawa

On motion the Warden and Messrs. Middleton, Corkery, Coughlin and Parker were selected as a deputation to visit Ottawa to solicit government assistance towards the building of the proposed new Chemong Bridge to connect Smith and Ennismore. A motion by Mr. Coughlin, seconded by Mr. Middleton, that the entire Council constitute the deputation was negatived on a vote.

The Warden thought that the delegation should be prepared to meet the ministry with an exact statement of the amount they were prepared to contribute as the Council's share of the cost. No decision was arrived at in this matter.

At 12.50 the Council adjourned until the November session.

OBITUARY.

MRS. ISOBELLA ANDERSON

CAMPBELLFORD, June 22—Isobella Watson, wife of Maxwell Anderson, of the Eighth Concession Seymour, who died early Friday morning, was laid at rest in the Burnbrae cemetery Saturday afternoon in the presence of a large gathering of friends and neighbors, with the deceased since his infancy. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. D. A. McKenzie, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. Hugh Shaw, retired Baptist clergyman, who resides at Menie. Mr. McKenzie spoke from the 23rd Psalm, eulogizing the life of the deceased who while health was given her labored at all seasons for the welfare of the congregation, in the Sunday School and Missionary societies until the infirmities of age interfered with her activities.

Born at Burnbrae

Seventy-five years and four months ago the late Mrs. Anderson was born at Burnbrae Corners on the farm now occupied by Lindsay Watson and her entire life was spent in that district. She was married 40 years ago to Maxwell Anderson, who survives her. The young couple began their married career on the farm that had been taken by the husband's father, the late Peter Anderson, who came from Aberdeen, Scotland, when what is now one of the finest farming districts in Ontario was a dense forest. Peter Anderson passed away but his son, Maxwell, carried on the farm until he was obliged to give up active work on account of age. He was succeeded by his son, George. This family affords another example of what is nothing unusual in Burnbrae, a farm cleared by an ancestor being today in the possession of a member of the third generation of the same family.

The deceased was the second wife of Mr. Anderson and left no children of her own, her step-children being, George Anderson on the homestead and Mrs. Milne of Seymour, a sister of Mr. Anderson.

William Watson of Campbellford is a brother of the deceased and Mrs. Charles Nelson is a sister. Four other brothers, Alex, George, Robert and James, predeceased her.

The pallbearers at the funeral Saturday were the members of the session of the Burnbrae church—W. A. Milne, Alex Hume, Malcolm Totten, John Rannie, Ed. Rannie and Andrew Milne.

Relatives from a distance who attended were Mrs. J. George a niece of Millbrook and Kenneth Anderson, a nephew, of Peterboro.

THE MERCANTILE MARINE.

There was a veritable breath of salt air about a beautifully printed booklet that arrived in the Examiner mail the other day from the Canadian Government Mercantile Marine and dealing with the operations of the fleet owned by the people of Canada.

The story of how these Canadian-built, Canadian-manned and Canadian-owned vessels are carrying Canadian products to all parts of the seven seas grips the imagination of the reader.

The author indeed has surpassed the best efforts of the writers of railway literature in the romance he has succeeded in imparting to his description of the voyages made by the Canadian fleet, and the average Canadian reading the booklet will be inclined to say that it is worth while keeping the Mercantile Marine in commission as an advertisement, even if it fails to produce a revenue on its own account.

The pamphlet is full of interesting illustrations and of information that should be eagerly read by Canadians.

TO ENJOY; NOT TO DESTROY.

All motorists in Ontario, it is hoped, are reading and profiting by the excellent series of advertisements issued by the Highways Department of the Ontario Government urging automobilists generally to co-operate in protecting Ontario's road system.

The slogan, "Yours to enjoy, not to destroy; yours to use, not to abuse," contains the whole point of the message.

The splendid system of roadways in the Province is almost exclusively for the benefit of the motorists—and they are contributing very materially toward the cost of building and maintaining the highways.

That being so, there is a double incentive to drivers to refrain from damaging the surface by speeding and driving on the roads too early in the season.

It is recognized that fast driving contributes more than any other factor to the speedy destruction of a road surface, so that it is presumed that the department in issuing its appeal to motorists desires above all things to have drivers remember that speeding is not only dangerous but that it is expensive in a number of ways.

It may result in fines for the offending driver, and even if these are avoided there is the certainty that fast driving, if generally indulged, will mean a heavier road bill for the people of the Province to meet.

NONSENSICAL CHARGES.

Just what useful purpose Miss Agnes McPhail, M.P., hopes to achieve by running round the country telling farmer audiences, as she did at Wallace's Point the other day, that the invasion of Belgium had nothing to do with Britain's entrance into the war, is difficult to imagine.

The only woman member of Parliament could surely find some more substantial as well as something of more benefit to talk about.

However, Miss McPhail was quite in line with the sentiments of some of her own party in the statements she made.

The Farmers' Sun, in fact, goes her one better in declaring that for five years preceding 1914 France, Britain and Russia had been preparing for war with Germany.

In other words, the organ of the U. F. O. practically charges that Great Britain was as guilty as Germany so far as responsibility for the war was concerned.

That is utter nonsense.

Everybody knows that Lord Roberts and Admiral Sir Charles Beresford tried to arouse the people of Britain and the British Government to a realization of the fact that the Germans were preparing for war—and that they were laughed at by almost everybody, particularly, of course, by the Agnes McPhail's of their time.

There were no war preparation on the part of Britain; would any nation getting ready for hostilities have been caught with a standing army so small that the enemy could speak of it as a "contemptible little army?"

Speakers like Miss McPhail and writers like the editor of the Farmers' Sun are unjust to the British people in these charges—and the party they represent will find when the next election comes around that patriotic Canadians know how to resent such slanders.

THE COST OF GOVERNMENT.

Continuing its investigation of the cost of government the Citizens' Research Institute has just issued a bulletin dealing with the combined per capita costs of national, provincial and municipal government for seventeen representative Canadian cities.

The aim of the series is, of course, to indicate tendencies in public expenditure.

It is not easy to closely compare cities for example, for while one may be comparatively newly founded and facing or paying heavily for new improvements, another may have such improvements paid for.

Again one may be growing rapidly, one slowly.

Whatever the cause, however, expenditures must be met by obtaining revenue, and the greatest part of this must be raised by means of taxation.

In other words, the only means of reducing taxation is to reduce expenditure, and the Institute is right in maintaining that comparison is one method of bringing home to the citizens increasing or decreasing cost.

Peterboro is not among the cities listed by the Institute, Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawa, London and Windsor representing Ontario.

A study of the figures reveals some interesting conditions.

One striking fact is that on the per capita basis the total burden of governmental expenditure shows signs of decreasing materially in Western cities, including Winnipeg, while in Ontario and Quebec the reverse is the case, and combined per capita expenditures have increased in all the cities studied in these two Provinces.

A continuation of these tendencies East or West for another year or two will place all on about the same footing as to per capita expenditure.

We hear so much about the troubles of the people of the Maritime Provinces that it is a surprise to learn that the cities of those Provinces remain among the lowest in the Dominion in regard to combined governmental per capita expenditure.

AS TO OLD AGE PENSIONS.

Parliamentary Committee has recommended a conference of Dominion and Provincial Governments to evolve a national scheme of old-age pensions, says the Ottawa Journal. It is a recommendation that Parliament should be slow to adopt. In countries like England, where the unemployed averages a million, and where the margin of income over outgo prohibits savings, old-age pensions may be desirable, even necessary. But on this North American continent, with its comparatively sparse population, and with its almost inevitable rewards for thrift and intelligent endeavor, the need for old-age pensions is not overly apparent.

The danger of old-age pensions, and like forms of paternalism, is that they tend to abolish thrift, and, in many cases, place a premium almost upon indolence and waste. Many who would otherwise look forward to the twilight of life fortified by the rewards of their own efforts become inclined to leave that duty to the dollars of a paternalistic state. The consequences, inevitably, are bad.

There is one other thing. It is that Canada, at her present juncture, cannot afford more millions. We are paying out something between 25 and 30 millions in soldier pensions now. We are paying annual fixed charges of 130 millions for one thing or another. And our future is considerably mortgaged. That being so, to talk lightly of adding something like 20 millions more a year for old-age pensions, with the probability that the amount would grow with the years, is anything but wisdom.

A better course, we think, is to provide our people with work. Canada's resources are capable of supporting many more people than we have. If we wisely develop these resources, if we stop bartering away our heritage and provide our people with employment and wages and opportunity for development, we shall have little need for doles. And that, apart from what it will save, will help the national fibre as well.

THE FUEL SITUATION.

The proposal embodied in a notice of motion by Hon. Charles Stewart to aid the construction of coking plants in Canada is at least one definite move to solve the fuel problem for Central Canada. The Government plan is to pay a portion of the construction costs of these plants, and special provision is made by which it will be of advantage for them to make use of Canadian soft coal. In the recently issued report to the Government on the use of coke as a domestic fuel to replace the imported anthracite, J. L. Landt, an engineer, estimated that the erection of coking plants in seven districts in Ontario and Quebec would cost $11,000,000. These plants would produce 3,500 tons of coke a day, displacing between 25 and 30 per cent. of the anthracite now used in the Central Provinces.

It has yet to be demonstrated that Canadian coal mined in the Maritime Provinces can be economically used for the manufacture of coke in Ontario. Experts agree that its use would be practical from Montreal eastward. In the plan outlined by Engineer Landt two coking plants only would be built in the East, one at Montreal and one at Quebec. The total combined capacities of these he placed at 339,000 tons of coke a year. The domestic fuel requirements for these two districts, however, are about 990,000 tons a year. An Ottawa despatch states that one of the first coking plants under the Government's plan would be erected at St. John, N. B. While there is no official word on the destination of its output, it is believed that the local demand would care for all that a coke oven there could produce.

Any coking plants in Ontario would still have to depend on American bituminous coal mines as the source of the raw product. There is now a duty of fifty cents a ton on bituminous coal from the United States, but there is also a drawback of 99 per cent. in case this coal is imported for coke manufacture. So that for all practical purposes coal is admitted free when it is to be turned into coke and other by-products. In view of the present depressed state of the bituminous coal mining industry in the United States it is certain the operators there would give sharp competition to the Maritime Provinces in supplying Canadian coking ovens.

While the subvention for coke manufacture will appeal to anthracite users as a step in the right direction, there is still no assurance that Central Canada would be free from the worries consequent upon a fuel famine. A strike among the anthracite miners of the United States this year is still talked of as a possibility. So far none of the promised Alberta coal for next winter has made its appearance in Ontario. In about ten weeks all available railway cars will be required to transport the wheat crop from the Prairies to the Head of the Lakes. This Alberta coal situation is admittedly perplexing. The arrangement entered into was that the Canadian National Railways were to accept coal for Ontario at a rate of $7 a ton. A close check was to be kept on the expense of shipping 25,000 tons. If the freight costs were more than $7 per ton the Federal Government was to pay the difference up to $8 and the Alberta Government was to pay any other difference up to $9 a ton. In the Commons on Tuesday of this week Hon. Mr. Stewart outlined these financial arrangements as he understood them, but he advanced no reasons why the product was not being delivered or on its way.

It has been stated upon high authority that no person knows just what is a fair rate on Alberta coal to Ontario points. The present rate from Drumheller to Toronto, a 2,026-mile haul, is $12.70 a ton, which is prohibitive. This rate, however, is said to be merely a "paper rate," that is, one which has no scientific basis, but one merely set down because some figure necessarily had to appear. Further, the assertion has been made that until the railways transport this coal in train lots and close checks are kept on the costs it will be impossible to set an equitable rate.

The prudent householder in Ontario knows that the spring or early summer is the time to think of next winter's fuel supply. People in this Province would like to see Alberta fuel on its journey east and also a start made with the coke ovens.—The Globe.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir: The action of the council in prohibiting Sunday bathing, Sunday concerts, etc., simply means that those who have to stay in Peterborough on Sunday may sweat it out, while those who can afford to get out can enjoy themselves as much as they like. We have good memories, and don't you forget it.

—One Who Is Here.

IT PAYS TO BE HONEST.

Dear Editor: Allow me a small space in your columns, please, for a word on honesty.

When an article is lost on the street, or at some park, or meeting, it is picked up by some one and taken home if it is nice or suitable to the party who finds it. They keep it, and often children find articles and are allowed to keep them. Is this honest? Far from it. A very mean principled person picked up a uniform belonging to a football player in King Edward Park, May 23. It was asked for through your evening paper, but the party is still holding on to it. Is this honest? Far from it. And parents of such should see that lost articles are put in The Examiner office or police station, so they may be advertised and claimed.

If you find an article, be honest, and return it to the owner. If you keep small things it will lead to taking greater things, and that is why so many find their way to court rooms and jails. Be honest. Return goods that are not yours.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I remain, —Honesty Is The Best Policy.

Editor of Examiner, Peterboro'.

Dear Sir: I would like to call the attention of your readers, particularly returned soldiers, to the account of the recent Liberal convention at Warkworth, as reported in Saturday's Examiner.

The Hon. Duncan Marshall, Liberal organizer, in his address, made the following statement: "Arthur Meighen can't get a vote out of Quebec as long as he is leader of the Tory party." Does any one who is familiar with the history of the recent war, need to ask why industrial Quebec, always a friend of high tariff legislation, returned a solid block of 65 members in support of Hon. McKenzie King, at the last Federal election? Simply because Hon. Arthur Meighen was the father of the Military Service Act, and in his endeavors to secure reinforcements for the boys at the front, incurred the enmity of Quebec. I have personal knowledge of authentic cases where Canadian boys were compelled to leave the hospital and go back to the front, when they were so weak that they died on the way from the strain—simply because sufficient reinforcements were not forthcoming.

What was McKenzie King doing to aid those soldiers? Drawing a princely salary in the U. S. in the service of Rockefeller. But he managed to obtain a vacation from his arduous duties there on two or more occasions, for a long enough period to cross over to Quebec and campaign against conscription and Mr. Meighen. Then when the last shot had been fired, he could come back to Canada and be made Premier.

The Conservative party, up to the present, have said very little upon this subject for two reasons:

First.—Because as a party they have consistently tried to keep above personal abuse. Second.—Because they were ashamed to have to acknowledge that such was the record of their present premier.

But when the Liberal organizer can stand upon a public platform and be cheered by the Liberals of the country for saying that "Arthur Meighen cannot get a vote in Quebec," then it is time for the truth to be driven home to the Canadian people.

In the coming Federal election the people of Canada will be given a chance to choose under whom they will serve. Either a leader who served Canada, faithfully, and to the best of his ability during the darkest hours in her history—whose every thought is bound up in the interests and advancement of Canada and all things Canadian—or a leader who deserted his country in her hour of need; whose only war service was to try and prevent reinforcements being sent to the boys at the front, and whose policy while in power, has drained our country of money, brain and brawn to the further advancement of our already prosperous neighbor to the south.

A THOUGHT.

WHAT CAN A MAN WITHOUT MONEY AFFORD TO DO?

Time and again I have talked with young men about their plans and purposes in life—plans for prosperity, and it is surprising how many have told me that they were going to have a little fun before getting to old. And most of them have it.

Had Henry Ford spent as much time playing as our present young men do, his name would be, today "Hank," his post office address, Fordsvile, and his job that of a blacksmith's helper.

Charles M. Schwab even today, spends nearly every evening at home studying and preparing himself for the responsibilities of his business. He cannot afford to be a social success.

Dinners, dances and plays are necessary and make a man popular, but rest, study and sleep make him prosperous.

If a man with millions cannot offord to waste his every evening, what can a man without money afford to do?

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 20. — Wheat prices underwent a material setback today after an early advance. The fact that the market showed a bulge of 9 cents a bushel as compared with the week's low point did a good deal to bring about increased selling in the last part of the day. Besides, enlarged receipts of new wheat were looked for in Kansas. Wheat closed heavy, 7-8 to 2 3-4 cents net lower, July 155 to 155 1-4 and September 153 1-2 to 153 5-8, with corn 3-8 cents to 1 3-4 cents off; oats 7-8 to 1 1-4 cents down, and provisions varying from 10 cents decline to 17 cents advance.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, June 21.—A weaker feeling prevailed in the Montreal market Saturday, in the absence of any important demand for cash wheat at Winnipeg, and prices scored a decline of 1 3-4 to 2 3-8 cents per bushel, No. 1 Northern closing at $1.64 7-8, No. 2 Northern $1.61 5-8, and No. 3 Northern at $1.56 3-8 ex-store Fort William. The trade in car lots of oats for domestic account was quiet, the demand being somewhat limited at the higher level of the market, but the undertone was steady and prices unchanged.

A steady feeling prevailed in the market for millfeed, with a moderate amount of business passing. The demand for standard grades of rolled oats was limited at $3.95 per bag of 90 pounds delivered to the trade.

Review of Egg Trade.

The receipts of eggs in Montreal on Saturdya were 1,955 cases, as against 1,635 cases for the same day last week, and 1,626 cases for the corresponding day a year ago, while the arrivals for the week ending June 20, 1925, were 12,491 cases, as compared with 13,719 cases for the previous week, and 13,625 cases for same week last year. The total receipts from May 1 to date were 108,768 cases, as against 137,490 cases for the same period in 1924. The receipts last week showed a decrease of 1,228 cases as compared with the pervious week, and a decrease of 1,135 acses with the same week last year, while the total arrivals from May 1 to date have been 28,732 cases less than a year ago. The stock of eggs in the United States on June 1, 1925, was 7,707,000 cases, as against 6,944,000 for the same date last year, and 7,813,000 for June 1, 1924.

A feature of the trade of late has been the increased demand from foreign buyers for supplies of cold storage eggs and it is reported that a fair amount of business was done for fall shipment including sales at 17s. 6d. and 18., c.i.f., and at 18c per dozen, f.o.b., seaboard. The latter c.i.f. price would bring back about 40 cents per dozen, f.o.b. Montreal. Some exporters are asking 18s. 6d. c.i.f., and others as high as 19s. c.i.f. The latter price would bring back 42 cents per dozen f.o.b. seaboard. Late advices from London state that supplies of Danish eggs have been somewhat restricted owing to the strike trouble, but fair quantities have come through by outside routes, and the position is not serious as was anticipated. Supplies of English eggs continue plentiful and Holland, Belgium, etc., have also been sending their usual quantities.

Prices Firm.

Owing to the continued falling off in the production of eggs throughout the country, the lighter receipts and the smaller percentage of the higher grades on account of the warm weather a firmer feeling prevailed in the local market and prices for some grades were advanced. The trade in a wholesale jobbing way was fair, there being a steady demand for supplies and the market was moderately active with final sales of special at 39 cents, fresh extras at 37 cents, firsts at 33 to 34 cents and seconds at 30 to 31 cents per dozen. There has been some demand for car lots of Western eggs and sales of storage firsts were made at 38 cents per dozen, delivered Montreal for small shipment, and Ontario eggs have sold at 33 cents per dozen for extras, at 31 cents for firsts, and at 25 cents for seconds in export cases.

Butter Market Steady.

The receipts of butter in Montreal for the week ending June 20, 1925, were 30,377 packages which showed an increase of 12,334 packages, as compared with the previous week, and an increase of 6,667 packages with the same week last year, but the total arrivals from May 1 to date have been 27,666 packages below the same period for 1924.

Prices were fairly well maintained. The foreign demand was steady and as the prices bid in many instances were in line with holders' views a fair amount of business was done in this direction, but the domestic demand was reported rather quiet. Final sales of Eastern Townships No. 1 pasteurized creamery were made at 36 1-2 cents per lb, No. 1 creamy at 35 1-2 cents per lb., and No. 2 creamery at 34 1-2c per lb.

Cheese Slightly Easier.

The receipts of cheese in Montreal for the week ending June 20, 1925, were 54,285 boxes which show an increase of 1,240 boxes, as compared with the previous week, and an increase of 189 boxes with the same week last year, while the total arrivals from May 1 to date were 54,734 boxes in excess of the same period for 1924.

The feature of the trade for the past week was the weaker feeling that developed in the market which was attributed to the lull in the demand from foreign buyers, the weaker cable advices and the falling off in the competition between local buyers for the offerings at the country boards with the result that prices declined 3-16 to 3-4 cent per lb., and spot prices were reduced 1-2 cent per lb. A fair amount of business was done, with final sales of Western No. 1 white and colored at 19 1-2 cents per lb, and Eastern No. 1 white and colored at 19 1-4 cents per lb.

Beans sold at $2.65 per bushel.

QUEBEC BUTTER AUCTION.

MONTREAL, June 21.—The offerings of creamery butter at the Quebec Federated Co-operative Society auction sale held here on Monday were 3,100 packages, as against 2,200 packages for the previous week, and 3,975 packages for the same day last year. The prices paid were 1,38 cents per lb. higher than those of the previous sale, and 1 5-8 cents to 1 -78 cents per lb. over a year ago.

REORGANIZE IN UNITED CHURCH

Rev. J. A. Black is Associate Pastor—Ask Removal of Bogs.

STORM DID DAMAGE

OMEMEE, June 22.—On Monday evening, a meeting as held in the United Church, for the purpose of organizing for the immediate needs of the congregation.

Rev. E. W. Rowland acted as chairman with Rev. J. A. Black associate chairman. The following elders were appointed: R. T. Boyd, S. T. Connell, W. H. Connell, I. Feir, H. Lamb, P. Race, R. Poast, S. T. Wilson, D. Weir and F. G. Sandy.

The stewards appointed were; G. Henderson, B. Pogue, C. Hart, W. Wilson, Dr. Carmichael, T. A. McConnell, I. Rehill, A. Lang and W. F. Best.

The Sunday school superintendents were appointed in the persons of Messrs T. C. Ivory and H. Lamb..

F. G. Sandy was appointed associate president of the Epworth League to assist Miss Lila Parsons, who has filled this office most efficiently for several years.

It was unanimously decided that Rev. Black be associate pastor with Rev. Rowland until he is transferred to another field.

River Blocked.

A meeting of the citizens was held in the Council Chamber on Friday evening to discuss the opening of Pigeon River, the bogs having become very thick between Omemee and Cowan's Bridge, making a passage for motor boats almost impossible. It was decided to get petitions which will be forwarded to G. N. Gordon, M.P., Peterboro, who will bring it before the government in an effort to have the river dredged and bogs cut, in the near future.

House Struck.

Wednesday evening's thunder storm was felt very much in Omemee but apart from putting the Hydro out of commission very little damage was done. A frame dwelling on the farm of Mr. James Bushnell, and occupied by an aged couple, Mr. and Mrs. Cook, was struck and a hole made in the roof but no fire resulted.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

TUESDAY, June 23

According to the predominant planetary configurations, this should be an active and possibly eventful day in any direction, but there is a figure indicative of rashness and possibly a quarrelsome tendency which may nullify auspicious testimonies. Ligitation might not succeed and all tempestuous acts may lead to disaster. However, there is a prospect of change and travel, of possible advantage if managed calmly and with deliberation. Love affairs should be most happily culminated.

Those whose birthday it is may have a successful year, with travel and change, if they will shun quarrels, ligitation and rash deeds. Heart and home affairs may be under a most auspicious reign for happiness. A child born on this day may be restless and fond of change, but might be disposed to be impulsive and quarrelsome unless given early discipline. In its domestic affairs it should flourish.

HAULING ALBERTA COAL AT TEST FREIGHT CHARGE OF $7.00 A TON C.N.R. ABROGATES AGREEMENT FOR

Control of Freight Rates in Hands of Railway Commission, Thornton's Reason.

EXPERIMENT OFF

Alberta Government Sought to Demonstrate Regular Rate Was Too High.

MONTREAL, June 22. — Because freight rates have now fallen within the province of the Board of Railway Commissioners, the Canadian National Railways has withdrawn from the verbal agreement made with the Alberta Government to move 25,000 tons of coal from Drumheller, Alta., to Ontario points at an experimental figure of $7 per ton.

Announcing that he had received notification to this effect from Sir Henry Thornton, President of the Canadian National Railways, the Hon. H. Greenfield, Premier of Alberta, who has been negotiating with Sir Henry here, gave it as his opinion that the railroad's move was dictated by the fear that, if the experiment proved that coal could be moved at between $3 and $4 less than the existing tariff of $11.40, the entire position of the National Railways in regard to western freights might be in jeopardy.

"Last year," said the Hon. Mr. Greenfield, "we got a rate of $9 per ton on Alberta coal moving to Ontario. Our argument has been that the coal could be moved at a rate nearer $7. Finally I reached an agreement with Sir Henry Thornton that 25,000 tons of cal should be transported from the Dumheller mines to Toronto, Hamilton and other Ontario points and that the freight movement should constitute a gigantic experiment to show whether or not we were right in saying tht the coal could be moved for about $7 per ton.

Government Aid.

"Under the agreement, each train load was to be checked as to weight by a representative of the Canadian National Railways and the Alberta government. Payment of the $7 tonnage was to be made to the railroad as the freight left the mines. Then the Dominion Government had agreed to make up any difference between that $7 rate and actual cst of transportation up to $8; the Alberta Government undertook to make up any difference between $8 and $9, if the cost should run as high as that.

"Our contention has been that the cost of transportation would be low, if we used cars during the summer months, prior to the grain movement, when the cars and men are both idle. This experiment was to determine just what rate was required. We wanted to show how Alberta could supply the Ontario market, for Ontario spends annually $100,000,000 in American coal and railroad freights, and we figured that if we could throw that money into Canada, we would be doing the country some good. The coal we ship from Alberta was offered in Ontario; it was snapped up and we could have sold three times as much as the 25,000 tons we proposed to put on the market there.

Prove Rate Necessary.

"Only a week or so ago, I understood that instructions to freight agents of the Canadian National railways were complete, and that the movement would soon commence. It was in discussing other matters with Sir Henry Thornton here, that we broached the discontinuance of the agreement. He followed that with a letter which states that the Canadian National

CONGRESS CALL BY TOM MOORE

President of Dominion Trades Congress Issues Notice for Convention.

AT OTTAWA AUG. 31

OTTAWA, Ont., June 22.—(By Canadian Press).— Tom Moore, President of the Trades and Labor Congress last night issued the forty-first annual convention call. The convention this year will be held in Ottawa on Monday, August 31.

"Labor," says the call, "is the most important factor in our national life and the work of building up and strengthening our movement and widening the sphere of its influence must be vigorously continued, and its voice constantly heard.

"The eight hour day, old age pensions, unemployment, immigration, and other matters of national and international importance still demand active consideration, and the necessity of meeting in annual convention to secure unity of action and purpose and to determine future policies cannot be over emphasized.

"Long continued trade depression has undoubtedly caused many organizations to be faced with difficutly. These, however, should not be made a reason for not being represented at the forthcoming convention, but the knowledge that they exist should rather be the incentive necessary to greater effort to make the forthcoming convention fully representative of the entire movement from coast to coast."

LABOR BARKING UP WRONG TREE MURDOCK WROTE

Appeals by Locals for Miners Libel on Intelligence of Canadian Labor.

PROVINCIAL DUTY

Responsibilities of Nova Scotia Clearly Defined — Avows Personal Concern.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 22.—(By Canadian Press).— Representations from labor organizations, returned soldiers' societies and relief boards all over the dominion were sent to the federal government during March and April concerning the Cape Breton strike. A bulky file of correspondence, dated between March 8 and April 23, of this year, has been tabled in the House of Commons. It consists chiefly of telegrams and letters from civil authorities, relief societies, labour unions and returned soldiers.

The reply of the federal government in each case was that the solution of the dispute and the care of the strikers and their dependents was a provincial matter. To one labor organization which demanded federal action, Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labour replied at some length, outlining the constitutional status of the whole question. "I regard it," he added "as a libel on the general intelligence of labour to find their representatives and their locals continually barking up the wrong tree. I hope that I am just as much, as a citizen of Canada, interested in seeing the injustice of 20-odd years corrected in order that the laboring people in Cape Breton may get their just dues."

To another labor organization Mr. Murdock wrote denying that the federal government was "passing the buck."

Acknowledging a resolution passed in the legislature of Alberta, Mr. Murdock pointed out to the clerk of the legislature that the responsibilities of the province were very clearly defined, and he thought it "very inconsiderate" of the Province of Alberta to pass a resolution calling upon the federal government to intrude upon provincial rights.

Correspondence subsequent to April 23 was not included in the file brought down.

FIELD DAY WAS GREAT SUCCESS

Sacred Heart Church of Deloro Struck Bad Weather for Event.

GOOD CROWD

MARMORA, June 22.—The Field Day organized by the congregation of the Sacred Heart Church for Wednesday, June 18, though marred by rain, proved very successful. A soft ball game between married and single men had to be abandoned through rain with the single men ahead. Other events had to be cancelled but sideshows proved a diversion for the crowd in attendance. Supper was served from 4.30 p.m. onwards and as shades of night drew on, dancing was merrily indulged in to the strains of Baxter's Orchestra of Point Anne.

Chinese Foreign Office Blames Powers for Shanghai Disturbances.

HONG KONG, June 22. (Canadian Press).—The general strike on Sunday morning extended to street railways, many chinese house-servants employed by foreigners and hotels have walked out. The movement is expected to become widespread.

BRITISH ANXIETY GROWS.
Morning Post Writer in Tientsin Gives Warning.

LONDON, June 22.—Growing uneasiness over the Chinese situation is manifested in the public comments and news reports here, due partly to the breakdown of the Shanghai conference and partly to the attitude of the Central Government at Peking, which is said to have given monetary aid to the anti-foreign strikers.

The Times sees in the latter report ground for increased anxiety, and in its editorial comment characterizes the general situation as disquieting. The editorial expressions of the other papers are similar in tone.

The Morning Post's correspondent at Tientsin teelgraphs his paper as follows:

"The foreigners are convinced that the crisis is at its acutest stage. Chinese passion has been inflamed to a most menacing pitch by the orgy of anti-foreign propaganda throughout the country, which seems to be wholly in the hands of the agitators.

"It is strongly suspected that the movement will take a revolutionary complexion and that the extremists will ride into power on a wave of anti-foreign psychosis. Attempts are being made to seduce the troops, but these hitherto have been without much success.

"Unless the feeling calms, it will be impossible to arrive at an agreed settlement on the immediate issue, since the Chinese Commissioners are not likely to accept responsibility in view of the attitude of the mob.

"The position is such that it behooves the powers to lose no time in preparing for an extreme emergency."

PEKING REBUFFS POWERS.
Again Says Foreigners Are Responsible for Shanghai Unrest.

PEKING, June 22.—The Chinese Foreign Office Saturday night submitted a memorandum to the Diplomatic Corps purporting to show that the responsibility for recent disturbances at Shanghai rests with the foreign authorities.

This contention had, in effect, been made previously by the Foreign Office. The memorandum was in reply to the last note from the Diplomatic Corps, and the Chinese Foreign Office insisted that the accounts of the successive incidents at Shanghai as related in the Corps' notes, differ essentially from the Chinese version.

With the exception of the killing of a British subject at Shanghai (presumably this refers to the killing on Tuesday of W. W. Mackenzie, a British draftsman employed by the

KIWANIS SUCCESS IS LOCAL NATURE

George H. Ross Stresses Necessity for Integrity of Members.

"It is generally admitted that the success of Kiwanis International lies in its local clubs," George H. Ross, of Toronto, Canada, past president of Kiwanis International, told five thousand Kiwanians at the 9th annual convention of the service organization being held at Saint Paul, Minn., this week.

"It is for this reason that all clubs must be made up of men of undoubted integrity, men who stand high in their own communities," he advised the delegates representing 1380 clubs widespread over the North American continent.

Describing Kiwanis membership as an opportunity for service in a worthwhile way, the convention speaker outlined the many activities and interests that a club has in any locality. "Find a club where membership is representative of the business, professional and agricultural life of the community, and you will find a club of which Kiwanis can be proud," he remarked.

"A decade or more ago it became apparent that the centuries-old doctrine of co-operation was disappearing in the deluge of modern improvements and conveniences which render the city man practically independent of his neighbor. The threatened disappearance of the old time community spirit resulted in the birth of various service clubs, of which Kiwanis is proud to be a senior member.

Speaking of the many clubs in the United States and Canada, Mr. Ross likened them to show-rooms and workshops of the world. "The world looks into these clubs and sees a vast army of forward looking men pledged to carry out to successful conclusions many activities for civic betterment," he said.

"Let us always think of our members in terms of men being the one regenerative force that can do for this old world of ours the many things so near to our hearts. The world is rich in splendid men, those who would welcome an opportunity for such service as Kiwanis offers."

The past International president also urged that members be selected who consider it the joy of life to serve others.

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.,
Former Commission of Health, New York City.

OVER-EATING IS A MAIN CAUSE OF ILLNESS.

What do you do when you have indigestion? Do you say it is of no consequence and disregard it? You may well assume this attitude toward indigestion if the attack is only an occasional one. You cannot afford to overlook indigestion if it is an everyday affair. It is a sign you are not living right. You are exercising too little. You are working your brain too much and your feet not enough.

It is a great pity that people do not eat according to the work they perform. The office worker does not require the same kind of a meal a farm-hand must have in order to do his work. It is a pity that too many brain workers eat meals of this sort.

Almost everybody overeats. I am not sure that the average man eats twice as much as he needs, but he certainly eats more than he needs for his highest good. There is no economy in the selection of cheap food. Everybody should buy what might be called guaranteed food—food of high quality, food which has been protected against contamination, and which is known to be pure and wholesome. Then the food must be properly cooked and placed upon the table in such a form as to appeal to the appetite.

It is safe to assume that three-quarters of the cases of indigestion are due to wrong eating. One of the lessons which should be taught in every household is how to choose a balanced meal. Good sense should prevail in the eating of foods which appeal to the palate. Too much of any sort of food is bad for you. Just because you like a thing is no reason why you should confine your eating to that particular thing.

Indigestion should always be a warning that your eating habits require a survey. You should find out what change is necessary in order to protect your poor stomach against the outrageous treatment you have been giving it.

One of the crimes of modern life is the enormous consumption of denatured foods, foods from which the mineral elements have been taken, predigested foods, soft and mushy foods. All these take away from the teeth and from the digestive tract activities which are necessary to the health of the teeth and the digestive tract. Unless your teeth are used for cutting and grinding, and unless your intestinal tract is given some rough and coarse food to stimulate its activities, digestion will not go on as it should.

If you are suffering from indigestion, make a study of your table habits and see if you are not responsible for your own uncomfortable symptoms.

Miss W. L. A. G. Q.—What can I do to remedy a very dry scalp and hair? I had a nervous breakdown and did a lot of worrying. Could this have any bearing on the condition? I also notice a gray hair occasionally and I am only twenty-one.

A.—The general condition of the health has a great bearing on the condition of the scalp and hair. Build yourself up and you will probably notice improvement throughout your entire system. A good, stimulating hair tonic should also help you. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamp-envelope and repeat your question.

3.—What can be done for large pores?

4.—What is the cause and treatment for unpleasant breath?

A.—Use a good, stimulating hair tonic. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

2.—Keep the intestinal tract clear and watch the diet. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

3.—Hot and cold compresses, applied alternately for five or ten minutes night and morning, should help this condition.

4.—Decayed teeth, diseased tonsils, intestinal disorders, constipation and a catarrhal condition may all be responsible for unpleasant breath. A careful examination will determine the cause and then the proper treatment can be advised.

What good is a lake without a loon? That question does not mean anything, unless you have seen a loon on one of our numerous lakes in summer. We go to our woods and lakes for our vacations and we are very often so ignorant of what to look for, that we miss most of it. The loon is one of these things. If you have ever been to a summer place, where a loon was on the lake, and have gone again, another year, to find the lake but no loon, you will understand for it is one of the joys of summer, to find the old camping place, but if the loons do not echo our laughter, as they did last year, we begin to think something is wrong.

One year, I remember, we began to gather stuff for camp, and a woman who used to come to our house twice a week to help with the work, caught the camping bug and wanted to go with us. She had never been to a summer place and I was afraid that she would be afraid in the wild places. However, we took her.

She had a tent, not far from ours, and seemed to enjoy things, especially the loud echoes, coming back over the water when we called, but one morning, about four o'clock, we heard a yell, and rushed out to see what the trouble was, and there was Mrs. Martin, with her tousled head sticking out of the tent opening, ready to yell "murder," if some little bird would say "boo."

And the whole trouble was nothing but a pair of wild loons, enjoying the smooth lake at dawn, and sending the wild, free laughter across the water, to hear it come back, in weird and wilder echoes. The thought of savages, laughing in wild joy, was bad for Mrs. Martin's nerves, but when she heard the uncanny echoes of these laughs, her nerves were a wreck, until she saw the loons and began to know them. Before long, she wished she could swim and laugh with them.

MANY VISITORS AT RICE LAKE

Fishing Season Draws Tourists From Far and Near to Sport.

SINCE TUESDAY

COBOURG, June 22.—Since Tuesday many Cobourg people have been at Rice Lake to try their hand at catching the wily maskinonge for which those waters are noted. It is stated that the fishing this year promises to be good.

Among tourists who are in the vicinity of Harwood is Mr. Fred Hunter, of Detroit, who is spending a fortnight in his home town.

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Lean and son, of Toronto, are spending the summer at Harwood.

Mrs. Leville and daughter, Joyce, Toronto, are with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Robson at the lake.

Mr. Jackson Harvey, Fraserville, spent a few days in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Russell, of Millbrook, who were married in Peterborough last week, were recent visitors with friends here.

M. F. Ames, Plainville, was in Brighton on Wednesday attending the funeral of the late Mr. McColl.

A number of friends spent a pleasant evening the first of the week with Rev. and Mrs. R. F. Stillman in the church parlors at the United Church, the occasion being the twenty-sixth anniversary of their marriage. Mr. Stillman, who came to Cobourg from Omemee, is leaving the beginning of next conference year for Norwood. Very many friends much regret the removal of Rev. and Mrs. Stillman and their family from Cobourg.

Judge Cameron is reported to be progressing favorably at Cobourg General Hospital from effects of his recent operation.

Dr. E. W. Hayden and Mr. A. T. Jex, of town, have been at Cleveland, Ohio, this week, attending the International Rotary Convention.

Miss Marguerite Teney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Teney, Coldsprings, is making a successful recovery after an operation in Cobourg General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Redyard and Mrs. J. Rothwell motored to Peterborough on Wednesday.

Mrs. Alice Mullin was in Toronto during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Rogers and litto daughter, Margaret, returned home to Flint, Mich., on Wednesday after a visit with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alf. Rogers.

Mrs. Willis Preston and mother, Mrs. William Lobb left on Thursday to visit friends in Mount Forest.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Nicol of Toronto are guests of the former's mother, Mrs. R. Nicol.

A number of the members of the local Woman's Institute attended a meeting of the Seymour Institute on Wednesday afternoon.

C. N. R. ABROGATES

Railways does not see its way clear to undertake the experiment in view of the fact that the Board of Railway Commissioners now has full control of the freight rates situation. He adds that he thinks the movement of coal over the lines between Ontario and Alberta has amply demonstrated the rate that is necessary.

"We are stuck. What we will do in the future will have to be discussed. I cannot say at this time whether we will go before the Board of Railway Commissioners. But one thing is sure. For this summer the movement of Alberta coal to Ontario points is out of the question, for with the tariff of $11.40, the coal cannot compete in price with other fuel in the east."

Her Wonderful Teeth

Remove the dingy film that's clouding yours and you'll be surprised that your teeth are just as white and charming as any one's—make this unique test.

HERE is a simple test that proves the truth that most of us have pretty teeth without ever knowing we have, or ever revealing it.

This is the reason:

Run your tongue across your teeth, and you will feel a film. A film which absorbs discolorations and hides the natural color of your teeth.

Remove it and your teeth take on a new beauty. Maybe you have really beautiful teeth without realizing it.

Film is charged too with most tooth troubles. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. Germs breed in it. And they, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

So, besides loss of tooth beauty, film is a serious danger to healthy teeth. You must remove and constantly combat it. It is ever present, ever forming.

Old-time dentifrices were unable to combat it successfully. And tooth troubles were a serious problem.

Now modern science has discovered a new way. A new-type tooth paste called Pepsodent that acts to curdle film, then harmlessly to remove it. No soap or chalk, no harsh grit dangerous to enamel.

The Premium on Physical and Mental Vigor is at its Highest in Business Today

An Added Value to Your Health

Doctors and dentists are today constantly warning us that we must eat some hard foods that require chewing. The crisp kernels of Grape-Nuts must be chewed—and their pleasant "crunchiness" and delightful flavor tempt you to chewing. This starts digestion in the mouth—where it should start—and gives to the teeth and gums the exercise which alone can keep them in healthy condition.

By your daily foods you build success or failure

BUSINESS today offers unlimited opportunities to the men who have the physical and mental vigor to get results—the "go-getters". Isn't it of vast importance then, that you accept the word of health experts who say that your physical and mental ability depend almost entirely upon the foods you eat? Isn't it worth while to know that foods which contain a large proportion of nourishment do not necessarily convey that nourishment to your body—that in fact the nourishment of many of them remains in your system to do you harm—to form as poisons and harmful acids. The difference depends on whether or not they come to you in a form your body can handle quickly and easily.

The elements in your daily foods which are most essential to the body are the energy-giving carbohydrates. Three-fourths of the delicious food, Grape-Nuts, is these precious carbohydrates in the form of dextrins—available for instant assimilation. Made from whole wheat and malted barley, Grape-Nuts also contains a large percentage of phosphorus, iron and laxative bran.

Grape-Nuts is a wonderfully appetizing food. Its crisp, crunchy granules have a rich, full flavor that you're sure to like. Serve it at breakfast or lunch just as it comes from the package. Four teaspoonfuls is sufficient for each person. Such a helping costs less than one cent. Sold by grocers everywhere in wax-wrapped packages.

FARM NEWS AND PROBLEMS

TAPE WORM HAS SERIOUS EFFECT UPON ANIMALS

Many Disease Conditions Result From Ravages of This Parasite.

COMPLEX CHANGES.

Passes Through Several Forms—Effects Sheep, Poultry and Dogs.

The effect of tapeworm infestation upon the host animal is not marked unless the parasites are present in numbers.

The following disease conditions may result from tapeworm infestation: (1) Partial or complete blocking of the lumen of the intestine this may cause toxic or inflammatory disturbances; (2) Irritation and disease of the liver due to the passage of worms through the bile ducts into the liver; (3) Irritation of the mucous membrane of the intestine by the hooks of the armed species; (4) Anaemia due to taking of nourishment from the iniesta in the intestine; (5) General debility of the animal due to the absorption of toxic matter that has been excreted by the parasite; (6) The cystic form of tapeworm causes the condition known as measly pork and beef. The foregoing remarks will indicate how serious a pest this seldom seen internal parasite is to certain of our domestic animals.

Life History of Tapeworm.

Most of the taenia undergo a series of complex metamorphic changes involving larval and sexually mature parasitism in hosts of different species. When an egg is swallowed by a suitable host the shell is digested and the embryo liberated. The embryo pierces the intestinal wall and by way of the blood and lymph is carried to the particular organ of the body specific for its further development where it becomes incisted. This forms a bladder cyst the stage that gives the measly pork and measly beef condition well known to meat eaters.

The next stage is the formation of the cephalo-cyst which is done by a budding from the bladder cyst wall. it is the development of the sealex or head. If at this time the bladder cyst is swallowed by a suitable host the head becomes separated from the bladder-like cyst and attaches itself to the mucous membrane of the intestine where it develops into an adult tapeworm. A sexual pore is present on either one or both margins of each segment. The segment is virtually an egg pouch and usually contains many eggs it breaks away and passes from the body of its host on becoming fully developed. The head or sealex with developing segments remaining in the intestine until expelled by drug treatment. The tapeworm has no alimentary or intestinal system the food that it takes passes directly through the surface of the body. In most species there are two drainage canals extending from the head to the posterior segment. These worms are of great interest because of their remarkable process of development. In early stages the immature worm exists as a bladder worm living in the body tissue of an intermediate host. In the second stage the mature form is found in the intestine of the definite host.

Sheep.—These animals are quite frequently affected with either one of two species. If lambs show such symptoms as emaciation arrested development loss of appetite lassitude and diarrhoea the sheepman should be suspicious of the presence of tapeworms.

Poultry.—Few or many birds in a flock may show signs of infection. Early symptoms are a ravenous appetite excessive thirst and later food may be entirely refused. There is a general unthriftiness and wasting until the birds become weak and emaciated. A yellowish-white diarrhoea may be present the comb and wattles become yellowish or pink. The most seriously infested birds will mope around with dropped wings separating themselves from the flock.

The Farm Dog.—Dogs are more frequently infested with tapeworm than any other farm animal. Mature dogs may harbor many tapeworms without receiving apparent injury. Young dogs are much more susceptible and if showing the following symptoms you should be suspicious of the presence of tapeworm. The symptoms are those of gastro intestinal catarrh hungry at times and at times refusing food pendulous abdomen retarded development emaciation and restlessness. Convulsions sometimes occur. An interesting point in connection with the tapeworm that infests the dog is that its intermediate host is the dog flea. It works like this —the flea eats the fecal matter from the dog containing the tapeworm eggs. These eggs hatch within the flea forming the bladder-like cysts or second stage in the tapeworm's life history. The dog then eats the flea and the tapeworm head or sealex is liberated in the dog's intestine where it becomes attached to start the life cycle again.

Horses are rarely infested with tapeworm cattle and swine sometimes are but fortunately not very frequently.—L. Stevenson Dept. of Extension O. A College.

MAILLARDVILLE, B.C., June 22.—Cows, horses, chickens and washing machines will henceforth contribute to the water revenue of Coquitlam municipality the council decided, following the discovery that the municipal treasury just breaks even on existing charges, but leaving no surplus for repairs. The fees will be 25 cents for 100 up to 500 chickens 50 cents for 500 chickens up to 1,000 and 50 cents for each washing machine per month. The fee for each horse and cow will be 25 cents.

Douro Men See Nothing Better Than Douro Farms

DOURO June 22.—Messrs. Thos Fitzgerald and Ray Carlow accompanied Mr. McRae of Norwood on a motor trip to Kemptville Agricultural School to take in the field day held there June 12. They report an enjoyable three-day outing and good crops en route though nowhere are they any better than here. They were much interested in the buildings and farm stock orchard etc. at the Agricultural School.

SITTING TURKEY SHOULD BE WELL LOOKED AFTER

Young Bird Can Cover About Fifteen Eggs—Old Ones Take Twenty.

HATCH IN 28 DAYS

Dust Sitting Bird With Insect Powder Several Times During Period.

When the turkey remains on the nest for two days and nights she may be regarded as having made up her mind to settle down to the business of incubation. Until the ground warms up, the nest should have at least two inches of straw. Later in the season this is not so important. The nest should be made so as to keep the eggs in the centre. An old bird will take care of about 20 eggs, but for a young turkey, 15 is enough for her to cover. At the time the turkey is set, any surplus eggs should be set under ordinary hens about 10 or 11 to each. The hatching will have been completed in the 28 days. The mother turkey can take care of about 25 poults quite satisfactory.

Dealing with the subject of hatching in Bulletin No. 46, "Turkeys and Their Management," Mr. A. G. Taylor, Poultry Husbandman of the Experimenta Farms, recommends treating the mother birds for vermin at the time they are set. Dusting with powdered sulphur twice during the hatching season, is recommended. This should be done about the fourth day and ten days later and not after the eighteenth day, as the powder is liable to remain in the feathers and may get into the eyes of the young poults and cause trouble.

The sitting turkey should be removed from the nest once daily to feed. Hard grain such as oats, wheat or barley, provide the best diet and such other things as crushed oyster shell, grit, water and a dust bath, as well as a limited supply of green feed, should also be available. While the weather is still cold the birds should not remain off the nest for more than five minutes. Later in the season no harm will be done from twenty minutes' absence by the mother bird. The eggs may be tested out on the tenth and twentieth days, removing all clear eggs at the first test and all dead germs at the second test. These conditions are detected by the ordinary egg candler which is distributed free by the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, from where the bulletin is also available.

There is no necessity for hurry in getting the hatched birds out of the nest. The eggs will commence to pip on the twenty-seventh day but the nest should not be disturbed until two days later when the young poults will become dry and ready to move about looking for food.

HOME STRAWBERRIES

Made Appearance on Lakefield Markets—Other Crops Doing Well.

LAKEFIELD June 22.—The gardens and field crops are doing well and the prospects are for a good crop. Homegrown strawberries have appeared on the local markets and are of excellent quality and flavor.

GROWTH IS RAPID

Hay, Grain and Pastures of South Monaghan Are Looking Good.

BAILIEBORO, June 22.—Saturday nights, and Sunday's rain has done untold good to the crops. The grain hay, pastures, etc., are now making a rapid growth. Prospects in South Monaghan look good for a good crop of hay and grain. The pastures are growing rapidly which is helping out the feed situation wonderfully.

BIG ALFALFA

38-Inch Stock Exhibited by Farmer in Westwood Store Window.

WESTWOOD, June 22.—The crop prospects are looking very favorable in this district.

Owing to the frequent rainfall and warm weather, the grain fields are in good condition, and pasture lands are looking fine.

A stock of alfalfa, which measures 38 inches in length, is on exhibition at Renwick & Sons' store.

Rats.

The estimated cost of supporting the rats that prey on our food products on the farms and in the homes is $6 000 000 per annum. This is a very heavy burden to carry and we would be better off without the rat which is entirely harmful.

How Tough Is Steak?

Got any tough steaks? This machine twists the steak and a dial registers the resistance. No, the machine has not been broken yet.

PROSPECT GOOD ON LAKE SHORE

Seeding Was Done Early — Strawberry Crops Will Be Somewhat Small.

MANY TOMATOES.

COBOURG, June 22.—Lakefront farmers report prospects for good crops to be excellent, while the same cheery news comes from farther back on the concession lines. There has been sufficient moisture to promote growth, and the dry weather the first part of the season helped materially, as the farmers were able to put in the crop in record time.

Fair Strawberry Crop Only.

Indications point to a fair crop only of strawberries in this district. Quite a lot of bloom has not produced berries, but quite a bit depends upon the weather from this on. Raspberries are blossoming well and indicate a good yield. Currants also bid fair to be plentiful. It is too early yet to form an idea as to other fruit prospects but if abundant bloom is any indication the crop should be good.

Many Tomatoes Set Out.

Lakefront farmers are going quite extensively into tomato culture and some have set out large acreages. One farmer had several bag boxes of plants that he had taken to the field destroyed by woodchucks.

Caused Plover To Raise Two Broods In Field

WARSAW, June 22.—A hired man, about twenty years old, while plowing a few weeks ago, stopped his horses because a plover was making a great fuss. He found the bird's nest, almost destroyed, carefully lifted the sod with the little nest, and put it down in good condition. The little plover went back to the nest quite pleased. In working the field afterwards the young man carefully went around where the nest was. A few days ago the field was being worked again, this time by the farmer, when suddenly he stopped the horses, because a little feathered fury was scolding at them, and facing them. When the farmer went to see the trouble the little creature faced him. He found he was almost on a plover's nest. It was about the same place as the other was, and contained eggs, so he supposed it was the same bird, who had raised the first brood, and started on a second. He, too, left the nest unharmed. These little birds do not seem to fly away when danger comes, and when once they realize that humans are caring for them they do not mind them coming near.

ROAD WORK ON

Farmers Are Working on Roads at Dunsford—Strawberries on Sale.

DUNSFORD, June 22.—The crops are looking their best. It seems almost impossible for them to get too much rain.

Henry Thurston, who lives in the village, has been selling his strawberries now for the past few days. He says they are quite a good crop this year.

A gang of country road men from Lindsay, working under R. G. Robertson, are now down digging a drain in the village. They expect to complete the job in a few days.

Another country road bunch have moved down to Fenelon school corner about three miles west of Dunsford and are going to improve the corner, we believe, by putting the road through Mr. Housfield's, and behind the school.

SELL THE ROOSTER.

Get rid of the rooster about this time, or at least remove him from the flock. Only infertile eggs should be produced during hot weather.

Direct sunlight is one of the cheapest and best aids in successful raising of chicks. To get full advantage of the sunlight, chicks should be kept outside as long as possible. They should be started at the earliest possible age.

SKIM MILK FOR EGGS.

Weaned pigs can be fed no better substitute for their mother's milk than skim milk or buttermilk.

EUROPEAN RED MITE BAD PEST

Usually Attacks Plums, But Works on Other Fruit as Well.

USE LIME SULPHUR.

The European Red Mite sometimes called the plum spider mite is a major pest of plum orchards in Ontario. It also attacks cherries apples and peaches and has been found in British Columbia and the Maritime Provinces. Details of its appearance life history the injury it causes and its control are given in Circular No. 39 just issued by the Entomological Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. Severe infestation robs the trees of vigour and dwarfs and degrades the fruit. The adults are carmine in colour. The eggs are pink at first and later a dull dark red and the nymphs are a dull red. Dry hot weather favours rapid multiplication and wet cool conditions tend to keep the pest under control. In order to combat the mite no special sprays or applications are necessary. Spraying twice with commercial lime sulphur 1-40 at the regular times for other pests is sufficient but as the mites are found on both sides of the leaves it is essential to cover all parts of the foliage. The circular may be obtained from the Publications Branch Department of Agriculture Ottawa.
